Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

Even seasoned travellers like myself sometimes lose their sense of direction in unfamiliar territory and don't know just whether to turn right or left.

I find my car compass, attached to the dashboard, has saved me mileage and time. However, there is a boy scout trick for determining north and south without a compass that I think is worth repeating. All you need is a watch and a matchstick.

Hold the watch flat, face upward. Hold the match upright at the edge of the watch, at the spot the hour hand points to. Now turn the watch until the shadow from the match falls along the hour hand. If it is morning, south will lie half way between the hour hand and 12 o'clock reading clockwise. If it is afternoon, south will lie half way between the hour hand and 12 o'clock reading counter-clockwise — and at noon, south will be right where the hour hand points.

More than 48,000,000 trees have been planted on unoccupied crown lands in six Canadian provinces since 1931 under reforestation agreements.

Nurses Will Tour Alaska, Hawaii

WINNIPEG.—The Canadian Nurses' Association, following its annual convention at the University of Manitoba from June 25 to 29, has arranged for post-convention tours to Alaska and to Hawaii.

Many of the delegates desiring to see as much as possible of the western provinces will be travelling on the Canadian National Railways' Super Continental to Vancouver, with a two-day stopover at Jasper Park Lodge in the heart of the Canadian Rockies. At the coast city, those taking the cruise to "The Land of the Midnight Sun", will board the Canadian National S. S. Prince George on July 4. The palatial ship on its nine-day trip up the Inside Passage will enable the nurses to see some of the world's most magnificent scenery.

Those headed for Hawaii will make the trip by air, leaving Vancouver on July 3, for a 12-day visit.

If you want to change your bedroom scheme choose a quiet color. Soft blue-grey and yellow are restful colors for such rooms. But don't be monotonous — add touches of stronger color. Artificial lights will soften colors at night.

Indians To Attend The School Of Agriculture At Olds

The staff of the Olds School of Agriculture and Home Economics will not be assigned to other work in the Department of Agriculture this spring, as is usually done. This year the staff will stay on at the school and prepare for classes starting April 23 for 130 Indian students from Alberta reservations. R. M. Putnam, Alberta's Deputy Minister of Agriculture and Superintendent of the Schools of Agriculture and Home Economics, says that 100 boys and 30 girls are expected to attend courses at the Olds School of Agriculture and Home Economics from April 23 to June 30.

The courses offered will include Field Crops, Livestock, Carpentry and Farm Machinery for the boys sewing, cooking, home nursing and gardening for the girls. The instructors will include Olds school staff supplemented by one or two officers from the Indian Affairs Branch of the Department of Citizenship and Immigration. The course is being organized at the request of and with the help of the Indian Affairs Branch of the Department of Citizenship and Immigration.

The students were selected during the winter from groups studying at agricultural short courses held on 24 reserves in Alberta from Fort Vermilion in the north to Cardston in southern Alberta.

NEWS from ALLANDALE

The weather has been grand — March 16 was 54 above, a welcome change. The snow has settled some but is still very deep and it is extremely difficult to haul feed. Five years ago this March 18 was the date of that terrific blizzard. Cars and trucks were abandoned on the roads and covered over while many people were stranded away from their homes.

March 20th. More snow and wind, roads were heavy but passable.

March 22, another storm and high wind, with this east wind the north and south roads were mostly all filled in and plugged. Our local snow plow operated by Isidore Nelson, was unable to get through and called on Mr Axley from Islay. The bus driver could not get the children home on Thursday evening so all stayed in Clandonald at different homes. The parents appreciate this kindness very much. On Friday afternoon teams and sleighs went for the children.

March 12th. Aunt Stella Mayers spent most of the week at her brother's, the Omness home. Five busy but interesting days were spent quilting two quilts for Stella. One a 'star' pattern was very pretty in mauve and green pieced by Mrs. Fred Dowse some time ago when broadcloth was 13 cents a yard. The other a 'Dresden Plate' that late sister Hilda had pieced some years ago in Wisconsin. Tuesday and Friday sisters Nora and Mabel Wednesday morning Mr and Mrs. Stanley Sr. Mrs. Laird and Kathryn from Clandonald were welcome visitors. The ladies assisted in the quilting.

BRIDE-ELECT SHOWERED

The community held a miscellaneous shower in the Allandale school on the evening of March 16 for Miss Joan Nelson. There were around sixty friends and relatives in attendance from Deer Lake, Campbell Lake and Vermilion. A few hands of whist were played and prizes won by Joan Nelson, Mrs F Throndson and Mrs. Stella Mayers for the ladies and by Dale Fry. Mrs. Jessie Strome (playing as a man) and Alvin Throndson for the men.

Mr. George Mead, on behalf of the districts represented, presented a large number of gifts to the bride-to-be, Joan Nelson, and Art Roberge and wished them well in their future together. Sister Lorna and cousin Jean Lee assisted in opening the parcels. Joan and Art both thanked all very fittingly for the lovely gifts and wished to see all their friends and relatives on April 6th, their wedding day. Flash snaps were taken, lunch was served by the ladies and all in all a very delightful evening was enjoyed.

March 14th. Albert Armstrong took a week's leave from the farm and visited relatives and friends, sister Joyce, Ronnie and family at Royal Park and relatives and friends in the city. Sister Vi (Mrs. Dwyer) and son Donnie of the city returned with him visiting at her sister-in-law's Mrs. Thelma Armstrong and family and parents' home.

Congratulations to Mr and Mrs. Ronnie Forsythe (Joyce Armstrong) of Royal Park on the birth of a son Kenneth William on Feb 17th, a brother for sister Adele.

Mr and Mrs. Jimmy Armstrong and family who have been in Wainwright for the winter, Jimmy trucking for Jimmy Ronaghan, returned home around the middle of March.

Congratulations to Mr and Mrs. Keith Bilack of Calgary (Marian Duck) teacher at Allandale 1946-47, on the birth of a son, Bernard John, on March 12. Brother for sisters Kathleen and Marlene.

Mr Gilbert and daughter Mary accompanied Mrs Gilbert to the [illegible] niece while Louis is away to the stock sales.

Our deepest sympathy to Vic McIlee, his brother and sisters on the death of their mother who passed away March 23. "A loving mother, true and kind, what a wonderful memory she leaves behind".

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. William Armstrong on their 43rd wedding anniversary March 25th. "And together may you always find still greater joy in life, on each anniversary of the day that made you man and wife."

"A Pioneer Spirit" — was good to hear it came over Neighborly News on March 25th. Sorry we missed it.

Jimmy Martin had the misfortune of losing a sow who had just farrowed leaving 13 wee piggies. With the electric heat and hand feeding they have been successful in keeping them all alive so far, now being around 3 weeks old.

March 15th crows were seen by the Martins and a robin by the McPhees — spring may be coming soon too.

More snow, wind and drifting and roads have been blocked since the 22nd.

March 29 — It was good news to hear this morning that Bill Axley from Islay was in the district with the snow plow, by the week end we hope to have the roads clear again, although at present there is a light snow falling and quite a high wind.

Word was received on the morning of March 29 of the death of Auntie O'Fee. Auntie has been staying for some time with her niece Anna, Mrs. Gordon Mayhew and family at Bawlf. She lived for years in the Allandale district with the O'Fee family. Our deepest sympathy to all the family. "There is a link death cannot sever, love and remembrance last forever."

Closing Thought: "Let us begin to turn over the leaves in the book of life. We are sure to come across many valuable blessings — health, strength, abilities of body and of mind, friends, the church. These and other blessings are from the river of all good gifts."

Jasper Park Lodge To Open June 14th

JASPER, Alta. — Jasper Park Lodge, the Canadian National Railways famed summer hotel in Jasper National Park, Alta., will be open this year from June 14 to September 16.

10 DAYS between PROFIT and LOSS

Ten days ago the grain stood straight and promising in the fields. Then the temperature dropped . . . and the crop bowed to its greatest enemy—frost.

Ten days—your earlier harvest bonus from fertilizer—would have made the difference between profit and loss from frost-killed grain. Elephant Brand high analysis fertilizers, rich in nitrogen and phosphorous plant food and "tailor-made" for the Canadian Prairies, bring grain crops to maturity faster . . . a harvest up to ten days earlier.

Scholarships And Prizes Awarded To V.S.A. Students

An enthusiastic audience of graduands, their parents, staff members and friends of the Vermilion School of Agriculture listened to the words of advice given to the young people by the guest speaker, Major Wm. F. Ross, Divisional Commander of the Savation Army from Edmonton, at the Graduation Exercises held at the school on Thursday, April 5th. Major Ross' personality, accompanied by considerable wit and humor in his address, interested and entertained the gathering, while his words of wisdom, spoken with great sincerity, inspired them to face life with courage and high ideals. Major Ross was so well received by his listeners at graduation time, that those living in Vermilion and district will be pleased to know that he will return to Vermilion on Saturday and Sunday, May 26 and 27 in connection with services to be held at the Salvation Army citadel here.

James A Smith, M.P. for Battle River-Camrose constituency, spoke to the students, extending his best wishes and congratulating them on their achievements while at the school.

Board of Trade Approves Saturday Night Shopping

At the Board of Trade meeting on Wednesday April 4th the Board

At their meeting on Wednesday April 4th the Board of Trade went on record as approving the recommendation of the Retail section that the shopping hours which have been observed in Vermilion for the past few years be continued. Thus the popular Saturday night opening will commence early in May and continue all the rest of the year.

The general meeting also passed the motion made by the Retail section that an advertising plan be set up with the Standard with special issues four times per year.

On this occasion the Board heard a five-minute talk by T. J. Fallon representing Sperry-Gyroscope Co. of Ottawa, Ltd., who spoke on the installing of parking meters in the town. He said that many towns of from 1500 to 1800 population had parking meters.

The suggestion that Vermilion install meters was met with considerable indifference, no one seemed interested to any extent. The speaker admitted that when first put in they were very unpopular but people became used to them and they served the purpose of keeping the cars moving.

Mr Mitchell Taylor, Chairman of the National Affairs committee reported attending the District Court sittings on Tuesday and of welcoming some new citizens who received their citizenship papers. They will be invited to attend a luncheon at a later date.

The vice-president Israel Miller, was in the chair and there were 26 in attendance.

Young Stockman Is Guest Of The Board of Trade

The Vermilion Board of Trade, always proud of the achievements of residents of the district, paid tribute to 12-year-old Keith Barr at the dinner meeting on Wednesday last week, with his father Mr. Manson Barr also coming in for some complimentary remarks.

For the second time in three years Keith has won the grand championship for best beef animal at the Edmonton stock show. Mr E M Stewart reviewed the recent success of the Barr family, also mentioning other prominent wins of similar nature by district farmers and livestock men.

Keith and Manson both proferred their thanks for the invitation to the dinner and for the kind words spoken.

Contract Awarded For Lea Park Bridge

The Honorable Gordon E. Taylor Minister of Highways, has announced the awarding of a contract covering construction of reinforced concrete substructure for the North Saskatchewan River bridge at Lea Park, 10 miles north of Marwayne to Mamczasz Construction, Calgary at a cost of $278,820.

Two other bids were received on this project as follows: Poole Construction Co. Ltd., Edmonton $296,264.10 and the Square M Construction Ltd., Edmonton, $340,536.

Guest speaker at the Vermilion Board of Trade luncheon meeting on Wednesday, April 19 will be Mr George O'Brien, district manager of Canadian Utilities. It is expected that Mr O'Brien will give some idea of what is planned for the future of the Vermilion plant.

The regular meeting of the council of the Town of Vermilion was held on April 3rd with Mayor M. Hill and Crs. Chalmers, Locke, Mitchell, Sutherland and Thompson present.

The agenda included an application from Harold Wilson to move his apartment building from the present location to a new site; By-law 3-56 re closing hours of service station; tax sale reserve bids; business tax arrears, Roy Jory offer to purchase lot; estimates.

Martin Mayers was taken on the permanent staff of the town public works at a salary of $200 per month effective April 1.

By-law 3-56 was given first and second readings. This by-law exempts that portion of the town facing on highway 16, from the hours governing the opening of service stations and garages.

By-law 4-56 providing for a levy of 47 mills for municipal school and hospital services was given first and second readings. This is the same rate as in 1955.

The sanitary inspector has been asked to inspect all lanes and alleys in the town.

Rev. R. R. Smith of Lloydminster Guest Speaker

Enthralling Address Highlights Annual Vimy Banquet Program

An enthralling address by the Rev. R. R. Smith, minister of the United Church of Lloydminster, climaxed an excellent program at the Vimy banquet held in the Legion hall here on Monday evening of this week, anniversary of the famous Canadian victory at Vimy Ridge. The speaker served in the second world war as a member of the Regina Rifles. Rev. Smith entitled his address "Vimy Ridge 39 years later by one who wasn't there". Some names he said have magic to them and Vimy Ridge is the greatest of these. It marked one of the momentous victories of the war, and was fought by the Canadians as a unit. They were given the toughest assignment, and in that fiery furnace of Vimy Ridge Canada emerged as a full-fledged nation able to take her place among the leading nations. From that time on Canada has been recognized and has taken her place in all the great movements of the world. Every man at Vimy had a job to do, and he did it with all his strength — are we, the common citizen doing that today, for our community, our Legion, our Church? The indifference and lethargy of the average citizen is a danger to democracy today.

The address of Rev. Mr. Smith held the audience of 160 enthralled throughout. There was a nice balance of humor and serious thought, of comparison and lesson, a talk that was adjudged by all as one of the best ever heard no matter what the occasion, in Vermilion.

The Vimy banquet, an annual event sponsored by the Vermilion Branch of the Canadian Legion, was held on Monday April 9th, 39 years to the day after the great victory which was proclaimed as the turning point of the first world war.

Neil McLean, President of the Legion, was the chairman for the gathering of 160 ladies and men attending to honor the small band of Vimy veterans, and to recall the Battle of Vimy Ridge. The Vimy veterans, honored on this occasion, were ushered in to the strains of the bagpipes played by Piper McPhee, were Tom Wilson, Curtis Martin, A. Frissell, Harry Scott, Bill Twyning, Bill Simmonds, Jack Baldwin, Art Tory and G. R. Fielding.

Toastmaster McLean called on Mayor Melvin Hill for an address of welcome, and following the Mayor were a number of very excellent toasts. The first of these was proposed by Lawrence Webb to the "Men of Vimy" and brought forth a reply from Harry Scott.

Immediate past president of the Vermilion Legion, Vic Tillett, in proposing the toast to the Legion, traced the local history. In reply President Neil McLean gave a brief resume of the aims, objects and work achieved by the Legion Post 11.

George Martin in a humorous vein gave the toast to the ladies, with Mrs. Tom Davis, president of the Legion W. A., rising to the reply.

Zone Commander Bob Allen presented a bouquet to Mrs. Tom Thompson who has just completed three energetic years as president of the Legion W. A. She has now been appointed Zone Commander for the Legion auxiliaries.

Mrs. Betty Minchin sang the solo "Tell Me Gentle Shepherd" and when the audience wouldn't be denied an encore, rendered the popular "Danny Boy" just beautifully.

Catering was by the Happy Hour group of St. Saviour's W. A., who served a delicious hot turkey dinner with all the trimmings.

The Vimy banquet was followed by the annual Vimy Ball in the Armouries.

Curlers To Meet Thursday, April 19

The annual meeting of the Vermilion Curling Club will be held in the curling rink at 8:00 p.m. next Thursday April 19th. This will be the completion of the first season of operation of the artificial ice plant and it will be interesting to note costs and results generally.

Election of officers will be one of the main items of business on the agenda. Aldous Kent who has been president for several years now and who has sparked the building of the new rink and installation of artificial ice, has a great desire to step down from that position. He is one man who has really earned the right to retire and just be left to enjoy curling for a few years at least before being called back into harness. Whether the club will let him do this remains to be seen. This and many other interesting matters will feature the meeting on Thursday evening next. At least one hundred curlers should attend this all-important gathering.

George Scarboro Makes Fine Donation Of Eighty Chairs To The Legion

Well here we are again with the Legion notes following a very busy and enjoyable week end. The Vimy Smoker on Saturday last was a great success and many thanks to all who made this possible. The Legion executive feels thankful that we are so fortunate in having so much local talent. A special thank you should go out to Mr and Mrs. Wes Pennell, and to Mr Bill McLean who were repeatedly called upon to entertain, and did so in such a pleasing and enjoyable manner. These folks were really out-of-town guests and their appearance was deeply appreciated. Thanks again to all who helped in any way.

This particular Smoker will go down in history as far as the Vermilion branch is concerned. We had the pleasure of using for the first time the new chairs kindly donated by Comrade George Scarboro. These lovely chairs are form-fitting, light to handle, yet very strong, and easily stacked. Mind you, eighty such chairs was George's fine donation. It is said that old soldiers never die but these chairs will outlive many of us and will serve as a memorial to a great supporter of the Legion. Comrade Scarboro, we salute you and thank you wholeheartedly for your generosity.

Marwayne Church Destroyed By Fire

MARWAYNE — As the Anglican people of Marwayne were starting for church and Sunday School on Sunday morning, April 8, the town fire siren sounded. Upon arrival at the church it was found that smoke was billowing out from all parts of the building. Despite the efforts of all townsmen and the fire engine the fire got in the walls and partitions of the church and it could not be saved.

It was fortunate that there was little wind, but as a precaution the men cleared Alex Romanchuk's house. They put plaster board on the sides of it, and snow and water on the roof and in this way were able to prevent the house from catching fire.

The church is partially covered by insurance. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Rev. Potter held the evening service anyway at the Hutchinson home and there was a goodly number present. Plans were made for church service to be held next Sunday as usual. There was some discussion about ways and means of replacing the church.

It was most disheartening to see the pretty little grey church with its shining cross on top a mass of smoke and flames, and nothing saved. It represented so many man hours of work on the building itself, and the women had worked so hard at serving food, and sewing and planning.

The destruction of the Anglican church by fire is one more very important point in favor of the installation of a waterworks system in Marwayne.

TRIPLE CONGRATULATIONS TO A. L. HORTON —

Although they will be lost in the avalanche of good wishes, the Standard extends triple congratulations to Editor A. L. Horton and his Vegreville Observer. The three-fold good wishes are, firstly, birthday greetings to "A. L." who on March 25th celebrated his 80th birthday, any man who spends his life in the newspaper business and reaches 80 years alive and sane is truly a remarkable personage; secondly to the Observer which last week observed the 50th anniversary of its founding, thus dating its start practically with that of the province, and thirdly to the Editor and staff for the fine Golden Anniversary Observer published last week. "A. L." tries to belittle the jubilee effort but in the eyes of the Standard it was a good one replete with reminiscences dating right back to the beginning of Vegreville, leading up through the years to the modern version of the town. The issue entailed a tremendous amount of work and research and the Standard hopes that it can do half as well three years hence.

A LONG AND USEFUL CAREER

Regardless of the present need or lack of need for the Vermilion Amateur Athletic Association, the organization has had a long and useful career. Much more so than it was given credit for on the occasion of the annual meeting held on Wednesday evening. The V.A.A.A. for many years held by far the biggest and most diversified program on its sports day of any town in Western Canada, when such events were a matter of civic pride and keenly competitive. It [illegible] as well helped financially practically every sports organization in the town today and on occasion has supervised formation of clubs and started them along on useful careers.

Times change. When the V.A.A.A. was constituted back about 1921-22, there were no service clubs in the town; since that time five such desirable organizations have been added to the roster of associations, other necessary and useful groups have been formed by Church, Red Cross, Cancer Society, etc., all adding their [illegible] for [illegible] personnel, and spreading the available [illegible] very thinly indeed. [illegible] the growth of the town and [illegible] increase in organizations it does appear that there is room for a [illegible] version of the athletic association. It behooves younger men with [illegible] to take hold of the [illegible] to meet present day trends, and to continue and enlarge the scope of the V.A.A.

Under the cornerstone of the Alberta Legislative Building, laid on Oct. 1, 1909, by Governor-General Earl Grey, were placed copies of each of the three Edmonton newspapers, a complete set of plans of the building, a copy of the pay sheet and a list of the officials who had supervised the construction work.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH COMIC BOOKS?—

A 16-page booklet, "What's Wrong with Comic Books?", recently published by the Alberta Government, has been prepared as a guide to parents who wish to provide their children with reading material that is both interesting and educational.

Compiled by the Advisory Board on Objectionable Publications, the booklet deals with comic books that are detrimental and carries descriptions of how they influence the behavior of children.

The advisory board appointed by the Alberta Government to investigate the various types of "Comics" studied the influence of these publications and made recommendations on alternative types of beneficial reading material.

The board is under the chairmanship of Mrs. A. J. Mauro of Edmonton.

The major objections to comics listed by the board are:

1. Some comics glorify crime and criminals. They [illegible] the commission of crime and contempt for lawful authority.

2. Some comics present a distorted, unhealthy and immoral concept of sex and marriage.

3. Some comics foster prejudice against class, race, creed and nationality.

4. Some comics portray violent death, grotesque, fantastic and unnatural creatures with repulsive realism.

5. Most comics are inartistic.

6. All comics are detrimental to good reading skill.

A rating scale contained in the booklet is intended for the use of parents who wish to evaluate the type of literature their children are reading. In addition the names of a variety of inexpensive books are listed for parents who wish to improve the reading standards of their children.

A section entitled "Guiding Your Child to Good Reading" deals with the types of reading material that have a beneficial effect and advises parents on how to select literature that will provide guidance, education and entertainment for their children.

Alberta Booklet On Public Welfare

A 20-page booklet entitled "Public Welfare Services" has been published by the Social Credit Government of Alberta to provide a handy guide on pensions, allowances and other welfare assistance.

In describing the eight branches of the department, the booklet explains that these administer 17 Acts related to public welfare. It also outlines the benefits and qualifications necessary for federal old age security, provincial old age assistance, blind persons' allowance, supplementary allowances, widows' pensions, disabled [illegible] pensions and allowances, and explains hospital and treatment services and the means test.

The booklet is available from the Department of Public Welfare, Administration Building, Edmonton.

A Crack In The Dam

Assistance Offered to Finance Rural Power Lines

Social Credit Government Has New Payment Plan To Aid Electrification

A new policy of $100 down and $5 average monthly payments will play an important role in extending electrical power into more rural districts of Alberta.

The regulations, part of the new Rural Electrical Long Term Financing Act, will give Alberta farmers an "easy payment" plan for obtaining electrical power. After a down payment of $100, the remainder of the cost can be paid at 3½% simple interest over a maximum period of 25 years.

As a typical example, a farmer in a rural electrification association might have his line installed at a cost of $1100. This is an average price. He would pay $100 down and monthly payments of $5.01 for a period of 25 years. As a further convenience, these payments would be added to his regular monthly electricity bill. Also, the principal could be paid off at any time if the farmer wished to do so.

During the past seven years, assistance given by the Alberta Government has enabled 34,700 farms in the province to receive the convenience of electrical power. Installed in homes for the busy farm housewife and in the barn, workshop and yard for the farmer, electricity has been one of the primary means of bringing an easier, more modern life to rural Alberta.

THREE ACTS

With the introduction of the new regulations, farmers will be able to obtain electrical power through three Acts: the Rural Electrification Revolving Fund, the Co-operative Marketing Associations Guarantee Act and the new financing Act.

The revolving fund, which was introduced in April, 1953, has been the main method used by [illegible] to obtain the necessary capital and will continue to be an alternative to the new financing act. The new revisions reduce the down payment from $150 to $100 per farmer, with the remainder of the loan being paid in 10 annual installments. To ensure sufficient funds for future loans, an additional $4 million has been added to the revolving fund for the 1956-57 fiscal year.

The marketing act, which has been in operation since 1948, requires a 50 per cent down payment with the Alberta Government guaranteeing a loan from a bank or Treasury Branch for the remaining half. This loan is usually paid off in five years.

FINANCING ACT

Because both of these acts require sizeable payments over a relatively short period, the government has introduced the new Rural Electrification Long Term Financing Act with its "$100 down, $5 a month, and 25 years to pay" policy.

The provisions of this act are also available to farmers who are presently paying under the revolving fund — particularly those who are having difficulty in meeting the large annual payments. They will be able to apply for refinancing under the new act and pay their indebtedness in smaller installments over the longer period of time.

A change in the revolving fund regulations will also play an important part in reducing the total cost of lines to the farmer, and make it easier for associations to obtain a larger number of participants in the initial project.

If an association was formed, either in a large or small area, with a view to obtaining electrical power, the estimated cost of the lines would be based on the assumption that 80 per cent of the farmers in the district would ultimately [illegible]. However, if only 25 per cent were ready to take immediate service with the construction of the line, they would still pay only their share based on the 80% figure.

GOVERNMENT LOAN

The remaining cost would be taken up by the Alberta Government by an interest-free no time limit loan which would not be a liability on the farmers in the association. Then, as more farmers in the area applied for electricity, they would pay the same rates as the original members and a share of their payments would go towards retiring the loan.

ADVERTISING

I've seen a bank manager reform and he has done his town a lot of good. Here's how it happened.

The editor of a fine weekly paper wasn't having too much luck. Merchants in his town were pretty conservative about advertising, especially when business was slow. Apparently, the bank manager in that town gave a lot of advice. He'd been telling those merchants who were short of cash, to cut [illegible] — particularly their advertising. Quite a few merchants followed the advice.

Then the bank manager got instructions from head office to put up a sign they sent to him about money orders and traveller's cheques. They also sent an advertisement to the paper. The bank manager thought it foolish, because "there's not much call for those services here."

Much to his surprise, the sign and the advertisement increased business. Farmers who had been going to the city with cash in their pockets started using traveller's cheques instead.

Next time a merchant found business slow the banker changed his advice. "Why not run a sale," he suggested. "Put an ad in the paper and a sign in your window." His advice was followed and business picked up.

Today that weekly is no longer [illegible]. It has plenty of circulation and much more business. It is enlarging the trading area of the town. [illegible] it's bringing shoppers in to [illegible] point where parking is a problem.

Not all bank managers reform as fast as this one. I'd suggest to the head office of all banks that they educate their branch managers on the subject. Many small towns lose trade to nearby cities because the merchants aren't advertising. Bankers contribute to this decline when they include advertising in their "cut expense" advice!

Alliance Chapel Is Scene Of Pretty Afternoon Wedding

CLARKE — COULTER

Baskets of daisies, carnations and fern flanked the altar of the Alliance Chapel on the afternoon of April 7th for the wedding of Elizabeth Doreen, daughter of Mr. William Coulter and the late Mrs. Coulter, to Mr. Gordon Earl Clarke.

Rev. J. T. McNair performed the double ring ceremony. Wedding music was played by Mrs. George Jensen.

The bride, entering the church on the arm of her father, was lovely in a floor length gown of nylon net with lace ruffles and matching lace jacket. Her finger tip nylon veil was held in place with a crown ruffle of nylon net with sequin trim. She wore elbow length mitts and carried American Beauty roses. Her only jewellery was a string of pearls, gift of the groom.

The bridesmaid, Miss May Coulter, sister of the bride, wore a floor length gown of pale green brocaded nylon with a single strand of pearls. She carried pink carnations.

George Jensen, brother of the groom, was best man. The ushers were Jackie Clarke and Edward Frissell.

During the signing of the register Miss Marjorie Mix sang very appropriately "The Wedding Prayer."

A reception for some forty guests was held in the basement of the Chapel following the ceremony. Receiving with the bridal party was Mrs. Fred Clarke, sister of the bride and Mrs. Bert Frissel, sister of the groom. Mrs. Clarke chose a dress of navy nylon with white accessories, while Mrs. Frissel wore a charcoal suit with pink. Both wore carnation corsages.

The three-tier wedding cake which centred the bride's table was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Rev. McNair proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom gave a fitting response. A telegram of congratulations from the bride's relatives in Vancouver was read by the best man.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Fulgham and son Donnie of Paradise Valley; Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Coulter and Mrs. Brown of Lloydminster; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin [illegible] of Lloydminster; Mr. and Mrs. Orval Garton, Rivercourse; and Mr. and Mrs. Christie Clarke of Islay.

The attractive oval bumper opening and the Oldsmobile name spelled out in chrome block letters on the hood. New rectangular parking lights are incorporated in the outer end of the lower bumper bar. Fair-away fenders, projecting taillights, hood contour and front and rear overhang are new. The interior features many new fabrics and colors and improved visibility. Under the hood is a more powerful engine with many mechanical improvements that enhance performance and economy.

SCIENCE IN YOUR LIFE

Battling blindness

In a play by the famous English poet John Milton, the Biblical hero Samson mourns his blindness for condemning him "to live a life half dead, a living death." Milton wrote feelingly with real knowledge—for he too was blinded when he was still in the prime of life.

Men in every age have shared Milton's horror of blindness. The affliction is particularly tragic today, however, for in this time of increased medical knowledge, it is all too often an unnecessary one.

"One-half of the nation's total sightless persons might be able to see if they or their parents had taken proper precautions," states the U.S. National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

Eye infections should always be treated with care for they can, if unattended, cause blindness. A particularly dangerous period, medical experts inform us, is infancy, when the eyes are most delicate and susceptible to infections. Such infections, according to U.S. statistician Louis Dublin, rank among the chief causes of blindness in the U.S. Fortunately, science has made vast strides both in preventing and treating infections in the eyes of newborn babies.

One of the more recent advances has been the use of the broad-range antibiotic Terramycin for this purpose.

Medical specialists have found Terramycin free from the side-effects of silver nitrate, hitherto routinely applied to a new-born baby's eyes to prevent infection.

The drug, tested on 1,700 infants at Maimonides Hospital in Brooklyn, [illegible] two out of three babies from "pink-eye" or conjunctivitis, according to a medical report.

In laboratory tests, Terramycin has also proved more effective than silver nitrate in killing the micro-organisms that are the commonest cause of eye infections in the new-born.

C.C.F. M.P. Suggests Gardiner Quit

OTTAWA. — A Saskatchewan farmer suggested Wednesday the ousting of Agriculture Minister Gardiner and establishment of parity prices for farm products as a step towards a sound program for Canadian agriculture.

H. A. Bryson (CCF, Humboldt-Melfort) said in the Commons he is sure Mr. Gardiner would like to retire to his farm at Lemberg, Sask., but added the minister is in an impossible situation.

"He cannot afford to do that because of the unrealistic and poverty-sticken agricultural policies to which he has been a party in this country."

Mr. Bryson spoke during the third day of the budget debate, after which the Commons adjourned for Easter until April 9, when the debate will continue.

He said that in Finance Minister Harris 12,000-word budget speech there were only two sentences about agriculture, to the effect that prairie grain marketings were increasing. To be realistic, it should have said the position of farmers continued to deteriorate.

"The best the government can do is stand around like a stunned ox and hope for something to turn up."

Mr. Bryson called for a bill of rights to provide parity income to maintain the family farm unit.

There are about 1000 sawmills supplying 50 planing mills, seven box factories, 35 furniture plants in Alberta.

PEST CONTROL REGULATIONS AND ALBERTA AGRICULTURE

The never ceasing fight against agricultural pests is one that requires the combined efforts of local and provincial pest control officers working in co-operation with Alberta's farmers. Because any failure in this defence network could cause a serious spreading of pests, the Agricultural Pests Act provides penalties for persons failing to take active control measures wherever a pest problem exists.

Any animal, insect or disease which is likely to be destructive or dangerous to any crop or livestock, is classified as a pest. Although hundreds of different species may be found, penalties apply at present only to five pests which constitute a renewed threat each year. Those that the Act are concerned with are the grasshopper, warble fly, bacterial ring rot of potatoes, coyote, and rat.

The Act is administered by the Alberta Department of Agriculture through its crop protection and pest control service. One of the primary duties of this service is the keeping of a constant watch for signs of infestation. In rat control for example this is accompanied by two provincial pest control officers who supervise and co-ordinate the activities of six full time municipal officers and 240 municipal officials who act as "spotters" on a part time basis.

Watching for outbreaks of such pests as grasshoppers and rats is one phase of the pest control officers job. Equally important is the education work carried on through circulation of literature and attendance at public meetings, which is designed to show both the damage caused by pests and various means of eradication.

Regulations of the Act provide that a farmer must carry out control measures as directed by the pest control officers. Upon failure to follow these instructions within a specified period of time, the pest officer will then take whatever measures are necessary for the destruction of the pests and the farmer will be charged with the costs of this action. In cases where repeated warnings have not been observed, court action may be taken after the case has been reviewed by the pest control officer and the local municipal officials.

The penalties which are defined in the act, provide for fines of from $10 up to $100 together with costs. If the fine is not paid, jail sentences of up to 30 days may be imposed.

Liberal Members Address Meeting At Mannville

MANNVILLE.—Despite bad roads and weather, a large crowd gathered in the Legion hall, Mannville on the evening of April 4th to hear Mr. John Decore, Federal M. P. and Mr. Russell Whitson, Provincial M. L. A. speak on items of general interest to the public as a whole.

Mr. Gordon Larson, acting as chairman of the meeting, called the gathering to order. The meeting was opened by singing "O Canada", with Mrs. Dickson of Innisfree at the piano. Mr. Larson then introduced Mr. Whitson who gave us the highlights of what took place during the recent session of the Legislature. He touched on the following: Power and Telephone Lines crossing farmers land. Purple gas for farm trucks. Equal pay for equal work for women doing the same work as men. Assistance to young farmers. Teachers Retirement Plan. Change of Election Act. Assistance to Municipalities for snow removal. Two of these resolutions, the use of purple gas and the assistance to municipalities for snow removal were of importance to this area and Mr. Whitson either introduced them or took an active part in them.

Mr. Decore then gave an enlightening talk on Federal matters brought up and being brought up in Parliament at Ottawa which was recessed for Easter. Some of the items talked on were Wheat and the Wheat Board: Floor Prices, Social Security Programme and Defence Programme. Both speakers were given a hearty clap after which a question period followed and some very good points brought out.

Mr. Decore and Mr. Whitson thanked all those that turned out to make the evening such a success. The meeting closed with the singing of "The Queen" after which coffee and doughnuts were served.

The lowest known point on the Great Divide between Alberta and B.C. is in the vicinity of Dease Lake where the altitude is only slightly over 2700 feet.

During 1955 Canada's population increased by 2.45% compared to increases of 2.69% in 1954 and 2.8% in 1953. Quick Canadian Facts

The total estimated value of agriculture production in Alberta for 1955 was $652,279,000 compared with $543,097,000 in 1954.

FERTILIZER USE IN 1956

Commercial fertilizer consumption in Western Canada has increased from the matter of a few tons per year in the early thirties to over 75,000 tons in 1954. During this period extensive field trials have shown that except in areas where low soil moisture becomes a limiting factor, a 40-pound application of Ammonium Phosphate (11-48) fertilizer to wheat on fallow has given an average increase in yield of about 5 bushels per acre, while a 60-pound application of this fertilizer has resulted in an average increase in yield of about 7 bushels per acre. It is well to keep in mind, however, that many factors other than yield are associated with the use of fertilizers.

Advantages in Fertilizer Use. The readily available plant food in mineral fertilizers provides food for young grain plants early in the season when the soil is cold and little plant food is otherwise available. Strong plant growth early in Spring not only enables a crop to compete effectively against weed seedlings, but establishes an early soil cover thus reducing the danger of erosion. Furthermore a fertilized grain crop usually matures more uniformly and often ripens several days earlier than one that is not fertilized. In years of early Fall frost this may mean real money in improved grades of grain. The effect of fertilization on the production of a larger amount of crop residue—roots and stubble—to be returned to the soil is also an important factor in maintaining soil fertility.

Fertilizers in 1956. This Spring many western farmers may hesitate to buy fertilizer to produce increased yields of grain which may prove difficult to market. Today, however, efficient production of high quality grain crops is more important than ever. The proper use of fertilizers will not only improve quality, but lower costs per unit of production. Yes, fertilizer will still "pay off" in 1956.

Ladies Wind Up Curling Season

A very enjoyable pot luck supper held in the curling rink on Wednesday evening wound up the activities of the Ladies' Curling club for this season.

A feature of the evening was the presentation of the very fine individual curling trophies donated by Clendenning's Family Wear, to the Locke rink comprised of Emma Locke, Marj Tough, Lou Rosenquist and Arleigh Stone. The presentations were made by Mrs. Clendenning.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Clendenning's Family wear for these fine trophies which add much to the interest of the regular curling draws.

The Ladies' Curling club decided to turn over the total proceeds taken at the lunch counter to the Men's Curling club.

APPRECIATION

The executive and members of the Vermilion Ladies' Curling club wish to express their appreciation and thanks to the business and professional men of the town for the generous donations made to their annual bonspiel.

Dr. Payment Speaks On Fluoridation

Rotarians heard all about fluoridation, a project very much in the public mind at present, at the luncheon meeting on Friday last. The speaker was Dr Ron Payment, local dentist who discussed the matter very fully and in a very interesting manner. Fluoridation has been fully endorsed and supported by the Dental and Medical Associations of both the United States and Canada. The Standard intends to deal more fully with the proofs given by Dr. Payment in a following issue.

Dr Payment was introduced by Dr Ben King, and thanked for his interesting address by Ross Beake. A number of visiting Rotarians were present from Lloydminster and Vegreville.

The Athabasca oil sands, the existence of which were recorded as early as 1788 by Peter Pond, rate as the largest reserve of oil known to man.

Second Section The Vermilion Standard

Letters to the Editor

The Standard does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by correspondents.

R. R. 3, Vermilion,
April 5, 1956.

Editor, Vermilion Standard,
Vermilion, Alberta.

Dear Sir:

I have just been reading my copy of The Organized Farmer, official organ of Farmers' Union of Alberta, and thought you might like to publish a few extracts from same. It seems that the membership total is pretty well down from the high of the year before. Our membership stands now at about 36,000, a drop from around 60,000 the year before.

This is a serious state of affairs unless we farmers keep up our organization we will get nowhere in a world where every other Tom, Dick and Harry belongs to a union. I notice that the index of farm prices has fallen from 294.3 in 1951 to 225.9 in 1955 or 25%, while the farm cost has risen from 237.7 to 241.3 in the same period. Our Union is doing all it can to try and make matters better: pressing for a domestic price for [redacted] cash advances on farm [redacted] and for parity in general for the farmers. Due to pressure from the farm organizations the government has agreed to assume at least part of the cost of all storage by the Wheat Board. According to the Organized Farmer this will mean a saving for each farmer in Western Canada of almost $145. This is a pretty good return on your union fees. It surely cannot be that farmers of today are indifferent to the advantages of supporting their union, and if it is that they cannot afford the fees, all the more reason to rustle the money somehow. Don't wait for the canvasser to call on you. Be a hero and dig down in your pocket and send off your individual subscription, $3.50, or better still, your family membership of $5.00 to the Secretary, Farmers' Union of Alberta, 9934-106 St., Ed[redacted]

With your permission, Mr. Editor, a little poetry:

Breathes there a farmer with soul so dead,
Who never to himself has said—
I'll pay that debt
I owe the Union.

Yours truly,
H. Wear.

Vermilion, Alberta,
April 4, 1956.

Dear Editor:

"Disgusted's" letter in a recent issue I am certain must have been meant for our Division No. 3. Here some roads have been plugged most of the winter, some school roads have been blocked for as long as 10 to 12 days.

This road is a bus road and just off the councillor's highway; four miles to the end of the route it hadn't been opened from one big blow to the next. Our councillor's road was even opened up to let him home for a change of clothes. This road has never had more than a foot and half of snow on it at any time but the plow could not go [redacted]gh it, so we were told to drag our cars through with a tractor.

One old man over 70 years practically had to crawl out after the first storm and he was just a half mile off a bus route, and buy a $30 pair of skiis to get home with, he still has no road plowed to his buildings

This district needs men like Bill Axley and Mr. Barclay. We hear of the work they can do on their roads, never stopping until all the roads are opened and in rotation at that.

Now I don't mean for a man to work day and night but why not hire two or three men to run a machine like that in eight hour shifts and run it day and night especially in a winter like this one has been. That I believe would be a lot cheaper and quicker than a bulldozer and everybody would get out in decent time.

We wouldn't complain if we got our road plowed in turn as it should, which would be only fair to all.

There were two people sick on this road and they couldn't get out by car. When asked to plow the road the councillor had to phone and ask if they really were sick. However, by the time the bulldozer got through they could have been dead if it hadn't been for getting medicine part way out by the school bus, which couldn't travel this road at all. The one man got to the doctor after the road was bulldozed out.

Just ask a few people in the district and see what they think. Let's do something about it. What do we pay taxes for anyway?

This letter was intended for last week but the road was plugged so it couldn't be mailed.

Too many roads are left blocked for as long as one month to six weeks in this division. Once when the roads were all blown in the bulldozer was sent out and the big plow followed it and waited for an hour at a time for the bulldozer to go on ahead so he could push the snow aside. Why couldn't he have been sent to plow side roads and then go back and still catch up to the bulldozer. That's the taxpayers' money that was wasted doing that too. We know we can't all get out at once but would appreciate it in turn.

Thanking you Mr Editor for the space I have taken

Alex Y Ross.

Health Unit Notes

CANCER

WHAT IS CANCER

The human body is made up of millions of tiny cells. Under healthy conditions these cells divide and grow only to produce normal body growth i.e. increase in size from childhood to adult life and also to replace tissue lost in ordinary wear and tear. In cancer the growth and division of a number of cells "runs wild" and they grow in a disorderly and uncontrolled manner in some part of the body. Sooner or later some of these cells break off from the original growth and lodge in other parts of the body and there set up secondary growths. There are many types of cancer and each presents its own problems. Cancer occurs mainly in middle aged and elderly people but no age group is immune. It is equally divided among males and females.

WHAT CAUSES CANCER

The exact cause of cancer is unknown although scientists can produce certain types of cancer in animals by using various techniques i.e. the application of chemicals.

There is no evidence that cancer is caused by a germ and so it is not contagious or infectious—there is no evidence of doctors or nurses getting cancer from a patient despite the close contact with them. One type of bone cancer can result from one severe injury but it is not believed that this applies to other types of tissue. Cancer is not caused by eating refrigerated food, any particular combination of food or using aluminum cooking utensils.

There is a little but no definite evidence that cancer is hereditary. If either one or both of an individual's parents have had cancer he or she should be more alert in looking for suspicious conditions but should certainly not adopt a fatalistic attitude. There have been many cases where both mother and father have had cancer but none of their children developed it; many people develop cancer when there has been no evidence of it in their parents.

TREATMENT OF CANCER

Cancer can be cured if treatment is begun early and so diagnosis at the earliest possible stage is important. The treatment is confined to surgery, X-ray and radiation therapy. Home cures such as pills, powders, salves, etc. and advertised sure and secret cures are useless; they are also dangerous as they can delay proper treatment until it is too late to be of use. It cannot be emphasized too strongly that early diagnosis is essential, so if you have any suspicion that you may have cancer consult your doctor immediately. It must also be remembered that there is absolutely no disgrace in having cancer.

THE MAIN WARNING SIGNALS OF CANCER ARE:

1. Any sore that does not heal.
2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere
3. Unusual bleeding or discharge
4. Any change in a wart or mole.
5. Persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
6. Persistent cough or hoarseness.
7. Any change in normal bowel habits

If you become aware of any of these CONSULT YOUR DOCTOR IMMEDIATELY

Roads in the district have been plowed out but one is now blocked by the mud

Louise Lake school is still operating with about fifteen pupils being in attendance during the past month. It is doubtful if more will be able to attend from now on as roads are impassable

Tommy Bensmiller Jr. and his wife visited the Tom Bensmillers. They told of robins singing in Calgary, dust on the roads and spring well on its way. They were certainly amazed to find the snow so deep here that they had to borrow a team to get home

Mr Mike Osinchuk took the train to Edmonton where he spent a few days holidaying and buying up fishing tackle for this summer

Archie Poluschuk and Willie Osinchuk hauled a load of pigs to town but they did not break the road bar. They used a team of horses to get their porkers to market. A twelve mile team trip is a novelty these days.

Eastglen High School Rink Wins T. V. Bonspiel At Devon

Ray Winkelaar of Edmonton's East Glen High School skipped his rink to victory over Wayne Oates of Drumheller to take home the four T. V. sets, the Grand Prize for Western Canada's High School Bonspiel held at Devon. The four day 'spiel included 48 rinks, top curlers from both Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Those winning the T. V. sets included Ray Winkelaar, Roy Osterman, Al Lodwig and Mike Field. The Drumheller rink, Wayne Oates, Les Little, Fraser Grant and Ron Francis came out second best and took home binoculars. Bill Brown of Scona Composite was the third event winner, he was supported by Dave Stone, Don Podgurney and Al Craig.

The final score in the final game was 12-8 for the Edmonton foursome. In the semi final prior to the big game, the Drumheller rink went a full 13 ends to win their game over Scona by a score of 11-10.

Second prize winners in the first event went to Ron Robb, Crescent Heights, Calgary. Vegreville's Steve Cikaliuk, Northern Alberta's T. P. representative placed third, while Berry Colman, Lethbridge, the Alberta T. P. representative placed fourth.

Second in the second event went to Bobby Hawkins, Dominion High School Champion from Regina losing to Oates of Drumheller. Neil Latisher of Breton was third and Jerry McDonald of Darwell placed fourth.

Third event second prize winners were the local rink Paul Diemert; third spot went to Mel Binder of West Glen, Edmonton. Fourth spot was held by Grace Karlsen, the only all girl entry, from Whitecourt. Grace skipped her rink like a veteran, her luck charms a flat broom and fingers crossed.

The 'spiel, run off on schedule, was keenly contested on exceptional ice. Curlers enjoyed a dance at Leduc Monday, a banquet Tuesday, a big dance Wednesday at Devon, and an exciting finale Thursday to name the big T.V winners. All games were exciting, as well known rinks toppled.

In 1955 the amount remitted to the federal government by the Canadian automobile industry as sales and excise taxes on new cars exceeded the industry's payroll for the year. The figures were: sales and excise taxes, $172 million; payroll, $154 million.

Lloydminster Hockey Club Explains "Walk Out"

Lloydminster, Sask.,
April 2, 1956.

The Editor,
Vermilion Standard.

Dear Sir:

On behalf of the Lloydminster Chevies hockey club, I would like to take this opportunity to explain the reasons for the unfortunate incidents at Vegreville on Wednesday March 28 causing the "walkout" by the Lloyd hockey club.

At the annual meeting of the Eastern Alberta Hockey League held last fall in Vermilion, before the vote was taken to accept or reject Lloydminster's re-entry into the League, Lloyd's representatives were given the following reasons against their admittance: 1. Lloydminster never had taken their playoff obligations in the E.A.H.L. seriously and have left the league at playoff time to enter the S.A.H.A. Intermediate 'A' playoffs instead. If allowed back in the league, Lloyd would have to meet their playoff obligations one hundred per cent. This was agreed to by Lloyd's representatives. 2. Certain members of the executive of the Lloyd club had not met with the approval of the E.A.H.L. officials and teams, and if Lloyd was to be admitted these gentlemen would not be allowed to be connected with the club. This was also agreed to.

At the voting Lloyd's representatives were asked to leave the [illegible] and their application for re-admission was refused. Two reasons, both on the ridiculous side, were given for the refusal: 1. Lloyd was too far for [illegible] to travel [illegible] 2. A present five-team [illegible] set [illegible] with only one team dropping out of the play-offs, was a better system financially than a six-team league with two teams dropping out.

On the representatives return to Lloydminster, a letter of protest was written to Dr Bradley of Wainwright, president of the E.A.H.L., stating that we could not accept these as being the true reasons for non-acceptance and would our case be reconsidered. Dr Bradley then brought this to a telephone or telegraph vote, we are not sure which, and Lloyd's entry was accepted, on one condition that $100 be paid to the Vegreville Ranger Hockey Club, owing to them from some past playoff game of some past season, we are not sure why. We agreed to do this and we were in. Then all .... broke loose.

Wainwright and Vegreville were continually late for games, which are scheduled for 8:30 in Lloyd. There was to be an automatic fine of $25 for any club appearing later than 15 minutes after starting time. None of the clubs appearing late in Lloyd were ever fined to our knowledge. Needless to say, it can be appreciated the effect this had on the attendance at any of the games played with these clubs. Why was it that St. Paul who had the farthest distance to travel, were in Lloydminster by 5:00 to 6:00 o'clock the evening of a game and other clubs couldn't be here before nine or later?

When the regular schedule ended, Wainwright and Viking ended up in a tie for fourth place. Instead [illegible] the normal procedure of the best goals for and against average, it was decided to have a two-game total series to decide this. Lloyd, in finishing first, were to play the winner. Between the weather element, Edmonton referees refusing to travel during the cold, and possibly other factors, it took said two clubs approximately ten days to play these games. But for some unknown reason, the league, or possibly the clubs themselves, did not see fit to start the other semi-final [illegible] Vegreville and St. Paul, who ended in a tie for second place, but was awarded to Vegreville due to a better goal average, until the fourth place playoff was over.

Once Wainwright defeated Viking, it is common knowledge of the poor drawing card they were, and the poor gate that was realized in their series with Lloydminster.

However, both Vegreville and [illegible] Paul entered into the Alberta [illegible] Senior playoffs, and for this reason it took them 27 days to complete a best of five series while Lloydminster, who were warned not to let anything else interfere with league commitments, were left to wait.

Finally, Vegreville defeated St. Paul in the semi-final, but also were having great success in their hunt for Sr B laurels, and decided that that was more important.

Finally, they apparently found themselves with nothing to do on Saturday, March 17. Apparently Vegreville were to have played Lethbridge for the "B" final on March 14 or 15 or thereabouts, therefore Lloyd had to sit around all week until Saturday to play the first game of the finals on Friday, March 16. At approximately 2:00 p.m. a phone call was received from Ted Umphries, manager of Vegreville club, saying that the Lethbridge series was not to be played until the next week end, and could Lloyd come to Vegreville that night. At that late hour it was impossible to know if all the players were available and besides, we wanted the benefit of the first home game since we had finished in first place.

On Saturday, March 17 after all the advertising bills had been sent out, the radio stations notified, and the programs printed, due to the warm weather the ice at the arena was found to be very wet in spots, and unsuitable for play. Vegreville was notified, but later we were [illegible] by them of not wanting to play.

The [illegible] continued warm on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday but due to packing with snow on Tuesday night the ice seemed in pretty [illegible] shape. Then Mr. Umphries [illegible] contacted with the intent of playing the first game in Lloyd, Thursday night. We were informed that Vegreville were going to Lethbridge for the finals Thursday and Saturday. However, we had to get final confirmation of this later in the day and would [illegible] back if they would not be [illegible]. Mr. Umphries seemed somewhat disturbed [illegible] that we did not play last Saturday night and did not seem to be satisfied that the ice was not in playing condition. We did not hear from Vegreville on Wednesday night, and assumed that they had gone to Lethbridge. However, it was later learned that Vegreville went nowhere on Thursday and Friday, and Lethbridge instead came to Vegreville for Saturday and Sunday. This gave us the impression again that Vegreville were stalling and were more interested in their provincial playoffs than in the league.

Vegreville defeated Lethbridge on Saturday, March 23, and Sunday, March 24, in Vegreville. On Monday, March 25, the weather turned colder and again it was attempted to start the series. On Monday, March 25, in conversation with Mr. Umphries, he was asked if Vegreville could be in Lloyd for Tuesday night. Mr Umphries declined, his reason being that their ice "got chopped up pretty bad during the Lethbridge series, and it would be better if the series started in Lloyd on Wednesday night, and [illegible] to Vegreville Thursday, giving them one extra day to fix up the ice surface." Mr Umphries also wondered about playing a sudden death game in the Edmonton Gardens. We could not agree to this as we felt this would be a financial flop, and we were intent on making a few dollars, through the benefits of at least two home games.

The league minutes stated that all semi-final and final series be on a three out of five basis, due to the uncertainty of the weather, there was the possibility of the series not going that far, but the series was to start out on that basis. On Monday we went to work advertising the first game of the Lloydminster-Vegreville series to be played in Lloyd on Wednesday, with the second game in Vegreville on Thursday and the third for Lloyd on Saturday.

On Tuesday morning, Mr. Umphries again phoned, stating that Vegreville would be able to play tonight and could we get going? Again, because of the unsureness of the weather, we agreed, the first game in Lloyd, on Tuesday, the second one in Vegreville on Wednesday, third in Lloyd Thursday, and the fourth in Vegreville on Saturday, with the fifth, if necessary to be decided. So again we went to work changing dates, phoning radio stations, etc. At noon Edmonton radio stations were announcing the series as a best of three, where they got that idea, we do not know, and Saskatoon and N. Battleford stations were announcing a best of five series.

During the game on Tuesday night, Art Deaville, president of the Chevies, checked with Mr. Umphries and it was definitely decided as a three of five series. This was repeatedly announced over the P.A. system and with the small attendance due to the lack of time for advertising and the [illegible] that was blowing, that also was responsible for the game starting 30 minutes late, the third game on Thursday was looked forward to as a potential financial boom. Vegreville, as is known, won the first game.

On Wednesday morning a phone call was received from Mr. Al Lock of Vermilion, who had taken over the presidency of the league, due to the resignation of Dr. Bradley, due to pressure of business. Mr. [illegible] that he had decided, as president of the league, to [illegible] this a two out of three series, [illegible] to the weather possibly warming up. Needless to say, Lloyd did not take the decision at all. Here the [illegible] executive had done [illegible] in arranging playoffs in the last month and a half, [illegible] left it up to the teams, [illegible] all of a sudden with Lloyd one game [illegible] and a potential [illegible] we are faced with a [illegible] like that. When Mr. Lock was advised of this, his comment was, "The only solution is to take two straight." There also was a dandy decision.

Mr. Deaville then tried to contact Mr. Umphries, to tell him that we did not agree with a two out of three series and would not come up on that basis. Mr. Umphries was not available at the time but we were assured by the president of the Vegreville Rangers that it would be a three out of five series. At that point Mr. Umphries came in and pointed out that the president of the league had called for a two out of three series and Vegreville [illegible] abide by the President's ruling. (I wonder what Mr Umphries' reaction would have been if the situation had been vice-versa?) It was [illegible] decided to phone Mr. Lock [illegible], and again we were told it would be a two out of three [illegible]. When it was pointed out to Mr. Lock that it had been agreed to before the series started that it was to be a three out of five series, and confirmed again by the president of Vegreville, Mr. Lock's comment was, "[illegible] is running this league, [illegible] or Vegreville's president? My decision stands." By [illegible] we [illegible] wondering [illegible] running the league. [illegible] that we had been [illegible] long [illegible] coach Jim [illegible] called the players off the ice and it was decided against playing.

In closing we wish to point out that we are not proud of ourselves for what we did, but are sorry for the fact that it had to happen this way, but we definitely did feel that we had to stand up for our rights, as little as we may have had during the season.

Hoping that this will lead to explain the matter whether you are for us or against us, I am,

Yours sincerely,
Al Wilner
Secretary-Treasurer,
Lloyd Chevie Hockey Club.

CLAYSHORE CLIPPINGS

The bingo and dance held at the school Friday evening, April 6, by the W. I. ladies was a decided success both socially and financially, in spite of uncertain weather and very bad side roads.

We were glad to see a good-sized crowd turn out for a very enjoyable evening. We hope that in a short time the school yard will be dry enough so cars can be parked inside the yard, and so we won't have to look for suitable parking space on the road side.

Guests at the home of Mr and Mrs. Olstad are Mrs. Olstad's father, Mr. M. Karlstrom and her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Karlstrom; all of Edburg, Alberta.

New Enamel For Kitchen Appliances

Kitchen appliances are surely and steadily improving. Year by year they're becoming more serviceable mechanically and more decorative in our homes. Streamlined toasters, automatic percolators, colorful juicers and openers—all designed for efficiency and lasting beauty.

But even though they've come a long way in the past 20 years, every woman who uses them knows they're not yet perfect. Sometimes the design is faulty, sometimes the mechanism goes wrong, sometimes the finish won't stand up to day-in day-out use in a busy kitchen.

Homemakers should take heart from the knowledge that in Canadian industrial laboratories scientists are constantly at work on their behalf, trying to find new materials and new methods to improve the old.

For instance, a new enamel for finishing washing machines, clothes driers, refrigerators and other kitchen appliances has just been developed at C-I-L's paint research laboratory. This took five years of research, hundreds of laboratory tests and exhaustive tests under actual [illegible].

Out of these labors has come a finish which has proven superior to anything previously available to appliance-makers. It is said to be more than three times as resistant to stains, even those of orange skins, dyes and household chemicals. The new enamel looks like fine porcelain but has not the brittleness of porcelain and its glossy surface stands up well to the scratching of everyday use. A great advantage is its resistance to yellowing from cooking fumes.

Spanking white kitchen equipment which stays that way sounds like a housewife's [illegible]. But modern homemakers are not likely to run out of dreams for further development. There will always be new projects to keep Canada's laboratories humming.

Since the end of World War II Canada has advanced more than four billion dollars in financial aid to foreign countries. Gifts to other countries have amounted to $1,856,845,000, or nearly half the foreign aid total in the period.

You'll find it much easier to keep an accurate record of your current expenses when you have a Current Account.

When you pay all bills by cheque on your Current Account, you receive back, at the end of each month, all your cancelled cheques as well as a bank statement showing every withdrawal and every deposit you have made. The cancelled cheques serve as receipts - and are accepted in court as evidence of payment of the amount shown. Furthermore, they are much easier to file away than receipts and take less room to store. With them and your bank statements, you'll find it far easier to get an exact picture of how you spend your money.

So it's a good move to use a Current Account for paying all current bills—and keep your Savings Account for actual savings.

WOODVALE NOTES

With more springlike weather also has come the flu. Hardly a household has escaped the onslaught. When Mrs. Roberts took sick, Mrs. Ethel Watt took over and taught school for the last week before the Easter holidays. Mrs. Dorothy Portsmith was taken to the Islay hospital but was able to return home a week later. Mr. Lloyd McLean was a patient in the Vermilion hospital.

Mr and Mrs. Bill Wells and baby Diana spent a week at the T. Hammond home when bad road conditions prevented them from returning sooner. These roads! They sure make travelling a headache this winter. What's going to happen when the big banks start to melt?

Mr and Mrs Vernon Foster of Edmonton were visitors at the Wade Foster home over the Easter week end. Ernie Isley was home for the holidays and so were Marie and Robert Goutier.

Of Many Things . . .

By AMBROSE HILLS

WHO TO HELP?

I'm having a bit of trouble with my conscience today. This morning, I saw a fellow drive his car down a road where he obviously would get stuck. He did it deliberately. I had by-passed the same road and driven around the block to get to the same destination.

Reasoning thus, I said to myself, "The darn fool got himself into the mess, let him get out of it himself. I've got important things to do right now and I can't take time to help him."

Well, I'm still sore at the man for being foolish enough to get himself stuck in such a toothless way, but I'm wishing, too, that I'd given him a hand.

Not that he deserved it. But I'd have felt better right now—nice and virtuous and pleasant and warm-hearted. I feel correct and right and proper and cold as the drift he was stuck in. By reasoning was proper, my reaction was that of a self-righteous stinker.

Driving home this afternoon, I stopped to visit a friend. I pulled over a bit too far on the road. When I'd finished chatting with my friend, the right hind wheel was stuck up to the hub cap. I was stuck!

It would make a good story to say that the fellow I'd failed to help came to my rescue. He didn't, but two other men did. And I suppose they must have wondered at is darn old crazy enough to park where I had parked. But they pushed me out just the same, and they must have felt good about it, even if they arrived home late for dinner.

Tonight at bedtime I propose to read again the parable of the Good Samaritan and take it to heart. Who knows, winter may not be over and I may be stuck again one day! I hope somebody will take time out and give me a push.

But the real reason, of course, is that I want more of that feeling. Next time you drive down a road where you've no business to drive, and get yourself stuck, just holler and I'll be there! I've some penance to do!

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Woman's Travel Authority

The minute a gentlemen starts chauffeuring their dates on busy highways, chivalry became a two-way street.

Right through the horse-and buggy era, chivalry was a one-way proposition. Knights considered it a privilege to unhorse other in tournament for the lady fair. Sir Walter Raleigh was applauded for muddying his best cloak for the Queen. And a swain in the handlebar mustache era had to think twice about dating a lady he could'nt lift bodily into his buggy.

Today a gentleman won't even light her cigarette while he's driving - and he's absolutely right! Because safety is the first rule of etiquette for the driver. Attention to the comfort of his feminine passenger comes next.

A lady, however, has the right to expect her fellow-motorist to walk clear around the car to open the door for her. And she should take it for granted that the heater and windows will be adjusted for her comfort. That the car will be clean, and that the windshield on her side will work so that she can enjoy the view even if it rains. And that the speed at which they travel should be geared to her peace of mind.

On the other hand, conversation during the drive becomes primarily the lady's social obligation. Let her resist the burden of one-sided without distracting him. And hanging quiet when he's obviously wrestling with some immediate traffic problem.

The polite driver is considerate of the needs and feelings of his passengers. He is also aware of narratives that the driver can't concentrate on her and on the road at the same time!

NO SPEED LIMIT FOR MOSQUITOES

In Canada, in some of the badly-infested northern areas, as many as 240 mosquitos bites a minute have been counted on a bare forearm. At this rate a naked man would theoretically be drained of his blood in one hour and 45 minutes.

In 1925 the number of families in Canada increased by 90,000 while the number of new homes built in the year totalled 127,000.

Civil Defence — Its organization

Third of a series of 13 articles

The federal government's part in civil defence is mainly to coordinate provincial plans with the over-all plan of the country in event of an enemy attack. It must provide direction, assistance, training. But, as Health Minister Paul Martin has said, "civil defence cannot be imposed from the top."

"No government — not even the federal government — can do this job alone," he said in a recent speech. Under Canada's constitutional setup, the job of organizing the civilian population so that it can protect itself in event of a disaster such as nuclear war falls to each level of government federal, provincial, municipal.

The federal government recognized the need of civil defence in Canada as far back as 1948 when it appointed F. F. Worthington as federal civil defence co-ordinator. At that time civil defence came under the jurisdiction of the Department of National Defence. It was switched to the Department of Health and Welfare, with Mr. Martin as the responsible cabinet minister, in 1951. A federal-provincial conference of civil defence officials agreed on which government would share what responsibilities.

It was agreed that the federal government would operate a central training school for civil defence specialists. The Canadian Civil Defence College was established at Arnprior, Ont., 40 miles northwest of Ottawa. More than 7,000 persons have been trained in the federal civil defence organization so far and Canada now has some 72,000 fulltime C. D. workers including firemen, policemen, etc. where normal jobs fulfil a C. D. function and 107,000 volunteers.

Courses are held at the college continuously except for the month of August when it closes for vacation. Its staff of about 20 has given courses to police chiefs, fire chiefs, doctors, industrial personnel and many other groups across Canada.

Through the Health Department's information services the federal C. D. organization also has carried on an intensive educational campaign to acquaint Canadians with the importance and function of civil defence.

The federal government is responsible for co-operation with United States C. D. planners and establishment of a warning system to tip off the country of probable enemy attack. It is stockpiling medical supplies at strategic points across Canada. It has provided essential C. D. equipment, training manuals and publications.

It agreed to carry out research on civil defence through government research establishments and to help the provinces by paying one-third the cost to standardize five hose couplings. Ontario, Alberta and British Columbia are the only provinces so far to take advantage of this arrangement which makes it possible for fire equipment from one town to be used in any other town in the province.

These are the chief functions of the federal C. D. organization in peacetime. Should war come, it would also:

1 Warn of an oncoming attack through electronic devices being built around the rim of the continent, by ground observer corps and other information sources.

2 Coordinate interprovincial movement of aid to provinces and municipalities under attack and distribute the federal stockpile of aid supplies.

3 Coordinate the nationwide jobs of other federal agencies and keep the prime minister and the people informed of the attack's effects.

4 Participate in decisions concerning emergency restoration of communications, transportation and other essential functions.

But in the words of Mr. Martin again:

"Senior governments can offer guidance, planning and financial assistance, but the successful prosecution of a civil defence program depends, in the last analysis, on the participation of individual citizens and on community leadership.

Intended Acreage Of Principal Field Crops In Alberta, 1956

On the basis of their intentions at March 1, Alberta farmers plan to seed an unprevedented acreage to flaxseed in 1956 — 3,553,000 acres or 224% of the area seeded in 1955 will be seeded to flax in 1956. Alberta farmers also indicated increases in area for grain and mixed grains while a decreased acreage is planned in spring wheat, barley, spring and fall rye and potatoes. The acreage planned for summer-fallow remains the same.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics has recently released the intended acreage figures for Canada and at this time pointed out that these acreages were subject to alteration if farmers plans at March 1. The acreages actually seeded, therefore may vary considerably from the intention figures depending upon conditions before and during seeding. Additional factors such as availability of good quality seed and the possible effect of the intended increase in farmers' plans may contribute to changes in acreage currently indicated.

In the years 1947-51 $57 billion was invested in new plant and equipment by the Canadian manufacturing industries, employees was increased to 1,250,000 per week, the volume of manufactured products increased by 12% per year and the value of

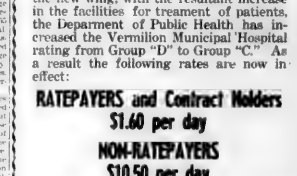
Alberta's Natural Gas Industry TRANSMISSION



Unlike most fuels, natural gas cannot travel by road or rail. But express transportation is given by steel transmission lines through which gas is forced under pressure from production fields to Alberta's population centres. These pipelines are the "superweights" of the natural gas system, and nothing is left to chance in laying them. All seams are carefully welded, then the pipe is cleaned, enamelled and wrapped to guard against corrosion, and finally pressure tested. When in the ground transmission lines are tested yearly — maintained in top shape to give express transportation!

With GAS you get service — we plan it that way!

WILDMERE WINKS

It was with heartfelt sympathy the writer read of the sudden passing of Mrs. J Winter. Only that very afternoon we had been talking to her in Billie McLaughlin's store. While we knew she was far from well she was very cheerful and hopeful. We first met Mrs. Winter when she came to Battleview district and where her family grew up. Her familiar cheery greeting when one met her will be greatly missed. Our deepest sympathy goes to her ailing husband who has been ill for a long while and to her daughter Mrs Murray of Wainwright and sons Arnold, Joe and Albert of Vermilion.

A short call was made on Miss Craig on Wednesday afternoon last when Mrs. Holte, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Cruthers and the writer dropped in to say hello before our W.I. meeting at Mrs. Whitlock's.

This week we are having the pleasure of a visit from Russell Cruthers who was born and raised in Wildmere and now makes his home in New Westminster, B.C. He came last Thursday and has been visiting his sister Grace (Mrs. Marfleet) in town and Marjorie (Mrs. A Smith) of Basswood and brother Cliff Cruthers of Wildmere. He also [illegible] friends. The roads being so bad he cannot get around as much as he had hoped to. Next time Russell comes when roads are dry. He says they have had a bad winter at the coast too.

J C Wallington along with four other councillors and the reeve, made a fast trip to the city Thursday last and returned [illegible] same day.

Rev. K A Minchin has been holding Confirmation classes at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Haines the past several weeks. Mrs. Noel Garnett, Mrs. A. Rendell and Mrs. Fred Haines will be taking the vows of the church.

The writer attended the wedding of Betty Coulter and Earl Clark last Saturday at the Alliance chapel. It was a very pretty wedding and the bride looked lovely. The church was filled. Rev. McNair performed the marriage ceremony. Mary Coulter was her sister's bridesmaid and George Jensen, brother of the groom was best man. After the wedding a reception was held in the church basement for close relatives and friends. We all wish Betty and Earl many years of happiness together.

We too can tell about something in the animal world but nothing so startling as Mr Larson's cow with her four calves. J Wilson had a cow give birth on Saturday to twin calves, both mother and little ones are doing well. We think Mr Larson will have quite a number of visitors to see his cow and calves when roads get good.

No school has been held so far this week at Preston Central owing to the condition of the roads. Side-roads are nearly impassable. We all hope it soon will dry up so the children will not miss too many days of school.

The Girls Club dance held at Basswood on Friday night turned out to be an enjoyable affair even though not many from any distance could get there. Music was supplied by Baillie Holte, Albert Smith, Mrs. King and Johnny Martin. Roy Martin was M.C. Henry Eyben and Albert Cleland, who were to play for the dance just couldn't make it because of the roads. A novelty auction at supper time supplied some [illegible] and a few dollars for the club. Ladies' shoes were auctioned off and the buyer ate supper with the owner of the shoe. It made some boy friends scratch their heads trying to remember just what their lady friend's 'shoes' were like.

Stephens store is really getting a face lifting these days by having a new paint job inside. It surely makes a difference to the appearance for both customers and clerks.

Long's Drug store is also undergoing some painting and renovating and colors used blend nicely together.

On Sunday evening Cliff, Russell and Gary Cruthers visited at the Gibson home in Basswood. Monday evening Frank and Don Gibson and Laurence Graham visited at the Wallington home in Wildmere.

April 11th 1908 the writer's family and the writer landed in Vermilion. That spring was like this one, lots of snow and lakes of water everywhere.

Import of foreign-made goods into Canada reached the all-time record high of $4,711,300,000 in 1955. Unfavorable trade balance for the year was $380,200,000 also the all-time record high.

Mechanical Toys Lead Girl To Career In Engineering

As a little girl Zygfryda Grygowicz played with mechanical toys while other little girls played with dolls. This childhood interest in mechanics led her to a career and today she is a chemical engineer at the C-I-L Central Research Laboratory at Beloeil, Quebec.

As a child in her home in Warsaw Poland, Fryda, as she was familiarly known, was always busy taking household mechanisms apart to see what made them tick. Following the war, she entered the faculty of engineering at Rome University and completed her studies at the Polish University College from which she was graduated in 1950. After graduation she spent some time as a control chemist with an English firm and in 1952 came to Canada.

Although Europe abounds with women chemical engineers, so far Fryda has only met one other female chemical engineer in Canada.

"Whenever I attend a convention of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers," she related, "the reception committee naturally assumes I am the wife of one of the engineers. It is amusing to see their faces when I tell them I am an engineer."

Fryda is particularly interested in the research end of chemistry. "Research is challenging," she explained. "The work never becomes routine and it is necessary for me to be constantly studying, which is always profitable."

When asked if she had any advice for young people starting out on the road to a career, Fryda suggested that a college education must come first. "Whether it be in arts, science or commerce, you will always have that standing behind you when seeking a job," she said.

NEWS from ISLAY

Mrs. Ken Buchanan has gone to join her husband at Fairview, Alta.

The monthly meeting of the W.A. was held on Thursday, April 5th at Mrs. Vera McLean's with fourteen present. Mrs. I. D. Inman led the devotional period. Farewell was bid to Mrs. Buchanan. No particular date was set for doing our quilt — but sometime later you may get a phone call. No special business was on the agenda so after a very delicious lunch served by Mrs. McLean and Mrs. Patsy Robertson a long visit was enjoyed.

The tales coming in of those cars being stuck in the mud and having to be hauled out are really grim. Mr. Simmons as well as his team are really used up. George Machell and his Jeep are very popular too, and many godd deeds have they performed recently.

Bruce McFadden and Bernie Olsen who trained at the C. N. R. station here, left recently. Bruce went to Grand Centre and Bernie to Hinton, Alberta.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Buster Axley, and Mr. and Mrs. Davis of Dewberry, each with a son born in Islay hospital, also to Mr. and Mrs. Cooper of Kitscoty.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Regarding the reporting to the police of an Islay Grain Company— may it be known to all that the other two grain agents had nothing to do with the informing.

Wildmere Women's Institute Notes

The Wildmere W.I. met at the home of Mrs. K Whitlock in Vermilion on Wednesday, April 14 with eighteen members and two visitors present, Mrs. Riley and Mrs. Seuffert. The meeting opened with "O Canada" and by repeating the Creed. The roll call — Name a Flower that starts with your inital — was very interesting.

Minutes of the previous meeting were adopted as read. Treasurer's report was adopted on motion of Mrs. Wallington and Mrs. Howard. Mrs. W T. Howard returned some of the money given to her to attend the convention in Edmonton. Our treasurer presented Mrs. R. Martin with a W.I. ring for her faithful service as a member, also a leader in our W.I. girls' club.

Correspondence: Letter of thanks from the Wildmere Beavers for the money returned re the Xmas tree; a letter from the Vermilion Legion re donation to the Legion polio fund; a letter from C.A.C re price of eggs, suggested writing to the Poultry Producers, Edmonton.

Answer to measuring cups: the secretary to write about the date. A letter from the Women's Editor, Rosie Dulcie, of the Producer, on how groups can make money. Mrs. R. Martin is to look after the project. Anyone subscribing please get into touch with her and so help our W.I. group.

Mrs. John Wilson reported on the tea bags sent out by C.A.C. She made 106½ cups from the 80 tea bags (half pound). No brand of tea was on the package, but the tea was claimed to be very good.

Mrs. Wilson also had the curriculum news letter from the department of education. This paper is more suitable for Home and School and Mrs. Hughes is to take it to the next meeting of that organization.

The annual W.I. conference is to be much earlier this year and will be held on June 16 at the agricultural college, so get busy on your handicrafts folks.

No social service report this month.

Mrs. W. T. Garnett gave a very interesting report of the convention Edmonton March 21 and 22. Edmonton has the oldest branch, 47 years old. Wainwright with 13 branches and 210 members raised $12,000 in two years. Alberta W.I. would like branches donating to the Salvation Army to ear mark the donation "Home for Aged".

C.A.C. would like members, not group membership, as then only one of the group has a vote. It now has 20,000 members.

Mrs. Garnett really gave a good report. Her expenses were only $11.15 and she says that every W.I. [illegible] a convention sometime as it really gives one a better insight into A.W.I. work.

Our project for May is 25 cents per member for the A.C.W.W travel fund.

Mrs. R. Martin won Johnny Jump Up; Social — a talk on the news, "Is a curling rink a betterment to a community or not?" Everyone thought that it was.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J Wilson on May 2nd in the evening. Roll call: A woman of note in the Institute, Provincial, National or International. Topic, Citizenship. Social, Mrs. Bauman; lunch Mrs Howard, Mrs. Hughes and Mr. Martin.

The meeting closed with a delicious lunch served by the hostess and helpers. The members then left to journey homewards over or through the muddy roads.

Mrs. J. Wallington,
Wildmere W.I. Reporter.

CHRYSLER TO EXPORT CARS

WINDSOR. Chrysler Corporation of Canada, Ltd., will shortly commence to ship automobiles to five parts of the British Commonwealth. E. C. Row, president and general manager announced this week.

Mr. Row said that his company is currently working on orders to supply vehicles to New Zealand, Hong Kong, Jamaica, Br. Guiana and Singapore.

The cars will be Plymouths and Dodges, most of which will be equipped with right-hand drive.

Shipments to New Zealand will consist of knocked-down components for assembly in that country. Completely Canadian-built vehicles are being shipped to the other destinations.

"These shipments represent our first step in re-entering the export eld since the war", Mr. Row said. "Except for a few shipments of components to New Zealand this market has been cut off since 1939.

"Although the present volume of orders for export is relatively small when compared with our total production, we are hopeful that we can develop an export business to a greater extent in future."

The total value to the company of the current orders is in the neighborhood of one and one-half million dollars, he said.

The special right-hand drive cars are being built as part of the company's normal production program, Mr Row added. The additional manpower required for this purpose raises the company's employment to a new all-time 'high'. Close to 11,080 persons are now at work in the Windsor passenger car engine and truck plants, and administrative offices. Approximately 980 more are engaged in parts plant and sales activities outside of Windsor.

The company has also announced that it was stepping up truck production schedules and that the truck plant will operate temporarily for one hour per day extra for four days of each week.

SEED TREATMENT PAYS

The treatment of smut and other seed borne diseases has come a long way since the days when the use of formaldehyde was standard practice and there are available today a number of reliable organic mercury chemicals for the treatment of seed which give very satisfactory protection at relatively small cost per bushel. In addition, there is now protection in the form of dual purpose treatments, against seedling blight, root rot and wireworm damage. Plan to use one of these seed treatments this spring.

Letter From Edmonton — By Ken Mason

Political Attention Now Swings Back To The Royal Commission

EDMONTON Now that the session of the legislature has ended, the centre of political attention in Alberta has returned to the royal commission investigating charges levelled against the government during the election campaign last June.

The five-man commission, headed by lawyer James C. Mahaffy, of Calgary has progressed to the now famous jail property transactions in the Calgary area, and unless something unforeseen develops, public hearings should end this month.

Evidence so far has differed very little from what was brought out last year during meetings of the legislature public accounts committee. The government bought 880 acres at Chestermere Lake, east of Calgary, for $127,875 shortly after Sam Diamond took an option to buy it at $81,000.

Last week, the commission heard evidence from Lucien Maynard, former attorney general defeated in the June election, Harry J. Wilson, deputy attorney-general, and Arthur Arnold, deputy minister of public works.

Briefly, the evidence was that the government agreed to purchase the farmland for $145 an acre because it met all the requirements for the proposed new jail. Mr Maynard and Mr Arnold said dealings were made through the Calgary law firm of Millard and Woolliams and they did not know the identity of the owner. Both denied they were acquainted with Sam Diamond.

The only statement which rated headlines was from J B O'Connor, former part owner of the Chestermere Lake farm, who sold Diamond the option to buy it. He said he felt the price of $81,000 Diamond agreed to pay was a "stiff price", and under questioning admitted he was "shocked" to learn the government paid $46,875 more.

This week the commission was to begin investigating the purchase of 2500 acres at Spy Hill, west of Calgary. For the record, the government abandoned the Chestermere land after residents of the area complained about the proposed new jail, and bought the Spy Hill land as an alternative site. The owner of Spy Hill, Geo. E. Stryker, took the Chestermere land as part payment.

According to the evidence the government purchased the Chestermere land at less than Diamond originally wanted for it. Mr. Maynard said the original asking price was $160 an acre, but it was reduced to $145 through negotiations.

The former attorney general told the commission that if Millard and Woolliams' client had refused to take any less he would have recommended that the government pay $160 per acre. He added he felt the government made a "good deal".

CAR INSURANCE

Alberta's new law covering automobile insurance goes into effect next Oct. 1. Under the new scheme motorists carrying adequate public liability and property damage insurance will be given "financial responsibility cards".

Any driver involved in an accident which causes bodily injury or damage of more than $100 will be asked to show proof of financial responsibility. If he can't produce it his car is impounded.

The auto insurance bill was passed at the session of the legislature just ended. The new regulations are similar to those which have been in effect for several years in B.C. and Manitoba.

The best feature of the program is that it is not compulsory — not until you are involved in an accident. Officials feel it will be powerful encouragement for more motorists to provide themselves with protection.

COMMENCE STUDY OF LIQUOR LAWS OF ALBERTA

Alberta's legislative committee appointed to study the liquor laws met in Edmonton last week with George A Clash, liquor board chairman, and board members H. W. J. Maddison and D. B. MacMillan. The purpose was for members of the committee to familiarize themselves with the existing liquor laws.

The committee expects to hold a series of informal meetings prior to the opening of public hearings about mid-June.

Edgar H. Gerhart, Social Credit MLA for Edmonton, is the chairman. Other members are J. Percy Page, Conservative MLA for Edmonton, R. E. Hall, Liberal member for Athabasca; Nick W. Dushenski, CCF member for Willingdon and Social Crediters Harry Strom, Cypress, Chester Sayers, Camrose and Ira McLaughlin of Grande Prairie along with Hon. A. O. Aalborg, minister of education.

Spring Cleaning!

The first day of spring has come and gone and the home maker's thoughts turn not so lightly to thoughts of "Spring Cleaning". After you have vacuumed, dusted and washed everything in sight do some of your rooms still look drab and as though they need a face lifting? This may be the woodwork in the room.

Eileen M. Crowther, Home Designing Specialist with the Alberta Department of Agriculture, suggests you give your woodwork a drink. The parched hot air of heated homes draws the very life out of the wood. Miss Crowther suggests hiding pans of water in the room if you do not have humidifiers. This will not only supply the room with the moisture necessary for your woodwork but it will help to keep flying dust and lint down. A light waxing adds much to a varnish finish and gives the wood a rich glow.

An oil finish brings out the grain of open grained woods equal parts of raw linseed oil and turpentine rubbed well into the wood with a soaked pad will keep it in excellent condition.

On light colored, close grained woods use lemon or cedar oil to prevent darkening. Clean waxed or oiled woodwork with this simple home-made mixture

- 3 tablespoons boiled linseed oil
- 1 tablespoon turpentine to each quart boiling water.

Use soft clean cloths and wash only a small area at a time.

For painted woodwork, if it is in good condition, wash with mild soap and water. If the surface is greasy add a few drops of ammonia. Wipe woodwork dry after washing. A light waxing is a good dressing to top off the cleaning

Horticultural Guide Now Ready

The 1956 Horticultural Guide is ready for distribution. The Guide is specially prepared for Alberta gardens by the Alberta Horticultural Advisory Committee.

The 30 page publication has a map of Alberta showing the Horticultural zones and lists of recommended fruits and vegetables for each zone. The varieties suitable for freezing, general processing and home storage are distinguished from one another. Planting distances and yields are given in many cases. General disease control practices and common insect pests and their control are discussed.

There are recommended lists of annual flowers, perennials and rock garden plants. A short comment is given on the culture, propagation and storage of dahlias, gladioli and iris. There is also a section devoted to peonies.

A list of trees and shrubs and recommendations for planting is given.

Ask your district agriculturist for a copy of the 1956 Horticultural Guide, Publication No. 92, and be well equipped to enter the 2nd Annual Provincial Horticultural Show in Edmonton, August 24 and 25.

Lloyd. Chevies Fined $200.00 For "Big Stall"

E. A. Locke Elected President Of Eastern Alberta Hockey League

Al Locke of Vermilion was elected president of the Eastern Alberta Hockey League at the annual meeting of that organization held in Vegreville on Sunday, and Lloydminster Chevies were fined $200.00 for their part in the "big stall" in the play-offs. The Chevies skated off the ice without playing the game, leaving 1,000 hockey fans sitting in the arena. The action arose out of dispute over whether the series was a best of five or a best of three games. Vegreville had already won one game played at Lloydminster.

Other officials elected were: R. Bodard of St. Paul, vice-president; Jim Humphries of Wainwright re-elected secretary-treasurer. The remainder of the executive is made up of two representatives from each of the towns holding franchises in the league and are usually named at the fall meeting.

BONNYVILLE WANTS FRANCHISE

The meeting was very well attended with representatives from Viking, Vermilion, Wainwright, Vegreville, Lloydminster and St. Paul present.

Bonnyville had a delegation in attendance and asked for acceptance into the league. Their application was tabled until the fall meeting. It is expected that this will be held about the end of August and will be in St. Paul.

HOCKEY HASSLE

As was expected a lengthy discussion took place regarding what was alleged to have happened between Lloydminster and Vegreville which resulted in the Chevies going home without playing, leaving Vegreville holding the bag for arena rental, advertising, and losing a big gate. Following this the $200.00 fine was levied to be paid within one week. This was in punishment and to help compensate the Vegreville club for the loss of their gate.

Present at the meeting from Vermilion were Stan Manyiuk, Russell Carroll and Al Locke.

WON'T PAY FINE

Before the time elapsed, however, Art Deaville, president of the Lloydminster Club, has notified President Al Locke that they will not pay the fine. Just what this will mean remains to be seen.

FARM AND HOME GROUP RECEIVE MERIT AWARDS

At the Vermilion Agricultural Society banquet on Monday evening, merit awards were presented to young farmers taking part in the Farm and Home Programme.

Mr. Lloyd Rasmusson, Assistant Supervisor of the District Agriculturists Service, Edmonton, addressed the banquet meeting but specially directed his remarks to the Farm and Home group who were present as guests of the Agricultural Society. Mr. Rasmusson dealt with the objects of the programme and the benefits to be obtained by all the members.

The speaker enlarged on the application of more efficient methods to the practice of farming. He stated that surveys were showing that two or three side lines at the most seemed to be paying off better than where the farmer had too many irons in the fire.

Mr. Rasmusson stressed the fact that the Farm and Home Groups should progress gradually to the point where the members adopt balanced farm plans in their farming operations.

In introducing the speaker, District Agriculturist Buckingham stated that the Vermilion Agricultural Society had sponsored the local group for the past three years. This year the society had paid out $370.00 in prize money, half of which is refunded by the Provincial Government in the form of a grant.

Mr Buckingham mentioned that there are now 25 district farmers in the local group. Every year each member selects one or more projects to work on. Each fall the projects are scored by judges consisting of the V.L.A. supervisors and the District Agriculturist.

Plaques and cheques were handed out to the families concerned at the end of the meeting.

Several of the speakers during the evening congratulated the group on their fine efforts in the roll of better farming. Mr. Stewart, president of the Vermilion Agricultural Society, and Mr. S. C. Heckbert, secretary manager, expressed the appreciation of the society for the work done by Keith Chalmers, Don Keen and Loyal Amos in connection with the organization and the judging of the projects.

The rating of the members for the year's work is as follows:

Superior—G. W. Funnell, Vermilion; E. Garnier, Dewberry.

Excellent — R. R. Young, Marwayne; E. R. Wannop, Mannville; Ernie Davies, Dewberry; E. Livingstone, Vermilion, G. McMinis, Vermilion; Sandy MacMillan, Clandonald; J. J. Knoll, Islay; Bert Duncan, Vermilion.

Good J. M. Jaremco, Vermilion; W. S. Jaremco, Vermilion; L. Kenzie, Vermilion; Don Wilson, Vermilion; Keith King, Vermilion R. Finlay, Dewberry; P. Golby, Islay; Lawrence Gould, Islay.

Qualified W Lainchbury, Mannville, Ken McCrae, Vermilion; Hector Cameron, Vermilion; E. G. Bauer, Mannville.

Plans are now being made by the Agricultural Society to have members select projects for this year. It is hoped that quite a number will advance to the next stage in the programme which is to set up cropping systems to be followed from year to year

This tactical air command band is regarded as the best in the west. They have toured Europe and the U. S., as well as appearing frequently in Eastern Canada.

Following the band concert there will be a dance in the Armouries with the R.C.A.F. orchestra playing. This promises to be a rare treat and whether you go to dance or just to enjoy the music, it will be well worth your while.

Tickets for both these events are on sale at 50c by members of the Air Cadets. It is a very worthwhile endeavor. Buy at least four from the Cadets.

Outstanding Achievements Recognized At Annual Agricultural Society Dinner

Outstanding achievements in agricultural fields were recognized at the annual dinner meeting of the Vermilion Agricultural Society on Monday evening, when guests of honor included those stockmen and farmers who had won provincial or inter-provincial honors during the past year. Another group who had a place in the sun and whose efforts to improve farming conditions and make agriculture more attractive generally, were the young farm couples who take part in the farm and home improvement program.

E. M. Stewart acted as emcee at the annual banquet attended by 140 ladies and men from a very wide area. The attendance was quite surprising as many roads were simply impassable. The speakers included C. N. Brennan who thanked the ladies of the Royal Purple for a sumptuous repast; Gordon Ross who introduced the livestock winners of the past year; Don Clayton, well known agricultural representative and announcer from CJCA who told briefly of conditions generally in Australia, from which country he has just returned; Lloyd Rasmusson of Edmonton, assistant supervisor of District Agriculturists Service, who spoke on the aims and objects of the Farm and Home Improvement Plan; Lawrence Rye, past president of the Edmonton Exhibition Association; Fred Miller, assistant manager of the Edmonton Exhibition Association.

GUEST SPEAKER

The guest speaker was Mr. S Carl Heckbert, secretary manager of the Agricultural Society, who in company with Mrs Heckbert, has recently returned from spending a month in Washington, New York Miami and on a steamship trip and visit to Nassau. The talk was enhanced with many colored pictures shown on the screen. Following his illustrated travelogue the feelings of the large audience were very adequately described by Angus MacMillan who in a word of thanks on behalf of those present said that the speaker's vivid description made you feel as if you too had been on the delightful journey and holiday.

STOCKMEN HONORED

In paying tribute to those who had won prizes in provincial competition Mr R. G Ross mentioned the following and told of the achievements of each:

Billy Robinson, second at Edmonton in overall showmanship junior division, his calf placed 4th won red and purple ribbon in junior futurity show and placed second in the senior futurity show

Bill Cross, reserve junior champion, Saskatoon.

Mike Ilchuk, first with pair of bulls at Edmonton in futurity novice class.

Others mentioned because of many past awards were J. C. Tucker, Bryden Brothers, W. L. Robinson, MacMillan Bros., L. Prill, W. R. Cornish, Homer Campbell, the Simonet Brothers.

Last but not least to be mentioned was the award of F. Van Wageningen, who won first prize for the best 5 gallon can of cream for Alberta. The trophy is awarded by the Alberta Dairymen's Association. His can of cream was given the highest number of points ever awarded, 99½ out of a possible 100%.

In closing his tributes Mr. Ross said, "So now, Mr. Chairman, in closing, I'm certain that this society wishes to offer sincere congratulations to these outstanding producers and we hope that in the coming year they may continue to keep Vermilion on the map with many more top awards."

REVIEWS JUBILEE YEAR

An interesting portion of the program was a review of the activities of the Vermilion Agricultural Society in its jubilee year. Preparations for the anniversary celebration had borne fruit with the most successful fair on record as a result. The old timers' cabin and a gateway to commemorate the 50th anniversary are now permanent features of the very fine fair grounds. As a result of the jubilee old timers from far and near, some who had never been back to town for years and years, returned. As a result of this and a fine three-day program, the Jubilee Fair had been the outstanding effort of fifty years of action. The attraction of the old time theme having proved so successful, the board was now considering a theme for the 1956 fair and meeting favorable thought was "Old Home Week."

Mr Stewart mentioned that such an outstanding event as the 1955 exhibition could not have been achieved without the ultimate in cooperation and assistance. He mentioned personally many who had given unstintingly of their time and abilities to bring this about.

MUSICAL INTERLUDE

Occupying prominent and highly enjoyable spots on the program were Mrs Betty Mitchell, Miss Ruth Gamble and Mr John Webb who rendered solos, their accompanist Mrs D ... Folk ... and Mrs A M West who played the piano.

Bishop of Edmonton Conducts Inspiring Confirmation Service at St. Saviour's

On Sunday evening, April 15th, St. Saviour's Anglican church was filled to capacity when more than one hundred and fifty parishioners were present to witness the Confirmation in the Anglican faith by the Right Reverend H H. Clark, D.D., Bishop of Edmonton, of 21 candidates. An unusual feature was that the youngest Confirmee was thirteen years old while the most senior was 67 years.

It is always an inspiring and heart-warming experience to hear an address by Bishop Clark. On this occasion the theme of his message was that of a positive approach to Christian living and he left no doubt in the minds of all who heard him that Confirmation is but a beginning in the development of the Christian life.

Those presented to the Bishop were (young people): Robert John Park, Donald Stephen Dixon, Garry Wayne Harouther, Alan Richard Cosh, Sandra Jean Park, Diane Margaret Taylor, Doreen Sharon Myhren, Patricia Elizabeth Thompson; Adults — John William Shaw, Elizabeth Downes Shaw, Emerson Manuel Ternoster, Mary Ellen Ternoster, Edward Frederick Richardson, Esta Lorene Richardson, William Henry Boulton, Joseph Clayton Harrower, William John Pettigrew, Lilian Mary MacFadyen, Julia Garnett, Jessie Rachael Haines, Mary Gladys Carle Rendell.

After the service, an informal reception was held for Bishop Clark and the newly-confirmed parishioners in the parish hall.

Dr. Bob Anderson Elected President Of Vermilion Golf Club

The annual meeting of the Vermilion Golf club was held in George's Lower Deck on Saturday, April 7th at 8 p.m. with 45 enthusiastic golfers in attendance and the President, Roger Rowe, presiding.

Secretary J. R. Robson read the 1955 financial statement, copies of same being available to those present. Comparisons were made with 1954 receipts and payments. The statement showed balances of $25.79 in general account and $518.57 in capital account.

President Roger Rowe gave explanations for reasons of differences in the two years 1954 and 1955 with weather contributing major reason for success of 1955 season.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

The President then gave a resume of the year's operations. Season began April 10th with a tournament, about 60 persons taking part. Fairways were maintained in good shape throughout the season with adequate rain and sunshine. Spruce trees had been planted through the courtesy of Mr. N. N. Bentley. The fairways had been sprayed for dandelions and chemical had been placed in sloughs to guard against mosquitoes. Pellets will be used in 1956.

The annual tournament was an outstanding success with good entries and wonderful weather. The clubhouse now has an electric stove and electric cooler for soft drinks, installed through the efforts of the Ladies' club.

A main entrance sign had been erected and a second sign had been placed at the west end of town.

Lorne Pockett reporting for the grounds committe stated that a good year had been experienced with the fairways. Some brushing along the fairways had been accomplished. Considerable repairs had been made on the mowers at the beginning of the year. Tractor had usual overhaul, thanks to Mr. Alex Palin. Trees had been planted on No. 3 fairway. A small shelter at No. 1 tee was suggested.

LADIES' CLUB REPORTS

Mrs. Mona Pockett, President of the Ladies' club, reported that approximately $75 had been paid on the purchase of a cooler. She welcomed the ladies present at this meeting and stated that present intentions are to purchase linoleum for sitting room during 1956. The revenue from proceeds of sale of lunches at men's tourney was very gratifying.

HI-SCHOOL HI-LITES

The Parent-student ... which the House of Laurier is preparing so carefully will be held in the armories on Friday, April 27, beginning at 8:30 p.m.

Because the ice carnival is no longer held and because the high school has a difficult time undertaking any other real money making projects, each year the students find themselves short of funds for the publishing of a year book. This Spring Ball-Radio raffle is our final attempt to put our treasury into better shape. A special program for the parents is being planned. The students of Vermilion High School consider this to be one of the social highlights of the year and hope to see a good turnout of parents. This dance, which is a wonderful way to end a week of examinations, is the last social function before the Graduation. Let's have everybody out.

We owe an apology to Mr Gerald Stephens for unintentionally omitting the name of Stephens Ltd from the list of business places and individuals who so kindly donated the lovely prizes for our divisional bonspiel.

"SAFETY" IN 4-H WORK—

One of the most important papers presented at the annual meeting of the Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs in Saskatoon was the report of the 4-H Safety Committee. This committee was named by the Council last November to study farm and home safety and to recommend ways in which it could be further emphasized in 4-H club work.

From its study the [illegible] found that throughout Canada there is an urgent need for organized education and leadership in farm safety. Further, that while many 4-H clubs are now including safety in their regular club activities, the absence of statistics and material on which to base a program has been a limiting factor.

In concluding its report the committee stated that greater participation of 4-H clubs would be effective in stimulating an overall farm safety program and recommended the following for Council consideration:

1. That the Canadian Council on 4-H clubs recognize the need for the incorporation of safety training in 4-H club program.

2. That the Council prepare, or foster the preparation of, a publication on safety which could be used as a guide for 4-H leaders in implementing a course of study for all 4-H members.

3. That recognition, on a provincial basis, be implemented for worthy achievement by 4-H clubs, members and leaders, in the study and promotion of farm and home safety.

In accepting the report it was approved by the new board of directors that the Council render full cooperation in the application of the recommendations.

NO TRAFFIC PLEASE—

The attention of motorists is drawn to the signs on the private school bus roads across the school grounds both at the primary school and the two high schools. While not much trouble is experienced in the west end, far too many people are driving their cars over the private bus road at the primary school. This creates a hazardous condition when the school busses are loading and unloading the kiddies. If you are taking children to school there is no need to drive them right up to the door, let them out at the school grounds corner, you will be surprised how quickly they can negotiate the few yards up to the school entrance.

Before you flare up at anyone else's faults, take time to count ten — ten of your own.—Anon.

Who Takes Over The Family Farm?

Too often in the past the son remaining on the farm found out at the time of settling the estate that he could not raise the [illegible] capital to buy out the other [illegible]. Much of his work in the development of the farm was lost if the farm was sold to someone else. This is a serious problem in any type of farming but even more important in specialized Dairying or Fluid Milk production. The establishing of a high producing herd is a long term project. It requires most of a life time to work out the optimum size herd for the size of farm and [illegible]

LADY SPEAKERS AT ROTARY MEETING

Usually besieged by male speakers the Rotary club members enjoyed a pleasant interlude on Friday when they were addressed by two ladies.

Mrs. Hilda Cross, president of the Vermilion Branch of the [illegible] Society, advised the gathering of the forthcoming [illegible] gave a concise report of the research work attempted, told of the results achieved in some forms of cancer, and appealed for widespread support when the annual canvass is made. Mrs. Cross also asked for help in making the actual canvass. The work of research must go on. It provides a good opportunity for service to the community.

Mrs. Young of Lloydminster showed movies, with accompanying commentary, taken at the camp for [illegible] held at Watrous, [illegible] is financed by the Rotarian Easter Seal sales in Saskatchewan. Results achieved at the camp are heart warming and the work carried on by the leaders, many without pay, is truly wonderful. Many of these children were out of hospital for the first time in their lives, and taken to the camp. Not only does the child improve physically, but the different mental attitude gained is amazing.

Guests at the luncheon included Bert Hosack of Kitscoty, Bill Pettigrew, Nick Kowalchuk and Gordon Park of Vermilion.

Attended by District Agriculturists

Farm Electric Forum Held At Banff School of Fine Arts

Last week an Electrical Farming Forum was held at the Banff School of Fine Arts in Banff. In attendance at the forum were all the District Agriculturists, their assistants, a number of Agricultural Engineers and other executive members of the Department of Agriculture.

The purpose of the forum was to discuss the application of electric service to farm operations and how the farmers could use this service to best advantage.

The primary objective of the course was: How can the power companies, the suppliers of equipment and District Agriculturists be of most service to the over 25,000 farmers who have had their farms electrified during the past few years?

The D.A.'s raised questions which they had been [illegible] farmers — questions which indicate the many problems the farmers have. These were discussed under the chairmanship of several guest speakers.

Speakers at the forum included Prof. Lawson Shanks, retired professor of Agricultural Engineering at the University of Manitoba, J.G. MacGregor, Chairman of the Alberta Power Commission, S. A. R. Kembry, Chief Electrical Inspector of Alberta, F. H. Newcombe and S.S. Graham, Director and Assistant Director of Agriculture Extension Services for Alberta, A. S. Charnetski, Supervisor of the Livestock branch, Provincial Department of Agriculture, and many representatives of the power companies and major electrical manufacturers of the province.

The meeting was sponsored by the electric utilities of the province, Canadian Utilities Limited, Northland Utilities Limited and Calgary Power Ltd., with the co-operation of the Provincial Department of Agriculture and the electrical manufacturers.

Subjects discussed and demonstrated included new regulations under the Revolving Fund Act for farm electrification, basic electrical theory, the Electrical Protection Act, the new Farm "Electrall" tractor generator, heat lamps and their application to livestock and poultry raising, sprinkler irrigation, motors and controls, remote control wiring, water pressure systems, underground cables, grain grinders and cleaners. E. H. Buckingham, local D.A. attended the conference.

This forum revealed the almost day-to-day new innovations which will help the farmer to operate his farm more economically. These will be brought to the attention of the farmers through the Department of Agriculture.

Berna Seuffert Becomes Bride of John Bubel

Baskets of tulips, iris and daffodils [illegible] the setting for the marriage of Berna Georgina Seuffert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Seuffert of V[illegible] to Mr. [illegible] son of [illegible] and Mrs. T. Bubel of Edmonton, at First United church, Vermilion, on the afternoon of Saturday, March 31st.

Rev. C. W. MacKay performed the double-ring ceremony and Mr. Jack Brown played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of [illegible] fitting style. The bodice was of Chantilly lace over satin. The bolero, also of Chantilly lace, had lily point sleeves, turned back collar and buttoned high at the neck. The bouffant skirt was made up of three separate skirts of nyloon net, the third one extending three quarters of the length of the skirt and terminating in a scalloped edging of medallion lace. Small circles of medallion lace dotted the skirt throughout. Her veil of fine illusion net was dotted with pearls and rhinestones and held in place by a coronet of pearls and rhinestones. The bride carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses and her jewelry, pearl earrings and necklace, was a gift of the groom.

Attending the bride were her sister Alice as maid of honor and Miss Mildred Conboy as bridesmaid. They wore identical strapless ballerina gowns of French lace in Monaco pink with matching boleros. The dress bodices were slim fitting and the skirts which were bouffant style were encircled with three rows of fine satin. They wore matching head crowns with pearl trim and carried bouquets of yellow roses and white carnations.

Mr. Joe Guglick was best man assisted by John Charnetski. The ushers were Gaylord Madill, Tom Scott, Claus Heckhausen and Billy Mishio. During the signing of the register Mrs. Martin Shalka sang "The Lord's Prayer".

Following the ceremony a reception for 150 guests was held in the church hall. For receiving her guests Mrs. Seuffert chose an afternoon dress of gray printed silk. Her corsage was of pink roses.

Mrs. Tom Bubel, mother of the groom, wore a mauve crepe dress with lace trimmed bodice and a corsage of yellow roses.

The bride's table was centred by a three-tiered wedding cake embedded in tulle. On either side were tall pink tapers and bowls of sweetheart roses.

Rev. MacKay proposed the toast to the bride, the groom responding with a toast to the bride's parents.

A telegram of congratulations from the Williams family (relatives of the bride of Stouffville, Ont.) was read. During the reception Mr. Al Karl sang two solos, "Oh Promise Me", and "Bless This House".

Mrs. Curtis Martin was in charge of the guest book.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bubel, Mr. and Mrs. P. Kitt and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. Bubel, Mr and Mrs. Olson, Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard, Mr. and Mrs. J. Letcher, Mr and Mrs. E. Goldner, Mr. and Mrs. V. Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hite, Mr. Mike Achtymichuk, all of Edmonton; Mr and Mrs. Harry Bubel and family of Edson; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bubel and family, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bubel and family, Mercoal; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bortnick and family, Lavoy; Mr. and Mrs. W. Murray of Wainwright; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Stetson, Fort Saskatchewan.

The happy couple left on an extensive three week motor trip through the U.S. to California. For travelling the bride donned a wine tweed suit with corsage of white roses.

Traffic Safety Lane

MR. J. W. McKAY, Director of Safety Education, Department of Highways

THE DRIVER'S EYESIGHT

As mentioned before the eyes of a driver play a major role in his ability to handle and operate a motor vehicle. This week I want to deal with another phase of driving vision and that is "Depth Perception".

This phase of a driver's vision is as important as any of them. You are driving down the highway with no interference of any kind and you are completely relaxed. Then all of a sudden an object appears on the highway ahead of you at quite some distance. The job your eyes have to do is let you know what that object is? Is it a man, a child, an animal, a post or what is it? Good eyesight should tell you by giving a clear three-dimensional picture.

1. You should see clearly the outline of the object, thereby determining whether it is a human being, an animal or a post.

2. You should be able to determine the size of the object, is it a man, a child, a large animal or a small animal.

3. You should be able to determine with a certain amount of accuracy how far it is away from you.

The latter part is where vision fails a lot of drivers, they cannot judge distance properly. This is called depth perception or distance judgment.

Suppose your eyes fail you in this respect. You are travelling along the highway at the maximum speed limit. You catch up to a slower vehicle which you wish to pass. You see another car approaching from the front. Your eyes tell you there is plenty of room and time to overtake and pass the vehicle, but your eyes have given you the wrong distance. That car is actually closer than you thought. As you swing out to pass you find out, too late, there isn't room. The result? An accident.

Drivers who have defective vision in this respect need not have accidents or need they be put off the road. In many instances an eye test and proper glasses will correct this. But should glasses not correct it immediately then the driver must compensate. That is make slowly sure you have room and time to pass and reduce speed to suit your deficiency.

NEWS from ALLANDALE

(Delayed in the Mails)

It was a very pleasant sound to hear the Islay road opening outfit on March 29th. Mr. Herpestad with his cat and bulldozer assisted Mr. Axley through the high snow blocked roads.

With the warmer days the snow has settled, but is very deep yet. The roads to date, April 11th, are passable as our mailman, Mr Martin came this morning. He thought it would be the last trip for awhile.

Mrs. Della Walsh and family — Adele, Doreen, Wayne and Laura — from the city came by C.P.R. to Clandonald on March 30th to spend the Easter holidays at home, and for her cousin Joan's wedding. The Allandale roads weren't opened until that evening. Don and Hilda Wilson and family met them and later on that evening brought them home. Jimmy Walsh motored from the city on April 6th to join his family and attend the wedding. All returned home on April 8th.

Little Donna Wilson had an extended holiday with her Omness grandparents, as the roads were blocked for ten days. She didn't mind too much but enjoyed talking to Mummie, Daddy, sisters and brother over the phone.

Mr and Mrs. Rufus Omness and daughters Janice and Irene from New Sarepta spent Easter at their daughter's home, Lorraine and Jack Hobbs and family in town. They also visited the latter's brother Dave Bury, Velda and family at Lloyd.

The Roberge and Nelson wedding took place on April 4th. The bride and her group were beautiful, the bride in white and attendants in yellow, blue and pink and little sister Alva in pale green. Ronald, too was a wee gentleman. In spite of bad roads the wedding and breakfast was well attended in Lloydminster and the reception at the bride's home was held in the afternoon. Gifts received were numerous and lovely. This district all wish Joan and Art the very best on their honeymoon, and through the years may they find much happiness.

This may be a rare occasion. It will be twenty-three years ago this June that I had the pleasure to bake, ice and decorate my two brothers wedding cakes, and now I've had that pleasure over again in baking their daughter Joan's, being a second generation. A few years back I iced and decorated brother Isidore and Elsa's daughter Helen's cake. This was a thought — that I may be available to do my grandchildren's cakes.

Misses Karon and Carol Armstrong spent the Easter holidays with relatives in the city. They returned home for school opening in town and are staying with Aunt May and Uncle Warren Edwards and family in town until roads are passable.

The Allandale children are staying in Clandonald at homes until the roads are open for the buses.

The McAlpine and Wilson wedding was solemnized April 7th in town. The bride was lovely in white and her attendants, too, in pink, blue and yellow. The group looked lovely. May your honeymoon, Louise and Bill be a joyous one and in your journey through life may you find much happiness.

Aunt Stella Mayers left on the bus on April 7th for the city where her brother Rufus, Ruth and girls met her. She is spending two weeks at their home and at her nephew's, Allen and Shirley Ronaghan and family at Irma.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Gus Throndson on their 39th wedding anniversary, April 4th; and to Mr. and Mrs. Herb McPhee on their 17th aniversary on April 8th; the Omnesses, 32 years on April 2nd.

Our mail man didn't trust the roads last Saturday but Johnny Nelson's got to town from their place. Through their kindness we got the mail, Lorna and Tommy delivering it on horse back. Such kindness is surely appreciated.

A speedy recovery, Nora [illegible] an, hope you're soon on the [illegible] and home again.

It was grand news to hear the high awards the Cross brothers got at the Interprovincial bull show and sale in Saskatoon.

Alberta's First Mobile Tourist Information Bureau Planned

Final details for the operation of Alberta's first mobile tourist information Bureau, at St. Mary, Montana, will be arranged at a meeting of the Advisory Council of the Canadian Rockies Tourist Association to be held in Lethbridge on April 21st.

Ralph R. Moore, Deputy Minister of Economic Affairs, who is a member of the advisory council, announced that the meeting will be held to complete arrangements for the summer operations of the unit as well as the Tourist Information Bureau at Fort Macleod and to arrange details of the official opening which is to take place June 1.

It is expected that the opening will be attended by Hon. A. R. Patrick, Minister of Economic Affairs, Hon. James Hartley, Minister of Public Works, the Governor of Montana, the Governor of Washington and other government officials.

Speaking of the new mobile unit, Mr. Moore stated that it will be provided by the Alberta Government and will be staffed by members of the Canadian Rockies Tourist Association. Equipped with direct teletype service to Waterton, Fort Macleod, Calgary, Banff, Jasper and Edmonton, it will be able to provide information concerning highways, accommodations and facilities.

Commenting on the recent prediction that Canada will enjoy its biggest tourist year, Mr. Moore said that the new mobile unit would be one of the many factors that would make the prediction apply in particular to Alberta.

"Better roads, increased tourist accommodations, improved restaurant facilities, and greatly expanded advertising were all helping to draw more tourists to this province each year" said Mr Moore. He went on to say that the people of Alberta have achieved a standard of courtesy and attentiveness to tourists that has helped make the province one of the major vacation centres on the North American continent.

23 Lives Lost by Fire In Rural Alberta

Half of the 46 lives lost in fires throughout Alberta last year occurred in rural areas, according to statistics recently released by Provincial Fire Commissioner A. E. Bridges.

In tabulating the grim figures of fire losses on farms, Mr. Bridges stated that 294 fires which consumed $768,813 worth of property, were a needless waste which could have been largely prevented had proper precautions been observed.

"Failure to recognize the common causes of fire and neglecting to remedy fire hazards are among the major factors that cause high property losses on farms," said Mr. Bridges, and "A farmer must be his own fire inspector."

Loss of life could also be prevented if farm people realized that a fire can reach its maximum temperature at the source of its origin within a short period of ten minutes, stated the Provincial Fire Commissioner. Once people in the rural areas fully realize the speed of fire, explained Mr. Bridges, they can then exercise precautions to prevent fires and prepare escape plans in the event that fires do break out.

The major causes of loss of life listed by Mr. Bridges are: gasoline handled in open or glass containers; kerosene or gasoline misused to quicken or light coal and wood fires; careless and thoughtless parents leaving children at home all alone; overheated stoves, pipes and chimneys, in dwellings.

Illustrating the need for a prepared plan in the event of a fire, Mr. Bridges cited the case of a farm family in the area northwest of Edmonton, that were awakened at night by a fire which broke out in their home. Only four members of a family of six escaped because they became confused and could not find an exit.

Pointing out that this tragedy is re-enacted every year, Mr. Bridges stated that if every farm family would develop an escape plan and practice it with every member taking part, the exit plan would mean survival for over twenty persons each year.

MORE WEED RESEARCH NEEDED

The advent of 2,4-D in 1945 opened the door to a new era in weed control. It initiated a revolution in selective chemical weed control. The picture was rosy. It seemed that in a few years we would only have to pour a quantity of a certain chemical into a sprayer, run it over a field, and our weed problems would be solved.

Unfortunately, this was not true. Our struggle against weeds is by no means over. True, we have been able to control quite a number of our very troublesome broad-leaved annual weeds in growing grain crops, but such common and destructive weeds as Wild Buckwheat and Tartary Buckwheat are still putting up a stiff fight. Then there is the Wild Oat which takes a heavier toll from agriculture in Western Canada than any other weed. So far, this wily foe has defied many control measures and withstood every chemical we have used against it. However, it has had some narrow escapes, and perhaps the day is not too far off when a chemical will be found to "tame" the "wild" oat, and rid western farmers of their worst weed enemy.

Our greatest need today is for more basic information about our weed enemies. Weed specialists and researchers are continually discovering new and important information on what makes weeds "tick". Such information, however, can only be obtained through the efforts of competent weed research workers and they must be provided with the necessary tools to do the job. This costs money. Weeds on the other hand cost the farmers of Western Canada at least $250,000,000 [illegible]. It is obviously an important responsibility of the prairie farmers and their organizations to insist that adequate financial support for weed control research be provided. An investment in weed research is a sound investment in the future welfare of our prairie agriculture.

WHOOPING CRANES HEAD NORTH DURING WILDLIFE WEEK

True to their sure instinct for making wildlife news the Whooping Cranes have included National Wildlife Week in their annual migration to the Canadian North.

Eight birds are reported to have left the Aransas Wildlife Refuge in Texas for the long flight to Wood Buffalo National Park where their nesting grounds were discovered last year. The remaining flock of 19 may follow any day. If migration runs true to previous years it should be complete in about two weeks.

According to a report received by the Canadian Wildlife Service from the Texas Refuge this year's population of Whoopers raises two questions. What has become of the crane that disappeared during the birds' winter stay in the south? And what is the story behind the secrets of three strange Whoopers reportedly seen on March 16th near Lexington, Ky.? Neither the Canadian Wildlife Service nor the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service has discovered answers yet.

Migration is always hazardous to the cranes. They must survive the harsh buffeting of northern weather as well as the risk of meeting some curious marksman determined to take a closer look at the strange soaring birds.

Along the flyways of Alberta and Saskatchewan the cranes are always a welcome sight. Although each spring prairie fields, sloughs and marshes attract numerous migrant ducks, geese and sandhill cranes the rare Whooper has a special place of honor. Once across the settled prairies the flocks have less than five hundred miles to fly before reaching the sanctuary of Wood Buffalo National Park.

Mammalogist William Fuller, Canadian Wildlife Service officer stationed at Fort Smith, will keep the nesting grounds under periodic observation when on regular game patrols. A new safeguard this year is the ban on low-flying aircraft in effect from April 1 to Oct. 15th. Planes traveling over this section of Wood Buffalo may not fly below 2000 feet.

What conservationists in Canada and the United States are waiting to know is how many young will hatch in 1956. And how many will survive the dangerous life of the adult Whooping Crane.

About this question

Springtime means another farm season, with grass fires, machinery on the roads, and the chance of injury to farm employees. Does Farm Liability Insurance pay up to $10,000 in damages and $250 in medical payments caused by accidents on the farm premises, or by any member of the household on or off the farm?

Super Drama At Columbia Theatre Next Week End

The super drama "Picnic" will be shown at the Columbia theatre for three days next week end, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 26, 27 and 28. Starring in the picture are Wm. Holden, Rosalind Russell, Kim Novak and Betty Field.

The story tells of a ne'er-do-well young man, tired of drifting and eager to settle down, who arrives in a small town in Kansas to look up a wealthy college chum and ask him for a job. The friend introduces the drifter to his best girl friend and her family — her mother and a young sister and an old maid school teacher who boards with them.

Although he only stays for a day this man rearranges the lives of all these people particularly the ladies who are profoundly influenced by him and find themselves falling in love with him.

The foremost sequence is the Labor Day town picnic complete with contests, queen and all the celebrations that will have you laughing hilariously, shedding tears and actually feeling that you know and understand the people of this small town.

Danger Is Averted By Quick Action

Flood Condition Not Serious

Although flood conditions are not now considered as constituting a menace to the bridge and spillway here it was only prompt action last Sunday that averted the rising waters in the Vermilion park lake from overflowing the dike on the south side of the lake.

The water rose swiftly the early part of Saturday night and by Sunday morning had come within nine inches of the top of the earthen rip-wrapped dike on the south side close to the bridge.

The remaining logs were taken from the spillway, opening it to the fullest extent, and a bulldozer and several Mix trucks began building up and packing clay on top of the dam. This was built up another three feet in all along the top for the full length of the earth wall.

Water dropped during the week but has begun to rise again this Thursday. The original bed of the river seems to have cleared itself of ice but the ice in the main body of the lake is still holding.

In the meanwhile bridges both to the east and to the west seem to be in trouble, with the roads leading across the valley completely under water.

Highway 41 is badly covered for a distance of some 400 yards just to the north of the C.P.R. tracks. Another bad spot is the approach to the Saskatchewan River bridge where a bad wash-out occurred, caused by two culverts being plugged up with ice and snow. The danger to the road was noted and a band of Elk Point men labored most of last Saturday night to remedy the trouble.

The railways, too, are in difficulties, with a washout on the C.P.R. between Andrew and Willingdon, which has caused the cancellation of all train service on that line. This leaves the towns to the north without regular mails or express deliveries.

The town of Vermilion escaped with little trouble; the snow melted slowly and the water ran away very quickly without any large pile up. The hard topped streets and the oiled roads provided hard, dry thoroughfares even during the height of the thaw.

Engineers estimate that between 600,000 and 730,000 cubic feet of water are running through the spillway on the Vermilion river every hour.

Former Local Man Radio Announcer At Victoria

While visiting at the home of his sister Mrs. Duthie in Vancouver over the Easter holidays Mr. Cyril Davis celebrated his birthday, and his sister held a party in his honor. During the course of the party Cyril was surprised to hear birthday greetings come over a Victoria radio station to him, and a request number played. The announcer then went on to ask Cyril to carry his greetings back to old friends and acquaintances in Vermilion and district where he had grown up. The announcer was Tom "Tippy" O'Neill, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Neill who now live in Edmonton. The O'Neill family farmed north of Vermilion for many years.

FRANCE PROMOTES DOLLAR TRADE

The Franc-Dollar Committee (Comite Franc-Dollar) was set up in Paris six years ago to promote French exports to countries in the dollar area. A semi-official organization, it is supported jointly by the Federation of French Employers and the French Ministry of Economic Affairs. The services which it renders are free.

At the Paris head office, "Foreign Trade" reports, business visitors from North America are received and put in touch with French firms offering products of interest to them. Similarly when inquiries come in from French companies seeking information about or contacts for the sale of their products in North America, the office deals with them. The Committee also helps to organize exhibitions of French goods in North America and carries on collective advertising, sales promotion and related activities. The Committee has representatives in Ottawa and Washington as well as those in major French cities.

Although more research work is being done throughout the world on cancer than on any other medical problem scientists still have not discovered the cause of cancer.

Father of Local Lady Undergoes Rare Operation at Coast

Mrs. Ted Marfleet has recently returned from New Westminster, B.C., where her father Mr. Oscar Johnson was recovering nicely from an emergency operation. A total of twenty-five pints of blood from the Red Cross blood banks was required to sustain his life during the operation. The 71-year-old man gives high praise to the Red Cross for its quiet yet vital role in saving lives.

Mrs. Marfleet, who is a registered nurse, attended her father following the operation which was performed to correct a ruptured aorta, which was leaking blood into his system. Medical men explain the aorta is the main artery that conveys blood from the left side of the heart to all parts of the body except the lungs. This is the first operation of its type to be performed at the Royal Columbian hospital in New Westminster, and is reported to be the first operation in the coastal province to correct a leaking aorta.

The death rate from lung cancer in males doubled in the ten years between 1943 and 1953. There was no change in the lung cancer death rate among women.

ODD FIRE AT TEXACO

The fire brigade responded to a fire alarm on Monday afternoon and found a very peculiar situation had existed although the blaze was out.

The portable steam boiler of the town was being used to steam out an underground gasoline storage tank. The boiler was located a considerable distance away for safety's sake, with a long hose reaching into the tank. Fumes from the tank apparently forced their way back along this hose right to the fire in the boiler, and promptly ignited. The flames then ran back the length of the hose, threatening fire in the tank. The force of the steam blew out the fire as soon as the hose was pulled from the underground tank and pipe.

KINDNESS

I have been reading about the lives of the saints and I notice one quality common to them all and source of their greatest happiness. Without exception they were kindly. An infinite tenderness seemed to have opened their hearts to all even their enemies. In the midst of personal difficulties they were still filled with love for others.

Reading these things I began to realize that I know a few saintly people after all. At least they have this quality of kindness in abundance and that is a sure sign of saintliness. This has come as a great surprise to me because the men and women I refer to have a trace of what is often referred to as "deviltry" in them, but they were kindly folk, often over generous, the kind that would give you their shirt if you were in real need.

I wonder if the saints would have gotten such inner peace from their kindness if it had been forced on them as a civic duty. I doubt it. I think they'd have felt the way the free-lance writer Dan Herold felt when he wrote: "I'd like to have enough money to give some of it away to the right people and causes of my own choosing. I'm tired of having politicians being so thoughtful and generous with my dough."

Kindliness is a human passion of great worth according to William James, the dean of psychology. He says: "Given a certain amount of love, generosity, magnanimity, the result is always the same. Cowardly obstructions, which in tame persons and dull moods are sovereign impediments to action, sink away at once. Our conventionality, our shyness, laziness and stinginess, our demands for precedence and permission, for guarantee and surety, our small suspicions, timidities, despairs, where are they now? Severed like cobwebs, broken like bubbles in the sun. The flood we are borne on rolls them so lightly under that their very contact is unfelt. Set free of them, we float and soar and sing. This cheerful openness and uplift gives to all creative ideal levels a bright and caroling quality, which is nowhere more marked than where the controlling emotion is religious."

Yes, kindliness is a passion with delightful fruits, particularly when it has a religious connotation. Surely it is too precious a passion to be relinquished to politicians. Churchmen, I think, make a mistake — a grave mistake, indeed when they ask governments to administer kindness.

Letters to the Editor

The Standard does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by correspondents.

Vermilion, Alberta.
April 17, 1956.

THE EDITOR,
The Standard, Vermilion.

Dear Mr. Cooper:

In reply to a circular letter dated April 2, 1956 received by me from Al Wilner, sec-treas. of the Lloyd. Chevie Hockey Club re the recent Lloydminster-Vegreville Hockey fiasco which I understand has received quite a lot of publicity, at least between Saskatoon and Edmonton, I would like to add my impartial comments:

As Vice-President of the Eastern Alberta Hockey League for the past winter I have had little knowledge of the operations of the League as the President Dr. J. E. Bradley and the Sec-Treas. James Humphries live at Wainwright. About March 20th I received a letter from Mr. Humphries stating that Dr. Bradley had resigned his position owing to pressure of business and that he would look to me for further direction in connection with the operations of the League. I duly acknowledged his letter, reluctantly assuming my duties the following Sunday, March 25, 1956. To my knowledge the final play off dates between Vegreville and Lloydminster had not been set but during the above interlude the two teams in question must have come to some agreement as to play off series because the first game was played at Lloyd on the Tuesday March 27th unbeknown to me. Vegreville won this game 8-5 and apparently an argument arose as to the number of games in the series. (Vegreville states that they had previously agreed to a 2 out of 3 series and Lloyd deny this so your guess is as good as mine. However, I have a clipping out of the paper under a Lloydminster caption which states two out of three.)

Consequently the next morning at 9:30 A. M. I received a phone call from Art Deaville who I believe is President of the Lloyd Club advising me of the differences the two teams were having and asked me for a ruling.

I advised him that the rules called for a 3 out of 5 series depending on weather and ice conditions. The day he phoned me the forecast was for 45 degrees above and the Easter weekend was coming up, so I told him that at the moment I was in favor of a 2 out of 3 series but that I would get Vegreville's side of the story first and call him back. After talking to two of the Vegreville representatives, Umphrey and Horton, I was still of the same opinion so I called Art Deaville about noon and confirmed my decision. About 3:30 P. M. I had another phone call from Al Wilner of the Lloyd Club who asked me if I would change my decision and I emphatically said NO!

Subsequently they went to Vegreville and after having their team dressed and on the ice, pulled the team off the ice and refused to play hockey unless the series was changed to 3 out of 5 thereby putting the pressure on the Vegreville executive to phone me to have my decision reversed.

I spoke to the representatives of both teams on the phone and when speaking to Lloyd asked them why they went to Veg if the 2 out of 3 series was not satisfactory? They stated that they understood that the Presidents of the two Clubs contacted each other about 5:00 P. M. and decided on a 2 out of 3 series. By this time I had decided that I was just a "goat" and although I had been asked by Lloyd for a ruling it really didn't matter what I said, they were going to do as they pleased, so I asked them who they thought was running the League, the Presidents of the Clubs, or myself and consequently stuck to my decision as any other referee would do. The game was not played and the Craig cup awarded to Vegreville.

I do admit that Lloyd had a beef about waiting around for the semi-final play-offs between Wainwright-Viking and Vegreville-St. Paul but I was not making the decisions at that time and consequently cannot take the blame. I made my decision from an unbiased view point taking into consideration the weather and lateness of the season and cannot see where it would have imposed a hardship on the Lloyd Chevies. It is quite possible that in a 3 out of 5 series they would only have received 60% of a third gate at Lloyd in any case.

I trust this explanation will enlighten the few readers who were inclined to criticize the decision of the writer.

Health Unit Notes

POLIOMYELITIS VACCINATION

During the next ten weeks the Staff of the Minburn-Vermilion Health Unit will be travelling to schools and centres throughout the Unit area to administer Salk Vaccine for prevention of poliomyelitis. We will not be receiving our supply of vaccine all at once, but five per cent of the total weekly for four weeks and then ten per cent of the total weekly for eight weeks. This intermittent nature of the supply will be responsible for some differences in the order that specific groups of children will receive the vaccine in different parts of the Unit area.

Before the vaccine is distributed to Health Units it is tested in Ottawa, any batches which do not come up to the required standard will be returned to the manufacturers. This is an additional safeguard that no unsafe vaccine will reach the public. If, however, one or two batches are returned it will have a serious and immediate effect on our proposed inoculation program and last minute changes in dates may have to be made. These changes, if they occur, are of as much annoyance to the Unit Staff as to the public as they necessitate a complete reorganizing of the remaining part of the inoculation program.

This year's program includes giving:

1. Two shots, at a four weekly interval, to all children who have not received any vaccine before.
2. A booster shot for all children who had the vaccine in 1954 and 1955.
3. Two shots for all mothers expecting a baby between June 1st and October 31st, 1956.
4. A booster shot for all people who received the vaccine as an expectant mother in 1955.
5. Two shots for all children who will be starting school in September, 1956.
6. If supplies are adequate, also two shots for all children starting school in September, 1957.

As mentioned previously the order in which these groups will be vaccinated will vary from district to district.

The vaccine is supplied to us in sealed ampules of six doses and once an ampule is opened the contents must be used immediately. This means that to avoid waste at each session the number of people must be a multiple of six, e.g. 6, 12, 18, 24, etc. To achieve this the vaccine will be given in the larger schools, but pupils from small outlying schools will have to be brought into centres or large schools. Parents of these children will very shortly receive notification of when and to where the children are to be brought. Some children will receive one shot at one centre and the second shot at another. All this is done to avoid wasteage of vaccine and so allow a greater number of children to be immunized.

The parents of children who are getting booster shots will have signed a consent form in 1954 or 1955. A consent form signed by the parents of children getting their first shot this year must be in the possession of the Health Unit before the vaccine will be given. These consent forms are being distributed through the schools and in some cases directly to parents by mail.

Paradise Valley

The regular meeting of the Paradise Valley Calf Club was held on Monday, April 2. The meeting opened by the members repeating the 4H Pledge. The roll call was given with most members present. The secretary then read the minutes of the last meeting. For the next meeting in May Mr. J. A. McLean will be the guest speaker. Club members discussed plans for the thematic display to be shown at the Lloydminster and Vermilion exhibitions.

It was decided that the trophies that were previously won be put in the school showcase if possible. The meeting was then adjourned. Lunch followed.

The weather during the past week has been much better. With the keen frost at nights the water is going away without much flooding. But the roads? That is different. They are almost impossible, we see more teams and people coming to town on horseback than we have seen for many a year. With the school busses off, the students are finding places to stay in town. It will be some time before the busses will be able to operate.

The W. A. of the United Church have postponed their meeting until May 1st due to the condition of the roads.

Mr. Fred Foxwell who has spent the winter in B. C. arrived back home this week, also George Stevens who also spent the winter at Vancouver returned to work on the Aitken farm.

We see the carpenters are busy rebuilding the fire hall which was destroyed the night of the fire.

NEWS from ISLAY

Mr and Mrs. Jack McNeeley are home in their own house again after being away all winter.

There are more pupils back at school this week. Jerry and Jimmie Maire stay with Jimmie Shaw. Sharon and Linda Redmond come in with Hardy Ford by truck. Eddie Waterfield and Ken Gunn also by truck. Ken stays with Eddie.

Mrs. Good lives in a trailer rented from Hardy Ford so Beverly and Terry get to school. David Buchanan stays with Grandma and attends school.

Noticed Mr Olds and Russell Buchanan shipping Ken's household furniture to Fairview.

Vermilion River has risen considerably. Flats are flooded and water is over the road at both of the bridges north of here.

Mrs Bill Shaw obtained 100 Light Sussex baby chicks from Lyons' Hatchery in Vermilion this week.

IMPROVE HOSPITAL

George Purves and Percy Golby are making considerable alterations at the hospital. There will be extra ward space and new equipment. The hospital has certainly been fully occupied all winter and has proven its worth.

Noticed Dave Buchanan going down town Monday with the shopping bag — 'twas thought Mrs. Buchanan was ill, but no, she was busy at home.

HORSES MUCH IN EVIDENCE

There have been more horses in town the past week than in the past ten years. Teams and wagons, some sleighs and folks on horseback. Some very fine teams too—like those big fellows of Jim McClelland's and Jim Barnett Sr., and others; also the odd snappy saddle horse.

Mr and Mrs. Bill Shaw, Mr and Mrs Ternoster and Mrs. Ulva MacFadyen got over the bad roads to be confirmed in the Anglican church at Vermilion on Sunday night. Everyone attending was impressed by the beautiful and inspiring service.

In the last 30 years the average Canadian farm has increased in size from 124 to 279 acres, and in value of land, buildings, machinery and livestock from $8,500 to $15,000. In just the past 15 years the number of Canadians employed on farms has decreased from 1,100,000 to about 800,000—while in the same period the number of Canadians employed in manufacturing has increased from 600,000 to more than 1,200,000.

Rats On The March

Anyone wanting a rat as a star boarder can follow several sloppy bad management practices and he'll soon have an abundance of rats gnawing away at his private property. Leave garbage of all sorts lying around household garbage and slops will serve as dessert—city homes and country homes alike will soon be alive with rats. Don't bother to clean up spilled and left over feeds on your farm and you'll soon be the provider for whole colonies of rats. Once they've cleaned up the mess you've left behind they will move in on the feed you meant for cattle and hogs. One rat costs about $20.00 a year to feed and that means that a rat and his mate would cost you $40.00 a year because it seems, unlike humans, two rats cannot live as cheaply as one. One rat and his mate can produce up to 10-12 litters a year with an average of 8 rats to a litter.

To encourage these special boarders even further be sure you leave lots of dark nooks and crannies next to the ground. Build your granaries or garages close to the ground with no concrete—make it as easy as possible for your very special, expensive guest to move in on you. Provide lots of filth and slops lying about and the necessary dark spots next to the ground.

If, however, you are one of the people who has had rats as guests, found it a bit expensive and have decided you can get on without them use the spring to clean up. Rats are on the move in warmer weather and will not stop where there is no available feed or shelter. If your garbage is properly gathered and disposed of, all spilled and left over feeds cleaned up and granaries or garages built with a view to keeping rats uncomfortable they will move on.

Rats are a definite threat to Alberta along the Saskatchewan border and through freight cars and shipping. Districts in eastern Alberta are planning an all-out campaign to stop the rats this spring. Recently, rats were picked up at Edmonton and Westlock. All Alberta residents are advised to keep sharp watch this spring for rats as they move mainly during the spring and fall.

If during your spring clean up you notice any suspicion of rats at all contact your nearest pest control officer, Mr Marshall Sharek, Vermilion, Mr. Bert Hoeack, Kitscoty, and your district agriculturist, Mr. E. H. Buckingham.

Housewives Rank High Among Car Purchasers

WINDSOR.—Canada's housewives have emerged as important factors in the automobile market, a survey conducted by a leading manufacturer discloses.

In checking the first four months' sales of its 1956-model vehicles, market research analysts of Chrysler Corporation of Canada, Limited learned that the Canadian housewife stands eighth in 64 categories of occupations as a purchaser of the company's cars.

In first place, as might be expected, are salesmen, closely followed by taxicab operators. Corporations that buy cars for employee use are third. Other groups, in order, in the first 10 are laborers and workmen, farmers, merchants, managers, housewives, clerks and contractors.

The Chrysler survey covered purchases of all lines manufactured by the company, ranging from the lowest-priced Plymouth and Dodge automobiles to the most luxurious Imperial models.

"Our company has long recognized the influence of women upon automobile purchases," commented C. O. Hurley, vice-president in charge of sales. "However, this survey now confirms this definite trend toward increased ownership of cars by women."

The survey also indicates, Mr. Hurley added, importance of the automobile in the country's economic life as reflected by purchases by salesmen, public transportation companies and workmen.

W. M. S.

The W.M.S. of the United Church held the regular meeting on Thursday afternoon April 12th at 2:30 in the church hall. Mrs. C. Barr opened the meeting with a passage of scripture. Mrs. W. L. Roebuck was in charge of the devotional as well as the program.

Mrs. C. Barr, the president, gave her report from the Branch convention which was held in Calgary this year and this proved very interesting. Mrs. Barr then stated that she had a surprise for all. Mrs. W. L. Robinson then called and led to the front Mrs. W. D. Williams and Mrs G. C. Dunsmore. Mrs. Barr presented Mrs. Robinson the life membership pins and the certificates which accompany them. With a very nice little speech she presented the life memberships to Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Dunsmore in recognition of the work they had done for the W.M.S.

Roll call was taken with 24 members and four visitors present, Mrs. J. K. Swanson, Mrs. Warholm, Mrs. Bothwell and Mrs. Edwards. The meeting came to a close with the repeating of the Mizpah.

The committee in charge served a very tasty lunch and a social half hour was enjoyed by all.

THE STAGETTES

First of all, I'd like to correct an error of last week's notes. The banquet is on the same night as the Cotton Ball, viz. Tuesday, May 8th.

Don't forget, former Stagettes, we are hoping to see you at our banquet. Remember to get in touch with Lil, please, if you intend to come. The time is 6:30 p.m. The date — May 8th. The place — the Brunswick hotel.

Convention time is rolling around again. It's in Ponoka this year, of course. Not that the name has any significance. Remember last year's snow at the Banff convention? Let's hope for better weather this time.

Anyway, we had a grand time last year and are looking forward again to meeting the girls from other clubs. Jean Hildreth will be our delegate.

Decorations for the dance are underway. Nan will get in touch with you for help in that matter. Decorating night is Monday, May 7th.

Diamonds are flashing among the Stagettes and former Stagettes — Marie, Doreen — if this keeps up a big new recruiting program will have to be in order. Maybe some of us will be frosting cakes for these special occasions. After the excellent demonstration by Mrs. Wiwchar, we ought to be able to. Thank you very much Mrs. Wiwchar for the artistic demonstration. We hope we have learned something.

Next meetings, girls, is on Tuesday May 1st.

Checking next Saturday April 21 are Marie (Miller) and Dorrie. On the 28th of April the checkroom girls will be Reta and Daisy.

Did you know that less than 10% of railway income is from passenger traffic? The remainder of the revenue is from freight.

Over Million People Attend Forestry Association Conservation Displays

Thirteen year old James McCullough, a 7th grade pupil in the H. A. Gray School in Edmonton was the one millionth pupil to attend a Canadian Forestry Association conservation program for school children in the Prairie Provinces. He was presented with a watch to commemorate this occasion by Mr. E. S. Heustis, Director of Forestry for the Alberta Forest Service, and director of the Canadian Forestry Association, on behalf of the C. F. A.

The young lady who began the SECOND million in Western audiences was Miss Elaine Shultz, a seventh grade student in the same school. Elaine also received a wrist watch from Mr. Heustis.

Attending the special ceremony, beginning the second million to see Canadian Forestry Association conservation programs, were Mr. Alan Beaven, manager of the Prairie Provinces Division, Winnipeg. Mr. Thomas Baker, deputy superintendent of education, A. G. Bayly, Assistant Superintendant of Elementary Education, D. Cooney, supervisor division of elementary education, and E. B. Ooley, principal of H. A. Gray School, Edmonton.

Tony Lund, Conservation Officer for the Prairie Provinces Division, operating from Winnipeg, has shown the 45 min. program of conservation films to over 32,000 city school children this year. He talks to them on conservation of Canada's renewable natural resources of soil, forests, water and wildlife.

The color films which Mr. Lund carries on his thousands of miles of travels over the western provinces include two documentaries of forests, their natural cycles and the wildlife in them, as well as the planned harvest of lumber. Four others are combined cartoons and actual photographs, used to illustrate the importance of fire prevention, our heritage of wildlife, and the forests as a permanent source of recreational pleasure. The films are made up in two complete programs, one for presentation to senior citizens, the other designed for use with younger pupils.

These "conservation classes" have been a special feature of the educational work carried on by the Association, and are presented in both rural and urban schools all across the Prairie Provinces. The growing interest among the young people and effective co-operation given this work by the school authorities is creating a generation of conservation-conscious young people.

"Fight Cancer With a Checkup and a Cheque"

Dual Slogan Keynotes Cancer Crusade

The 1956 Cancer Crusade for $2,100,000.00 is geared to the slogan "Fight Cancer with a Checkup and a Cheque."

The Canadian Cancer Society's annual April fund raising and educational campaign, caried on by more than half a million volunteers, is aimed at bringing the full story of the new "fight cancer" message into every Canadian home.

Cancer Society officials say the "checkup and a cheque" headline dramatizes the two most powerful anti-cancer actions the public can undertake today.

The Society says the "checkup"—or regular health examination—is the best cancer insurance available. It gives a doctor an opportunity to detect cancer in its earliest stage when it is still a local disease and most often curable.

The "cheque" symbolizes a contribution whether cash or coin or actual cheque made in a spirit of thoughtful informed giving. Cancer Crusade leaders point out that the Society depends entirely on the public to support its three-point program of research, education and welfare to cancer patients.

These leaders believe that public support for the cancer control movement is in proportion to its understanding of the menace of cancer and how the Cancer Society works.

As they see it:

Personal knowledge of cancer safeguards health, protects life. The extent of this knowledge also is a measure of support for the Cancer Society's program of saving lives through education.

An understanding of cancer research its scope and progress—inspires confidence that cancer can be conquered once and for all. This also means growing support for the Cancer Society's program of research by several hundred topflight scientists in institutions throughout Canada.

A public that knows the Cancer Society's program of service and comfort to cancer patients will also want to support it and participate in it.

Experience has taught the Canadian Cancer Society that fund-raising and education go hand in hand in effective cancer control activity. The slogan, "Fight Cancer with a Check-up and a Cheque" is a good example.

Traffic Safety Lane

- By -
MR. J. W. McKAY, Director of Safety Education, Department of Highways.

THE DRIVER'S EYESIGHT, JUDGING COLORS

In most traffic situations especially in the larger cities, color is used to give information to the driver. There is the color RED which tells the driver of certain dangers. The tail lights of a motor vehicle are red, which tells you that you are looking at the rear of the vehicle and that you are not looking at the front. The larger trucks have red clearance lights on the rear, amber in front and red on the sides of large trailers. These lights have a purpose, they tell you of certain dangers. When the brake is applied, a brighter red light flashes on the rear of the vehicle and tells you that the vehicle is slowing down and maybe stopping. This is a warning to you who follows behind. Then there is the RED flashing light of an emergency vehicle as police, ambulance, fire. There is the blue flashing light of the snow plow. Each light with its own color has a story to tell to those who watch, but suppose you cannot distinguish a blue flashing light from the red?

In the larger towns and cities, there are intersection traffic lights. Red for STOP, Amber for CAUTION and Green for GO. If your eyes cannot distinguish the Amber from Red, or the Red from Green, what then may be the result?

Persons who are unable to discern colors are definitely handicapped. It is estimated that about one person in twenty has some difficulty in discerning certain colors. It is also estimated that defective color vision is about five times as frequent among men as among women.

There is a pattern adopted by most cities to aid those who are handicapped in color vision. Traffic lights are arranged in uniform position. Red at top, Amber in centre, Green on bottom. The handicapped person may know that the light is Red because it is at the top, therefore, they stop. When the bottom light flashes on they may go.

You may compensate for this deficiency by:

1. Keep a sharper lookout for signals at intersections.
2. Know the arrangements of the colors.
3. Learn to interpret the shape of traffic signs as guides.
4. Pay closer attention to the actions of other drivers, especially at intersections.
5. Avoid rear end collisions at night by keeping more than the accustomed "safe stopping distance" away from the car in front.

Sixteen Traffic Fatalities In Alberta During Month of March

Traffic accidents took 16 lives in Alberta during March, all of which with the exception of two in Edmonton and two in Calgary were at rural points and were reported by the R. C. M. P. according to a summary issued by the Alberta Safety Council.

While the fatalities during March were four more than in the same month of last year, the total death toll for the three months since January 1 is 34, a decrease of 10 from the comparable period of last year.

The aggregate number of persons injured in traffic accidents for the three months is 729, as against 833 a year ago.

While fatalities and persons injured have decreased in the first quarter of the year, the cumulative total of accidents increased from 4,420 to 4,674.

For March alone, Edmonton was the only major city in Alberta which showed an increase in motor accidents, reporting 525 while it had 410 in the same month last year.

Calgary on the other hand dropped from 295 to 260, Lethbridge from 51 to 45, and Medicine Hat from 29 to 22. While Jasper Place rose from 12 to 14, other towns reported 20 against 29 a year ago.

The summary reveals that the increase in Edmonton was responsible for the higher provincial accident total last month. There would have been a decrease if the provincial trend had been followed in Edmonton.

In the aggregate, March came up with a total of 1,483 accidents, while the total for the same month of 1955 was 1426.

Despite the increase in accidents the monthly report disclosed a reduction in the number of persons injured, dropping from 280 to 223.

Again Edmonton topped the cities in this category, having 89 while the same month of last year showed 64. Calgary reported 42, an increase of one. Lethbridge had six which was an increase of three while Medicine Hat dropped from five to four. There was one in Jasper Place an increase of one and other towns reported two, unchanged from a year ago. At rural points, there was a drop from 143 to 79.

While the over-all picture shows some improvement, Safety Council officials are planning to maintain intensive campaigns and educational work on a broad scale again this year.

DAILY EDITORIALS

The other day I showed a politician an editorial that roasted him properly. He glanced at the masthead, then grinned. It didn't seem to bother him. "It would have," he said, "if it had appeared in my hometown weekly. That gets read by everybody in the family. But they don't bother much with the daily—few read the editorials."

I think the reason is that dailies write too many editorials, and write them too fast. As a result, they sometimes seem a bit superficial.

For example, the Globe and Mail, a topflight daily, ran an editorial on December 31 called "Years of Bounty." It started well; but as the writer warmed up (or speeded up), he seemed to me to get zanier and zanier.

He wrote "The arts—music, drama, ballet and the rest—are perpetually poverty-stricken in this rich country. Should we not allocate them a generous fraction of next year's $24 billion? One-hundredth part of that would seem to them princely."

It should! It comes to something like $280 millions! That's more than the total budget of the City of Winnipeg. When a newspaperman makes a suggestion as wild as that one, what could we expect of a long-haired Canada Council such as the Massey Commission recommended?

I can't imagine a weekly editor pulling a boner like that. To begin with, a weekly editor is not so impressed with the richness of this country, because he knows many of his readers don't have indoor plumbing or many other facilities. And he is not so sure we could get very much true culture by big subsidies. Many editors are inclined to distrust forced-feeding of culture whether it comes from the CBC the NFB, or a Canada Council.

But to suggest a subsidy anywhere close to $280 millions is absolutely silly. That writer needs to visit his country cousins once in a while!

WILDMERE WINKS

Last week end Mr Webster who lives with his son-in-law H. Friesen on the George Wilson farm saw flocks of geese winging their way north. Spring must be here — you can't fool the wily old goose. There are lots of ducks in this area.

School opened again this week as roads have dried up. We hope the pupils do not have to miss any more days this term.

The spring run-off is causing lots of headaches washing out bridges and culverts. The big banks of snow are still holding on.

On Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gibson of Basswood had in a few friends including Mr and Mrs Albert Smith and Betty, Mr and Mrs L. Howard, Mr and Mrs C Cruthers, Jenny and Gary, also Mr and Mrs J Bauman called in on their way home from Edmonton. Mr and Mrs R Martin and Doreen were out from Vermilion. Bob Martin won first for men's cards and Doreen won first for the ladies. A very pleasant evening was enjoyed by all.

Laurence Graham called for a short visit at the Wallington home on Sunday. He is working at the Gibson farm in Basswood.

We were pleased to chat with Mrs. Earl Watt from Viking on Saturday in Vermilion and pleased to see her looking so well after her recent illness. May you enjoy good health from now on.

Mr and Mrs Ernie Ruud and family from Wainwright were Vermilion visitors on Saturday. They were going out to Tolland to visit Ernie's mother who had been in the hospital suffering from a sore back caused by a fall. Mrs Ruud Sr is now home. May you have a complete and speedy recovery Mrs Ruud.

We had a nice visit also with Mrs Madill of town and Mrs W Steele of Basswood. We are indeed sorry that Mr Steele is not improving in health very fast. Mrs Steele's brother [illegible] of the King Edward district has been helping her son Dick with the chores.

Mr David Hughes of Basswood has been busy digging a well these days with the help of Mr. M. Dick, son of Brookville district.

Mr J Wallington is in Kitscoty this week in connection with the M.D court of revision re assessment of lands.

We understand Mr and Mrs W Westman and family of town are moving onto the Batke farm in Basswood shortly. Welcome back to your home district Dorothy.

KING WHEAT REIGN ENDING?

Canada's western provinces are picking up steam for what may well be one of their best business years in history, declares The Financial Post. Boosting the boom are great strides in oil and gas, petrochemicals, minerals, manufacturing and promising results in farm [illegible] clearance.

Indicative of the growing air of confidence in the West this year retailers report some of the biggest spending since 1953 as an increasing number of farmers untie their purse strings.

In addition there are major capital projects planned and under way to add future expansion in practically every city in all three provinces.

Key to the growth is diversification. The land of King Wheat now has been invaded by major resource and industrial developments [illegible] ly ending the era of one-crop economy.

The White House in Washington gained its name through a series of events that started with the burning of Toronto by American forces in the War of 1812. In retaliation British forces captured the U. S. capital and burned public buildings, including the president's residence which, scarred by flames, was painted over with white paint and has been known as the White House ever since.

Alberta's Natural Gas Industry TRANSMISSION

Unlike most fuels natural gas cannot travel by road or rail. But express transportation is given by steel transmission lines through which gas is forced under pressure from production fields to Alberta's population centers. These pipelines are the "expressways" of the natural gas system and nothing is left to chance in laying them. All seams are carefully welded, then the pipe is cleaned, enamelled and wrapped to guard against corrosion and finally pressure tested. When in the ground transmission lines are tested yearly — maintained in top shape to give express transportation!
With GAS you get service —we plan it that way!

"Don't Drown" Committee Stresses Need For More Swimming Instructors

More qualified swimming instructors are urgently needed if drownings at Alberta beaches, in farm ponds and swimming holes are to be reduced this season. This was the unanimous opinion at a meeting of the "Don't Drown" Committee in the Legislative Building Thursday afternoon.

Stressing the need for more qualified instructors, H. P. Brown, member of the Alberta Red Cross Society, declared that most of the 55 drownings in Alberta last year could have been prevented if more swimming instruction and water safety methods had been made available.

Dr. M. Van Vliet, Physical Education Director for the University of Alberta, also stated that if the University had adequate swimming pools it would be able to train large numbers of swimming instructors. He declared that if town councils and school boards could co-operate in building indoor pools swimming instruction could be given on a year-round basis.

Members of the provincial water safety organization discussed enforcement of motor boat regulations with Staff Sgt. B. D. Peck of the R.C.M.P. who was in attendance. The need for posting the new regulations concerning motor-boat hazards was stressed. The R.C.M.P. will patrol beaches on safety work during the coming season.

A display of the 104 bronze medals to be awarded graduate instructors of the Red Cross swimming course was shown at the meeting by A. G. Gilmet of the Canadian Red Cross Society. These medals presented annually by the Royal Life Saving Society of London, England, to persons successfully completing the water safety course was the largest number ever awarded in Alberta.

Swimming courses of instruction and life saving demonstrations to be conducted at rural points this year will be under the supervision of Ken Hodgert and A. G. Gilmet, members of the Canadian Red Cross Society. Mr. Hodgert will supervise courses in the southern part of the province while Mr. Gilmet will conduct courses at St. Paul, Bonnyville and Vilna.

A SHIFT IN BRITAIN'S AGRICULTURAL POLICY

Of interest to Western Canada is a statement of Britain's new agricultural policy given in a Special Review and contained in a Government White Paper issued on March 13th. This policy is designed to increase the value of agricultural guarantees in the United Kingdom by about 70 million dollars and to place less emphasis on the growing of wheat.

In effect the White Paper states that it is important to encourage a greater supply of home-grown feeding stuffs but at the same time to bring the price guarantees for the different cereal crops more closely into line with each other. At the moment wheat is receiving a disproportionate part of the subsidy payment on cereals. The report adds that at a time when there are large wheat surpluses, especially in other Commonwealth countries, there is no longer any reason to justify special encouragement for the production of wheat. The government has [illegible] to reduce the guarantee prices for both wheat and rye. At the same time, to encourage the growing of barley and oats for feeding of livestock and to assist a number of small farmers and those farming some marginal lands, the guaranteed price for barley and oats is to be increased.

Britain is currently importing much more than she is able to pay for out of her own export earnings. Greater farm production, therefore would serve not only to reduce imports but also to strengthen the general economy.

[illegible] IN THE WORLD [illegible]

In INDIA, it is reported that, but for the good rains which fell about mid-March, crops of cereals and grain would have been poor. In the main producing areas of the United Provinces the rain came too late for rapeseed and rather late for linseed. The probable production of wheat is estimated at 7,300,000 tons against 8,[illegible] tons last year. Linseed at 375,000 tons which is equal to last year's production and rapeseed [illegible] tons against [illegible] tons last year.

In AUSTRALIA, in spite of the large reserve of wheat, it seems unlikely that there will be any material reduction in wheat acreage this season, unless weather conditions are unfavorable.

By Your District Agriculturist

"GREEN ACRES"

SPECIAL CROPS

Durum wheat is not recommended for this area. Rapeseed is scarce now so it is doubtful if anyone can get a contract for this year. Flax seed is about run out. Brome, Crested Wheat and Creeping Red Fescue seed is available. Many farmers have been making $40 to $80 per acre growing grass seed. Farmers in this area have not as yet got in on this profitable side line.

THE PRESS BULLETIN

This circular is published by the University of Alberta each year. It brings us up to date on some of the new methods for controlling weeds, new varieties of grains and grasses, controlling late blight on potatoes, fall rye in Alberta, etc. I still have 30 copies of this circular for free distribution.

BURNING STUBBLE

Every farmer knows that it is poor [illegible] stubble. As much [illegible] as possible should be worked into the surface soil to make the land more fertile and to control wind and water erosion. In some parts of Alberta stubble burning still goes on but only once in a while does a farmer set fire to stubble here. It is against the law to do it so why take chances?

SPRAYING DEMONSTRATIONS

In Wainwright, Flagstaff, Wetaskiwin, Lacombe and Beaver municipalities power sprayers are used to control warbles. The same machines are used in the fall for lice control on cattle. Both lice and warbles take terrific tolls on cattle profits. Jack Cross and Homer Campbell own one of the power units. The best plan seems to be for several farmers to co-operate in buying and operating one of these sprayers.

GROWING PERENNIALS

There are two ways to get perennial flowers started: (1) buy the roots in the spring from seed firms and nurseries; (2) plant seed in short rows in the garden and transplant before Sept. 1 to the place in the garden where you wish to grow them. Perennials live from year to year and hence they are less trouble and cost less than annuals which are grown from seed each year. Why not get a few packets of your favorite perennials this year and grow on your own.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S WEEK

Again this year the University of Alberta is putting on a Farm Young People's Week. It will be held at Edmonton from June 5 to 14. The cost is quite reasonable for board and room. The only other expense is the transportation. The age limits are within 18 to 24 years. Applications and further particulars are available from this office. Applications must be in by May 7. If you live in an odd number pool district see your Pool agent. He may be able to get a free trip for you.

ISLAY AMATEUR NIGHT

Annual Amateur night will be held in the Islay community hall on Friday, May 4th commencing at 8 p.m. The amateur program will be followed by a dance. Lunch will be served. Admission, adults 75c, high school 50c, public school 25c. Admission to lunch and dance only 50c. Sponsored by the Islay Community Assoc. 40-2x

Cooking Revolution

Businessmen who remember what happened to the washing machine business just after the war will be watching the stove business pretty carefully these days, says The Financial Post.

The upheaval in the market for washing machines was based on the introduction of the automatic washing machine—a genuinely new product that solved a major problem for the consumer.

Now comes the "radar range"—cooking by high frequency electron [illegible].

With one of these new-type stoves a housewife could cook a baked potato in four minutes instead of 30, a filet mignon in 30 seconds instead of 10 minutes, a turkey in three minutes per pound instead of 20. The method is already used in some restaurants and hotels in Canada and the United States where commercial installations of the new stoves have been made. The next step will be the production of domestic models for the home.

Initial prices will be considerably higher than those of conventional stoves. The way competition has been in the electrical business, however, there's no telling how fast this new type of cooking will get down to the price range of present [illegible].

RUMMAGE SALE

A rummage sale will be held in the United Church hall on Saturday April 21 commencing at 10 a.m. Mrs. Hardie and Mrs. Cameron conveners. Tea will be served. Ph. 96 or 462 for pick-up. 40-1

Pleasant Valley News

It is anything but pleasant at the time of writing but the forecast for tomorrow (Wednesday) is good. No use complaining though, after all, according to the calendar it is spring. Many birds including ducks and geese, are back. So are the group of Islay ladies who journeyed to the coast. Out there they saw all the magnificent sights of spring [illegible] then had to return to the land of snow and mud. Oh my, let's go back again!

We all feel blue, that is true, but wait a little longer and we will have nature at its loveliest too. In the heat of the summer sun we will smell the spicy fragrance of flowers, hear the song of the meadowlark. At the end of a long day we will journey and picnic with children at the park.

The writer heard that three men became very wet today when their boat capsized. They were Gordon, John and Billy. It's too early for swimming yet boys! How cold was it? We had a good laugh — the only excitement we have heard of for some time.

The Clark family were supper guests at Laurence Gould's home on Sunday. The only way to get out is with team and wagon.

David Giles left for Grimshaw last week where he will work during the summer.

Mrs. Ronaghan and Mrs. Waterfield are both patients at the Islay hospital. Best wishes for a complete recovery is wished each of them.

Hello there Mrs. [illegible], are you mud-bound, or may be still in the snow? Lest us hope that it won't be too long now before we can go to town and meet our friends again.

It is nice to see all the young calves running around enjoying the warm sunshine.

We've still several weeks of [illegible] weather ahead—more than enough to bring a fair share of colds and flu around our house. For a sick-a-bed, particularly if it's one of the children, we've found a clutter bag [illegible] from an old plastic [illegible] bag is wonderfully handy. Just tack the top tiers of the shoe bag between mattress and springs, leaving the bottom row of pockets free to hold crayons, comics, small toys and tissues.

Speaking of children brings up the subject of bed-time bogey fears. A night light is one solution—but it develops a habit that is hard to break. A small Eveready flashlight tucked under the pillow is a better idea. Just knowing a light is handy is often comfort enough.

Here's a tip on how to remove those ugly stains sometimes left by ball point pens. Try saturating the stain with rubbing alcohol. After soaking, rub the area until the ink has softened, then wash in the usual way.

How many times have you heard one of the family say "Oh, no—not corned-beef hash again?" Next time, mix in a chopped, parboiled green pepper, a little marjoram and a pinch of thyme. Shape into cakes for broiling or frying. Then serve with tomato sauce.

What next? Seems that the radio set manufacturers are predicting portable radios the size of a cigarette package, yet with all the performance features of present sets which are fifty times that size. They are even busy designing a self contained portable radio that will fit inside the dash compartment of your car. Use it as a car radio as you're driving, then just lift it out and carry it with you wherever [illegible].

Want some helpful hints as to what colors to choose in painting one of the rooms in your house? If ceilings seem high, use dark colors. Rooms that are long and narrow look much better if end walls are painted in strong colors. If a room seems too small [illegible] walls and woodwork in light colors. Dark colors make a large room seem smaller and more inviting.

Large pictures in a room almost always look attractive, but can be more interesting if combined [illegible] something else on the mantel such as a candelabra. And don't hang the picture too high. See how much better it looks just inches above.

People, says Bill, have more fun than anybody! Smart husband?

Farm Young People's Week At University

The Alberta Wheat Pool will again sponsor the attendance of 25 young people at Farm Young People's Week to be held at the University of Alberta, in Edmonton, June 5-14. The Pool sponsors candidates from half of the Pool sub-districts each year, alternating between the even and odd numbered sub-districts. This year only those young people whose homes are within the odd numbered sub-districts are eligible.

It is desirable that the candidates be within the ages of 18 and 26 years and have participated in local activities such as 4-H clubs, Junior F. U. A., community clubs, etc. Any farm organization operating wholly or mainly within the odd numbered sub-districts can nominate one candidate. Selection will be made by a committee comprised of an official of the Department of Extension, secretary of the Alberta Federation of Agriculture and a representative of the Alberta Wheat Pool.

The Alberta Wheat Pool will pay the return transportation of each of the 25 successful candidates and will contribute $15 to each toward the cost of room and board while at the University.

Nomination forms are available from Wheat Pool elevator agents. These should be completed and returned to the head office in Calgary not later than May 7.

IF HE HAD SAID . . .

We have yet to hear, writes Bruce Hutchison in The Financial Post, a finance minister rise in Parliament and remark, by way of introduction: "I am of the opinion, Mr. Speaker, that my budget is lop-sided, cock-eyed and dangerous, but what can I do against a cabinet ravenous for money, a House of Commons that demands the impossible miracle of more spending and lower taxes, a tax-paying public that already works two days a week for the state without knowing it and seems determined by its demands on Government to work still more?"

"And to tell the truth," this paragon of treasurers might add, "I don't really like the looks of things at all when we're largely financing the boom on the sale of our assets to the Americans and, in fact, living beyond our means."

That is not the customary language of Hansard. Yet under present conditions it could be the kind of advice we need, if not the kind usually demanded in the newspapers.

WOODVALE NOTES

Over the week end we heard a few more news items and might just as well send them along now we have a chance. With the roads deteriorating fast, we possibly will not be able to get them in until much later. A bulldozer has been working on the main road since Friday and on Monday was busy south of Union school trying to push the huge banks further into the ditch. Thus cleared the road might remain passable for awhile yet.

School opened with more pupils present than expected now that the school busses are banned. The students came walking, in wagons and on horseback as of old, and a few were still able to be brought by car. Mrs. Roberts is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Roger Watt, Margaret McGrath with Mr. and and Mrs. J. Hohol and Lloyd Isley at the store, and if roads get worse the Carl Nelson's also will house some pupils who otherwise would be unable to attend.

The high school students were taken in to Vermilion where they will board until regular bus service resumes.

Miss Rosa Weiters was a guest at the Kottmeier home for Easter holidays, doing her visiting mostly on horseback.

Mr. and Mrs. Duff McGrath returned Sunday evening from Edmonton. On Monday evening neighbors and friends gave them a surprise party in honor of their silver wedding anniversary. They gathered at the store and two sleigh-loads brought them over, though occasionally the men had to get out, as the horses were unable to pull the heavy load. Recovered from the surprise, games were played; then Mr. Slocum on behalf of those present and absent friends, made a presentation of a silver tray, cream and sugar set and teapot. Afterwards lunch was served and a bit of visiting done and a very pleasant evening came to an end by midnight. That around twenty of their friends could make it over the bad roads and in the rain and sleet that how well liked and esteemed are the celebrating couple.

The power was off on Sunday for almost eleven hours during the afternoon and evening, causing quite a lot of inconvenience. Bad roads again were blamed for the delay in repairing the break.

As the bulldozer working on the main road has been sent somewhere else, a group of farmers will try to remove as much of the snow as possible near the Gow farm to keep the road open.

Alberta Children To Be Protected From Dreaded Poliomyelitis

EDMONTON. — Within the next few weeks some 200,000 Alberta children will undergo treatment designed to protect them from the most dreaded of all childhood diseases — poliomyelitis.

The 1956 Salk polio vaccine program has started or will start soon in all parts of the province. Children will receive shots free of charge through city health departments, school boards and health units.

It will be the largest polio inoculation program ever undertaken in Alberta and has been drawn up with a view to giving protection to the largest number of children.

Approximately 125,000 children in elementary schools will be given their first two doses of the vaccine. Another estimated 65,000, who received their initial shots last year, will be given "booster" shots.

Alberta Provincial Health Department officials experienced a few bad moments last week when a news report was dispatched from Ottawa to the effect that a hitch in production was delaying the 1956 inoculating program. There were fears might not get its full quota of 440,000 cubic centimetres.

Dr. A. Somerville, deputy minister of health sent a rush wire to Toronto's Connaught Laboratories, which is supplying Alberta's vaccine. The reply was reassuring. It said that barring unforeseen developments Alberta will receive the full quota.

The inoculation program this year will cost an estimated $200,000 which will be shared 50-50 by the provincial and federal governments and passed on free to local health authorities. Inoculations will continue until the end of the school term in June.

As time progresses, more and more Alberta children will be protected against polio. Within a few years the initial double doses will have to be given only to new classes of grade 1 pupils while children in other grades will need only the annual reinforcement shot.

ROYAL COMMISSION COMPLETES INVESTIGATION

The Mahaffy Royal Commission has finally completed its lengthy investigation of election campaign charges against the Social Credit government and now must begin preparing its report, which could have a profound effect on the political future of Alberta.

The five-man commission completed public hearings in Edmonton last week and all that remains is to hear arguments from lawyers representing the government and the Alberta Liberal Association. When this has been heard it probably will take several months to complete the report.

Just for the record the commission heard evidence regarding the methods of awarding highway contracts, Treasury Branch dealings by members of the legislature; the awarding of public works contracts; government real estate transactions, and an exchange of mineral rights in 1951 between the government and Premier Manning.

Since public hearings began last fall the commission has heard 66 witnesses, accepted 344 documents as exhibits and heard evidence which filled more than 3000 pages of typewritten verbatim transcript.

Members of the commission, headed by James C. Mahaffy, Calgary lawyer, will have to plow through most of this mountain of evidence before preparing their written report for presentation of the provincial cabinet.

The commission was established last summer following the June election, and public hearings started in September. They continued until September when the chairman, Mr. Justice Hugh John Macdonald, was stricken with a back ailment. He subsequently resigned and the chairmanship was given to Mr. Mahaffy, who until that time had been commission counsel.

ELECTION PERSISTENT RUMOR

There is a persistent rumor in political circles that the government plans to call an election after the commission's report is submitted. One guess is as good as another, but this could explain the government pushing through a new Election Act during the recent session of the legislature.

NAME AND ADDRESS

If you have not received the publications you requested from the Alberta Department of Agriculture you probably forgot to provide your name and address. Department officials have pointed out that requests for publications come in each week without directions for mailing.

Publications are available upon request in all phases of Agriculture: livestock, field crops, poultry, dairying, horticulture, nutrition and home design. Specialists in each field have compiled the material and the Department of Agriculture presents it in booklet form.

When you write for your publications be sure to print both your name and address clearly.

ONE CHANCE IN HALF A MILLION

The birth of these quadruplet calves on the farm of Gordon Larson, well known Vermilion district farmer and stockman, attracted wide attention. The quads were born on Monday evening, March 26th, and as will be seen in this picture, taken this week, are really prospering. The chances of a quadruplet birth in cattle is about one in half a million. Shown with the calves is their owner, Gordon Larson. The photo was taken by Tony Korpel of the Vermilion hospital staff. Attending at the arrival of the calves was Veterinarian Dr. Bob Andresen who has since that time taken a very keen interest in the welfare of his proteges. Always interested in a rare occurrence a great many visitors have called at the Larson farm to see the four white faced lively calves, three heifers and one bull.

Local Rotarians Celebrate First Anniversary At Memorable Party

The Vermilion Rotary Club may observe many more anniversaries but none will be more memorable or enjoyable than their first birthday party held on Friday evening last. It was just one year ago on April 23rd that the Club was instituted.

Contributing to the outstanding program was the turkey dinner served by the ladies of the Royal Purple; the musical numbers rendered by the male quartet of Jim Bell, Jim Ferguson, John Webb and Bert Herzog; the address given by Elmer Roper, President of the Edmonton Rotary Club, and the attendance of two dozen couples from the Lloydminster Club.

The male quartet took the gathering by storm. They rendered a group of negro spirituals which they had practised for their own enjoyment. Base singer is Jim Ferguson, Jim Bell is the baritone voice with John Webb and Bert Herzog the tenors. Their appreciative audience would have kept the boys singing all evening if they had had their way.

The guest speaker, Elmer Roper, president-elect of the Edmonton Rotary club, has been a Rotarian for 28 years, a movement dedicated to international good-will and understanding. He took as his topic "Our Canada" wherein he evinced considerable concern over his native Canada retaining control of her own destiny.

In thanking Mr. Roper Jim Robson fittingly described the speaker as a great Canadian and a scholar.

No program in Vermilion Rotary circles would have been complete on a birthday without a large attendance from the mother club of Lloydminster, with remarks from their representatives. Lou Hanson, president, brought greetings and congratulations; Ray Nelson who presided at Vermilion Charter Night remarked that the child was now rapidly overtaking the mother club; Jim Hemstock, the past president of Lloydminster Rotary, spoke of the pride they had in seeing the Vermilion club flourish so amazingly, taking its place among the leading clubs of the district in the first year of existence. Vermilion Rotary President Reg Mitchell, was the genial toastmaster for the evening.

The presence of the twenty-four couples from Lloydminster Rotary along with the outstanding speaker and musical numbers, certainly made a long-to-be-remembered first birthday party observed jointly by Rotarians and their Rotary Anns.

The Canadian Cancer Society will spend $942,300 on research and related projects during 1956.

Mannville B. of T. Hears Address On Civil Defence

MANNVILLE.—At the last Board of Trade luncheon meeting Mannville was honored by having present Mr. Jones, who spoke on Civil Defence. In an interesting and informative address he outlined the various means of evacuation in case of an air raid, etc. and described in full the three main preliminaries which must precede any defence program and which he was pleased to state Mannville had already adhered to.

Later, Mr. Rudd added that further to the three musts of any defence group, the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion is sponsoring a St. John's course in first aid. This was highly commended. Mr. Jones, while admitting that prior to the present program, a certain laxness had prevailed, promised that any program we adopted would be backed one hundred per cent by his department. All he asked was a chance to show what can be accomplished and that all districts co-operated in civil defence work.

Parent-Student Dance This Friday

The students of the Vermilion High school are holding a "Parent-Student" dance this Friday evening April 27th commencing at 8:30 in the armories.

This year the book is larger and the Students' Union bank account smaller, so it is hoped that there will be a very good attendance of parents and students at the armories Friday night, 8:30.

Role Of Vermilion Power Plant Outlined By George O'Brien

The role of the Vermilion power plant of Canadian Utilities was clearly outlined in an address given by George O'Brien, district manager of Canadian Utilities Ltd., at a very well attended weekly luncheon meeting of the Vermilion Board of Trade on Wednesday, April 18th.

Mr. O'Brien dealt with the power situation in the whole province and then let his listeners draw their own conclusions as to the future use of the Vermilion plant. The province is at present, said the speaker, enjoying a buoyant and expanding economy industrially. The availability of electric power has made much of this industrial expansion possible. He then went on to give an idea of the demand for power over the next four years, based on experience gained from 1954 and on. Plans have already been made by the various power companies to meet that demand.

His figures showed very definitely that the 17,500 horsepower generated at the Vermilion plant will be as necessary in 1959 as it is now during the peak winter loads. Therefore the least that can be expected for the local plant is that it will be operated with a skeleton staff during the summer months, possibly ten men. In the winter time when demands on the lines are heavy, a full complement of fifteen will be on staff.

Mr. O'Brien pointed out that while there had been twenty or more men at the plant here constantly, this was not a normal staff, but had been due to the extensive rebuilding of the plant which has been carried on for the past two years.

The talk contained many interesting figures on rural electrification in the three prairie provinces, increase in demand in Alberta, and new plants planned, all combining to make a very informative talk.

The speaker was introduced by Jack Kneale, local power plant superintendent, and following his address was thanked by Warren Rosequist.

The information given by Mr. O'Brien quelled any foreboding among Vermilion residents that the local power plant of Canadian Utilities might not be operated following the completion of the new plant on the Battle River at Forestburg.

Mr. Ross Boake president of the Board, was chairman of the meeting.

Last year Vermilion and district Red Shield campaign went over the top with $2230 in donations.

Vermilion River Behaving Well Here

The Vermilion River is behaving very well in the 130-foot deep valley immediately below the town. The lake did rise considerably during the week following breaking up of ice jams near Two Hills, but is now subsiding slowly again. The bridge and spillway have not been in danger since the removal of all the logs allowing a full seven foot depth of water to tumble the full width through the spillway.

The river valley, as far as the eye can see, both east and west, is one beautiful lake.

RECEPTION

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Van den Dolder will be "at home" to their friends on Saturday, May 5th, from 3:00 o'clock to 5:30 p.m., and from 7:00 to 9:00 o'clock in the evening, the occasion of their Golden Wedding anniversary.

Election of officers for the coming year will be held following the Anniversary dance. A nominating committee has been at work interviewing prospective executive members in order that a full slate of suggested officers may be presented for the club's approval.

The retiring president, Ken Greenwood, requests all members of the Circle Eight to turn out next Thursday and make this celebration as big an affair as it deserves to be.

Islay Residents To Attend Civil Defence Lessons At Kitscoty

ISLAY. — The Civil Defence Department will hold classes at Kitscoty from April 30 to May 4 during evenings. This training is beneficial both in peace and war times. A fire engine is being placed at Kitscoty as headquarters for the Vermilion River M.D. The idea is to train two men from each village or hamlet to handle the fire engine efficiently. It is hoped that two Islay men will attend the classes.

In case of fire the engine can be called here. It may be brought by a driver only but the Islay men will know how to handle it in fighting the fire. The general training at these lessons is suitable for many emergencies besides fire fighting, so fellows, step right up, contact Bill McLean at Islay or write to Reg Kay, direct, at Kitscoty.

Vermilion C.G.I.T. Visits Vegreville Group

Recently six carloads of happy C.G.I.T.'s journeyed to Vegreville to visit the C.G.I.T. groups there. Since the Vegreville United church is under renovation the girls found their way to the club room by various channels. However the girls and their leaders found it easy to follow their noses direct to the aroma of baked ham, scalloped potatoes, salads, buns and luscious pie. After supper a hearty welcome was extended to the visiting leaders and girls.

Skits were then presented by the different groups and the result was aching jaws from wholesome laughter. Later games were played after which the girls paraded to the church proper, where an inspiring devotional service was conducted by the Vegreville Junior Group. On returning to the Club room, words of appreciation were expressed by members of the Vermilion group and its leader, Mrs. E. Stewart, for the warm welcome and the all-embracing evening of friendship.

Sue Carmichael, the leader of the Vegreville Junior Group, is richly blessed in the splendid way she organized and conducted the whole evening of such sincere fellowship.

The singing of "Taps" brought to a close another memorable activity for C.G.I.T.

When A School Bus Stops, You Stop

One of these days it is very likely that there will be a serious accident resulting in death or injury to school children alighting from a school bus on a rural road. Then, probably, steps will be taken to reduce the danger.

They should be taken now.

Motorists are not aware of the law as far as it concerns school buses.

What is needed now, and it is a simple matter, is a definite plan to acquaint and remind motorists of their position as far as the law is concerned.

There are signs on the provincial highways warning motorists of "Cattle Crossing 100 Feet." There should surely be signs reminding motorists "Caution" School Buses Operate on this Highway."

It would be of little cost and great benefit to have red flashing lights on the buses which the driver can turn on when he is bringing his [illegible] to a stop and perhaps, in [illegible], a signal that would indicate to drivers that children are boarding or disembarking from the bus. It would be advantageous to have a large sign on the rear of the bus, warning "No Passing When Stopped."

The law is that no automobile proceeding in the same direction as a school bus shall pass the bus when it is stopped to load or unload passengers. Automobiles approaching a school bus which is travelling in the opposite direction shall slow to a speed of twenty-five miles per hour.

There is a heavy onus on the bus driver for the safety of his young passengers but it does not in any way detract from the responsibility of the other drivers. The bus driver has a great deal to occupy his attention.

A drive by the police in rural areas to make drivers aware of what the law is and to enforce it, would have a good effect. Once the law is firmly fixed in the minds of drivers, its enforcement would become less of a problem.

There are not many Alberta drivers, let alone visitors to the province, who know the law as it applies to school buses. It is also true that the buses could be marked more clearly to make them immediately recognizable at a distance as school buses. With the increase of traffic in the province, and particularly in the metropolitan areas, it is no wonder that mothers fear for the safety of their children. It is a good thing that they are alert enough to see the danger and seek to do something about it.

The time to do it is now, not after some tragedy makes a guilty public rectify the situation.

JOIN THE FIGHT AGAINST CANCER

The month of April has been selected by the Canadian Cancer Society for its national campaign to create and sustain a public attitude toward cancer that will motivate people to see their doctor at a time when treatment may be most effective, and to raise funds to support Cancer Research, welfare services and other purposes related to cancer [illegible].

The Standard strongly urges all its readers to give their best possible support to this worthy cause during this cancer campaign month. The Canadian Cancer Society needs our help to carry on with the vital program of research and public education against this dread disease.

The terrible havoc caused by cancer — mankind's greatest unsolved mystery — is shown in figures released by the Cancer Society. For example it is estimated that the annual loss to the labour force through deaths from cancer is more than 55,000 man years. There is no way of estimating the loss due to time off for cancer illness and the treatments involved, but according to Dr A. J. Phillips, Statistician, National Cancer Institute of Canada it would add considerably to the total man years lost. Also it is impossible to estimate the millions of dollars lost in wages and the suffering and hardships caused to families stricken by the disease.

The most tragic part of the story, however, is that many of these lives could have been saved if the persons involved had recognized the early symptoms of cancer and reported to their doctor for proper diagnosis and treatment.

It is a fact that many types of cancer can be successfully treated by radiation or by surgery if treatment is begun early. Know the cancer symptoms (listed as seven danger signals) and report immediately to your doctor when you suspect the presence of one of them. If it isn't cancer you have lost nothing but a few hours of your time. If it is, your chances of a complete cure are very good.

For this reason the Canadian Cancer Society is placing great stress on an educational program aimed at reaching people in every walk of life. The Society is also fighting cancer by supporting research to discover the cause of this baffling disease. This year the Society will provide more than half a million dollars to support our scientists in this work.

Contributing to this campaign is one way in which we can all join in the cancer fight and hasten the day when this disease will have been conquered by science.

In 1953 Canadians owned 40% of Canada's oil industry but controlled only 29%. Americans owned 59%, a bureau of statistics survey shows.

Buffalo Coulee

After a quiet period during the spring break-up, community activities will be getting underway soon now that the roads are in fairly good shape again.

The Youth groups, Boys Scouts, C.G.I.T. and Little League baseball club are all planning meetings for the next week. All young people interested are invited to attend.

The Grey Cup film is to be shown at Buffalo Coulee on Monday April 30th at 8 p.m. Come out and see our Eskimos in action!

Church service will be held in the Auburndale church on Sunday Apr. 29th at 11 a.m. Our student minister for the summer Mr Blaine [illegible] of Toronto will be here to conduct the service.

A square dance is to be held at Buffalo Coulee on May 4th at 8:30 p.m. Come and enjoy yourself before spring work starts.

Mr and Mrs. Alf Green and Clare went to Edmonton last week and Joy Barbara who has been attending the U of A.

SIGN OF THE TIMES

Will Not Cause Power Shortage

Dam For New Canadian Utilities Plant At Forestburg Washed Out

The failure of the dam on the Battle River will not cause a shortage of electric power to Canadian Utilities consumers according to J. C. Dale, General Manager of the firm. The total capacity of the plant now under construction eleven miles south-west of Forestburg will not be required this year, so the escape of some of the cooling water is not considered a major set-back to the power production. It is expected that the erection of a coffer dam will result in the saving of an ample supply of water to allow the plant to operate, although not at full capacity.

First signs of weakness in the dam were noticed on Saturday, April 21st. Apparently the water seeped through an adjacent by-pass pipe near the end of the spillway, eventually carrying away half of this structure the following day. The earthen part of the dam—some 1,700 feet in length, is still intact. A coffer dam will block off a large part of the escaping water and allow repairs to be made.

At the time of the failure, the dam was containing a lake about ten miles long and averaging half a mile in width. Cost of repairs may run up to $250,000.00.

"It is fortunate that we plan beyond immediate requirements" said Mr. Dale. "Had this been a smaller installation, and the dam built to hold no more than is needed right now, the loss of cooling water might have meant a shortage of power next winter."

Construction work on the seven million dollar plant, transmission line and dam is continuing, and the company anticipates no change in plans for being in production this coming fall. The dam installation is in charge of consulting engineers and the construction contractor.

"GREEN ACRES"

DAHLIAS AND GLADS

There is a lot of satisfaction in growing "Glads" and "Dahlias". Get early varieties from reliable firms. They can be started inside in moss, sand or earth and planted out by May 15. The bulbs or tops must not freeze so early plantings may have to be protected from late May or early June frosts. But the lovely blooms make it all worth while. Get the circulars from your D. A. on growing Glads and Dahlias.

SWEET PEAS

No flower in the garden pays better for good care and attention. There is a big difference between sweet pea flowers with two or three blooms on crooked stems not more than three inches long and lovely flowers with 4, 5 or 6 blooms on twelve inch stems. Plant them early in a well manured deep trench. Pinch out the top of the stem when there are only six leaves, thin out to six inches, remove all side shoots, water well, build a fence 12 feet high and watch them grow.

FEEDING TURKEY POULTS

Every turkey raiser knows that some poults don't know enough to eat. Dip their beaks in water and in the mash or crumbles until they learn what to do. Starter mash or crumbles is given for six weeks when it is gradually changed over to farm grains coarsely chopped to which a supplement is added. It is a mistake to feed milk or anything else as the turkey starter mash is a complete feed. Do not let turkeys get chilled during the first few weeks. It is better to give soft water than well water.

SEEDING GRASS

Many farmers agree that pasture properly handled is a paying crop not only for feeding livestock but also because it keeps the land fertile and from blowing and washing away.

Why not seed down 20 or 30 acres of your older land to grass and hay crops. Seed is cheaper now than it has been for quite a while. Elevator agents every where are taking orders for grass, alfalfa and clover seeds.

NEW FERTILIZER CIRCULAR

This new circular on fertilizer is put out by the Alberta Department of Agriculture. It is available at my office. Several new nitrogen fertilizers are compared. Also there is information on the use of fertilizer to rot stubble, straw and trash worked into the top soil.

EARLY GRAZING

Many people turn out stock on prairie or brome grass pasture long before the grass is ready. It used to be said that it paid well to keep stock off of grass until the prairie rose was in bloom. Early grazing and over grazing sets the pasture back until it takes 5 or 6 years for a field to regain its proper yield again. This is what is called poor pasture management and a lot of money is lost thereby.

Of Many Things . . .

By AMBROSE HILLS

THE CROW

In mid-March, visiting a little hospital in a southern Manitoba town, I overheard a snatch of conversation which still stays in my mind. A son was visiting his aged mother, who had been bedridden for months. At times the old lady was inclined to be a bit irascible, and her frequent demands on the nurse's time surely tested the patience of the staff.

Her son was a bachelor farmer who, in a shy sort of way, told his mother of how much he missed her cooking and how busy he was with the chores, cooking and all. These observations did little to cheer the aged mother. Then after a few minutes of silence he observed "Mom, the crows are back! They've been seen down in Pembina Valley!"

"Oh," she exclaimed, "isn't that just wonderful!" And there was an almost reverent tone in the voice which a short while ago had poured out high-pitched invective at a nurse.

Odd that a bird such as the crow which, by no stretch of the imagination could be called beautiful, gets a welcome back which might be envied by the Bird of Paradise. Personally, I'll never cease to thrill at the sound of the first raucous "caw! caw!" of spring.

And the longer, the harder the winter has been, the greater the welcome extended to the crow. Strange that we all welcome back the crow with so much fervor; but, before the summer is over, his presence, like that of a guest who stays too long, is resented. Some places even pay bounty for the same crow, dead, which in spring had lifted our spirits. What irony!

But the migratory old crow brings its black and unmistakable evidence to winter-weary westerners that spring really is here, that robins will be coming soon, too, and that sky-blue anemones will be [illegible] forth in sunny fields.

The little old lady in the hospital had seen over eighty summers but still deep in the eventide shadows of her life, a resurgence of feeling swept over her at the news that the crows had returned. "Isn't that just wonderful?"

She was so right! It is wonderful! It always is!

Junior High School Activities

In the first event of the Junior High School bonspiel held in March, Howard Robinson skipped his team to victory, defeating Barry Tough in the final game. In the second event Bill Hawryluk skipped his team to take first place.

A point system has been started in the Junior High School this year. For a period of three years the maximum number of points required for a minor award shall be 200, for a major award it shall be 350 and for a special award 400. Points shall be awarded for extra-curricular activities such as soccer, football, curling, track and field and baseball. Members of the Students' Union will also be awarded points. For the present Grade 8 students competing for awards a fewer number of points will be needed to qualify. The present Grade 9 students require still fewer number of points than do the Grade 8 students.

The Grade 7 classes have played off the first round in a softball tournament. The boys played the boys and the girls played the girls, with the Grade 7A boys defeating the 7B boys by a score of 23 to 6. The 7B girls trounced the 7A girls 25 to 15.

Although volleyball has not been completed in Grade 8, softball has started. The students are only practicing softball until teams have been chosen.

In Grade 9 the girls have chosen four softball teams and the boys have started baseball. Here again volleyball has not been finished due to warm spring weather.

Noon volleyball which was started for the benefit of the country students has been much enjoyed. The standings are as follows:

	W	L	Pts.	T
Betty Robinson	4	0	8	0
Lilly Jacula	3	1	6	0
Fay Wilson	1	3	2	0
Isobel Mix	0	4	0	0

Students who qualify for points in an activity can wear a crest for that activity.

Government Grants To New Schools Over $3 Million Since Jan. 1, 1956

Education Minister Anders O. Aalborg announced today that since the beginning of 1956 the Provincial Government has approved payment of capital grants for new school construction totalling $3,128,754.50. These grants are provided by the Government under the terms and provisions of the School Buildings Assistance Act to assist school districts, divisions and counties in meeting the cost of building new schools. The rate of grants presently being paid varies from $3000.00 to $7700.00 per classroom depending upon the size of each new school project and the materials used. One-half of the grant for each project is paid on commencement of construction and remainder on completion. Among the largest grants are those to the Edmonton Public School District — $235,622 for assistance with new schools at Argyll, McQueen, H. A. Gray and Allendale, and $265,372 for new schools or additions at Newton, Avonmore, Prince Charles, Coronation and Strathearn.

Lethbridge Public School District receives $171,600 to assist with new schools at Corvette [illegible] and Fifth Avenue, North, where population is increasing rapidly.

Stony Plain School Division receives $126,049 to assist with new construction at Drayton Valley and Entwistle.

Edmonton R. C. S. School District will be in receipt of a grant of $[illegible] 987 for new construction at St. [illegible] Holyrood, St. James, St. Margaret, Crestwood, St. Mark, St. Vital, St. Edmond, City Park Annex and two portable schools.

Red Deer School District will receive $230,345.00 for a new Junior High School.

Beverly R. C. S. School District for a school of ten general classrooms, gymnasium and other instructional rooms will receive grant of $146,300.

Innisfail School District will receive $149,226 to assist with the erection of a new school.

Wainwright School Division for new construction at Irma and Wainwright, $122,924; Rocky Mountain S.D. for new schools at Rocky Mountain House, Caroline, Condor, Leslieville and Crammond, $244,167; Wetaskiwin S.D. for construction of the Queen Elizabeth school will receive a grant of $20,000.

Montgomery S.D. adjoining the city of Calgary on the west will receive $150,000.

The difference between the cash grants and the estimated costs will be provided from reserves or from loans at 3½% from the Provincial Treasury. The possible total of such loans with respect to this program of construction is $4,299,100, Mr. Aalborg said.

Popular District Couple Married At Lloydminster

ROBERGE — NELSON

Easter lilies were the central theme of decorations at the St. Anthony's Roman Catholic church at Lloydminster on April 4th when Joan Nelson exchanged vows in a double ring ceremony with Arthur Roberge. The nuptial mass was performed by Father Gorman.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Nelson of the Allandale district. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Roberge of Edmonton.

The bridal party entered the church to the music of the bridal march played by Mrs. Wilfred Roberge.

Entering on her father's arm, the bride looked charming in her floor length bridal gown of Swiss embroidered silk. The full flowing skirt was topped by a tight fitting bodice featuring long lily point sleeves and a low neck line flanked with beads and sequins. Her matching pearl set coronet held her floor length veil, she carried a trailing bouquet of red roses and a white prayer book. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, a gift from the groom. She wore something borrowed, carried something old, and wore something blue.

The bridesmaids wore identical cocktail length dresses in contrasting colors of nylon net and matching picture hats. Lorena, sister of the bride, was in yellow and carried a bouquet of white carnations. Blanche, sister of the groom, was in blue, and Jean Lee, cousin of the bride wore pink. Each carried a colored bouquet of carnations and wore rhinestone necklaces. The bride's tiny sister, Alva Jean, acting as a flower girl, was pretty in an ankle length gown of nile green net, her matching veil was caught in a head piece of white carnations. She carried a nosegay of white carnations, and wore a neck chain, and locket, a gift from the bride.

The groom was supported by his brother Wilfred, Roger Lemp, a close friend, and Adrien Gamache cousin of the groom. Ronnie Roberge, the groom's little nephew, acted as ring bearer. Ushering the guests was the bridegroom's oldest brother, Leon.

During the rites Mr. Harry Tymofichuck sang three hymns, and as the register was being signed he sang "Ave Maria" accompanied by strains of a wedding march the bridal party left the church.

The ceremony was followed by a wedding breakfast at the Prince Charles Hotel, forty-five guests being present. Father Gorman proposed the toast to the bride. The bridegroom responded very fittingly.

A reception was held in the afternoon at the bride's home which was decorated for the occasion. The bride's mother was attired in a light blue suit with matching accessories. She wore a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother wore a brown and tan ensemble with matching accessories and corsage of yellow roses.

The bride's table was centred with a three tiered pillared wedding cake—topped with miniature bride and groom, and a tiny altar holding three candles. Carnations were used for the floral background. Don Wilson proposed the toast to the bride—replied to by the groom. During the afternoon Miss Yvonne Gamache sang two solos.

Mrs. Rose Tymofichuck attended the guest book, signed by one hundred and fourteen. A telegram was received from Mr. and Mrs. Tom Souder from Edmonton.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Curtis, Dewberry; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Willoughby, Lloydminster; Mr. and Mrs. John Willoughby, Lloydminster; Miss Jeanette Normandeau, Edmonton; Mr. and Mrs. Adrien Gamache, Edmonton; Miss Yvonne Gamache, Edmonton; Mr. and Mrs. A. Roberge, Edmonton; Mr. and Mrs. W. Roberge, Lloyd.; Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Walsh, Edmonton; Miss Evelyn Sheppard, Kitscoty; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tymofichuck, Lloydminster.

There was a large attendance at the wedding dance in the Columbus hall at Clandonald the same evening.

For her going away costume the bride chose a green tweed suit with tan accessories.

Following the dance the happy couple left on their honeymoon, motoring by way of Calgary, to the States and on to Mexico.

On their return the newlyweds will make their home in Lloydminster.

500 To Qualify For Special Awards

Tuesday, May 1st Will Be Important Day In Life Of Air Cadets

Tuesday, May 1st will be an important day in the lives of hundreds of top Air Cadets across Canada. Coming at the close of national Air Cadet Week, May 1st has been designated by the Air Cadet League as "Nomination Day" for the special training awards provided by the League and the R. C. A. F. each summer.

During the next two weeks, League selection committees at both provincial and national levels will choose more than 500 outstanding Air Cadets who will qualify for special rewards in 1956.

Two hundred and fifty of the Cadets will be granted R.C.A.F. flying scholarships covering 30 hours of actual flying instruction. The League will award up to 150 additional scholarships to qualified lads who do not fit within the R.C.A.F. quota. The four weeks course will commence early in July at civilian flying clubs and schools spaced across the country. Successful graduates will qualify for the Air Cadet flying badge, as well as private [illegible].

One hundred cadets will be chosen for a seven weeks "Senior Leaders Course" to be held at R.C.A.F. Station, Camp Borden. Operated as a "junior staff college," the course will train cadets for future positions of responsibility with the squadrons.

Another one hundred cadets will be selected for an Air Cadet Drill Instructors Course also to be held during the summer at Camp Borden. From this group will be chosen a 40-man precision drill squad which will compete with an American drill team for the General Beau Trophy at the Minnesota State Fair late in August.

A total of fifty-eight cadets will be hand-picked for the League's top award—an exchange visit trip to the United States, United Kingdom or continental Europe. Six countries have joined hands with Canada in this highly successful "get acquainted" scheme.

Names of the prize winning candidates will be announced by Air Cadet League Headquarters, Ottawa at the end of May.

Last year volunteers of the Canadian Cancer Society made and distributed free 4 million cancer dressings.

MANNVILLE & DISTRICT LOCALS

There isn't water everywhere but where it is, there is plenty of it. The pastime of the past two Sundays as well as week nights has been driving to see the river. At the wooden bridge the road is completely under water and is impassable. At the steel bridge the grade is also under water but tractors or horses have been going across. And now people are being taken across by boat. Further west the road is partly under water and is also quite dangerous.

A Helping Hand – A True Story

TORONTO — On a cold day in January a homeless old man, bedraggled and ill-kept, stumbled into The Salvation Army. It was apparent that life had been too difficult for him, and he was thoroughly discouraged. When the Welfare director talked with him, Mr. X discussed unfortunate business reverses. He had at one time owned his own business, but unwise investment had reduced him to poverty.

While the Major encouraged him, he talked also of spiritual values, then he prayed for Mr. X. The man was also given suitable accommodation. For three weeks he came back, each time being encouraged by the Major both spiritually and materially.

Nothing more was heard from him until June, when to the Director's surprise, a well-dressed man walked into the office and was recognized as Mr. X. He told the Major that because he had taken the time and trouble to talk and pray with him, he had gone to The Army at a Corps in Toronto, had knelt at the Mercy-Seat and found God. He is now prospering spiritually.

He has a suitable job with good prospects, and insisted on making a contribution to the work which more than covered any expenses incurred on his behalf.

Eight Tractor Deaths in May Last Year

FARMERS CAUTIONED ON EVE OF SPRING WORK RUSH

Farm tractor accidents took 22 lives in Alberta last year. Of that total almost one third, or eight deaths to be exact occurred in the month of May.

With Alberta farmers waiting only for favorable weather to begin 1956 operations, the Alberta Safety Council has issued an appeal to all tractor operators to be on guard against accidents which often cost lives or result in permanent injuries.

This is the season when the tractor is going into action on thousands of farms from one end of Alberta to the other. The late season in some parts causes farmers to speed up operations in every way possible.

Under present conditions, it is essential for operators to be especially careful. Extra moisture increases the possibility of becoming mired in soft spots. Efforts to pull out with the aid of makeshift tractions, such as fence posts placed in front of drive wheels, can result in more tractors flipping over backwards.

Again this year, the Alberta Safety Council is undertaking a province-wide campaign to promote tractor safety and reduce accidents.

Under direction of Prof. B. T. Stephanson, of the University of Alberta, tractor tipping demonstrations will be given at plowing matches, rural fairs and other appropriate events.

Bookings for these demonstrations now are being received by the Safety Council at its office, Alberta Block, Edmonton. It is expected that officials at many of the agricultural fairs will make a request for a booking. When these have been received, a schedule can be worked out for the current season.

Last year demonstations were given at several centres in central and southern Alberta and these proved to be an outstanding success. Many have asked for the series to be repeated this year. In most cases, the loss of life in farm work results from the mishandling of tractors.

When driving a tractor, approach corners at a safe rate of speed. See that both wheel brakes engage at all times when single wheel braking is not needed. A brake on only one wheel can easily cause loss of control when no load is being pulled.

Here are some other tractor rules advised by the Safety Council as a result of studies made on scores of accidents:

Don't speed over rough ground in fields.

Don't try to take short cuts over steep banks and ditches.

Don't ride on the tractor drawbar or fenders.

Don't allow children to ride on or play around tractors.

Keep off soft shoulders or edges of cutbanks.

Avoid sidehills when the slope could cause tipping.

Carry proper signal lights at night when on a public road.

Use low gear going up or down hills.

Go slowly in loose gravel.

Never allow anyone to ride on a tractor as a passenger.

In order to carry out these precautions and operate safely, it is essential that men driving tractors and handling machinery get plenty of rest. Safety officials feel sure that the bad record of last May, when eight operators were killed, was contributed to by fatigue. The most safety conscious man may use poor judgment or take unnecessary chances when his brain and body are drugged by lack of sleep.

Even a well rested man needs a change of activity for a few minutes every two or three hours. A coffee break and an opportunity to stretch the muscles, while no substitute for sleep, will often restore a worker to peak efficiency.

More and more people are applying for treatment of cancer in its early stages than ever before. This is reflected in a decline in the death rate for cancer of certain sites. The death rate from cancer of the [illegible] dropped 40% for males and 17% for females in the past 20 years. Last year over 2 million pamphlets explaining the nature of cancer and the importance of early diagnosis were distributed by the Canadian Cancer Society.

Mrs. D. Ewen and family have been visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ramsay. They went by train to Edmonton and flew from there to Yellowknife.

We are sorry to report the death at Tofield of Mrs. Martinson who has been ill for a long time. The funeral will be at the Lutheran Burying Grounds north of the river when roads are open for travel. Mrs. H. Lehr was here for a few days and is now at her daughter's in Blackfoot. The sympathy of the community is extended to Mrs. Martinson's family.

Several families have country children staying with them, the school buses not being able to go on the roads. Mrs. H. Tupper is staying in, with her mother so the family can get to school.

Tribute Paid Editor Horton on 50th Anniversary of Vegreville Observer

VEGREVILLE. — Tributes from across the country were showered upon A. L. Horton, white-haired dean of Alberta weekly newspaper publishers, at a banquet here on Thursday night sponsored by the Vegreville Chamber of Commerce.

The occasion was the 50th anniversary of the publication of the Vegreville Observer. The paper's golden jubilee year also marked the 80th birthday of the veteran publisher whose editorials won for him recognition throughout the west.

Mrs. Horton was not forgotten as fellow publishers from across Alberta and many friends paid homage to the veteran publisher. There were dozens of letters and telegrams congratulating Mr. Horton and these, along with more than 150 persons who attended the banquet, added emphasis to the warm fellowship the veteran newsman built up during the years.

Fred W. Laing, executive-secretary of the Vegreville Chamber, was master of ceremonies.

Mayor Morton, on behalf of the town, welcomed guests and paid tribute to the veteran publisher.

Rae L. King, editor of the Camrose Canadian, himself a newspaperman with more than 50 years service, stated that in the opinion of weekly editors the honor of dean of weekly newspaper editors could go to only one man, A. L. Horton.

A number of gifts were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Horton and these included a plaque from the Vegreville Lions Club.

GUEST SPEAKER

Fred H. Newcombe, director of extension, department of agriculture, was the guest speaker. He mixed praise with witticisms in his address congratulating the pioneer publisher. Mr. Horton thanked the chamber of commerce, the Ladies Auxiliary to the Vegreville Branch of the Canadian Legion who served the banquet and the many friends attending for their kindness and thoughtfulness.

In a witty talk he recalled many incidents in the early days of Vegreville.

Salvation Army Founded Ninety Years Ago

In 90 years the amazing Salvation Army founded by General William Booth in England has spread its mission, movement and welfare to 91 countries. The power of spiritual and material help without question has surmounted all barriers.

The Salvation Army has marched beyond the doors of stately churches. It has carried the gospel of the Samaritan to the scenes of squalor and poverty and suffering, to the horrors of battle fields, to the terrors of disasters. When those stricken look up, the hand of The Army is there to help them.

Organization of The Salvation Army appears to have less red tape than any other in the world. In emergency, The Army succor appears by magic. There are no fanfares, no headlines, no forms in triplicate, no legislative debates, no chest thumping, no dunning for funds and fees, and no question of color, condition or creed.

There is hope for the spirit, food for the hungry, to those who need either. And with all go the friendly smiles and strong helping hands of the men and women workers.

Throughout Canada the Red Shield Appeal of The Salvation Army will it is certain, be warmly supported.

Lesson In Addressing The Clergy

How to address the clergy that seems to be a problem for a good many people. I have been called "Reverend Bothwell" so many times that I thought perhaps we had better get the matter straightened out.

"Reverend" is more an adjective than a title, and should never be used unless followed by the title "Mister" or else by the clergyman's name, or initials. In this regard it is like the title "the Honorable Mr. Blank" - which is used by cabinet ministers. If you are speaking directly to a clergyman, therefore just call him Mr. Blank, not Reverend Blank. But in speaking about him to someone else, or addressing a letter to him, say, "Mr. Blank" or "The Rev. John Blank."

Some parishes in the Anglican Church call their rector "Father" but many Anglicans dislike the term for parish clergy and reserve it only for members of religious orders. However, a good many call the clergy "padre," a good army term which is always acceptable, even if it is just the Italian (or is it Spanish?) for "father."

In speaking to the dean, it is proper to call him "Mr. Dean" and similarly to call an archdeacon "Mr. Archdeacon." A bishop may be addressed as "My Lord" and an archbishop as "Your Grace." A canon is called by his title.

Once again the main point and the one that seems to be least understood, is that for ordinary clergy like myself just "Mr. Bothwell" or "Padre" is correct and "Rev. Bothwell" is wrong. Many people are so kind that they call the clergy "Doctor" an honour which is not due unless the man in question has received a doctorate from some university.

Cancer of the mouth is four times as common in men as in women.

The Canadian Cancer Society and the National Cancer Institute of Canada are the two voluntary organizations fighting cancer. The Society is made up of laymen. It supports research, carries on an educational program and a welfare program to assist cancer patients. It also raises money. The Institute is made up of doctors and scientists.

Regular, thorough medical check-ups by your doctor may help to find cancer at a time when it will respond to treatment.

It supports worthwhile cancer research by giving grants in aid, fellowships and scholarships. About two thirds of its money comes from the Society.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

Two friends recently came to me with identical problems—Should they buy a trailer house?—and I helped each make up his mind with this advice:

Don't actually buy a trailer until you've had a chance to discover if you will really like trailer life.

I advised both friends either to borrow a trailer from a friend or rent one from a trailer agency and take an actual "shakedown" trip to find the answer. The did, and this what they discovered.

Alex M . . . took off with his wife and youngster on a three-week trip through the west, while Richard R . . . and his wife made a swing through Ontario.

At the end of ten days Alex and his family called a halt to the trailer experiment, and couldn't get home fast enough. They were sick and tired of trailer living and everything that went with it. But Richard and his wife made an exactly different discovery. They loved the free vagabond life, they were crazy about it, they had discovered a new life.

The trick of taking a "shakedown" trip before buying paid off for both these couples. One couple had definite proof they really wanted a trailer, and the other couple had equally positive proof that buying a trailer would have been a major mistake. Both couples thanked me warmly.

Novel Shower Held In Honor Of Mrs. Louise McAlpine

On the evening of April 4th, twenty-six guests gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. McLennan to honor Miss Louise Wilson, whose marriage to Mr. Robert Ashley McAlpine took place on April 7th.

Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. McLennan were co-hostesses and Margaret McLennan took charge of the games and music which made up a very interesting evening. A teller's cage was brought in and in her capacity of teller Louise accepted a great many deposits. After she had opened these and thanked those present a dainty lunch was served.

Louise was presented with a corsage and the evening was brought to a close with singing.

Milo Fleming recently attended a two-day conference for all 4-H club leaders of Alberta at Olds. This week he is at the conference for Alberta Wheat Pool Field Service Men which is being held at Calgary.

Mrs. Catherine Ewing Of Mannville Passes At Age of 87 Years

MANNVILLE — One of the real old timers of the Mannville district passed away on Monday morning, April 30th. Mrs. Catherine Ewing, a well known and well loved lady of this town for many years, died at the age of 87.

Mrs. Ewing went into Saskatchewan and family came to Kinsella in 1907 from Walkerton, Ontario and settled just south of the town. Although her husband died very soon after they arrived, Mrs. Ewing carried on with the help of her family and remained on the farm until 1941, when she moved into town to live with her son Clarence. She was a great church worker, and taught Sunday School for over 20 years.

She is survived by two sons, John of Emerson Bay, B.C., Clarence of Mannville and one daughter, Mrs. Norman Crooks of Mannville, eight grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren. One son Stuart passed away in 1955 and one daughter Bella in 1936.

Funeral services were held from McQueen United church this Thursday afternoon with Rev. I. Holter officiating. Moyer's Funeral Home are in charge of arrangements.

Tame Deer Attracts Attention Sunday

A tame deer attracted a great deal of attention in Vermilion last Sunday. The deer, now a well grown yearling, was raised on the farm of Mike Chanasyk south of Mannville. The Chanasyk family made a great pet of the animal and his chief diet was lettuce and ripe tomatoes. He didn't like his tomatoes on the green side, they had to be ripe and red. A broad red ribbon was tied in a bow around his neck to indicate to trigger happy poachers and destroyers of wild life that this animal was tame, and they could walk up to him and pet him. The young buck, no doubt lonely for the herd urge, began to wander last week and found up in the Claymore district. Game warden Claude Brandt took charge of him and tethered the deer in a corral until the W.A.A. arrived. It was at first thought he would be placed in the zoo at Calgary but when he became fretful with confinement in Edmonton he was finally taken back home.

It's a pleasure to hear of someone like Mr. Chanasyk who is ready to preserve our fast diminishing wild life.

Canadian Club To Hear Speaker On Friday, April 27

A meeting of the Canadian Club will be held in the Junior high school auditorium on Friday evening, April 27th at 8:15.

The speaker will be Mr. C. A. Wooster, Regional Regional Liaison Officer for the Department of Citizenship and Immigration. Mr. Wooster graduated in Arts from the University of British Columbia in 1931, and took his Bachelor of Social Work degree at the same university and took graduate studies at the University of Washington. He saw service in the Canadian Army overseas and at the U.B.C. was president of the Social Service Council and the Student Body of the Social Work school.

His topic Friday evening will be "Citizenship — A Common Denominator"

The weather continues to break records unfortunately for our crops and not on the warm side. Wednesday, April 25th and Thursday saw a very strong wind blowing but were temperatures with snow. The low point was 4.2 below zero. The forecast for Thursday night and Friday is for a cold night. As my friend has prevailed all day Thursday and there is little doubt but that Friday low will be right in the 20's. Strong winds averaged 35 miles per hour on Wednesday night with gusts up to 45 miles per hour.

Below normal temperatures are forecast for Friday and Saturday.

4 inches of snow fell on the 24th and 2 on the 25th.

Double-Ring Ceremony Performed At McAlpine-Wilson Wedding

A double-ring ceremony was performed at the Alliance Chapel, Vermilion, at 5 o'clock on April 7, 1956 when Louise May Wilson was united in marriage to Ernest Ashley McAlpine. The Rev. J. T. McNair officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. C. Wilson of Vermilion, while the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. R. W. McAlpine of Niagara Falls.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was lovely in a dress of white satin and lace with lace and net finger-tip veil and pearl studded headpiece. Her flowers were white carnations and blue iris.

There were two bridesmaids Gloria Wilson, sister of the bride, was dressed in a yellow taffeta dress overskirt with net, and carried matching carnations.

Mrs. Karen Mannix, sister of the groom, was the maid of honor and chose a pink taffeta dress overskirt with net. She carried matching carnations.

Ron McAlpine, brother of the groom, was the best man.

The ushers were Henry Wilson, cousin of the bride, and Ronald Martin, brother-in-law of the groom.

Baskets of blue and yellow daisies and carnations decorated the altar.

Miss Margaret McClennan played the music for the wedding, and Marjorie Smith, niece of Mrs. Ducey, formerly of Vermilion, sang. "I Walk beside you", while the register was being signed.

Following the wedding service a reception was held at the Elk's hall where a buffet luncheon was served. The bride's table was laid with a lace cloth and centred with a three tiered wedding cake, beautifully decorated by Mrs. D. Ommen, and flanked by bouquets of pink, yellow and blue carnations.

Many pictures were taken as the bride unwrapped gifts.

The Rev Mr. McNair spoke a few words and Mr. Ralph Wilson, uncle of the bride, proposed the toast, the groom responding.

Servitours for the reception were Marie Ferby, Ethel Dixon, Janet (Pat) Margaret Wilson, Pte Phyllis Jeanette Wilson, Susan and Irene Walters and Sylvia Wilson.

Out of town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. R. McAlpine, father and mother of the groom, and their son and daughter Bill and Shirley from Niagara Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Martin of Red Deer; Mr. and Mrs. Ralston and son George and daughter Valerie of Edmonton; Mrs. W. J. Ducey of Edmonton, formerly of Vermilion; Mrs. and Mrs. C. St. Marie and Mrs. Wm. Wilson, all of Vermilion, and Mrs. W. Matthews, all of Dewberry.

The bride's going away costume was a rosewood suit with beaded trimming, powder blue accessories, with navy topper. Her corsage was of carnations.

Following their honeymoon at the west coast the young couple will reside in Red Deer where the groom is an electrical engineer with the Schlumberger Well Surveying Corp.

'Life of Martin Luther' To Be Shown Here

The Vermilion Ministerial Association has been asked to be the sponsor for May 9 and 10 in the presentation of the world-famous motion picture of the "Life of Martin Luther". This magnificent film was produced by the Lutheran Church of the U.S.A. by men who understood the necessity of accuracy and integrity and knew that the story of the film have Christian relevancy to our age. Great care went into the research scripting and production of "Martin Luther" so that it would have stature both as an historical document and as religious drama.

"Martin Luther" heralded as a "magnificent motion picture for our time" was produced by the Lutheran Reformation Association with the sponsorship and collaboration of the Lutheran Churches of America, to start the 27th century in Christian thought and the real enlightenment of the Reformation. A script committee of nine writers went to original sources, Roman Catholic and Protestant. Dialogue is based upon material supported by the latest studies of the Reformation and authenticity, the film was produced in the 16th century monasteries, castles, churches and market places of western Germany. The Evangelical Church of Germany gave help and people of all faiths participated in the project, among them outstanding artists and technicians of the Roman Catholic faith.

This truly great film has been acclaimed by capacity audiences in many of the leading theatres in Canada. In the 35mm version, and is now being released to the churches and schools in the 16mm version, by their producers, with the genuine hope that they may achieve their aim of sharing this motion picture with the largest possible church and school audiences, quite apart from the public market place of commercial cinemas.

A freewill offering will be taken during the showing of the film to assist in payment of the heavy expense.

The general public is cordially invited with the suggestion that they come early as capacity audiences are anticipated.

THE APPLE PIE'S MESSAGE

Modern illness strikes a home in any western town. It becomes very evident what is meant by weakness, neighborliness and hospitality. Good neighbors bake up an extra cake or pie and, with no fuss or feathers, send something out of their own around to the home where a worried family has been giving little thought to nourishment.

Canadians are not, as a rule, eloquent people. Often, in fact, they are reticent about saying what is really in their hearts but by their kindly actions, they speak out eloquently.

What, as a matter of fact, can speak more eloquently than a well-cooked apple pie? The kind thoughts and multiple memories are stirred right in with the apples when the housewife busies herself to do something for her stricken friend.

Actions speak louder than words words may be, but when the worried family sits down to a quick piece of pie and a cup of coffee between visits to the hospital and long bedside vigils, the apple pie brings nourishment to the body, and also provides comforting evidence of sympathy from loving neighbors. It is food for the spirit, food of spirit, and new sources of fortitude.

If by some magic process the pie crust had been engraved with the thoughts of the maker, often it would show something like this . . .

"Dear friends: We understand. We wish we could be of more help. We know that a crisis like this within your family makes heavy demands on both body and spirit. This pie is a token of our affection and sympathy for you all, and a symbol to state that we stand ready to help in any way possible. You know that, anyway, but this pie is a reminder. The pie itself is to furnish a little tasty nourishment for the body; the thought which prompted it is really more important, for we wanted most of all to lend you strength and nourishment for the spirit so that you would have the courage to face what may come. We're with you at this trying time

(Signed) Your Neighbor"

Mannville Theatre Adds Cinemascope

New Hilus Cinemascope lenses have been added to the well-equipped Alta theatre. The screen has also been enlarged to give the theatre patrons the full impact of this new motion picture medium. The first picture to play in Cinemascope will be "The Long Gray Line" a great picture about an Irishman that will touch the bottom of your heart and starring Tyrone Power, Maureen O'Hara. The second Cinemascope picture — "Cockleshell Heroes" comes straight from the Odeon theatre in Edmonton. No advance in admission prices will be made for Cinemascope.

In the nine months period, July 1955 to March 1956 the United States gave away 1.4 billion pounds of surplus food. 940.3 million pounds of which was distributed overseas, and 580 million to schools, institutions and the needy at home.

WILDMERE WINKS

Old man Winter has returned with a snow storm. It will keep wet roads all the wetter for awhile longer.

A few farmers were out picking rocks on Monday. Ian Clarke who works for L. Howard was out, also Laurence Graham and George Riley were picking for Frank Gibson.

Mr. David Dibben of Basswood returned home from the hospital. We are pleased to say the ailment on his face is clearing up.

Mrs. Roy Dibben of the Basswood district spent a day in the hospital recently; also Laverne Howard of Wildmere had her tonsils out last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Ford of Vermilion are spending a few days with their daughter Mrs. F. Gibson and family of Basswood. Mr. Ford celebrated his 87th birthday on Saturday last and had his name mentioned on the Wheat Pool news that evening. May he enjoy many more years of good health and happiness is the wish of his many friends and neighbors.

The writer enjoyed a nice chat with Mrs. Enfield of Mannville on Saturday. Triangle folks will remember her when she taught the school there as Thelma Duncan. She told me her mother lives in Edmonton and is still nursing.

On Monday evening a Home and School meeting was held at Preston Central school with a good attendance. During the meeting the track meet was talked over, also improvement to the school grounds. Mr. F Gibson volunteered to bring sand for the jumping pits and sand boxes with Bill Garnett, Dave Hughes and Lloyd Howard to help him. After the meeting Mr. Bauman showed a film on Australia. It was quite interesting after hearing so much about that island continent through Ian Clayton and on Club Matinee. For the social a few games of cards were enjoyed and a delicious lunch brought the pleasant evening to a close. At the next meeting to be held in May, Mrs. Watt, junior room teacher, will give a talk on "Reading". Everyone plan to attend.

Mr. George and Fred [illegible], also Harvey and William were visitors at the Wallington home on Sunday afternoon.

The writer had a letter from Mrs. J. Lewis of Loon Lake, Sask. Mrs. Lewis lived for many years in the Battleview district. She has been very ill most of the winter and spent her 80th birthday in Saskatoon hospital. Her husband is still living and is nearly 90 years old.

FAREWELL FOR MR. AND MRS. GEORGE WHYTE

A large number of friends and neighbors attended the Old Timers party at the Legion hall on Wednesday evening for Mr. and Mrs. George Whyte who are leaving very shortly to make their home in Ireland. Everyone is sorry to see this fine couple leave our midst but wish them well wherever they settle. Mr. and Mrs. W. Funnell sang a few songs which were greatly enjoyed. A sing-song under the capable hands of Don Taylor and Mrs. West was also enjoyed and J. Wallington told a few jokes. Mr. George Webb, President of the Old Timers made a presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Whyte telling of the good work they had done in the Old Timers Association. A pot luck lunch was set out and everyone helped themselves. Lastly, a big circle formed around the departing couple and all sang "Auld Lang Syne". This completed a very happy evening.

Letter Of A Business Man To His Creditors . . .

Dear Friends:

In reply to your request to send a cheque, I wish to inform you that the present condition of my bank account makes it almost impossible. My shattered condition is due to the wheat glut, federal laws, provincial laws, municipal laws, liquor laws, corporation laws, mother-in-laws, brother-in-laws, sister-in-laws, outlaws. Through these laws I am compelled to pay a business tax, amusement tax, gas tax, service tax, light tax, sales tax, income tax, hospital tax, education tax, excise tax, etc. I am required to get a car license, truck and driver's license, not to mention a marriage license and a dog license.

I am also required to contribute to every society and organization which the genius of man is capable of bringing to life, unemployment insurance, health region tax, Red Cross, Green Cross, Blue Cross, Black Cross, Purple Cross and the double cross. You can think of many more, they get me down.

For my own safety, I am required to carry life insurance, property insurance, liability insurance, burglar insurance, accident insurance, business insurance, partnership insurance, earthquake insurance, wind and tornado insurance, fire insurance. By the way did you ever hear of the cheapest fire insurance? A mail order crook advertised a fire escape at a dollar, and when you remitted $1.00 you received in return a copy of the New Testament.

My business is so governed that it is no easy matter for me to find out who owns it. I am inspected, expected, suspected, disrespected, examined, re-examined, informed, required, summoned, fined, commanded, compelled, by government inspectors of all kinds, until I supply an exhaustible supply of money for every known need, desire or hope of the human race.

If I should refuse to donate to something or other, I am boycotted, talked about, lied about, held up and held down, and robbed until I am almost ruined.

I can tell you honestly that except for the miracle that happened I could not enclose this cheque. The wolf that comes to many doors nowadays just had pups in my kitchen. I sold them and here is the money.

Yours faithfully,
Blood, Sweat and Tears.

Better Airports Coming

In a few years Canada's airports will have caught up with her airlines, reports The Financial Post. Toronto's miserable and shabby Malton terminal will be replaced by an ultra-modern building, work may start in 1957. Montreal's new Dorval terminal will be ready in 1958. Ottawa, too, is on the new-terminals list. Winnipeg is another that should [illegible].

Garden and Lawn Bulletin Available

A new bulletin "Soils and Fertilizers for Alberta Gardens and Lawns" by Dr. C. F. Bentley of the Soil Science Department at the University of Alberta has recently been released for distribution.

Causes and treatments for poor physical conditions of the soil are discussed as are the three chemical conditions of soils which are detrimental to healthy lawns and gardens. A very thorough discussion on fertilizers follows, what they are; why they are needed; which fertilizer is needed; how to buy fertilizers and how to apply it.

The preparation and use of compost; the use of bonemeal, dried blood and meat meal; potted plants and soil testing are all reviewed.

Convenient tables are given showing analysis, rates and measurements for fertilizers.

This bulletin, "Soils and Fertilizers for Alberta Gardens and Lawns" is available from your District Agriculturist, the Extension Branch of the Alberta Department of Agriculture or from the Department of Extension, University of Alberta, Edmonton.

UNEXPECTED MARKETS FOR CANADIAN WHEAT

Ever since Poland concluded an agreement last year to buy 12,800,000 bushels of low grade wheat from Canada, there has been a steady procession of Iron Curtain countries, including Russia herself, to purchase Canadian grain. This unprecedented and totally unexpected demand was, of course, extremely welcome coming as it did at a time when Canada's sales to her traditional customers had slowed perceptibly. The purchases, admittedly, are somewhat difficult to understand in view of a recent survey of the 'United Nations Economic Commission for Europe' which showed that grain harvests in some of the countries concerned exceeded the pre-war average for the first time in 1955. Undoubtedly, however, the purchases do represent actual consumption needs, in part.

Of special intrest is the nature of the transactions themselves. Two of the deals namely those with East Germany and Russia, are reported to be for cash while purchases by the remaining three countries, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Poland have been largely underwritten by the Export Credit Insurance Corporation, which means, in effect, the Canadian taxpayer.

The procedure that is being followed is a new departure. It represents a calculated but, it is hoped, not too great a risk which must be assumed if full advantage is to be taken of this opportunity to extend Canada's trade in agricultural commodities to those countries in Eastern Europe which are not in any sense traditional importers but rather the opposite.

Whether the sales that are now being made will lead to further purchases in the years ahead or whether they will end as suddenly as they commenced, there is no way of telling, but they could pave the way for future trade relations which might prove very advantageous to our western economy.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

In England and Wales, according to an official report, dated April 1, good progress was made with cultivations and sowings, the work being well forward but germination was slow owing to cold, dry weather. Autumn sown wheat has made a good recovery from the February weather but a good deal of autumn sown barley and oats will have to be resown.

Past 5 Years Characterized by Heavy Rainfall

A Rainy Period In Prairie Weather

OTTAWA. — Rainfall variability is one of the most important weather factors affecting farm production on the Prairies. Many old timers will recall two or three disastrous drought periods during their life time. One of the worst was in the thirties. Not only was the rainfall low, but it was low for several consecutive years. The severity of this drought varied from one Prairie area to another but to indicate how dry it was, the summer rainfall at Scott in Saskatchewan was below normal from 1935 to the end of 1940. The driest year was 1936 when the total rainfall for the April-August period was just under five inches, 3.5 inches below normal. In a region where normal summertime rainfall is inadequate, this dry condition, lasting for such a lengthy period, was disastrous.

In sharp contrast to the drought of the thirties, the past five years have been characterized by wet weather. Mr. Geo. W. Robertson, Department of Transport meteorologist working for the Division of Field Husbandry, Canada Department of Agriculture, recently made a study of rainfall at 20 representative stations in the main farming areas of the Prairie Provinces. The study reveals that the average rainfall for the months of April to August averaged 2.2 inches or 23% above normal. This high rainfall appears to be spread over the whole crop season. During April, May and June the 5 year average for the 20 stations exceeded the normal by 1.2 inches or 23%, while for July and August the average exceeded the normal by one inch or 24%.

The wettest crop season was 1954 when the average rainfall for the whole area was 13.5 inches, 4 inches above normal. This increase was divided equally over the first and last parts of the crop season. Many points in southern districts received from 4 to 7 inches more than normal during the season, and at least one point, Broadview, Saskatchewan, received 20 inches which is a little more than double the normal. Northern areas were not quite so wet but seasonal averages ranged from 1 to 3 inches above normal. Only a small section of the extreme southwestern part of Alberta had slightly below normal rainfall in 1954.

Wet weather has implications other than higher yields. In a few areas where land is flat, flooding is a problem which either delays spring seeding or results in the removal of land from production altogether. Wet summer weather is often cool resulting in delayed harvests with the risk of fall frost damage. Cool, wet weather is also favorable for the incubation and spread of certain diseases such as rust and smuts. The resulting low grades for wheat may be aggravated by a lowering of protein content, also a result of cool, wet weather. Good land management involving protection against wind and water erosion, moisture conservation techniques, weed and insect contrpl, and soil fertilization, differs in wet periods from that practised in dry.

DISABILITIES WHICH DO NOT PERMIT CORRECTION

We have talked about the driver's disabilities which permit correction. Now I wish to mention the driver's disabilities which do not permit correction.

You can readily understand that any physical disabilities which cannot be corrected or compensated for are dangerous not only to the person who drives but to the public as well.

There are five common disabilities which people have that should disqualify them from driving:

Epilepsy; Insanity; Paralysis; Syphilis; Heart Trouble. Most of these are almost impossible to detect by the person's appearance. Employers hiring drivers have to rely on the employee's statement of his physical history or get a medical report.

Let's look at the five more closely:

Epilepsy: These are attacks which result in a period of unconsciousness. Minor attacks can produce brief periods of unconsciousness, completely out of control. In most cases epilepsy does not give its victim a warning of attack. There is absolutely no way or means of compensation for this disability. Anyone who is subject to attacks should voluntarily surrender their driving privileges, not only for their own protection, but the protection of others as well.

Insanity: Mild cases, difficult to detect, could be a menace to highway safety. Definite cases, of course, are prevented from driving because the appearance and manner of the victim are so obvious.

Paralysis: This generally causes loss of muscular power and control. When certain muscles are affected, safe driving is impossible.

Syphilis: This, in certain forms, affects the brain causing unreasonableness; delusions may result. This disease, if affecting the spinal cord, can incapacitate a driver.

Heart Trouble: The heart that is weak, or in fact any serious disorder can cause a sudden collapse without warning. This, like epilepsy, is dangerous to the public as well as its victim.

You can readily see that anyone suffering from any of these ailments should not drive by choice of his own free will.

AN OPEN LETTER TO FARMERS

Vermilion, Alberta,
April 24th, 1956.

[illegible]

Well spring is here again and it is time to spray all your cattle for warble fly infestation and as the same warble fly powder is destructive to lice on cattle, you do two jobs at once.

On the range cattle the grubs are just now starting to come to the surface of the hide. An application of warble fly powder applied dry and rubbed in with a horse brush or a stable broom is excellent. A bit later on when it is warmer an application of warble fly powder in a water solution, either applied with a sprayer or with a horse brush is an easy way to kill all warbles and save your cattle from the continual torment of running from the warble fly all summer.

We are compelled by law now to vaccinate all of our heifer calves for Bang's disease, and also for tuberculosis. Why not institute a law to make everyone get rid of the warble fly?

Most of the leather used now to make leather goods of all kinds is imported because our cattle hides are so rotten with warble fly holes. By law we are expected to vaccinate our heifer calves for Bangs, all our cattle for T.B., destroy all rats that come onto our places. Why are we not compelled to destroy the warble fly?

And to the residents of Buffalo Coulee school division. There are at times National Film Board films come to the school to be shown to the general public. We do not have very much notice on these films so it makes us all hurry to get ready to go and see them.

The last few times the attendance has not been very high and Mr. Bushko has announced that they will have to discontinue them in the future if more people are not interested in them.

The last films shown Monday evening April 23rd were wonderfully good, and it would be too bad if they had to be dropped. These films show so many things that are done in Canada, and how they are accomplished.

One of them showed plywood being made from Douglas Fir and the uses it was put to and by means of this film we could see the many uses we could make of it and they certainly looked good.

Sincerely,
S. May.

Pleasant Valley News

It is certainly nice to see the old black earth again even if it is a trifle wet in spots it's a good sign of spring. The crocuses are out in force in full bloom and such a lovely shade of mauve. Some folks are bragging about the different birds they have seen and heard but who can beat this one:—

The writer came down the stairs one morning in night attire to see what the noise was all about. It sounded as if a dozen rats had moved in. What was it? A black bird had fallen down the chimney and pushed the hole-stopper out and had taken over the whole house, landing on plants, windows and other places. Frightened when he saw the broom, up in the air he went but after some time he found that the door was open and out he flew. Now Isabel this is true. I feel sure you will laugh and say another yarn.

I hear that you all enjoyed the day on Thursday when Annie and Christie and family paid you a visit, travelling with a team and wagon. Jump in the wagon and come out our way. Lawrence and Chrissie were all at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Gould for supper on Saturday night. Mrs. Gillies is spending a few days at the Gould home.

Bob and Violet Hobbis were visitors at the Clark home on Sunday.

The Giles family were down on the farm visiting their mother. Hi girls. When will we get together for that long awaited pot luck supper Doris? What shall we serve, chow mein and chop suey eh?

It is pleasing to hear that Nora and Lila are home again from the hospital.

WORLD WHEAT YIELDS

Last autumn Dutch farmers harvested a wheat crop averaging 50 bushels per acre. Those in Belgium and Denmark got more than 50 bushels and in the United Kingdom nearly 50 bushels per acre. In the U.S. farmers got about 20 bushels per acre, those in Russia 11 bushels and in Canada the average was 23 bushels per acre. The Budget.

MORE TOURISTS

Stand by for a whopping American tourist invasion this year, if U. S. predictions come true, says The Financial Post. Yank travellers will spend about $1.7 billions abroad, about $510 millions of it in Canada, or more than 50% over 1955. Canada will get the second biggest share, just 8% behind all European countries combined.

Canada-Wide Census Scheduled For June

June brides do not have a monopoly on June this year. Indeed, if the June bride is not married on the first day of June she will not be recorded in the 1956 census as married. The the census starts on June 1, and no matter how far along in he month the enumerator calls the information is taken as for June 1.

If the same June bride was going to have several people for weekend guests or dinner she would, in order to plan accomodation, food and recreation for them, have to know the age, sex, marital status and number expected. As with a hostess so with a nation. In order for governments from municipal to federal to plan at all, population statistics are a basic necessity. Organizations other than administrative bodies rely heavily on population statistics as well. Expansion of services such as roads, schools, and water works are dependent on population figures. Business uses these figures in market analysis, organization of production and sales programs, location of retail outlets and so on.

The census of 1956 is special in several ways: it is the 10th Canada wide census: it is the first Canada-wide 5 year census (only the prairies have had a five year agriculture and population census) and the questions asked are fewer in number than in the 1951 census.

A national 5 year census of agriculture will improve greatly the accuracy of annual estimates of crops and livestock. Over a 10 year period these estimates (based on sample estimates) become unreliable because of accumulative errors in sampling.

This census will secure information which will be of assistance to governments of all levels in the administration of agricultural policy. Sample surveys are not practical for gaining information by small areas.

The farm family will be asked 78 questions as compared with over 200 in 1951 and the city family will only be asked 5 questions as compared with 20 in 1951. The answers are used for statistical purposes only and the enumerators are under oath and penalty against revealing any individual item. The Bureau of Statistics itself is forbidden to lay bare any personal matter.

C. G. I. T. Meets At Paradise Valley

PARADISE VALLEY.—The Paradise Valley C. G. I. T. held their regular meeting in the church basement on Thursday, April 12 at 7.30 p.m. The meeting was opened with "O Canada". A square was formed and the Purpose repeated. The devotions were taken by Mrs. Gunn, Lois Stoddard and Helen Krawchuk. Mission study was on the first Canadians, the Indians. "Blest be the Tie that Binds", was sung with Lois at the organ.

The secretary read the minutes of the last meeting. Grace and Lois Stoddard moved that they be adopted. Mrs. Gunn gave a talk on demonstrations and facials. Lois led in the 4-H pledge and song. Roll call was answered with hints on "Letter Writing". Eleven girls were present.

Lois moved with Ruth Walter seconding that "Social Etiquette" be the topic for next week's roll call. The group then undertook to sew on dome fasteners and buttons, aided by Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Gunn.

Helen Krawchuk moved that the meeting adjourn. "Comrades" was repeated and Taps was sung. After a short contest Linda Stepanoff moved a vote of thanks to Helen for the delicious lunch.

Leisure Big Business

This year will see the biggest-ever sales drive on the tough, high-price leisure market, says The Financial Post. One symptom: "Industry for Leisure" is the theme of next month's International Trade Fair in Paris. Look for more pay-later travel plans, heavy promotion of sports, motoring, boats, games, do-it yourself goods.

BOWTELL BULLETIN

Here we are again folks. For the first time in six weeks the writer has been able to go to town. The cat tractors are still pushing snow off the roads as late as April 20. Some of these items may be a little late but as most people have been snowed in for weeks at a time, too, they will still be of interest.

The last Busy Bee meeting was held in March at the home of Mrs. Hardie in Vermilion with ten members present. Due to both the president and secretary being absent Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Moses took the chairs. It was nice to have Mrs. Gow at the meetings again. The next meeting will be held in May at the home of Mrs. Jack Wiseman. Lunch was served by Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Johnson. The April meeting was cancelled on account of bad roads.

Miss Iris Lind spent a few days at her home from her nursing duties in Edmonton.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Repp Sunday were Leith and Rena, Mr and Mrs. E. Wells and baby.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Lippert and family are moving back to the farm this week.

The writer was pleased to have Mr and Mrs. F. Robinson and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. Clarke and family visit recently, making the trip with horses and wagon. Back to the good old days folks.

It is pleasing to be able to report that little Shirley Williams is home again after spending some time in the hospital in Edmonton, receiving medical attention to her mouth.

A busy time was spent recently at the Knutson home putting a new addition on to the house. A nice new washing machine has also been added to the modern appliances.

Hello Rose and Vic out in Vancouver. It is safe to come home now as the snow is nearly all gone.

William Walker has been busy building a new boat, lots of water around to sail it on. The river is the highest for many years.

It is many weeks since the school buses were running. Frances Sherwood and Margaret Robinson have been riding horseback ten miles a day.

Mr and Mrs. Frank Minard and Barney Powell were visitors recently at the Charlie Bert home.

Granddad Jones likes his cheese so when the travelling was too bad for cars he walked to Islay five miles there and five miles back, to purchase his cheese supply.

Neil Harrison is now travelling on a nice new motor bike.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Repp and Robert and George Gow were visitors to the Edmonton stock show. While there Mrs. Repp enjoyed a visit with one of our old friends and neighbors, Mrs. N. McClellan. Mrs. Knutson and Maybelle also spent a few days in the city. Mr. Knutson was away too, on a trip to Saskatchewan.

Mrs. Martin visited recently with her sister Mrs. J. Rochford. It is pleasing to know that she is soon to be home for good having made wonderful progress from the attack of polio.

Hello Robert Dibben in hospital at Edmonton. We are hoping to see you too, home in the near future.

PARADISE VALLEY NEWS

Mrs. H. E. Swayne attended the conference of 4 H club leaders held at Olds School of Agriculture on April 10 and 11 and also visited Kathleen, nurse at the Misericordia hospital and Arthur who is attending the University of Alberta. A few days were spent with her daughter Mrs. Alex Henderson at Mannville. Mrs. Swayne found the conference very helpful to leaders of all 4 H clubs.

FAREWELL PARTIES

Two farewell parties were held during the week for families who are leaving our district. Mr. and Mrs Charles Rohla who are leaving their farm are going to Saskatchewan. A large crowd attended the farewell party and Mr. and Mrs. Rohla were presented with a purse. Then on Saturday night a large crowd met at the school auditorium to bid goodbye to Mr. and Mrs. George Armishaw who has been agent for the Imperial Lumber Co. for ten years. Mr. Armishaw has been transferred to Bashaw. This is a promotion for George and we wish to congratulate him. We are sorry to see these people leave us but we wish them the very best in their new homes.

WEDDING DANCE

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. William Towndrow who were married in Lloydminster on Friday, April 20. A wedding dance was held on Friday evening. Mrs. Towndrow was the former Joyce Benner, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Benner. We understand that they will take up residence in town. We extend best wishes to the young couple.

The snow has almost disappeared and the ground is drying up quite quickly although the side roads are still in bad shape. The Edgerton bridge across the Battle River came off second best against the flood and as a result the approaches have been washed away and the bridge has settled about three feet. We hear that the Sidcup bridge is still passable so that is the one we will have to use.

Mr and Mrs. D. B. Baxter and family were weekend visitors to Edmonton where they visited with Mrs. Baxter's relatives.

LETTER FROM EDMONTON

Fog And Confusion Surrounds The Export Of Alberta Natural Gas

EDMONTON. — The question of whether to export Alberta's vast stores of natural gas has been settled for some time now, but the more complicated question of how to go about it remains far from settlement.

Hardly a day goes by without some mention of Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. in the news. The export of Alberta gas has become an international issue, but for all the talking back and forth it appears to be coming no closer to reality.

In fact, from the standpoint of the average citizen the situation is only becoming more fogged and confused.

Within the past week, top officials of Trans-Canada met in Ottawa with Trade Minister Howe to discuss the possibility of a start this year on construction of the $375,000,000 pipeline from Alberta to eastern Canada.

The company wants to build the $70,000,000 leg of the line from Alberta to Winnipeg this year. But the firm is still plagued by delays in financing, and there is considerable doubt whether construction can start this year. In March, the company got a six-months extension from the board of transport commissioner on its financing deadline, making it Nov. 1.

Meanwhile, provincial government officials are quietly stewing about the situation and doing all they can to get Alberta gas moving out of the province as soon as possible. They have good reason, because export of gas could be a major shot in the arm for the province's economy.

This was made clear last week by Premier Manning, when he commented on reports from eastern Canada that Alberta's proven gas reserves are not sufficient to justify entry into the U.S. market.

Promoters of the project claim it will be economically unfeasible unless Alberta gas can be sold to the centres of huge population and major industries in the Great Lakes region of the United States.

CANADIAN MARKET NOT BIG ENOUGH

Mr Manning said the Canadian market alone is not big enough to accommodate a development program of the size dictated by Alberta's proven reserves.

He pointed out that Alberta's established reserves are around 16 trillion cubic feet, and said this is more than enough for the entire Canadian market and for large U.S. markets.

The Premier, who is also minister of mines and minerals, has two major reasons for wanting gas export to start as soon as possible. Firstly, it would spur further exploration for natural gas. At present, companies have millions of dollars invested in gas they are unalbe to sell. As soon as new gas wells are brought in, they are capped and lie idle.

Secondly, the province stands to reap a sizeable profit from royalties. Provincial officials realize the heavy revenue from oil rights won't continue forever, and alternate sources of income will be welcome.

HOT POLITICAL QUESTION

The gas export question still is a hot political issue in the province. The CCF party held a protest meeting in the capital recently, featuring a talk by Elmer E. Roper, provincial leader who was defeated in the election last June. During his term in the legislature Mr Roper was one of the most vigorous and eloquent critics of the province's gas export policy.

He told the meeting Alberta's Social Credit government and the federal Liberal government had worked "hand in glove" to give Alberta's natural gas "on a platter to a clique of wealthy Americans". Of course, his party wants the federal government to take over the pipeline, and a resolution was passed asking that Ottawa build the line and provide gas for industrial and domestic use at cost.

Under the plan currently being promoted by Trans-Canada, a line would be built to Emerson, Man. From here, Alberta gas would be sold to Tennessee Gas Transmission Co., a major U.S. firm. Tennessee would in turn pipe gas to Ontario and Quebec markets, until Trans-Canada could build a line through the uneconomical northern Ontario region. Tennessee is still awaiting permission from the U.S. power commission to bring Alberta gas into the U.S.

The Editor,
The Vermilion Standard,

Dear Sir:

At a meeting of the General Board of the British and Foreign Bible Society in Canada, held in Toronto on March 21, 1956, it was unanimously agreed that a special message of thanks be sent to the daily weekly and church papers of Canada.

We greatly appreciate your appreciation. The British and Foreign Bible Society has had a vital share in world affairs since 1804. We have supplied the Scriptures in some 810 languages and have been associated with sister societies in producing over 250 others, so that at least one book of the Bible has been published in 1,092 languages. We have distributed over 625 million volumes in one hundred and fifty two years.

In many cases the first book ever published in a language was one of the Gospels translated by a denominational missionary and supplied by the Bible Society. We have had a prominent part in the Christian outreach and in basic preparation for all education. Languages have been written down for the first time and developed into more effective mediums of communication. Other books have been printed after portions of the Scriptures had appeared.

By making kindly references to the world wide work of our Society and by covering the activities of the 3,457 local branches in Canada you are helping in our efforts to serve all mankind and we are grateful.

Yours sincerely,
A. H. [illegible]

Alberta's Natural Gas Industry: THE "GATE STATION"

GAS Comes to town!

After its long journey from the field to a population center natural gas must pass one more inspection point — the City or Town "Gate Station." Here gas from one or many production fields is measured, checked and controlled for quality. Temperatures are checked and pressures regulated. Here, too, the gas dispatcher watches over his pipeline system. From the City or Town "Gate Station" flows natural gas of uniform quality — in the right amounts, at the right pressure to meet the needs of every area receiving natural gas service.

With GAS you get service—we plan it that way!

Civil Defence — The Provincial Responsibility

The 10 provincial governments in Canada would be responsible for a sort of family-like cooperation among their communities should a nuclear war ever hit this continent. Meanwhile during this time of peace the province's job is to make such cooperation possible should emergency conditions arise.

The latest civil defence thinking has underlined this duty of the provinces heavier than others. For evacuation of cities likely to be hit by the enemy with the unbelievable destruction of the H-bomb now is considered the only really safe defence against annihilation. But where are these people from the cities to go? How are they to get there? These are the questions the provinces must answer. They are seeking the solutions now. They appear in several stages.

First the provincial governments had to create their own civil defence organization. This was done following conferences among federal and provincial authorities in 1950-51 and regularly since. Each province now has a functioning C. D. organization within the framework of its government. Each has a cabinet minister responsible for C. D. and a provincial co-ordinator. Their staffs vary according to how actively the province participates.

Canada's constitution is such that communication between various governmental levels runs from the federal through the provincial to the municipal or local. This places responsibility on the province for coordinating the efforts of its communities into the plan for the whole country.

The province must help its communities organize their own C. D. setups. It must keep municipalities informed of the latest developments and provide training of civil defence volunteers within the province. It also must provide the legislation necessary for local authorities to operate: that is, it must delegate the necessary authority to carry out civil defence operation.

Advance warning of an impending attack would come through the provincial facilities from the federal organization and should communications on a national scale be interrupted, the provincial organization would have to supply direction for local plans.

What about the money necessary for equipment, training and organization centres? The province is responsible for assisting in this way, too. It can get financial help from the federal government which will match provincial contributions on a dollar-for-dollar basis up to an amount based on the population of each province. If the province under the constitution, cannot work directly with the municipality unless the province allows it) the federal C. D. organization can contribute 25% of a local project's cost. Then if the province puts in 25%, the federal contribution will be increased by another 25%, leaving the municipality with the other 25% of the cost to pay. Beyond this federal assistance to the province must go itself.

The big job of each province, however, is to organize reception areas to take in people evacuated from cities likely to be bombed. These will be towns and cities ringing the target cities. Because of the destructive power of the new weapons these reception areas must not be less than 50 and may be up to 100 miles from the city.

The province must organize routes to be taken to these reception areas, seeing that the first arrivals go to the farthest area. These areas would have to provide food and shelter from weather as well as radioactive fallout that might be carried by winds from the target area. These facilities must be capable of caring for the evacuees for at least 48 hours, probable time for any fall-out's radiation dangers to disappear. If the radiation, determined by C. D radiation teams, were stronger, the reception areas would have to be equipped to decontaminate personnel.

Should whole cities be made uninhabitable, their residents after the bombing would have to be re-established in new communities posing new problems that would fall again under provincial jurisdiction.

Inland Cement Ships First Load by C.N.R.

EDMONTON.—The first shipment of cement from the new Inland Cement Company plant at Edmonton, 3 carloads, were shipped to Calgary by C.N.R. Each car carried about 75 tons of bulk cement. The first shipment took place less than a year after construction began on the plant.

Limestone, from which cement is manufactured, is brought to Edmonton from Cadomin via C.N.R. The company makes use of an electrostatic dust precipitator to prevent dust being blown into the air.

Although the plant is not yet completed, officials took a group of construction men and representatives of the C.N.R. through the plant to watch the first of its product being loaded.

Pretty Wedding Is Held At Kitscoty United Church

QUINN—TYLER

A pretty wedding was solemnized on March 31st at 6:30 p.m. in the Kitscoty United church when Rev. A. E. Potter, rector of St. Johns Anglican church, in a setting of spring flowers and carnations, united in holy matrimony, Beatrice Rose (Kelly) Tyler, eldest daughter of Mr. Edwin Tyler, and Milo Eugene Quinn, son of Mrs. M. Quinn of Patricia, Alberta.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. She was radiant in a waltz-length dress styled with lace panels and tiers of nylon net. A bolero jacket of matching lace with lily point sleeves modified her gown. A pearl and sequin headdress held in place her sequin trimmed fingertip veil of French illusion. The bride wore pearl earrings, a gift from the groom and carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and lily of the valley tied with white satin ribbon.

Miss Beth Tyler, maid of honor, preceded her sister up the aisle. She was attired in a strapless ballet-length gown of pale blue nylon net over taffeta, modified with a matching bolero.

Miss Patricia Tyler, the bridesmaid, chose a strapless model, ballet-length gown of pink nylon net with lace inserts over taffeta, with which she wore a matching lace jacket. They wore matching flowered headdresses, nylon mitts, and carried Colonial bouquets of pink, white and blue tinted carnations set in net and fern.

The groom was ably attended by Mr. Alfred Blair. The guests were ushered to the pews tied with pastel flowers by Mr. Robert Tyler.

During the signing of the register, Mrs. George Bootsman sang, "O Perfect Love" accompanied by Mrs. James A. Smith who ably provided all the wedding music. Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Tracy Memorial hall, when the bride's grandmother, Mrs. W. L. Apperson received, wearing a navy silk crepe dress, pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Quinn, the groom's mother, wore a becoming dress of navy silk with navy and pink accessories, and she wore pink roses en corsage.

The bride's table was laid with an ecru lace cloth, centred by a beautifully decorated three-tiered cake, topped with carnations and fern. The cake was embedded in a hand-made frilly lace centrepiece and flanked by tall white tapers in silver candlesticks and bouquets of spring flowers in silver baskets.

After the bride and groom cut the wedding cake, Mr. Herbert Stokes proposed a toast to the bride, to which the groom ably responded.

Several young friends of the bride and groom assisted in serving the one hundred and twenty-five guests who signed the guest book presided over by Miss Marian Inglis. During the reception Mrs. George Bootsman sang "I'll Walk Beside You".

The young couple entertained their many friends at a dance in the Kitscoty hall during the evening.

Out of town guests present were Mrs. M. Quinn of Patricia; Const. E. Tyler R.C.M.P. and Mrs Tyler of Regina; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tyler of Edmonton; Miss Christine Lawton, Peers; Miss Marian Inglis, Vegreville; Mr. and Mrs. James A. Smith and Merlin of Vermilion; Mr and Mrs Dork Miller of Lashburn, Sask.; Mr and Mrs. A. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. G Gaiser, Mr. and Mrs. Jim McDonald, Mr. and Mrs D McDonald and family and Mr Jack Kell, all of Lloydminster.

Mr. and Mrs. Milo Quinn are making their home in Kitscoty.

Revolutionary five-sectional car mirror is said to eliminate all blind spots while driving and to permit 160 degrees of unobstructed rear, plus two-side vision, reports The Financial Post. Consists of five integrated, optically true nonglare mirrors, set at correct angles in individual sulfur-free rubber mountings and securely held in 22-guage steel frame. Mirrors are approximately seven inches by two inches and the entire unit is 35 inches long. It is slightly curved at the top to follow the car roof contour of the average car.

MARWAYNE

For some days we did not have any mail service on account of trains not running since April 14. Thursday Mr. Dan Ure took mail to Kitscoty and brought mail back by jeep. The news was sent but did not arrive in time for printing last week. Mr. Ure has made other trips helping out with the mail, bringing bread, and transporting passengers both ways.

Health Unit Notes

THE IMPORTANCE OF SLEEP

The human body is an engine; it generates power using food as a fuel. Like any other engine the body is constantly wearing out, but sleep replaces the worn parts night by night. An auto engine if supplied with fuel will run until it is worn beyond repair; the human body, however, has a warning device which prevents this tiredness and fatigue. It has been proved that the body can go on longer without food than without sleep.

There are four types of fatigue:
1. Physical fatigue.
2. Mental fatigue.
3. Emotional fatigue.
4. Fatigue due to disease.

Growing children need ten hours sleep and teen-agers eight hours. During sleep all conscious activity ceases, subconscious functions slow down, the mind relaxes, muscles relax, the heart beats slower and breathing becomes slower. Insomnia is caused by over-tiredness and emotional or mental disturbances late at night. For this reason children should relax and should have no fear for at least one hour before going to bed. They should also not be allowed to read blood-curdling detective stories before going to bed. Drinking stimulants such as tea or coffee late at night also causes insomnia. Drugs to induce sleep should never be needed when in good health and should only be taken on the advice of a doctor.

The bed should be at least 39 inches wide and the mattress not too hard or too soft. The sheets and blankets should be wide enough to hang over the bed and should not be tucked in too tightly. Always have the bedroom as well ventilated as possible. The position in which a person sleeps is unimportant -- they should just be comfortable. Also people in the house should remember that a noise which may not be loud enough to waken a sleeper may make the sleep less restful.

Lack of sleep reduces speed, accuracy, alertness and hearing capacity and also increases the amount of energy used up in performing any simple act. If the lack of sleep goes on for a long time these changes may be permanent. It is quite wrong to think that anyone gets used to having a small amount of sleep, though some people do need more than others. Lack of sleep also impairs growth and reduces resistance to infections. This means that children suffering from lack of sleep are more likely to contract tuberculosis or poliomyelitis.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

You don't have to travel far to find fascinating facets of Canadian life to explore. Chances are, unusual and entertaining adventures lie only a few moments' drive from your own doorstep in your own home town.

For instance, have you ever been behind the scenes of the creamery, the bakery, the newspaper plant in your community? They're as amazing as they are educational -- even though their products are as familiar as breathing. An advance phone call to the plant is usually enough to insure you and your party will receive a royal welcome -- and free samples, too.

Early mornings and on Saturdays, the wholesale produce section of your town is probably a beehive of bustling activity. Here's where fruits, vegetables, spices and sometimes meats and fresh fish mingle shapes, colors and aromas.

Perhaps some unusual industries are located nearby. Could be a foundry. Or you might plan to a visit to a local handicraft class to observe amateur artisans produce work of art. It might give you inspiration for a highly productive hobby.

Adventures like these are only a short drive from your front door. Why not pack the kids into the car for a trip trail just a little way from Main Street?

Cancer is the commonest cause of death between the ages of [illegible] and [illegible], Canadian statistics show.

Nice Surplus Is Shown for the Season

Dr. Ron Payment Elected President Of The Vermilion Curling Club

A tidy surplus of $2,303.91 was shown in the current account of the Vermilion Curling club for the past season, despite the fact that membership was lower than for some years past. It was thought that owing to increased expenses due to operation of the artificial ice plant the curlers might have difficulty making ends meet. Such did not prove the case as the above surplus was shown even after a transfer of $1000 had been made to the building fund.

The financial statement shows that curling has also entered the realm of big business as receipts for the season were $7,385.68 with expenditures totalling $5,381.77 including the transfer to the building fund. The financial statements were given by Secretary Russell Carroll.

The annual meeting was held in the rink on Thursday evening and was further signalized by the retirement of energetic president Aldous Kent. During his regime Aldous saw the building of the new rink and installation of an artificial ice plant, surely landmarks of which he can be very proud.

The election of officers resulted in the following taking office:

President -- Dr. Ron Payment
Vice-Pres. -- Gordon Park
Sec.-Treas. -- Al Locke
Executive -- Warren Rosequist, Glen Gibbons, Ed Lyons, Bob Rowe, Clem Hildreth, Frank Schmidt, Geo. Webb Jr.

LADIES DONATE $850

The outstanding debt owing to the Canadian Ice Machine Company for the installation of the artificial ice plant was reduced by $850, this tidy amount being donated by the Vermilion Ladies Curling club for this purpose. The magnificent sum had been earned during the season by serving lunches in the rink kitchen and by catering at the bonspiel banquet.

Needless to say the very generous donation brought joy to the hearts of the male curlers and a hearty vote of thanks to the ladies was moved by E. M. Stewart and passed unanimously.

The idea of holding a summer bonspiel was discussed, with decision left to the executive.

The curling club capital account shows outstanding accounts of $6,082.32. Most of this amount, $4,000.00, is owing to the Canadian Ice Company for the artificial ice plant; $1315.00 is due to W. C. Martin and $1585 to Caron and [illegible]. The Club carries a mortgage on the curling rink building of $20,000.00.

DAVE McCAULEY DIES AT LLOYDMINSTER

People of Vermilion were shocked and saddened when word was received of the death of Dave McCauley in the Lloydminster hospital on Tuesday, May 1st. Mr. McCauley was originally a Mannville man, and operated a blacksmith and machine shop there. Mannville Old Timer Passes On After Long Illness

MANNVILLE -- Mr. George Thompson passed away on Saturday morning in the General hospital in Edmonton at the age of 83 years after a lengthy illness.

Mr. Thompson came to Mannville from Wyman, Que., and homesteaded three miles south-west of town where he lived until moving into town in 1950. He is survived by two brothers Beckett and Frank and two sisters Mrs. Hughes of Mannville and Mrs. Houston of Vancouver.

L.O.L. 1946 was in charge of the funeral service and the funeral was held from Christ church Wednesday at 2:00 o'clock. Mr. Thompson was a life member of the Orange and Past Master of both the Orange and Black Lodges.

Esteemed Citizen And Old Timer, Charles W. Robinson Dies In Edmonton

Charles Wayne Robinson, an esteemed citizen whose life had been interwoven with the history of Vermilion since 1905, passed away in Edmonton on Monday, April 30th in his 79th year. He had moved to the city in 1952.

"Charlie", as he was so widely known, probably knew more people in Vermilion and district, and just where they lived, than any other man in town or country. He came here in 1905, homesteaded a few miles north, and still owned that land at the time of his death. While homesteading he carried on his vocation of bookkeeper, working for Craig Bros., in town, and clerking at many auction sales. In 1915 he commenced his own real estate and insurance business and conducted this through good times and ill, until 1952. At that time he sold to the present owner, Mr. D. R. Mitchell whom he had taken into partnership some years before.

A true citizen of town and district he was interested in development and progress so he gave service in many fields of endeavor. He was Mayor of the town from 1935 to 1937 and served as councillor for many years prior to that; a past president of the Vermilion Board of Trade and an active member at all times; a past Exalted Ruler of the B.P.O.E., being a charter member of the Vermilion Lodge. He was secretary of many organizations throughout the years including the school board, athletic association and in its early years, the Vermilion Old Timers. For many years, right up until the time he left for Edmonton he was President of the Old Timers' Association and no gathering of the Old Timers was complete without him. He knew the early history of every member, where they had homesteaded or lived, and could trace their careers right up to the present day. His knowledge of the history of the district and of its people would have filled volumes.

Besides his loving wife he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Richard Nelles of Winnipeg and Mrs. Nester Thompson of Edmonton; one son Frederick of Calgary. Also surviving is one brother Mr. Horace Robinson of Perth, Ont., and one sister Mrs. Lucy Putnam, Easton's Corner, Ontario, and one half-sister Mrs. Gladys Patterson in Ontario. There are six grandchildren.

The funeral service was held in the Chapel of Chimes, Edmonton, on Wednesday, May 2nd with interment following in the Edmonton cemetery. Rev. E. N. Morrison officiated.

The pall bearers were all members of the Vermilion Elks, Messrs A. M. West, R. E. Carroll, W. C. Martin, Chas. McCormick, T. H. Davis and George Capatos.

The town was officially represented by Mayor Melvin Hill and the Old Timers by President George Webb. Many from Vermilion attended the services and accompanied the remains to their final resting place.

In Vermilion on Wednesday at the luncheon meeting of the Board of Trade tribute was paid to Mr. Robinson by Mr. Thos. Watts, and a minute silence observed in his memory.

Firemen Celebrate At Annual Banquet

The Vermilion Fire Brigade, an organization which spends most of its time really working when they get together, gathered on Wednesday evening for another reason. They weren't summoned by that shrill electrifying wail of the fire siren, but by the call of the annual banquet and social evening, one of the two occasions in the year when they gather for pleasure. The other time is the annual Firemen's ball.

The guest speaker on Wednesday evening was Austin Bridges from Edmonton, Fire Commissioner for the Province of Alberta. Mr. Bridges is well known in Vermilion, and makes it a point to attend this annual event. Accompanying him was Mr. Charles Bieland who is in charge of fire prevention activities in Alberta.

In his address Mr. Bridges brought greetings from the Hon. Mr. Hooke under whose jurisdiction as minister of municipal affairs comes fire prevention. He went on to say that he sees working in Vermilion the combination of fire brigade and town council, each supporting the other, making very effective co-operation indeed.

ADVOCATES HOME DRILL

The Fire Commissioner alluded to the many fires throughout Canada this past winter wherein homes were burned and whole families died in the conflagration. He advocated that everyone drill their families on the best means of escape in case of home fires. It takes only ten minutes for a fire to reach its peak so that no time can be lost in leaving the building. In home fire drill, you should imagine the fire getting its start at different places in the home, cutting off escape from certain doors, stairs and windows, alternate ways out must occur at once.

In his brief remarks Mr. Bieland mentioned particularly that he was glad to see the sprinkler system in the hospital. He had been in the building and added that such a system is of great value in fire prevention.

Acting as emcee for the informal program was Assistant Fire Chief Ken Urquhart who called on each of the guests present to stand and take a bow as they were introduced. Those present in this category included His Worship Mayor and Mrs. M. Hill; Councillor and Mrs. E. A. Locke; Secretary Tom Wilson and Mrs. Wilson; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Weldon; Cpl. S. Surbey, R.C.M.P., and Constables Norton, Williams and Metcalfe, Councillor Keith Chalmers and Mrs. Chalmers; Ashley H. Cooper and Mrs. Cooper.

Mayor Hill praised the members of the fire brigade for their loyalty and co-operation throughout the year, with a special word of thanks to Fire Chief Conboy. Albert Hareuther proposed the toast to the ladies, while Gordon Park proposed a vote of thanks to the ladies of the Royal Purple who catered for the banquet and served a truly delicious meal.

Fire Chief Tom Conboy spoke briefly mentioning the cooperation he received from town council, the fire commissioner's office and the members of his brigade.

The final number on the agenda was the showing of pictures taken in Canada's far north, among the Eskimo and Indian peoples, by Tony Korpel. Mr. Korpel now living in Vermilion, spent nine years in the northland and has a wealth of pictures taken there both in color and black and white. He told a story of each making a most interesting and enlightening experience for those present.

The annual banquet of the Firemen always brings together all the members of the brigade with their wives, quite a number of guests and these along with a free easy and interesting program all combine for a most enjoyable evening.

This Week's Oddest Incident

KITSCOTY -- When Mr. and Mrs. T. Givens of Kitscoty were returning by boat from a holiday in England last September, Mr. Givens put a message in a bottle and threw it overboard in mid-Atlantic. In the note he offered a $5.00 reward to the person finding the message and writing to him.

Last week Mr. Givens received a letter from a man living in Iceland. He had found the bottle, noticed the note contained in it and wrote to claim the reward. Mr. Givens promptly sent him the promised five dollars.

"A Man Called Peter" Showing At Columbia This Week End

Not much has to be said about the wonderful heart-warming story of "A Man Called Peter". Everywhere it has played it has had to be held over. Now it is playing in Vermilion at the Columbia theatre from Thursday to Saturday, May 3 to 5. Filmed in Cinemascope, the story is the biography of Peter Marshall, Chaplain of the U. S. Senate until his death in 1949. In the starring roles are Richard Todd and Jean Peters.

Due to the fact that it is a road show, the prices are set by the film company and adult prices must be advanced to 75 cents, students and children will pay regular admission prices.

Friends Farewell Mr. And Mrs. O. Samycia

The home of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Onusko in the west end of Vermilion was the scene Saturday evening of a very enjoyable surprise party. The occasion was in the nature of a farewell to Mrs. Onusko's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. O. Samycia who are leaving in the very near future to make their home in Edmonton.

Some forty friends and neighbors gathered during the evening and a pleasant hour was spent visiting. A presentation of a handsome electric clock was then made to the guests of honor. After several present had wished Mr. and Mrs. Samycia health and happiness in their new home in the city, both recipients thanked these friends present for their good wishes and beautiful and useful gift.

Refreshments, a sing-song and dancing followed until the wee small hours.

Mrs. Samycia left on Monday for Edmonton, while Mr. Samycia who has been connected with the Brunswick hotel business here, will follow in a week or so. They recently sold their home in the east end and purchased a home in North Edmonton where they will reside in future.

HI-SCHOOL HI-LITES

A highly successful parent-student dance, held Friday evening reached a grand climax when Carol Brown and Edna Martin performed the Charleston, executing it exactly as Mom and Pop did twenty five years ago.

The program, consisting of a variety of dances joined in wholeheartedly by students and their parent guests, a parade of fashions of a quarter-century ago, a radio raffle draw and finally lunch served by the Laurier boys, made up an evening's entertainment which was really tops. Congratulations to the House of Laurier for arranging one of the best school parties we have ever had.

An interesting part of the program was the fashion parade arranged by Ruth Beatty. Donna Cooper gave a running commentary on each of the models and old-fashioned modes. Judging by the spontaneous applause, we feel that these well-portrayed models brought back many vivid memories.

As a means of raising additional funds, tickets on a radio were sold. This proved to be a very lucrative venture. The lucky winner was Mrs. Roy Findlay.

The students are very grateful to Keith Inman and his orchestra who generously donated their services for the dance. Thanks also to the many parents who attended and helped make this an enjoyable evening.

It appears that the graduates have a warm spot in their hearts for the old V.H.S., as many were in attendance at the dance. It was certainly nice to have them with us again.

With the April exams over House League ball will soon begin. These ball games will decide the final House standing, so we are looking forward to a highly competitive climax.

Startling Announcement Made at Board Meeting

Rats Are Found In Two Places In Town of Vermilion

Evidences of rats were found on Tuesday afternoon at the Vermilion Seed Cleaning plant and at one elevator, according to information given at a dinner meeting of the Board of Trade, by J. B. Gurba, Pest Control Division of the Department of Agriculture. Mr. Gurba was guest speaker at the board meeting. Other visitors present on this occasion were Marshall Sharek, pest control officer, and Bert Hozack, field superintendent for the M.D. of Vermilion River, also very active in pest control work.

Mr. Gurba gave his topic as "Rat control and how it ties up with your spring cleaning campaign". He rated the rat as the biggest problem facing Alberta today, and to show the proportions to which rats can multiply Mr. Gurba told of a drive to exterminate the rodents at Yorkton, Sask., population 7,000. The effort resulted in more than 100,000 rats being killed. These were piled in huge heaps and photographed. "I am sure", said Mr. Gurba, "Alberta people don't want to face similar conditions".

The speaker traced the entry of the rat into Alberta during the year 1950 at a point near Alsask, Sask., about half way down our eastern border, and told of the efforts to keep the unwelcome invader at bay. These efforts were now being [illegible], aided by two poisons, Warfarin and Pibal. The only way is to kill rats day after day, year after year.

Rats are entirely dependent on man for food and shelter; remove man and the rat perishes; therefore, clean-up campaigns are an absolute necessity. It is the responsibility of every person to control rats and the Provincial Pest Control Act gives authority to the province to force persons to take the necessary steps. The province can either move in and do the work or take the recalcitrant to court.

This municipality now has a full time pest control officer, Mr. Poitras of Dewberry, while Mr. Marshall Sharek is a provincial pest control officer. Towns must appoint men, and John Gordey is the local official. There are 250 such officers in the province.

Rats can be controlled, said Mr. Gurba. There were 600 infected farms in the province, and this has been cut to 162. Farming areas and farms are affected to a greater degree than anything else, so that every farmer should be especially vigilant.

LOOK FOR THEM NOW

Rats spread out in spring and fall so that emigration can be expected now with warmer weather. Rats will be showing up -- watch for them!

Mr. Gurba completed his talk with the words, "Rats can be eliminated along with bed bugs and smallpox -- don't accept rats as a part of our way of life in this province . . ."

Correction To The Health Unit Notes

An important line was omitted from the Health Unit notes of Apr. 19th regarding Polio vaccination. The paragraph in question should have read:

"Two shots, at a four weekly interval, to all children in grades 1, 2, 3 and 4 who have not received any vaccine before."

The line "in grades 1, 2, 3 and 4" did not appear, giving an entirely wrong impression.

Fire Damages Gamble Home In Mannville

MANNVILLE -- Fire gutted the interior of the living room of the residence of C. J. Gamble in Mannville on Tuesday. It was discovered by Ruth Gamble when she came home from school at 3:30. Mr. Gamble was in Innisfree and Mrs. Gamble was still at the school.

Quick action by the local fire department saved the house but the living room and living room furniture was completely destroyed and smoke damage to the rest of the house was extensive. It is not known how the fire started nor the extent of the damage at time of writing.

Death Of W. S. Roberts

Well known as a former resident of the district when he operated the Grizzly Bear ranch for many years, William S. Roberts passed away on Tuesday, April 24th at Dormouth, England. Word to this effect was received by Miss Grace Bury from David Roberts, son of the deceased.

Local Players In Mystery-Comedy Friday, May 4th

Vermilion's newest dramatic group, St. Saviour's Dramatic Society, is about to make its bow. If you enjoy cold shivers up and down your back, the tingle of suspense and laughs, lots of them, come to "The Jade Necklace" and see what happens the night of Doris Lee's birthday party.

This play is being presented at the Junior high school auditorium on Friday evening next, May 4th at 8:00 p.m. 43-3

Variety of Projects Are Discussed

Vermilion M. L. A. Addresses Board Of Trade Meeting

Guest speaker at the Vermilion Board of Trade meeting held on Wednesday, April 25th was Mr. R. J. Whitson of Mannville, member of the Alberta Legislature for Vermilion constituency. The speaker was pleased to note that the Board covered a diversity of interests with considerable attention paid to the requirements of agriculture and the farming community. Mr. Whitson gave an interesting talk of his impressions received at his first sitting of the legislature.

Several other visitors in attendance were introduced including Mr. Alister Michie of Edmonton, Mr. Alex Letts, newly appointed assistant to the District Agriculturist here; Mr. Ed Wilson who is establishing an auction market [illegible] of Vermilion; Mr. George F. [illegible] representative of Wainwright [illegible] which company is shortly building a gasoline [illegible] bulk outlet in Vermilion.

The president Ross Boake [illegible] presented Mr. F. Van Wageningen on his success of being awarded first prize for the best five-gallon can of cream in Alberta. The cream obtained the highest number of points, 99½, ever to be awarded an entry in the class.

Mr. Paul Godt reported that his committee of the Board of Trade had organized the canvass for Cancer funds and that the actual collection was under way.

CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN

The [illegible] up of the town which is organized by the Board of Trade in co-operation with the town council was turned over to the civic committee headed by Mr. Warren [illegible].

INDUSTRIAL BOARD SESSIONS

Mr. [illegible] of the [illegible] announced that the Industrial Development Board of the Province of Alberta would hold sessions here on May 14 and 15. The mayors, reeves, secretary treasurers of the various towns, municipalities and villages in the area will be invited to attend these sessions. All board members were invited to be present also.

All was reported in readiness for a special sales promotion to be called "Town Wide Dollar Days".

Thirty three attended the mid-day luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Young Feted on Silver Wedding Anniversary

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Rorbuck when about twenty relatives and friends gathered to honor Mr. and Mrs. Frank Young on the occasion of their Silver Wedding anniversary.

Card games were enjoyed for the greater part of the evening and also a sing-song around the piano.

The lunch table was centred with a lovely three-tiered wedding cake made by Mrs. R. Carmichael. Mr. W. Rorbuck on behalf of the guests, presented the happy couple with gifts of silver and then all joined hands singing "For they are jolly good fellows".

Moving pictures were taken while Mr. and Mrs. Young cut their cake, also when the presentation was being made.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Rorbuck, Mrs. Carmichael, Mrs. Bass and Mrs. Johnson.

"RATS" HAVE ARRIVED—

THE startling statement made to the Board of Trade on Wednesday by J. B. Garbe, Pest Control Officer for the Province of Alberta that there were definite indications that rats were in two different places within the bounds of Vermilion, will bring home the fact that the battle against rats is not something in the dim and distant future, but must start at once. It is true that a vigilant watch has been kept, that a consistent effort has been made to drive them back to the Saskatchewan border, but they keep pushing on, little by little it seems. In a recent clean up of rats at the nuisance grounds in the little city of Yorkton, Sask., population 7000, no less than 100 000 rats were killed and piled up in huge heaps, photographs bear out this story. On the same basis, Vermilion with one-third the population, would support 35,000 rats. Just think of 35,000 disease-bearing rats having the run of the town, of your homes, stores and garages, the thought is enough to move everyone to the ultimate in clean-up campaigns with the elimination of every spot that could harbor the rodents and disposal of garbage so that it does not provide the rat with food upon which to thrive.

The rat is entirely dependent on man for food and lodging ... eliminate [illegible] and you can eliminate the rat.

DAYDREAMS CAN BECOME NIGHTMARES

The following editorial is taken from the Farm Safety edition of the "Safety Counsellor" the official organ of the Alberta Safety Council.

FARM danger versus farm safety is in our thoughts at this season as we wait for the incessant drum of tractors to announce that spring work is under way.

Spring work time is danger time. This year, with a late season in many district, the resulting rush could cause more tragic accidents than ever.

Last year, there were eight tractor deaths in the month of May; twice as many as September which, with four, was the second worst month of the year.

Long hours of jockeying a tractor plus more hours of other chores and trip to town don't leave enough time for truly restful sleep and tired machine operators are a hazard to themselves and those they work with.

Of course nothing can take the place of sleep but a break for coffee with an opportunity to ease tired muscles will often help to [illegible] fatigue and [illegible] strain.

Industry long ago found that production slowed and accidents increased after two to three hours of work. The coffee break was instituted and workers were then able to continue the [illegible] with almost the same vigor as at the beginning of the shift.

In the spring, farm work can't wait, but the operator who takes [illegible] by working [illegible] a [illegible] of exhaustion is inviting a [illegible] which can kill or cripple him.

Numerous examples could be cited of farmers whose good judgment would normally prevent foolish actions but who, tired and anxious to get their land prepared, have dragged a tiller into a soft spot; then, in trying to get out, have back-flipped the tractor and died under it.

Yes, tractors back-flip and [illegible] tip and run over man who fall off [illegible]

They back over children, entangle people in moving parts and go out of control in road gear, but they don't do these things unless their operators have become careless. No man in charge of a tractor can afford to become careless ... even for a second."

Salvation Army Meets Human Need

When metropolitan papers carry headlines of calamitous fires and you wonder in a helpless sort of way what those affected will do, it is encouraging to remember that Salvation Army Welfare Officers would also be there helping in a way you would like help to be rendered.

Nearly all domestic housing conflagrations occur in the early hours of the morning. Victims are dazed, often injured and burned, children are crying. Blackened, water-soaked or ice-caked ruins complete a hopeless outlook. Well, not quite hopeless when social agencies set in motion helpful organization.

Shelter must be obtained. Neighbors may accommodate the burned-out families or, at least, the children who are not hospitalized but often victims are taken by station-wagon to temporary housing provided by the Salvation Army until more permanent accommodation can be secured. Food is required. In one instance a group had to be taken to a near-by Salvation Army hall, where the Corps Officer and his wife made breakfast for twenty-three persons.

Most fire victims lose their clothes. In winter, this is serious. Again, the Army comes to the rescue. Shopping for fire victims during the cold season is a time-consuming necessity, and hundreds of dollars are expended for warm clothing.

When families find a few rooms in which they can begin life over again, The Salvation Army is there [illegible] provide furniture. Essentials only are given, but how necessary these are, and how gratefully they are received.

In your stead The Salvation Army meets human need. Make sure you help them during the current Red Shield Appeal.

Spring Tonic Time For The Soil

There is more to having a beautiful garden than simply planting flowers. Good soil is a pre-requisite.

Just as people need to be fed, so must the soil. It isn't too soon now to begin giving the soil its spring tonic. In fact, the first feeding should take place when the ground is still frozen ... perhaps after a spring snowfall. Then, as the ground thaws and becomes soft, the food will work its way into the soil.

Before any planting in the garden is done a fertilizer such as "Gardenite" should be spread over the soil. If there are perennials in the garden the fertilizer can be spread as soon as the soil is dry and then worked in lightly with a hoe.

Approximately three pounds of fertilizer for each 100 square feet is the suggested amount for the garden area.

This same fertilizer can be sprinkled over the lawn, making sure the application is uniform, at the rate of two pounds for every 100 square feet. This will ensure a healthy lawn as a setting for your flower bed.

Weekly Newspaper Editor Heads Prov. Publications Branch

Organization changes and staff appointments were announced today by Hon. A. Russell Patrick, Minister of Economic Affairs.

Mr. Patrick said three distinct branches have been established to specialize in publications, advertising and public relations in his department.

The new publications branch will be headed by Harold E. Martin, publisher of the Westlock Witness. As director, he will be assisted by Ken MacCrimmon and Doris Bryenton, who are both members of the present publicity staff. A new appointee is Robert E. Swenarchuk, who has been an information writer with the Saskatchewan Government.

Ronald D. McLean will continue as public relations officer and E. B. Bryant, formerly director of publicity, will now assume supervision of government advertising in all media radio and television, newspapers and periodicals, billboards, displays and other outlets.

Mr. Patrick said the publicity and public relations offices have been moved from their former locations to new locations on the fourth and fifth floors of the legislative building. The publications branch will be opened on the fifth floor, and the community recreation branch will also move there from its present location in the Alberta Block.

Mr. Martin, the Publications Director served during the war as an Army public relations officer with the rank of lieutenant. He has a background of reporting and editorial experience with the Calgary Albertan, Victoria Colonist, Sudbury Star, Saskatoon Star-Phoenix and the Miami (Florida) News.

His new assistant, Robert Swenarchuk, has been with the Saskatchewan Government since last December. He worked previous to that on Saskatchewan weeklies.

The new appointees commence their duties May 7.

Chrysler's Sales Continue To Gain

WINDSOR. — Chrysler Corporation of Canada, Limited reported on Monday its 15th consecutive month of increased passenger car sales in Canada.

New car registrations during the month of March, according to E. C. Row, president and general manager, represented an increase of 18.8% over the same period in 1955. For the industry as a whole in Canada, the increase was 3.9%.

During March, Mr. Row revealed, 30.8% of all new cars registered with government licensing agencies in Canada were Chrysler of Canada products.

For the first quarter of 1956 the company's registrations increased by 17.2% over the Jan.-March period of 1955. This compares with a general industry decline in Canada of 0.9%. Sales of Plymouth, Dodge, DeSoto and Chrysler automobiles amounted to 23% of the industry total during the three months.

"GREEN ACRES"

TREATING SEED GRAIN

It is important to treat seed to kill smut and seedling diseases. It says on the container what the chemical will do. Be sure that the company claims to kill seedling blight and root [illegible]. Wheat should be treated 24 hours before seeding and barley and oats at least one week. Whatever you do don't use formalin.

[illegible] FINE

Anyone selling grain treated with mercury dusts is liable to a fine of $500.00. Sometimes the least little bit of infected grain may get into a carload. The whole car must be thrown away. Everyone should be very careful in handling treated grain.

LIGHTNING RODS

Everyone knows that lightning rods are good protectors against fire. Very few farm buildings in this area are protected from lightning. It is certainly advisable to do so. See your hardware store manager for prices etc.

ONION MAGGOT CONTROL

Every year dozens of good onion crops are spoiled by onion maggots. Before the seed is sown or onion sets are planted, dust the row six inches wide with aldrin and rake it into the surface soil. Plant the seed or onions along the center of the strip. The rows can be dusted every two weeks or so if you want to be sure of killing the maggots before they can get into the onions' roots.

[illegible] SAFE

Some people seem to think that 2,4-D reduces the yield of grain crops at the same time it kills the weeds. Experiments have proved that at ordinary rates as recommended there is very little crop loss from the use of 2,4-D or M.C.P. It is important however, to apply these chemicals at the right stage of growth to kill the weeds and not affect the crop.

FERTILIZER FOR THE GARDEN

At last we have a circular dealing with garden soils and fertilizers. It was written by Dr. D. F. Bentley of the University of Alberta Soils Department. Dr. Bentley is a brother of N. N. Bentley, Principal of the Vermilion School of Agriculture. You can get a copy of this bulletin from my office.

FORM WILDMERE W. A.

While there he formed the Wildmere United Church W.A. with Mrs. Holte president, Mrs. J. Wilson vice-president and Mrs. Roy Dibben secretary-treasurer. Mrs. MacKay gave a talk on the work of the W.A., stressing the devotional part, and not to put too much emphasis on money making. The meeting closed with a prayer. Mrs. Gibson served a tasty lunch and a nice visit was enjoyed over the tea cups.

Friday evening the Wildmere curlers held their annual banquet at Basswood community hall with a nice attendance. Everyone found plenty of good eats. After supper the curling club president, Mr. Geo. Harrison was M.C. and called on several for welcome addresses, also the skips of the eight rinks. Skip Ian Clark and his rink members George Riley, Johnny King and Alf Fadden was the top rink for the season. Other skips were Arthur Lysons, Kaare Seite of Tolland, George Harrison o Battleview, Albert Smith of Basswood, Cliff and Gary Cruthers of Wildmere, last but not least Mrs. J. Wilson who skipped the only all ladies rink. A short program followed the speeches and a dance wound up the enjoyable evening. All departed for home dreaming of the 1957 curlers banquet. Before beginning to paint, make sure that the paint you will use is properly mixed — that the pigments and liquids are thoroughly combined. To mix the paint, pour about nine-tenths of the contents of the can into an empty container, perhaps an old coffee tin — then thoroughly stir the material left in the can. Now pour back some of the liquid and stir again. Continue pouring and mixing until the entire mixture is in one container. Then, to make doubly sure that it is thoroughly mixed, pour the paint back and forth from one container to the other half a dozen times.

Many thousands of Canadian churchgoers have seen the 35 mm. version of the "LIFE OF MARTIN LUTHER" in the larger theatres throughout the Dominion during the past year. This magnificent feature film is now being exhibited in churches and church halls in the 16 mm. version—an exact duplicate of the theatre prints and it will be shown on Wednesday May 9th and Thursday May 10th at the United church at 8:00 p.m.

"Martin Luther", a full-length feature film with a running time of 103 minutes, was produced by Louis de Rochemont Associates in cooperation with Lutheran Church Productions, Inc., on location in the towns, castles and churches of West Germany. It is the story of the work of a man, Martin Luther, his efforts to reform, his excommunication, and the developments that led to the origin and growth of the Protestant Movement. Careful research of European and American documents of Roman Catholic and Protestant writers formed the basis for the script. Much of the dialogue was culled from historic documents. For dramatic structure and purpose, dialogue, sermon material, and a few characters in the authentic story were telescoped.

Fear of sin and God's judgment struck terror in Martin Luther's heart. So, like many others in the 16th century, the young law student in Erfurt, Germany, sought shelter in a monastery. As an Augustinian monk, Luther tried to find peace of mind and soul through study, work, worship, and confession. But he soon came to the conclusion that, no matter what he did, he was not able to escape the fear of evil and punishment.

One day in his tower room in Wittenberg University, he found his answer . . . and he says, "It was like the gates of heaven opened to me." Reading St. Paul's Epistle to the Romans 1:17, he came to this conclusion: "A man can't earn salvation by what he himself does. Man gains salvation through faith in Christ, through what God has done for man through his Saviour."

A freewill offering will be taken in order to assist in paying for the heavy expenses. The public are invited.

NEWS from LANDONVILLE

Landonville is slowly crawling out of its winter hibernation, like an angry old bear. Roads have been tough, the mail didn't get out or in for awhile, and the school busses didn't run for months on end.

Right now things are looking better. Mail has arrived twice in a row, the school busses are going, and the robins are singing. A few pessimists are still expecting a big storm but most of us really believe spring is here.

The school nurse braved the Landonville roads and came up last Thursday. She has been the first person to visit the school since early last fall. Her friendly attitude and cheerful smile left us with no doubt that spring was here at last. The children sure thought she was wonderful and are waiting for her to come back in the near future to complete her examination.

Mr. Emil Wysocki and his wife have been visiting in the district. Mr. Wysocki taught at Northern Star last year and is now principal of the Tulliby Lake school.

The Glovitskis and Nettlesons motored to Fabyan over the week end to visit Mrs. Glovitski's daughter.

The Louise Lake trustees called a special meeting last Thursday night and about 42 ratepayers were in attendance at the meeting which lasted for four hours. At the end of that time a petition was signed to keep the Louise Lake school where it is for another two years. The trustees were to present the petition to the Divisional Board on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom [illegible] will be leaving their farm for Calgary in the coming month. They are now in the process of packing. Beverly and Audrey will remain until the end of the school term and will join their parents in Calgary early in July.

The spring run-off cut the school off from the main road a number of times but Mr. George Butz and Mike Ostachuk managed to get the school children through. Some were even carried across. Many of the yards and houses in the district were flooded. Mr. Phillip Lewall, Mr. Heinemann, Mr. Tolers and Mr. Paul Wasylishen spent a few worried days and nights as water crept towards their houses.

Mr. Mike Ostachuk was considered lucky. While he was away picking up the children at school the water rose to within four feet of his house. After three or four hours of back-breaking work with the help of neighbors the water was diverted and the house saved.

The Louise Lake Social club will hold its regular meeting in the Louise Lake school on Friday, May 11th. We're not sure what the entertainment committee has in store — they are keeping it a secret.

Dennis Yorath, General Manager of Northwestern Utilities, Limited since 1949 now becomes President of that Company as well as its Calgary associate, Canadian Western Natural Gas Company Limited, following an announcement by Mr. H. R. Milner, Chairman of these Companies.

Yorath, who joined Northwestern Utilities, Limited and served as its President from 1924 to 1932 and as President of Canadian Western Natural Gas Company Limited from 1925 to 1932.

Rummage sale and afternoon tea on Saturday, May 19 for the rest room and library, sponsored by the W.I.'s and library.

A number of local hockey enthusiasts motored to Edmonton on Friday night last to see the game between Winnipeg and Montreal.

Miss Shirley Gamble spent the week end with her parents Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Gamble.

Twelve members of the Happy Hour W. A. of Christ Church journeyed to Vermilion on Thursday and spent a very pleasant evening as guests of the Happy Hour group of St. Saviour's.

The music recital which was to have been held by the pupils of Miss Donna McCauley on Saturday May 5th has been postponed until further notice.

Gerhart Brothers are leaving this week for Banff where they have to accomplish a great deal of work before the holiday season commences. They are putting on a double shift in order to complete the work. Several local truckers will be working with them.

Mrs. G. Whitson is a patient in the local hospital as is James Croft. Both are reported as improved at time of writing.

Misses Ilene McDonald and Lily Anne Allan are practising teaching in the Mannville school.

Mr. Stuart Little of Vegreville is replacing Miss Nelson on the high school staff. Miss Nelson is leaving to teach in India.

The M.D. of Minburn has been endeavoring to make the road to the steel bridge more passable. Gerhart Brothers have been hauling rock and gravel to fill in the holes left by the flood waters, but it is still rough and until danger of flooding is past, there is not much that can be done. The busses are still operating on both sides of the river and are managing to get the children to school.

Somewhere between here and California there must be a great "buzzing". The truck bringing the bees from California to Edmonton was upset en route so beekeepers here will not have their bees quite on time this year.

Mannville and district was saddened by the news Tuesday morning of the death of Dave McCauley of Lloydminster. Although living in Lloyd for the past number of years, Dave was still a frequent visitor in town and always had time to chat with friends. Our deepest sympathy is extended to Mrs. McCauley and family. For many years Dave was an ardent fan and supporter of the Mannville soft ball team and helped keep up the interest in sports.

Miss Shirley McFadden of Lloydminster spent a few days last week with her mother.

Mr. Bruce Bennett has accepted a position with Peack and Co. of Edmonton. Replacing him at Probstfoot and Coxfords will be Mr. Jack Gollage who was formerly with the M.D. of Minburn.

Miss Louise McCallum was a caller in Mannville with friends and relatives last week. Miss McCallum is on furlough from matron's duties at the Elk Point hospital. She has just returned from a trip to Honolulu.

Mrs. McPhee has returned home this week after spending several months with her daugher and family at Peace River. She is very glad to be home again and before she left, the great river obliged and she was able to see the break-up of the mighty Peace.

New Paint For Marking Highways

Summer and holidays are just around the corner. Millions of cars will be travelling our highways and too many of them will be involved in accidents.

Highway experts are constantly at work to discover new ways of preventing many of these accidents. They have taken out dangerous curves on roads, widened highways to cope with heavier traffic and carefully marked curves and no passing areas.

Helping ensure the safety of the motorists is the paint industry whose chemists are busy developing new and better paints for marking the highways, paints which are easily distinguished in rain or shine in daytime or night time.

Paints used to mark the danger points or direction must be eye-catching instantly. One of the newest developments in this line is a white paint studded with special glass beads about the size of salt grains — the largest particles ever used are the size of granulated sugar. These glass beads are mixed with white paint which is used to mark the centre line on highways. As the headlights of cars hit the glass particles the light is reflected, making it easier to see the lines at night.

In some places the white centre line paint is used as a warning device for bad curves on highways. White lines painted at the outer edge of the road call attention to places where the edge of the paving is rough and the road shoulder beyond is dangerous.

All these warning devices are there to help the motorist. A great deal of time and study by many people has gone into developing them. Obey them and have a happy holiday!

MARWAYNE

MARWAYNE. — At the last monthly executive board meeting of the Marwayne Tabernacle the important decision was made to change the schedule of services. Commencing May 6 Sunday school will be at 10:30 a.m.; morning worship at 11:30 and Evening Evangelistic service at 7:30.

In the morning service on May 6 there will be a dedication of babies; in the evening the pastor will speak on the "Man with Ten Legs". It is anticipated that the Tabernacle choir will be singing for the Sunday evening services.

On Wednesday May 16th at 8 p.m. the Easton Bible School choir under the leadership of Rev. Marshall will be at the Tabernacle for an inspiring service.

Coming in the month of May will be the Martin Luther film. Watch for the date.

Al were thrilled with the installation of a beautiful new piano by the young people of the church. Its rich vibrant tones will be an added inspiration in the singing at all services and music nights.

Anyone with problems, need of prayer or consultation are invited to phone the pastor, Rev. M. R. Johnson, 31 Marwayne, or to contact him at any hour of the day or night.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

by W. G. MALAHER, Director, Research Department, MAPLE GRAIN COMPANY, LIMITED

STABILITY IN PRICE AND PURCHASING POWER

Since the end of the war, or more particularly during the seven year period 1945-46 to 1952-53, when the price of No. 1 Northern wheat basis in store Fort William averaged close to $1.83 per bushel the monetary returns to the farmer were remarkably stable. But this stability was perhaps deceptive for during the same period there was a steady rise in the official index that reflects the living and production costs of the prairie farmer. This of course, meant a corresponding drop in the purchasing power of a bushel of wheat.

In 1945-46, for instance, the purchasing power of a bushel of wheat, based upon the index referred to, was $1.2[illegible]. Seven years later in 1952-53 the purchasing power of a bushel had declined to 81c and with lower returns for wheat during the past two years, this decline has extended even further until today it stands at approximately 70c or little more than half of what it was immediately after the War.

It is clear from these figures that the maintenance of prices at a fairly constant level, stability in price, has not itself provided producers with the much desired stability in purchasing power. A better relationship between the two could come about in one of several ways. The most obvious is an increase in the price of wheat which, unfortunately, is beyond our control since the true value of any article of commerce is the price at which it will sell. Likewise a reduction in the cost of goods and services which the farmer uses, should it occur, would tend to restore a higher purchasing power to the dollar value received for each bushel of wheat.

R.C.A.F. Concert Is Greatly Enjoyed

Vermilion and district people were especially privileged to hear a concert rendered by the R.C.A.F. band from Edmonton last Tuesday night in the V.S.A. auditorium. Following the numbers, many people were heard to marvel at the manner in which 43 instruments could be blended so perfectly. The program was comprised of fourteen numbers, giving the band a wide field in which to display their dexterity. The program was designed to please all and it certainly accomplished its purpose.

Following the last number, Mr. Don Taylor, chairman of the Civilian Committee of the Vermilion Air Cadets, expressed the pleasure of all at the splendid concert, and the satisfaction felt by Vermilion people in having such a justly famous band come to town.

The band appeared here under the auspices of the Vermilion No. 97 Squadron Air Cadets.

Following the concert, which was not overly well attended, an orchestra from the band played to dance in the armories. The dance drew a big crowd, and as one young lady was heard to remark, "Never before have we had such music!"

Trower To Alberta For CBC Farm Show

A man whose voice and face have become quite familiar during the past two years on farm programs on both radio and television . . . Jack Trower . . . has taken over in Edmonton as CBC farm commentator for Alberta.

Jack Trower, as farm commentator for Manitoba, has been heard regularly on the daily CBC FARM BROADCAST each noon-hour on CBW. Latterly he has been preparing and appearing on the CBC television farm program COUNTRY CALENDAR on CBWT each Sunday. (COUNTRY CALENDAR is seen on all television stations on the prairies.)

Jack Trower is a native of Manitoba. He got his first taste of agriculture on his father's farm in West St. Paul, just north of Winnipeg. He served as a radar technician in the R. C. A. F. in England and North Africa. Subsequently he graduated in agriculture at the University of Manitoba and took a Master's degree in agricultural economics at the University of Maryland.

Lloydminster Bull Sale May 28 & 29

The Lloydminster Bull sale, May 28 and 29, has a record entry of 260 animals. This sale has been growing in popularity throughout the years. Most of the better breeders of Eastern Alberta and Western Saskatchewan are represented in the list of contributors.

The sale has always been a one day event. The bulls were judged in the morning and sold that afternoon. This year, due to the large entry, the judging will be on Monday, May 28th at 3:00 p.m. and the sale will begin at 9:00 a.m. on Tuesday, May 29th.

The bulls offered at this sale are subject to a strict veterinary examination, have passed a rigid culling inspection and are tested for Bangs and T.B. You can buy with confidence at this event. Ranchmen, farmers and breeders return to Lloydminster year after year to purchase bulls.

The sale will be cried by two well known livestock auctioneers, Jock Blacklock, Saskatoon and Archie Boice, Olds, Alberta. The ribbons will be placed by Charles Yule, Calgary. 43-4

OBEDIENCE

HOW CAN I TEACH MY CHILD TO DO WHAT HE IS TOLD?

This is the question most frequently asked by parents about the training of a child. No one of them expects the answer to be simple and each of them knows that any method must be followed day in and day out, week in and week out, if it is to be effective. With this in mind the following suggestions are offered as a means of achieving obedience.

1. Expect the child to obey—When you ask your child to do something, behave as if you expect him to obey. Never let him get the impression that you expect him to do otherwise. If you expect co-operation you are more likely to get it.

2. Make few demands. Make as few demands as possible but be sure that they are carried out by the child. Children should be trained to obey and to be of help but this can be achieved without giving orders continually.

3. Mean what you say—Always see that the child does what he is told. If you ask him to do something and then do not bother to see that it is done, he will soon get into the habit of paying you no attention.

4. Have the same general rules from day to day. Nothing makes it so difficult for a child to learn good habits as to be faced with demands which change from day to day. If you are lax with your child one day and strict the next he is confused and in consequence becomes more difficult to handle.

5. Keep your temper. The surest way to make a child 'balky' or sullen is to lose your temper. Either he will lose his temper too, or he will learn to hold a grudge.

6. "More flies are caught with honey". Try not to order your child to do things, ask him. Not only do you get more done by using this approach but you help the child to learn the habits of cooperation. By ordering him you are apt to "get his back up."

7. Avoid bribery and coaxing. Do not bribe or coax your child to do things. Don't say: "I'll give you a nickel if you will go to the store for me." This is bad because the child should learn that running errands is his own contribution to the well-being of the household. Remember, also, that if you use bribery of this kind he will soon realize he can bargain with you. The "coaxing" method, "Do this for mother's sake" is an admission of weakness and is an unfair appeal to the child's sympathy. He will soon tire of it.

8. Give the child suitable duties—From a very early age a child should be asked to undertake certain duties. For example, he should be trained to put away his toys as soon as he is finished playing. In this way he will develop a habit of responsibility which will make it easier for him to cooperate in more important duties as he grows older.

NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH — by Arnold

Greenlawn Good-Will Club

The Greenlawn Goodwill club held the April meeting at the home of Mrs. Walter Jones on April 19th. There were seven ladies present, many others being unable to attend owing to the spring floods.

Mrs. Bob Gray and Mrs. Gordon Blacklock left their Volkswagen at home on account of so much water and came via team and wagon with Bob Gray as chauffeur, picking up Mrs. George Lumley and Mrs. Louis Lumley enroute to the meeting.

Mrs. Roy Jones and Mrs. Max Maddex arrived by car having safely navigated several inundated places on the road.

The meeting was short as there was no new business to discuss. The secretary distributed some Aldrin to the ladies. This was purchased through the club and is a chemical used to put in the row when you sow your onions to keep the maggots out of the plants.

After adjournment a very nice lunch was served by the hostess.

The hostess very kindly invited Bob Gray, Roy Jones, George Lumley and Walter Jones, who were butchering a pig, in to have lunch with the ladies.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Bill Holman.

MORE JOBS

Spring came early to Canada's labor markets this year, reports The Financial Post.

As the temperature rises so does the number of job opportunities.

This year, the labor force began to expand about a month earlier than usual. Only 5.3% of the labor force was seeking jobs in March—lowest March ratio in three years.

That could be an indication of a shortage of labor this summer. There's bound to be competition for workers, if only to meet the 21% increase in capital expenditures (1956 vs. 1955) disclosed in a recent Trade and Commerce survey.

News of Paradise Valley and District

Spring of 1956 Has '07 Backed Off The Map, Says Correspondent

We have to go way back to 1907 to find a spring much like we are having in 1956. Our first spring in 1906 was wonderful and we thought that Alberta was a grand country. However during that summer we began to wonder. The terrific hordes of mosquitoes that descended on us was enough to drive a person to distraction, then winter came and we considered it nice and warm when it was 20 below—then spring forgot to arrive until May. Our opinion of Alberta had changed but being broke made it impossible to change location so we have been looking ahead to "Next Year" ever since, but 1956 with a mark of 7 below has 1907 backed off the record list in our estimation.

Mr and Mrs William Ringland and family have moved back to Lone Rock. Mr George Armishaw left for Bashaw on Wednesday to take over the management of the Imperial Lumber Company plant there. He will move the family as soon as the ban is lifted on the roads. Mr Nick Fedorak is in charge of the Imperial's store and lumber yard at this point.

Mrs. W A. Gunn entertained a number of ladies on Friday afternoon at which Mrs. George Armishaw was special guest. Everyone expressed regret at Mrs Armishaw leaving our town but extended best wishes for the future for Mrs Armishaw.

NEW HALL AND THEATRE

The Hall committee has been busy during the past week in regard to the building of the new hall and theatre. We certainly have missed a hall for meetings, dances and other public events. We do not need to mention what the burning of the theatre meant to our town and Jack Hawkes' shows. No cars in town on Saturday night while when the theatre was operating it was hard to get a parking place. We hope that the committee will be able to make arrangements to have the work started soon. They have a big job on their hands and should receive the whole-hearted support of everyone. It means a lot to our district and town.

Messrs. Herb Foxwell, Fred Brassington, Joe Mayo and Eric Flint made the trip to Edmonton on Thursday night to see the Moore-Andrews fight.

We are sorry to hear that both Mr and Mrs. W. P. Davidson are on the sick list. Mr Davidson runs the big municipal grader for this division.

Mr and Mrs. William Vice, Judy and Linda are visiting with Mr Vice's brother and sister-in-law Mr. and Mrs. L. Vice in town.

Mr Dale Conarroe and Mr Art Swayne arrived home from Edmonton during the week. They were attending the University of Alberta for the past term.

Mr Paul Paulgard of Edmonton was down for a few days making arrangements for his sale of farm equipment which is being held on Thursday of this week.

Don't always stay behind the camera. Have someone snap you at work on your hobby.

Picture Your Hobbies

Once the very learned physician, Sir William Osler, observed: "No man is really happy or safe without a hobby . . . Botany, beetles or butterflies — anything will do so long as he straddles a hobby and rides it hard."

And so we thought it appropriate today to discuss how your camera can complement all your hobby interests.

For the hobbyist who collects shells, buttons, matchfolders, dolls, guns, stamps, glass animals, china and the like, a picture record of his collection can be a double source of enjoyment.

Because many of the items to be pictured are comparatively small ones, you'll have to figure on shooting from fairly close distances. With a box-type or fixed-focus camera you can only come within six feet of your subject. Should the item seem lost in the middle of your viewfinder at this distance, you'll need to add an inexpensive close-up attachment to your camera. Then you'll have no difficulty in shooting as close as three and a half feet.

Since this kind of picture taking is usually done indoors, some source of artificial light will be necessary. The simplest answer is a synchronized flash attachment which fits right onto your camera and eliminates the need for setting up lights. Today's cameras are equipped to handle this neatly — and there's no guesswork — for as you snap the shutter it automatically flashes the bulb at precisely the right instant.

Of course, there are some hobbies that couldn't ever have become "collecting" hobbies at all without a camera. For example, if you're interested in old automobile models, aircraft, railroad engines, bridges, statues or architecture, your subjects would be practically impossible to collect except on film. But with a camera in hand, you can have an impressive "collection" of any of these items without acres of space or vast sums of money!

Dear Mr. Cooper:

Once again the Red Cross campaign month of March has passed and once more it is time to write to you to thank you for the generous support and co-operation you have given the Society. To say "we appreciate" your kindness is a most inadequate way of expressing the way we feel . . . for it is through your assistance that the people of your district rallied around to support Red Cross.

We do thank you most sincerely, for your help, and hope that throughout the coming years the Society will continue to merit your support.

Civil Defence — Local Responsibility

Most of the operational details—the transfer of plans into hard work and sweat—fall on the shoulders of the municipalities. The federal and provincial levels of governments must provide the plan; only the people can carry it out. And the local government—the mayor or reeve and his councillors—are the officials in closest contact with the people.

The threat of disaster, whether from any enemy attacking with H-bombs or from flood, hurricane, or fire, makes the need of an organization in every community capable of minimizing the effects of disaster obviously important. This can be set up only by each community, for only a community's inhabitants can assess how its facilities, its lay of the land and so on may best be used to protect itself from the dangers an enemy attack would bring.

The first thing any organization needs is direction. So the initial step a community must take toward a civil defence organization is to set up a control committee, with possibly the mayor or reeve as chairman. It must provide the guidance for citizens willing to help make the C. D. plan work.

To direct the plans developed by the committee, a civil defence director must be appointed. He would be a fulltime or parttime official or volunteer depending on the size of the community. His duties, of course, would be as varied as the needs of a city compared with a town, a town compared to a village.

Most Canadian towns and villages fall into two categories for civil defence purposes: Mutual Aid Areas or Mobile Support and Reception Areas. The Mutual Aid Area is the region around a Target Area—usually the large cities—whose communities are organized to provide help where needed when disaster strikes. The Mobile Support and Reception Area is outside the Mutual Aid Area and is organized to receive long-term evacuees and casualties and to send help to a Target Area.

A community's C. D. plan would be determined, therefore, by the area-classification under which it falls. To develop its plan, a community should form a Civil Defence Planning Committee. Its members would include heads of each civic government department concerned with civil defence, persons representing transportation, industry, labor, the police and fire chiefs, the town engineer, the medical officer of health. The C. D. director would be chairman.

Officials of churches, service clubs, welfare agencies and so on also may be included on the committee. In short, anyone who can help organize the community's facilities for whatever purpose disaster will require of them, whether for emergency feeding, shelter, first-aid, even to baby-sit for children separated from their parents.

The community civil defence director and his staff must make surveys of the resources available. they must know the condition of roads, the amount of sleeping space available for evacuees from bombed cities, the food supplies available. Could their community provide emergency water supplies for another town? Could they provide fire-fighting equipment? How much hospital space has the community? How many doctors? How many nurses? Where can they be reached?

The C. D. director and his organization must keep in touch with civil defence officials in neighboring communities so that their efforts can be coordinated in time of disaster.

Just as the federal and provincial C. D. organizations aim at using all existing agencies to meet disaster, supplementing them with volunteers, so should the community organization. Most civil defence organizations are broken down into these services: headquarters, fire, police, health, welfare, warden, engineering and public utility restoration, rescue and ambulance.

Every community has the nucleus of these services already in existence. The purpose, therefore, of the community civil defence organization is to provide direction for existing services and to expand them through recruiting and training of volunteers.

The importance of the volunteers—the storekeeper, service station operator, farmer, housewife—can hardly be exaggerated. For the call on each C. D. service will increase in direct proportion to the scale of whatever disaster may come.

The cobalt bomb which was developed by Canadian scientists is proving to be a most useful tool in the radiation treatment of small deep-seated cancers, officials of the Canadian Cancer Society announce. The Society provides money for further experimentation with the cobalt unit and for training of radiologists to use it.

GREYHOUND

REPORT TO THE PEOPLE

By James A. Smith, M.P.

For Battle River—Camrose Federal Constituency

The evening of April 19th saw the close of the debate on the 1956 budget. This was an interesting debate which saw opposition members severely criticizing the details of the budget and government supporters avidly defending it. I do feel that the budget failed miserably in that it did not offer any relief to those in the middle or lower income brackets. The sales tax remains the same, the income tax requirements are unchanged, no relief at all for our senior citizens who have to depend upon the Old Age Security Act for their livelihood. The budget was picturesquely described by such phrases as—"Stand pat", "Do nothing", and so forth. All we can do is to wait for another year and hope that what will be presented at that time will be far more attractive. If 1957 should prove to be an election year the Government will very likely be very generous to all concerned.

TRADE AGREEMENT WITH RUSSIA

Another piece of legislation which was approved by Parliament was the Trade Agreement between Canada and the Government of the USSR which was signed on February 29, 1956. This bill was presented to Parliament on April 18th and stated: "That it is expedient that the houses of parliament approve the ratification by Canada and the Union of Soviet Socialistic Republic, signed at Ottawa on February 29th, 1956, and that this house do approve the same."

STRAIGHT BUSINESS DEAL

We looked upon this agreement as a straight business deal and as one which was an advantage to both parties concerned. Under the agreement each party accords the other unconditionally most-favored-nation treatment. However, article 7 of the agreement provides that this agreement would in no way interfere with the exclusive advantages accorded by Canada to other British Commonwealth nations. In addition, certain reservations were made by Canada to prevent serious injury to her domestic producers. It does mean that we now have a new market for over forty million bushels of wheat for which we will receive Canadian or U. S. dollars.

This agreement was supported by all parties in the house. However certain fears and doubts were expressed. I was very much impressed by the remarks of one Member who closed his speech by stating the following: "We believe that Canada should try, in the world today, to be friendly and at the same time to be vigilant, to be realistic, to keep our guard up and to keep our powder dry".

On Tuesday, April 24th, we were asked to consider a resolution which dealt with regulations for the control of Transport of Goods in bulk. This gave us an opportunity to express our thoughts regarding the movement of grain. In discussing this resolution, I pointed out that this whole matter had been one of confusion for several years and asked that much closer liaison be established between the Department of Transport, the Department of Trade and Commerce and the Canadian Wheat Board. I do hope steps will be taken in the very near future to make certain that the box car situation as it existed last year will not be repeated again. The time to move grain from the farms to the elevator is when the roads are good, not when they are impassable. There is very little to be gained through pointing out that there is room for so many thousand bushels in the local elevator when it is impossible for the trucks to get into the granaries. We will pursue the problem further when the bill is brought before the House.

Wandering Farther

According to a recent survey, more and more Canadians are broadening their travel horizons and visiting the most remote corners of the globe, reports The Financial Post.

Europe and the Caribbean are the most popular destinations, with South America rapidly gaining in favor. But Canadians are travelling on pleasure or business to such places as the Canton Islands, Liberia, the Gold Coast, the Azores and even Iceland as regular ports of call, not just stopovers.

VANISHING HORSE

The farm horse is disappearing from the Canadian scene at the rate of 50,000-60,000 animals a year. But, says The Financial Post, he is becoming more valuable. Dobbins were worth an average $73 a head in '54, but $91 last year. Our current horse population: 801,000, most in Saskatchewan (306,000) and Quebec 195,000).

Alberta Is On The Threshold Of Producer-Controlled Marketing Boards

EDMONTON — Alberta may be on the threshold of its first experiment with producer-controlled marketing boards. At this point, no one knows how far it will go.

The Alberta Poultry Federation and the Alberta Federation of Agriculture have drawn up an egg marketing board plan for submission to the provincial government. There was a possibility it might be presented this week to Premier Manning, Agriculture Minister L. C. Halmrast and other cabinet ministers.

Roy C Marler, president of the AFA, says the plan calls for a province-wide board to market eggs. He estimates that as many as 60,000 producers may be involved.

But before anything is done the AFA officials and the government must iron out some administrative details. As yet, no regulations have been drawn up under the controversial marketing board bill passed during the special session of the legislature last summer.

For example, how many eggs must a man market to be regarded as a qualified producer and be permitted to vote for or against a marketing board? This is one of the questions which will have to be answered before action can be taken.

Under the procedure outlined in the bill a plan must first be submitted to the cabinet. If the cabinet approves the plan, the government can order a plebiscite vote among eligible producers. If 51% of the eligible producers vote in favor, a marketing board is established.

Mr Marler says the AFA has doubts whether it can gain enough support from 51% of the poultry producers to make them get out and vote in favor. But if the matter does come to a vote, it should provide an indication of how Alberta farmers feel towards marketing boards.

During the special session of the house last year, the AFAS fought vigorously to have the voting restrictions relaxed. They asked that the bill require a two-thirds majority of those who actually turn out and vote rather than a majority of all those eligible to vote.

Their argument was that civic and provincial elections prove too many citizens can't be bothered voting. They felt it unfair that a man could help defeat a marketing board by simply staying at home.

Executives of the AFA feel an actual test case may prove their point. If the poultry board reaches a vote and is defeated by a small majority, you can expect the AFA to renew its demands for easier voting requirements.

The vote also may provide a clearer answer to the question of whether Alberta farmers actually want to control their own marketing boards. Many members of the legislature claimed the AFA and the Farmers Union of Alberta had failed to prove the existence of popular demand.

In the legislature, the bill started a controversy which split through party lines. A few members on both sides opposed it, mainly because of certain compulsory features.

Once a marketing board is set up it would have wide powers. Even producers who vote against a board would have to market their produce through the board if the majority voted for it. A board also could control prices, require persons engaged in marketing to purchase licenses and seize produce in the event of violation.

A few Social Credit members, voicing characteristic disapproval of compulsion, were bitterly opposed to the idea of a dissenting minority being forced into a compulsory marketing board just because the majority wanted it.

AFA AND FUA PRESS FOR MARKETING BILL

The government maintained the view that because of pressure from farm groups, it felt obligated to provide enabling legislation similar to that in effect in other provinces. For several years, the AFA and FUA had been pressing for a marketing bill.

Some of the questions which raged around the issue may be answered if and when the proposed egg marketing board goes to a province-wide vote.

Although Mr. Marler and his executives don't hold out much hope for success, they are looking for more ammunition to throw at the government in an effort to get a marketing bill more to their liking. "We can't go back to them at least until we give it a try," he said. "So that's what we're going to do."

Trees Shipped

According to Peter D. McCalla, Alberta's Supervisor of Horticulture, close to two million trees are being expressed to over 2000 farmers in Alberta this week. The trees are coming from the Provincial nurseries at Brooks and Oliver and the Forest Nursery Station at Indian Head, Sask.

It is important to get trees and shrubs into the soil immediately. Sometimes, however, it is impossible to plant trees in their permanent position as soon as they arrive. In such cases, Mr McCalla advises undoing the bundles on arrival and placing the trees or cuttings in a trench on the shady north side of a building. The roots should be covered and packed with moist soil (cuttings completely buried). They should be moved to their permanent places before the trees leaf out.

For permanent planting good top soil should be packed firmly around the roots of the trees and then they should be watered. Cuttings should be planted at an angle of 45 degrees or resting against the side of the furrow with one bud left above the ground. It is advisable to plant cuttings in moist soil, and like trees, they should be watered immediately after planting.

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT PRINTING

It is positively amazing to watch the way this country is being propagandized by government. First radio, then TV [illegible] instruments to "educate" the people. Soon scores of newsmen began to receive large fees from government coffers. Magazine editors and writers were enlisted to comment "impartially" on national affairs—under the auspices of a [illegible] agency. And now the Federal Government has gone into print in a big and costly way.

Over in Hull, handy to the politicians, the Liberal government bought property for their new National Printing Bureau. They paid $364,991 for the property and another $130,000 to landscape it. The new [illegible] has cost [illegible] $12,035,000 on top of that, and they still have to buy printing equipment. What do you think we taxpayers will get out of all this? Let me tell you.

In bolder type on fancier paper we'll [illegible] such pamphlets as "The Germination of Cottonseed", "The Pointed Skins", [illegible], "The Diatoms of Canada", "Discipline How Can I Correct My Child's Bad Habits?", "Sports and Athletics in Other Countries", and thousands more. The Canadian Government Publications Catalogue, back in 1953 [illegible] volume of 878 pages. When the new plant gets [illegible], only the [illegible] Lord knows how thick it will become. And how many new magazines does the government plan to put on the newsstands?

Printing equipment today is so costly that weekly newspapers are having trouble showing a profit. Yet the Federal Government sees fit, at such a time, to construct the biggest and fanciest printing shop in the nation. About 95% of the pamphlets it will print might well be allowed to go out-of-print. The balance would be printed by private printers at a fraction of the cost. Readers would never guess that they came from print shops not graced with $150,000 landscaping!

Garden Pests Bulletin Ready

A new bulletin "Control of Garden Pests in Alberta" is now ready for distribution. This bulletin was prepared by W. Lobay and J. B. Gurba of the Pest Control division of the Field Crops Branch of the Alberta Department of Agriculture. There are sketches and descriptions of pests, the plants they attack, the time and type of injury as well as the most up to date chemical control methods.

In addition to this concise chart there is a discussion on the formulae and instructions for the use of the various insecticides. Precautions to be taken when using insecticides are listed as well as a list of antidotes to be used in the event of poisoning.

Every gardening enthusiast will welcome this new bulletin. Ask your district agriculturist for publication No. 130—"Control of Garden Pests in Alberta" or write to the Extension Service, Alberta Department of Agriculture, Edmonton.

NEWS from ALLANDALE

The weather has been disagreeable for this time of year. We had one glorious day, warm and calm, when the thermometer got to 65 above. Then to the extreme — the morning of April 26th it was 7 [illegible] low, and the night before a strong cold north-east wind and some snow.

The main roads are passable although very rough. The sloughs, lakes and low places are full to the brim and some overflowing. The side roads are as yet impassable and will be for a time.

The Clandonald school bus started operating again on April 25th.

April 15th — news came this morning of the death of Mother Gilbert. Our deepest sympathy to Mr. Gilbert and daughter Mary and family. "Peaceful be thy rest dear mother, it is sweet to breathe thy name, in life we loved you dearly, in death we do the same."

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Nelson did appreciate the kindness and help given them at daughter Joan's wedding reception. A big thank you to one and all who helped in any way.

On Wednesday morning April 18 Mr and Mrs Don Wilson, Raymond and Dorothy spent the balance of the week on a trip to Calgary [illegible] Banff. The children especially enjoyed the mountains and the animals at the zoo.

Don's parents accompanied them to Calgary to visit his sisters and on south of the city to visit daughter Joyce, Jimmy and family. On their way home they stopped at the Walsh home (Mrs. Don Wilson's sister) in Edmonton Saturday afternoon.

Marlene and Donna Wilson holidayed with their Omness grandparents while their folks were away.

Sorry to hear of Linda Lee's bike accident in town on April 21. She injured her knee quite badly and was in hospital until Wednesday. She is now home and getting on very well.

Aunt Stella Mayers reports a very enjoyable holiday with brother Rufus and family and nephew the Allen Ronaghan family. She returned to town April 22 and came to the Johnny Nelson home the next day and then to the farm by wagon and team for a few days. Stella left with her car on Friday for Kitscoty and will be keeping house for Hugh Leighton on the farm north of town during spring work. Mrs. Leighton teaches school in town and we all know the road conditions. Hugh, it will be remembered, taught Allandale school for two years and stayed at the Mayer's [illegible].

Mr. and Mrs. John Arnold visited Aunt Stella on April 25th and went by wagon and team across fields. At the buildings and through the bush the horses had difficulty getting through the huge drifts of [illegible].

Mr and Mrs Ronnie Porayko and family from Royal Park visited at her parents' home, the Armstrongs on Sunday, April 22. Daughter Violet, and son Donnie from the city came the same day for a week's visit at home. Daughter Myrtle and Norman Anderson and family from Lloydminster were visiting relatives in the district that day [illegible].

Nora Ronaghan is feeling much better and is back on the farm. With the warmer days coming soon we hope, it will be a tonic for us all.

The newlyweds, Mr and Mrs Art Roberge, returned home recently after a glorious trip of three weeks covering 7000 miles. They went south through Montana, saw the Idaho Falls, the Grand Canyon in Arizona, Los Vegas, Nev., and the desert. Spent a day and a half in Mexico, then back to Los Angeles, Hollywood and San Diego, a boat ride up the California Coast was also enjoyed. They motored along the west coast home as far as Portland, north-east to Spokane and crossed the border at Kingsgate. Many interesting and fascinating places were visited. The sign "Visit Sunny Alberta" brought a smile from the newlyweds when they were in California with the temperature around 80 above.

The Clandonald Promenaders had a practice square dance April 25th ably supervised by Bob Peck. Another will be held on May 2. Hope our caller Walter will be with us on May 9th.

Church services are commencing on the Clandonald Mission field on April 29, a few weeks earlier than usual. We welcome our student Mr Darwell Welsh from the east and hope he enjoys the [illegible] stay here for the summer months.

We are sorry Ottawa has discontinued services but with so many families departing from that district it would be impossible to carry on.

To you Mr and Mrs Richard Good we are truly grateful for the interest you have taken and the work you have done on the field. Your hospitality and co-operation were appreciated very much.

Weather and roads permitting our W. A. meeting will be at the R. Strome home on May 10 at 2 p.m. Mrs Edwards and Mrs Omness on the lunch committee.

We wish Mr and Mrs George White an enjoyable voyage and hope you find much happiness back home in Ireland. You will both be greatly missed but our loss will be someone else's gain. Farewell kind friends!

[illegible] Nelson and son Leslie went to Vermilion last Wednesday and spent the remainder of the week visiting daughters Anna, Helen, Frank and family.

Alberta's Natural Gas Industry: THE "GATE STATION"

After its long journey from the field to a population center, natural gas must pass one more inspection point — the City or Town "Gate Station". Here gas from one or many production fields is measured, checked and controlled for quality. Temperatures are checked and pressures regulated. Here, too, the gas dispatcher watches over the pipeline system. From the City or Town "Gate Station" flows natural gas of uniform quality — in the right amounts, at the right pressure to meet the needs of every area receiving natural gas service.

With GAS you get service —we plan it that way!

DISABILITIES WHICH TEMPORARILY DISQUALIFY

Not only have we disabilities which permit correction and disabilities which do not permit correction, but we have disabilities which temporarily disqualify.

I have four of them listed.

1. Intoxication.
2. Fatigue or drowsiness.
3. Worry.
4. Carbon monoxide poisoning.

1. INTOXICATION. Many people look on intoxication as the "Crime of Crimes", especially when it comes to driving. True enough, alcohol is a great killer. A survey taken in the U.S.A. recently showed that 75% of their fatal highway accidents were due to excessive speed. Then when they took 80% of the "speed accidents" causing fatalities, liquor was involved. Alcohol is truly an [illegible] enemy of mankind when it gets control. It has wrecked many lives and homes. It has filled many graves when it is mixed with gasoline.

The general characteristics of alcohol is that it does not attack all partakers in the same manner, nor does it produce the same effects. Generally speaking, all men look alike, they have a head, two arms, a body, two legs, and they move about in an upright position. But any two do not think alike, act alike or possess equal strength. They are different in many respects, as the fingerprints of each individual is different. Emotions and attitudes differ as well. And so, as in the case of a body's ability to absorb poisons and pass them off, they are different.

Alcohol when taken into the stomach needs no digestion. It is absorbed from the stomach into the bloodstream. Then it is up to the bloodstream to get rid of this poison through the following:—

1. Kidneys.
2. Pores of the skin.
3. Respiratory system.
4. Stomach.

Then the overload of poisons affect the heart and brain. Two individual systems may not be affected in the same manner. In the one system the kidney may take the bulk of poisons back from the bloodstream. In another case, the poisons may pass off through the skin. The brain of one individual may be affected more than the brain of another or the heart may suffer. Although alcohol may have its general effects with all people, it has its personal effects on the individual.

It is the general affects that it has on the driver that we are concerned about.

There is no such thing as compensation in the case of drunk driving. It is a disqualifying disability.

If drivers would only have the courtesy to others by staying away from the car when they wish to consume alcohol!

Alcohol and gasoline do not mix. Let's put "the quart before the horse".

Bounty On Crows And Magpies Will Be Continued for 1956

It was announced this week by the Hon. Norman Willmore, Minister of Lands and Forests that the Department of Lands and Forests has decided to continue for one more year the program of paying bounty on crows and magpies at five cents per pair of feet up to a maximum of $10,000. The campaign will be carried on as in the past by the Alberta Fish and Game Association and its locals.

The department will continue to study and review the outcome of the campaign in order to properly evaluate any beneficial results. The study made so far by the department would indicate that a planned campaign against crows and magpies will produce better results at much less cost. The department will give serious consideration to abandoning the present program in favor of a planned campaign against these predators.

Investigations carried out in various parts of North America indicate that the bounty system is not serving its purpose. In Alberta a planned campaign against coyotes has been extremely successful and the cost much lower than the former system of paying bounty. Mr. Willmore said that this type of predator control campaign can be applied and concentrated very effectively in the areas where it is required the most.

Wildmere Beavers—

This little note is especially for the Little Beavers! Would you like to make a pretty Spring Bouquet for Mother? Pick some of the nicest pussy willows you can find, and put them in a vase without any water. The next time you go to town take dad with you and be sure he has his wallet. Pick out about 40c worth of pretty artificial flowers, and put them in the vase with the pussy willows. They will last and last, all through the next winter and be as pretty as a picture. Or better still, perhaps you know how to make those pretty flowers yourself, and Mom would appreciate them more than ever.

Mrs. R. C. Mead, Constituency Convenor, was called suddenly to Montreal on April 28, owing to the serious illness of her only sister-in-law, and expects to be away about three weeks.

Recent studies of Canadian Indians sponsored by the Canadian Cancer Society shows that Indians have less skin cancer than do whites. One explanation of this may be that the pigment in the skin is a protection against the sun's rays. Past studies with American negroes show that they, too, have much less skin cancer than do whites.

Big Possibilities Here

Well over 50,000 Canadians visited Britain last year staying an average of 61 days and spending at least $25 millions. For those who would like to see Canada build up more trade with the United Kingdom, these facts are significant.

Here is a British "export to Canada that could be greatly expanded with little or no disturbance to established Canadian markets or industries, says The Financial Post.

Every dollar spent by Canadians in Britain, mostly for transportation, food and hotel services, is exactly the same so far as international accounting is concerned, as a dollar spent for British goods imported into Canada.

The more Canadian tourist dollars that are left in Britain the more dollars there are for British consumers to spend on Canadian newsprint, lumber, wheat, aluminum and scores of other products we would like to export. And it should not be very difficult to boost this Canadian tourist spending in Great Britain almost indefinitely, because it is a natural development.

Constituency Newsletter

Dear W. I. friends—

Don't be surprised if you hear of a bad case of sun-burned tonsils out north of Vermilion one of these days. I'm sure by the time I get to town again I'll be going around with my mouth wide open, staring at the tall buildings and all the sights. The sun will be strong enough by then, no doubt, to do considerable damage, so that when you hear of this sad case you'll know exactly who the afflicted person is! My nose will probably be altered too: I've had it right on the grindstone ever since all travel ceased out our way. Yes indeed—housecleaning and making headway too!

We made an important decision early this spring; no re-decorating at all this year—just whisk through everything and get done fast. But I began by making a terrible mistake—I did break down and paint the pantry walls and shelves. You've heard no doubt about the lady whose husband bought her a pair of silver salt and pepper shakers for Christmas? The rest of her dishes looked so common beside these new beauties that she was forced to buy new ones, then her dining room suite was too old-fashioned for her dishes, then her house wasn't good enough for the dining room, and so the sad tale goes on . . . until she finished up with a new husband! Well, that didn't exactly happen to me, but we stopped just in time.

When I washed the living room walls they looked so drab after working in the newly painted pantry that we decided that room must be done too. It looked so nice that -yes, you guessed it—That terrible bathroom!

We discussed the pros and cons of the situation, and finally arrived at the momentous decision to put on wall covering. You know like the pictures in the magazines: put on your Sunday dress and, all by yourself, glue the stuff on the wall some afternoon and surprise the family? Well, I guess we didn't dress right, or something, for instead of my Sunday dress, I was wearing blue jeans and an old sweater, and the boss of the job had on his iron-mans and a red plaid shirt (I still haven't got the glue off them), and it took us all one day to get that covering to stay put! By that time we were barely speaking but if some communication were absolutely unavoidable, like "pass the glue" we were either yelling at each other, or icily polite. So you see, we did stop just in time! But the bathroom looks lovely, and we're on speaking terms again, enough to agree that we'll just wash the kitchen walls this year. But wouldn't it look pretty, done with pale yellow walls and green ceiling . . . But no- remembering the end of that story—I'll take no more chances . . . It might not be so easy next time!

WHAT'S NEW FOR THIS MONTH?

Did you get the little pamphlet entitled "What's Wrong With Comic Books?" The comic book problem has become so insistent and serious that many governments have appointed committees to make a thorough study of the situation. The Alberta gov't has appointed an "Advisory Board on Objectionable Publications" to investigate and study the different types of comics and magazines being read by our boys and girls.

Mrs. E. W. Stiles, of Didsbury, is the W. I. representative on that advisory board of seven persons.

It is the contention of this board a- that many parents do not actually know what types of literature their children are reading, and a suggestion is made that they take time to read some of the publications found around the house.

(b) That comic book reading is supplanting the reading of good Children's Books, and inferior reading habits are being established.

(c) that crime comics breed a contempt for law and authority, and glorify the criminal and his crime.

(d) that some comics present an abnormal, unhealthy and immoral concept of normal relationships between the sexes.

(e) that many comics depict the villan as a foreigner, thus building up racial prejudice.

(f) that a certain type of comic causes tension and fear by depicting unnatural, fantastic and repulsive creatures as being real and existent.

(g) that most comics are inartistic, and detrimental to good reading skills.

It has been suggested that your branch contact your local Home and School and jointly arrange a meeting for the discussion of this little booklet, and possibly such topics as "How to Make More Good Books Available" and "How to Encourage Your Children to Read Them". How about this, W. I. Branches? Do you think you could arrange one at your school? Our children—yours and mine—are the children under discussion!

Next month will bring Conference details.

Sincerely yours,
Your Constituency Convener.

"THE FORGOTTEN PATIENT"

(Part 1)
BY
H. E. Smith, M.A., M.Ed., Ph.D.

Mental ill health is rightly called the scourge of the twentieth century. It hospitalizes as many people as do all other diseases combined. Of course it has always been a scourge. But so many of the old-time scourges have been, or are being, conquered — malaria, diptheria, small pox and many others — that the spotlight is now falling on mental illness.

As with other diseases, mental illness appears in many forms. The less incapacitating afflictions are usually called neuroses or psychoneuroses. These may be distinguished by such symptoms as chronic fatigue, partial loss of memory, paralyses of parts of the body, powerful compulsions to repeat certain acts or entertain certain thoughts and numerous others. Such afflictions drive people to doctors but seldom to hospitals.

The more serious disorders are roughly classed as psychoses. Common forms are senile psychosis, schizophrenia, manic depressive psychosis, paranoia, and alcoholic psychosis. In these disorders the person may not know where he is, what day or month it is, or even who he is. Hospitalization, temporary or protracted, is usually required. It is such disorders that account for about one-half of the bed space of all hospitals in Canada.

The majority of mental disorders are somewhat vaguely described as personality or functional disorders. This means that while the physical organism may not be in the least impaired something is wrong with the way it works. The happy integration of impulse, aptitude, will power, memory and the like, has been split, and minor or major chaos results. In short, the disharmony is one of personality. Such may be contrasted with organic disorders, as alcoholism and senility, which reflect organic destruction or impairment. Epilepsy, in its various forms, may be either functional or organic or both.

Anyone who had the choice of mental or physical illness should choose the physical, especially if he wants comfort in his distress. His prospects are much greater for sympathy and understanding, for visitors and flowers. He will certainly receive more medical and nursing attention.

The reason is obvious: physical ills are respectable, almost honorable. Sometimes they are gloried in, counted as marks of distinction. On the other hand mental afflictions are strange, not much understood. Frequently the manifestations are bizarre and even fantastic. Thought processes and emotional reactions may appear, quite eclipsing or overwhelming the familiar ones.

Our feelings of estrangement, mystification, and amazement are easily explained. We probably know neither the causes nor the remedies. If the patient remains with us we suffer daily. If he is taken away we are tempted to forget: of the 4,300 men, women and children now in Alberta mental hospitals a third of them never receive a visitor, and hundreds never receive a personal gift, except perhaps from fellow patients. These are the forgotten patients. One of the objectives of the Alberta Division, Canadian Mental Health Association, is to organize a program which remembers these forgotten patients.

Baker in Politics?

Don't worry about business or businessmen dominating government, says Bruce Hutchison in The Financial Post. "The legend that the businessman is a wily conspirator, manipulating governments, dominating the state and secretly controlling society—is either laughable or sad, when obviously government, state and society are more and more manipulating, dominating and controlling business. Politically most businessmen are babes in the wood and easy push-overs for the politicians."

WOODVALE NOTES

If winter comes (again) can our spring be far behind? By the looks and feel of the weather this Monday afternoon, April 30, the answer is yes, worse luck! The heavy frost last week, the continued cold and now the threat of snow again, has put an end to all hope of an early start on the land. Removing stones and rocks from the fields has been the only work done so far. The growth of grass has slowed down and there is not much to eat for the cattle in the fields and feed stocks are low. Quite a few farmers report calving trouble this spring. The only good thing about this slow-arriving warm weather has been the gradual thawing of the huge drifts and only a few wash-outs have been reported. The road near two bridges across the Grizzly Bear coulee were damaged, the one west of Kottmeier's has been filled in, but the one leading to Esswood still shows a 12-foot gap.

F. U. A. MEETING HELD

The F.U.A. held a meeting April 17th in Tolland community hall and the ladies of the Red Cross Auxiliary met the same evening at the Tolland store to discuss arrangements for serving lunch at the big sale on the Lamport farm May 2. Further it was decided to donate their last quilt made for a needy family near Cold Lake. A request for help had been received from ladies in Vermilion with Mrs. E. Oldenburg phoning to a member of our Auxiliary.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. M. Watson on June 6th. Will members please bring used clothing for a box to be sent to the Presbytery W.S. in Edmonton for an Indian school. The men joined the ladies later in the store for a welcome lunch and coffee. The lunch was brought by the Red Cross members and the coffee served by the hostess and host, Mr. and Mrs. Art Lysons.

The F.U.A. members re-elected their president, Vincent Van Wagningen Jr. and secretary-treasurer Fred Slorum for another year but changed their directors. They discussed and finally applied for membership in the Implement Co-operative. Their next meeting will be announced later.

Mrs. Procter who has not been feeling well lately, is in the Vermilion hospital for observation. We sincerely hope nothing serious will be found and that she will be home again soon. Mrs. Procter was 79 years old this April and still keeps house quite ably for her husband and son.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. R. Preston on the birth of a son. He is the third brother for Susan and Mr. and Mrs. T. Preston's 5th grandchild.

Mrs. Belle McGrath is spending a week with her sister Mrs. Wylie in the Wildwood district.

George Machell recently visited his old neighbors in the Tolland and Hindville district. He is now janitor in the Islay hospital where his father is a patient. Tommy Lysons is working at Herzog's garage in Vermilion, Adam Dumeck is employed at the V.S.A. and Johnny Isley on a ranch near Pincher Creek where he was reported working last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Emery Seitz and Ralph, Mr. and Mrs. Dell McGrath, Mr. and Mrs. Art Lysons and Fred Slorum went to the dinner sponsored by the Ranswood Curling club and report a very good time. The food was delicious and entertainment very good.

Church will be held this coming Sunday, May 6th, at the Clayton community hall at 11:00 o'clock in the morning. The new Presbyterian student minister has arrived but as yet we have not been able to get his name.

We hope next week to report on the sale at the Lamport farm and the farewell party being held this Monday night for Mr. and Mrs. Lamport.

No Rats At The Seed Cleaning Plant

Mr. Marshall Sharek, Pest Control Officer of the Department of Agriculture, stated to the Standard on Monday that while the first examination of the premises of the Vermilion Seed Cleaning plant revealed evidences of rats at some time, subsequent examinations very definitely indicate that there are no rats there at the present time. Ample provision has also been made against their ever becoming established at the plant.

Holes that could have provided access for rats were completely dug out and no rats found. Means of access were completely eliminated. Bait stations have been put out and will be maintained at all times. No rats have ever actually been seen at the Vermilion plant.

Plans Underway For Town-Wide Clean Up; Pick-up Wed., May 23

Preparations are well underway for a town-wide clean-up with pick-up day set for Wednesday, May 23. On this day a fleet of trucks will converge on every part of town and cart away the garbage. Garbage meanwhile should be piled at the rear of each person's property in easy access from the lane so that no time may be lost by the pick-up men on their rounds.

Each and every householder and business proprietor is expected to clean every bit of debris up around their premises, and have it piled for the pick-up on May 23. Clean-up is more important than ever this year as the "Battle of the Rats" has begun. In order to remain rat free the Town of Vermilion must offer them no harborage, no place to hole up and no garbage for food.

The clean-up is organized by the civic committee of the Board of Trade headed by Warren Rosequist and carried out in co-operation with the town council. More details will appear next week.

5-year-old Marie Ganton Seriously Injured by Tractor

Little Marie Ganton, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Art Ganton of the Borradaile district, was seriously injured on Tuesday when she was run over by a tractor in the yard at the family home.

Marie suffered severe injuries to her head, shoulders and chest. One of the wheels of the machine passed over her.

Marie was playing in the yard with some of her brothers and at the time of the accident was standing behind the tractor. One of the boys climbed on the tractor and stepped on the starter. The machine was in reverse gear, started up, struck the little girl, knocked her down, and ran over her head and chest.

Her condition when brought to hospital was grave indeed but has shown some improvement both Wednesday and Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ganton have five children, four sons, and Marie, an only daughter.

COUPLE OBSERVE GOLDEN WEDDING

Married in Winnipeg fifty years ago, May 5th, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Van den Dolder observed the Golden anniversary of their wedding in Vermilion on Saturday last, May 5th, 1956.

Following their wedding in Winnipeg the young couple travelled to Alberta and spent ten years living west of Edmonton. They then made the move to their well known farm west of Islay where they carried on successful farming operations for more than 36 years.

Three and a half years ago Mr. and Mrs. Van den Dolder decided to retire and purchased a comfortable home in Vermilion to which they moved. It was in this home that they received a continual stream of guests Saturday afternoon and evening, all intent on conveying their congratulations and best wishes to the esteemed couple on the occasion of their Golden Wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Van den Dolder have two sons, George at Oliver, B.C., Albert at Islay and one daughter Mrs. Baylock (Florence) in Vancouver.

Islay H. & S. To Hear Health Unit Nurse

ISLAY. The Home and School Association executive met Monday night to make plans for the meeting to be held at the school on Monday May 14. It is felt that people in this district are not making as much use of the Health Unit as they should. To enable all to become better acquainted with the Heath Unit and services rendered, Miss Bailey, Health Nurse, will be the guest speaker at the meeting. Everyone should make a real effort to attend and to make this a worthwhile meeting.

News and Articles Crowded Out

The Standard regrets that demand for advertising space resulted in the crowding out not only of some articles written especially for this issue but also of a considerable quantity of current news stories, country bulletins, etc. The deadline for advertising was set for last Friday but ads continued coming in until Tuesday May 8th, giving absolutely no time for planning still more pages. All the material held over will appear in next week's issue when "Dollar Days" will still be in progress.

Blue Martins' Arrival Heralds Spring

It is interesting to note that the Blue Martins are back in full force. The advance guard was noticed (just one or two birds) on May 2. But the main body arrived on the 7th of May right on schedule.

The exact date of arrival is mentioned because, oddly enough, over a period of eight years only once have they arrived earlier, and that was in 1955 when they came a week ahead. All other years they have arrived with strict punctuality on the 7th day of May.

Dollar Day Edition

THIS issue of the Standard is just full of money saving opportunities for shoppers, and the bargains offered are on good quality seasonable merchandise and foods. To fully appreciate this co-operative effort on the part of Vermilion's business men the Standard should be perused from cover to cover.

"Dollar Days" will continue from May 12 to 19th inclusive, and during that period the stores, garages and all business places will be full of bargains and the windows attractively decorated. People come to town at a time like this from a wider area, some of them for the first time. They see the town, the hard surfaced streets, the stores, the garages and business places, the [illegible] area, the people and all those things which give a community life, spirit and attractiveness. Their future visits are very largely governed by the impressions they receive. Vermilion is strong in stores and business services and is able and [illegible] to serve an increasingly wider district. "Dollar Days" will give many of our visitors an excellent idea of our resources and ability and we offer them all a warm welcome and a cordial invitation to come again.

"The human body is remarkably sensitive. Pat a man on his back, and his head swells."

Legion Notes

We are happy to report another successful social evening held on May 2. The next one will be on the third Wednesday of May and the first and third Wednesdays thereafter each month.

All members are asked to be present at the next general meeting. There are some very important decisions to be made. These are vital not only to members but to all who reside in Vermilion and district. So fall in Comrades you will hear all about them at the next meeting to be held in the Legion hall on Friday May 11 at 8 p.m.

You must file your income tax return, but you must not chisel it.

LOCALS

Mr and Mrs. George Whyte left Vermilion last Saturday May 5th for Edmonton where they visited friends until May 10th. At that time they left for Eastern Canada and at Montreal will board the liner Empress of Scotland on May 15th bound for the old country. They intend to live at Derrytoy, Crossgar in county Down, North Ireland. The Whytes came here in 1907 and homesteaded just west of what is now the John Hillcox farm. They sold out in 1919 but in 1921 bought a farm in the Claysmore district. Selling again in 1943 they moved to the present Bill Dixon farm where they resided for four years before moving into Vermilion, living here since. Mr and Mrs. Whyte, old timers who are regarded with much esteem and affection, were royally feted before leaving and will be much missed by a host of friends in town and country.

Buys Fine West End Home

Mr and Mrs. Tom Beattie have purchased the very fine west end home recently built by Mr and Mrs. R. Budard. The house is located just north of the road leading to the hospital.

Winners of C. W. L. Raffle

Winners of the C.W.L. raffle held on April 28 were: 1st prize—Watch, Mrs. James Powell. 2nd prize Chesterfield set, Howard Stevenson. 3rd prize $5.00, Master David Sutherland.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all our friends and neighbors for the gifts of a beautiful floor lamp and coffee table which they presented to us on our departure from the Hindville district. Also a sincere thank you to all who helped in any way at our sale and a special thank you to all the ladies who helped so willingly with the lunch. Thank you everyone.

Wm and Isabelle Lamport.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of
DAVID HENRY SMITH
—who passed away May 11, 1955.
Since one we loved so well,
Was taken from our home on earth
With Jesus Christ to dwell,
His weary hours and days of pain,
His troubled nights are past.
And in our aching hearts we know
He has found sweet rest at last.
Ever remembered by his loving wife and family

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Burdett have recently taken up residence in Vermilion, and have moved into the former Tvedt house with their family. The Burdetts have two sons and a daughter, Jean, who will complete her Grade 10 in Battleford before joining her brothers and parents in Vermilion.

The Burdetts were long time residents of Battleford before coming to Vermilion, having lived there for 26 years.

Mr. Burdett has accepted a position with Craig's as manager of the grocery department. He has been the manager of the Thriftway Store in Battleford since 1950.

Mr. and Mrs. Burdett, with their family, had taken a keen interest in many phases of community life in Battleford. Mr. Burdett was a member of the Town Council, the Board of Trade, the Canadian Legion Battleford Branch, the Curling Club and was president of the Miller Hockey Club. He was also Minister's Warden in the Anglican church there.

175 Blood Donors At Mannville

MANNVILLE—According to Dr. Buchanan of the Red Cross Blood Donor Mobile Clinic, 200 bottles of blood a week are required to meet the demand for blood from the hospitals for the northern part of Alberta. Although the response was not as great as the clinic last fall, approximately 175 donors registered in the afternoon and evening, Monday, May 7th. The ladies of the Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion made all the necessary preparations and worried hard Monday to make the clinic a success. Several nurses from the town and district assisted the Red Cross nurses. The various W. I.'s and church W. A.'s provided the sandwiches for the lunch served to the donors.

Dr Buchanan was pleased with the clinic here and expressed his appreciation of being able to set up the clinic in such a lovely and appropriate building as the school auditorium. There was ample room for the beds, while the lunch was served on stage and washing up jobs were done in the girls' washroom.

The L. A. to the Legion were a little disappointed the number did not reach 200, but the members of the clinic were well pleased with the day and thought it very successful for this time of year.

Special Gospel Services will be held in the Legion hall on Sunday, May 13th, at 3 p.m. A hearty invitation is extended to all to attend these services. Conducted by M. Hamlett and E. Kolito.

175 Blood Donors At Mannville

At the April meeting of the Alberta Registered Nurses' Association (Vermilion Chapter), Mrs. Hilda Cross announced that she had given out cheques to the winners of the Cancer Scrapbook contest and she felt that next year would see a bigger turnout of entries.

This Saturday May 12th marks the anniversary of the birth of Florence Nightingale. Sunday May 13th will see nurses all over Canada parading to church in memory of this event. This year the Vermilion Chapter will parade at St. Saviour's Anglican church to the evening service. All nurses are asked to come and wear their uniforms.

It was decided to hold a home cooking sale Saturday May 12 in the Vermilion Co-op store from 3 to 5 p.m. Each member please make two articles for the sale.

Mrs. Harding Britz is our delegate to the annual ARNA meeting being held in Banff on May 23 to 25th.

A discussion followed on our proposed street dance in July. A committee was formed to look into the matter further.

About this question

I caused an auto accident that killed a father of three children. The family is suing me for $35,000, and I wish for their sake and my own that I had the insurance to cover it. Would the added premium over my $10,000 policy have been only about $10 per year?

Summer Program To Begin At Elk Island Park

Elk Island National Park's summer cultural activities program will get under way with a good line up of district talent scheduled to appear at the Sandy Beach bandshell on the long holiday week-end of May 20th and 21st.

Starting off this year's series, Sunday May 20th, the Camrose [illegible] will conduct a two-hour program consisting of a variety of marches, waltzes and overtures. Always popular with Park audiences the thirty-member Camrose band under the direction of Mr M. F. McDonnell, mark their seventh consecutive performance in the Elk Island concert series.

Making their first appearance at the Park on Monday, May 21st are the Eastwood Entertainers of Edmonton, a talented group of children under the supervision of Mrs. Lucy Hepner. Mrs. Hepner has her charges dance and sing through an hour and a half program of old time and popular numbers, with particular emphasis on children's square dancing. Their variety show is designed to provide amusement and entertainment to the kiddies as well as the grown-ups.

Park visitors are assured pleasant recreation on both afternoons of May 20th and May 21st. Concert times are 3:00 p.m.

Establishment Of A Junior College Discussed At Lethbridge Meeting

It was announced by Honourable A. O. Aalborg, Minister of Education, that a meeting was held in Lethbridge, on Friday, April 27, to discuss the question of the establishment of a junior college in that city, to serve both the city and the surrounding area. Following a smaller preliminary meeting in the morning presided over by Mrs. E. Kipp, chairman of the Lethbridge Public School Board, a larger meeting was held in the afternoon presided over by Mr. C. G. Paterson, Lethbridge trustee.

The meeting was attended by Honourable A. O. Aalborg, Minister of Education, Dean W. H. Johns, University of Alberta, Dr. W. H. Swift, Deputy Minister of Education, Mr M. L. Watts, Department of Education, and representitives of the following additional school districts and divisions: Lethbridge Separate School District, Lethbridge School Division, Taber School Division, Foremost School Division, St. Mary's River School Division, County of Warner, Pincher Creek School Division and Macleod School Division. Present also were observers from the Canadian Government Science Services Laboratory.

The discussions related to the following subjects chiefly:

(a) The relationship of the proposed college to the University of Alberta with particular reference to courses and staff;

(b) The nature of courses to be offered other than university courses.

(c) The relationship of the Lethbridge Public School Board and other school boards in the matters of organization, control and financing.

No commitment was given by any of the boards represented either to establish or support a junior college. Further progress appeared dependent upon the readiness of the non-city boards to join the Lethbridge Public School District in supporting a junior college.

A committee representative of the Department, University and both urban and rural school boards was set up to do two things:

1. To prepare a draft proposal covering the administration and financing of a junior college:

2. To study the curriculum of the proposed college with special attention to non-university courses. (The pattern of university courses appears reasonably clear.)

The report of the committee will be considered by individual boards and by a further meeting.

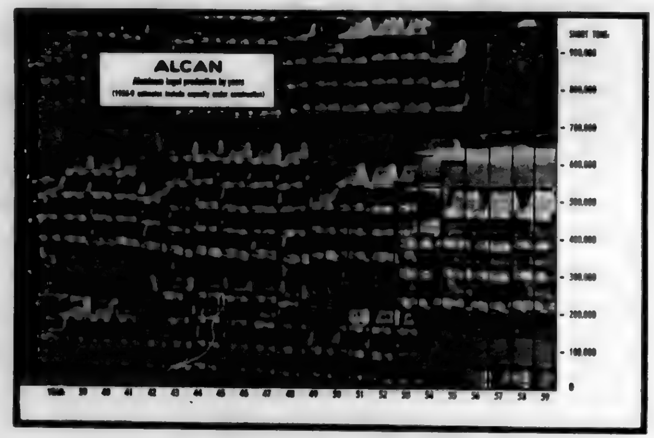
CANADIAN ALUMINUM

1955 capacity to be expanded 50% by 1959

EXPANSION PROGRAMME LARGEST IN THE INDUSTRY



Its matchless combination of qualities — lightness, durability, strength, appearance — has made aluminum second only to steel in world markets. New uses — for both civilian and defence purposes — keep increasing the relentless demand. The world demand for aluminum is presently in excess of supply and the immediate prospect is that, like other basic materials, aluminum will be a scarce metal during the months ahead. Despite continuing expansion of producing facilities, as shown in the chart above, the fact is that the demands go up at a rate faster than new production can be pushed to completion at Isle Maligne in Quebec and Kitimat in British Columbia.

Steady increase in productive capacity has been accompanied by a corresponding increase in employment and payroll. Today in Canada there are 20,500 Alcan employees.

The payroll at the rate of $70,000,000 a year contributes to all phases of Canada's standard of living.

CIVIL DEFENCE IN WAR

Sixth in a series of 14 articles

Have you ever wondered why you keep hearing and reading about civil defence all the time these days? Why don't they drop the subject for a while? Let's talk about something cheerful for a change. How much do they expect a person to take? How long is this going to go on?

If you have wondered about these questions, you're certainly not the only one. But what about these questions—what are the answers? Let's drop the present for a moment then and look back on some recent history.

The airplane has probably done more than any other device contrived by man to bring war from the battlefield into the backyard. So let F. F. Worthington, federal civil defence co-ordinator, take the history from here. And don't think he has a personal axe to grind in this civil defence business. He confessed to some 70 newspaper and radio reporters recently that he'd far rather be home in Vancouver enjoying his retirement. "But there was a job to do," he said. "They asked me to do it." He left it at that.

"Following the Second World War" he told a group of women in Toronto not long ago, "it was fully realized that, in any future conflict, the civil population would inevitably become a target in the strategical aim of an aggressor for two reasons."

"First, because in a democratic country the government responds to the will of the people and if the morale and the will of the people is broken, it will reflect immediately upon the centre of government and may well bring about capitulation.

"Second, the complexity of weapons and equipment required in modern warfare renders armed forces dependent upon production and production depends upon the men and women who work in the factories and fields.

"Therefore, if the will to work or the people themselves is destroyed, production will cease and the armed forces cannot continue the struggle."

How to meet this menace to every man, woman and child—for the H-bomb makes no exceptions to age or sex—was the problem out of which grew modern civil defence. But how should civil defence be created? There are two possible solutions.

The federal government could set up a central body, semi-military in nature, to make civil defence compulsory across the country. But how would this be accepted by each province? How would your community like be told how to protect itself by some official in a distant Capital?

The other solution, the one Canada chose, was an organization based on the ancient concept of self help, from which so many services already existing in Canada have arisen. Now F. F. Worthington again:

"To maintain peace in the world, as it is today, demands a heavy price—the price of preparedness because no aggressor nation will attack unless it is reasonably sure to win and to win, our home front must be knocked out.

"This preparation we call civil defence must be carefully carried out. It requires time, but above everything else—it requires the acceptance of responsibility at every level of government and of as many citizens as possible."

He added: "There is hardly a community in our country that will not be affected in the event of enemy attack. There is a feeling that the smaller communities in the 'safe' areas have little responsibility for the preparedness because they are out of harm's way."

"I wish to emphasize in the strongest possible terms that such a belief is entirely erroneous. No one city, however big, can withstand the terrible effects of a nuclear weapon without the combined efforts of each and every community within reasonable distance, and when I say reasonable distance I am talking in terms of hours of travel—not miles."

Does that answer the question? All but one—how long does this go on? Here's the answer from G. S. Hatton, deputy federal civil defence co-ordinator:

"The need for civil defence will continue until either we have achieved a permanent secure peace or our military advisers are able to guarantee that no enemy can make a successful attack on this country. Neither is a forseeable contingency and as long as we need a military defence we shall need a civil defence."

New Birds Eye Food Short Cut

A brand new idea in food short cuts will appear on the market very soon. Birds Eye Potato Patties, the product that eliminates potato peeling.

Unlike other packaged potato products, Birds Eye Potato Patties can be cooked in a number of ways. Without defrosting they are ready to pan-fry, deep-fry or broil. They can be hashed-brown or baked and even made into potato soup or salad.

Potato Patties are made from top-quality uncooked potatoes which have been shredded and shaped into cakes weighing about three ounces each. There are four to a package, separated by waxed paper to prevent sticking.

The biggest food news of the year, Birds Eye Potato Patties are different from any product ever sold. An exciting idea designed to free the home-maker from washing, peeling and cutting potatoes.

MEET THE SALVATION ARMY!

The International Army — with its "heart to God and hand to man"

The International Army—with its "heart to God and hand to man."

What is it? How did it start? What does it do?

In peace times and during two World Wars, thousands of people have seen The Salvation Army in action, taken its good work for granted, supported it, trusted it implicitly. Yet not one in hundreds can answer factual questions about it.

Do YOU, for example, know that it is an international organization operating places of worship and social rehabilitation centres in 85 countries and colonies of the globe? That its 26,626 officers are specially trained men and women who have further applied five years of religious sociology in action before qualifying as fully commissioned officers? But let's start at the beginning.

WHAT IS THE SALVATION ARMY?

Purpose Spiritual: It is an evangelical movement with single aim of converting people to Christian Living. Because of the practical applications of its beliefs in alleviating the tangible as well as the spiritual needs of men, its social services are well known: "a man may be down but he's never out" was termed its theory sometime ago. Recently the spiritual aim behind its social services was more accurately described when The Salvation Army was called "the first international Army, with its heart to God and its hand to man."

HOW DID IT START?

Founded in 1865: It was founded by William Booth, an English minister, who withdrew from the Methodist church to preach the message of Christ from the street corners of London's worst slums.

Semi-Military Organization: When his converts were refused membership in the established churches, Booth banded them together as a group outside the church, which thirteen years later (1878) he called The Salvation Army. Organized along semi-military lines, uniforms, ranks, strict training and discipline have continued to be an integral part of the Army's setup.

Sociology Applied From Start: In 1880, hungry illiterate masses crowded the slums, scorned by the "respectable", living in vice and squalor. To pay attention to such persons was unheard of, radical! For General Booth to recognize their plight and set up soup kitchens as a preface to religion was still more revolutionary. Yet most successful.

HOW DID IT GROW? WHAT DOES IT DO?

Growth Rapid: From London the movement spread to England, Scotland, Wales, Ireland, people in all walks of life became interested, and early in the development of the organization General Booth selected his officers from professional fields, and further recognized the need for trained personnel for leadership by instituting training colleges where young men and women both could study for officership.

Social Service Expansion: General Booth's belief that a starving man must be fed before his hunger can be turned Godward soon included other services beside soup kitchens. The Salvation Army extended a helping hand to the homeless, the sick and unemployable (in India thousands of lepers are treated in Salvation Army hospitals); to unmarried mothers; to criminals released from prisons; to the unfortunate in many fields.

International Development: With its "heart to God and hand to man," The Salvation Army marched across many national boundaries into other countries, to the United States in mainland, Australia, Asia, Africa and every continent of the world. Everywhere its dynamic Christianity—made joyous with music and bands, dramatically distinctive with uniforms aroused unusual interest. The devotion of its officers gained respect, won adherents to the faith, and public financial support. Along with its simple places of worship rose a twin network of rehabilitation centres for social casualties, the workshops of Christianity in action.

The scope of its activities is indicated by some of the latest international statistics:

Countries and territories 85. Languages in which Salvation is preached 91. Corps and outposts 16,868. Officers and cadets 26,626. Social institutions and agencies 1,725. Beds supplied during year 8,795,367. Meals supplied during year 13,003,895.

NEWS OF THE DISTRICT

Mr. and Mrs. Wes Lamport Farewelled

Despite the forecasts, warmer weather came with the month of May and work on the land has started and will be general this week, though there are many waterlogged places yet.

On April 28th, friends and neighbours, forty in all, gathered at the Lamport home to wish them well in their new life in Vermilion and to present them with a token of their friendship. Mr. Charles Young made the presentation of a beautiful floor lamp and step table and expressed everyone's feelings very well indeed. The evening was spent in visiting and an early, very delicious lunch was served. Everyone is sorry to lose these good neighbours but are glad that Bob and Bill will carry on, with Roy staying with his brothers until the end of the school term, and Vermilion is not too far away to drop in for a little visit. Their sale took place on May 2nd and drew a record crowd, despite the coldness of the day. How many there were exactly, is hard to say, but to give you an idea, to serve lunch 140 loaves of bread were used, 600 doughnuts, many cakes and we guess over 2000 cookies eaten and approximately 80 gallons of coffee consumed, though we must confess that Mr and Mrs. Lamport served lunch for a far longer time than usual and hot coffee was available from 12 o'clock till the end of the auction, well past 6:30. The ladies of the Red Cross Auxiliary undertook preparation and serving of the lunch and coffee. They were thankful they had Mrs. Lamport's constant help and of many of the neighbours who came in to be sheltered from the cold wind and stayed to wash cups!

The sale went quite well with a keen demand for horses and saddle ponies. Jim Lamport was home for a week from Calgary to help his parents prepare for the sale and move to town.

Other visitors from Calgary were Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair, the former is a nephew of Mr. Lamport, who used to live in the Hindville district and met many of his old schoolmates again.

Mr. N. Phillis is the name of the new student minister, who comes from Toronto and is preparing to stay at the Wildwood teacherage. This is the second time he is working in an Alberta field, having been stationed in the Olds-Carstairs area last year.

Mr. Herman Kroeger is back from the states to spend the summer on his farm near the Battle River.

Miss Marion McQuid spent the weekend with her parents in the Tolland district.

PARADISE VALLEY NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Davidson were Edmonton visitors during the past week with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Chambers.

The Brownie Pack held a sale of home cooking and work in Gunn's store on Thursday afternoon. The Brownie leaders would like to express their appreciation and thank all the Brownie mothers and everyone who helped make this sale a success. The purpose of this sale was to raise funds to go towards purchasing uniforms for the Brownies.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill McLean of Islay were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Clark.

Mrs. Arne Halverson, Mike Halverson, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Halverson and Mrs. Roberts all of Enderby, B.C., were recent visitors in town. It is quite a few years since Mr. and Mrs. Arne Halverson and family left town. Mrs. Roberts was the former Clara Halverson.

Miss Eva Redmond has tendered her resignation from the P.V. teaching staff and her place has been taken by Miss Patricia Keen of Marwayne.

SHOWER BRIDE

A very nice miscellaneous shower was held in the United church Sunday school hall on Monday evening April 30th when Mrs. William Towndrow (nee Joyce Benner) was the guest of honor. Miss Grace Stoddart, a former schoolmate, in a very fitting speech spoke of some of the fine qualities of this young lady as a school girl at Paradise Valley school and presented her with the many useful and pretty gifts which were drawn in by the small niece and nephew of the bride, in a decorated wagon. After the gifts had been opened and passed around for inspection Joyce thanked those present. A lovely lunch was then served.

TO NURSE IN NEW MEXICO

Miss Kathleen Swayne, R. N., spent a few days at home with her parents Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Swayne prior to leaving for Albuquerque, New Mexico where she will be employed in a hospital for 3 months. On her return she will go to the Peace River country to take a position as district nurse.

Mr. Kenneth Adams who has been second man at the Beaver Lumber Co. yard here, left for Mannville on Saturday to take up his new duties at that point with the Beaver.

CLEAN UP DEBRIS

On Monday morning a number of trucks and a goodly number of men gathered in town to clear away the remains of the Community hall and Luke's store which was burned last November. As a result the site looks much improved. Tenders have been called for the new hall and we hope to see work started on the project in the near future.

SURVEY SCHOOL SITE

We notice that the Vermilion School Division were busy surveying the location for the new four-room school to be erected here this year. It will be located north of the Church of God property on the highway. When completed it will relieve the present congestion in the town schools.

Patients in the Lloydminster hospital this week include Mrs. Fred Towndrow and Mrs. Emma Shaw Sr.

C. G. I. T.

The Valley Maids C.G.I.T. and the 4-H Sewing club met in the Sunday school room of United church on April 20th for their regular meeting with a fair attendance. Lois Stoddart had charge of the devotional period. Linda Stephenoff assisted with the missionary study on our first Canadians. Ruth Walter and Linda Stepenoff gave a demonstration on wrong and right etiquette in restaurants. In the absence of Patsy Johnson, Linda also helped Eileen Teasdale demonstrate on hand lotion and care of the hands. Margaret Ruttan supplied the treats. Congratulations go to Helen Krawchuk who was awarded the T. Eaton award for the best all around club member in the Paradise Valley Sewing club for 1954-55.

Miss Violet Adams who has been attending Bible school at Regina and Miss Joyce Adams who attended Bible school at Three Hills during the past term are spending their vacation with their parents Mr and Mrs R. D. Adams.

Mr Clarence Conarroe and Dale left for Hinton on Wednesday where they will be employed for the summer months.

Brand New Idea Helps Housewife

Psychologists say that we don't tire of food tastes. On the contrary, we grow to like them more and more. Take bread, for example or potatoes. You can hardly imagine a dinner without potatoes, especially the way husbands go for them.

But potatoes, no matter how much you like them, are a nuisance because they have to be washed and peeled and cubed or sliced. How often do you cook up more than you need so there will be left-overs for tomorrow? But there is vitamin loss this way, even if it does save you time and trouble.

Well, Birds Eye has solved your troubles once and for all. Now you can cook up just one little serving of potatoes if you wish. Or cook enough for ten people. Whichever you do, you do not have to wash, peel and cut potatoes. Impossible? Not any more because Birds Eye has come up with Potato Patties: uncooked potatoes, shredded and moulded into patties all ready to pop in the pan.

No defrosting is necessary with Potato patties and you can satisfy your yen for baked, hashed brown, deep-fried, pan-fried or even broiled potatoes just by putting Potato Patties into the pan or oven. If your weakness is potato salad, Potato Patties are the answer. Potato soup? Save yourself a lot of bother with Birds Eye Potato Patties.

And just think of all the extra time you'll have once you eliminate potato preparation. First thing you can do is take time to throw away your potato peeler. Just throw it wherever you threw your scrub board and washtub.

GAS Goes 'round the town!
The network of Natural Gas pipelines criss-crossing a city or town a few feet below ground is called the "Distribution System". Like the high-pressure transmission lines which bring gas from the field, these medium and low-pressure distribution mains are welded steel pipe, carefully wrapped and treated against corrosion. A TREE TO LET GO

Near a big Canadian city, two pines had a minor collision. They brushed wing-tips in mid-air, both went into a spin. One pine never came out of it: the other dropped down sharply, then suddenly righted itself and came in for a smooth landing. I was quite curious to know how the pine managed it. I had a notion, and I read along to see if it was true.

Sure enough the pilot had done just what I thought he had. "It wasn't skill at all," he told the reporter. "At first I pulled the stick every which-way, trying to right the plane. Then—I just let go. Took my hands off and prayed. Blue righted herself, and I brought her in. It wasn't skill."

Ah, I thought—it was skill all right. Or at least, it was wisdom. There are times in life when that much frantic steering is the worst of all procedures.

I have a friend who is always steering frantically. His whole life has been run at a fast tempo, rapid ups and downs, forming a crazy pattern. He never knows when to let go, to let nature set him right.

I believe there is one lesson every young man should learn. He should remember that he is a member of the human race, and that his life has a certain course. It is destined to take. He should try to find out what that course is and follow it. Then all will be well. Do the things that seem right for him to do: do the things he really loves to do. Instead of hopping frantically from one false start to another.

And I often think that as a nation we could do with a bit less steering. Today there seems to be a plethora of organizations trying to steer us—to make us good, or kind, or cultured, or something that the organization has set its heart upon. These folks forget that we are all members of the human family, and that if left alone we are likely to act in human beings in a better, more spontaneous way than if we are pushed.

The government, too, could steer on how well you guide him through the pre-school years. And during those years he develops habits of mind and body that will largely be determined by your "training".

Much of his behavior will be good and should get praise and encouragement. But much will be undesirable. It will take patience and understanding on your part to discourage such "bad" behavior without making him feel he's losing your love and affection. To guide him properly in his day-to-day experiences and at the same time have him always feel secure in your love will pay off in priceless dividends—a sound mental and emotional character in your youngster.

Health Unit Notes

WHEN YOUR CHILD IS WRONG

There are times when any child is especially troublesome and disobedient. Before taking action the parents should look for the cause of the trouble. Perhaps something unusual has happened to upset him; perhaps he is tired; perhaps he has taken a cold. A cool or has a cold coming on. Quite often he is probably feeling insecure in his parents' affection because a baby sister or brother is getting the attention. If the cause of the trouble is understood, the parents will find it easier to be patient and will not be so inclined to act unwisely on the spur of the moment. The only purpose in using any form of "punishment" is to influence the child to do the right thing. It should not be undertaken because an adult has lost his or her temper.

ISOLATION

Putting a child in a room by himself is good treatment if he persists in behavior of which he knows you do not approve. No child likes to be left out of the family group and to be isolated from his playmates for a little less. There are too many opportunities for deserving children in pushing on this way or that, certainty at our own expense. I think we'd all be better off if they devoted themselves to placing opportunity before us, and left us free to find our own destiny. Too much steering of a mechanism to deflector as human nature could lead to a pretty bad smash. I think we have reached the place where it is time to let go.

Since it went into production in June, 1950, General Motors Diesel

SPANKING, STRAPPING OR SLAPPING

Three methods of punishment should be used seldom and then only as a last resort. If this punishment is used too frequently it crosses resentment in the child who is too small to defend himself. This resentment is apt to result in the child showing cruelty to others when he is older. It may also make it difficult for him to accept authority in later life.

WHY OBEDIENCE IS IMPORTANT

The purpose of teaching the child to do what he is told is not, of course, just to get this job done or that errand run. An intelligent parent wants to give his child the kind of training that will make him a happy and successful adult.

Undoubtedly everyone has to learn to obey because all through life orders have to be obeyed. However, blind obedience should not be required of anyone, either child or adult. There must be a good reason behind every order and that reason must be explained. If the child learns to be obedient for the common good of the family, he will grow up to be a good citizen ready to co-operate for the welfare of the community as a whole

REMEMBER ALWAYS

Your child's early years are very important because it is then that the foundations for his future health are being fashioned. You want him to be physically healthy as you make sure he has the right foods, proper exercise, play and rest. You will also want to do everything you can to make him mentally and emotionally healthy. How well he'll be able to meet shocks and blows of adult life will depend a great deal

What is Tourist Service Week?

Tourist Service Week (May 6-12, 1956) is Canada's traditional spring campaign stressing the needs and desires of all who visit and travel in our country. Since 1946 Tourist Service Week has provided a recurring occasion for special attention to tourist trade problems by all appropriate provincial, regional and municipal authorities, local business men's associations, clubs, restaurants, hotels, motels, service stations, the schools, the press, radio and TV.

While Tourist Service Week is only one week in the year, its message is: Tourism is something for them to act on every week the year around—to enhance in every possible way the reputation of their own communities and all of Canada as hosts to all visitors.

The widespread benefits of a healthy "visitor industry" are felt first at the local level where visitors spend money. One of the aims of Tourist Service Week is to correct the mistaken idea that proceeds of tourist trade are shared only by those in certain fields of activity such as accommodation and transportation. The fact is, everybody benefits. Whatever you happen to do for a living—whether you're in industry, farming, trade or some other business or profession—you can be sure that some part of your business came from VISITORS in your community or your country.

OBJECTIVE OF TOURIST SERVICE WEEK

1. Encourage needed improvements and highest standards of cleanliness, attractiveness, efficiency and courtesy in all services used by visitors, including:
—Rail, air, water and road transportation
—Stores, service stations, restaurants, and other retail outlets
—All types of accommodation including hotels, motels, resorts, camps
—public services such as border authorities, information booths, washrooms, etc.

2. Promote development of tourist attractions such as historic sites, community parks, festivals, pageants and other special events that will make your area a more interesting place to visit.

3. Talk up the idea of travel in Canada at all appropriate business, community or social gatherings and especially wherever you meet officials, teachers, press, radio and TV people and others who influence opinions.

4. Support community tourist promotion organizations whose task it is to attract visitors to your area and to assist them after they have come.

5. Feature distinctive local foods, handicrafts, etc. in all places frequented by visitors to your community.

Late Seeding

Department of Agriculture officials expect a late seeding season for the 1956 crop, reports the Financial Post. With most favorable weather it will be somewhat before May 15 and even slight interruptions could delay it a week. Seeding in 1955 was finished on May 20.

How disappearance of the winter's heavy snowfall in the portion of the province north of the CPR mainline, and the uncertainty of the flood situation in large areas south of it, particularly in the Red and Assiniboine valleys, will make 1956 another late year.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Woman's Travel Authority

In my years of travel and lecturing in all parts of the country I have come to regard the contents of the average car owner's luggage compartment with considerable amazement—and in many cases with downright awe.

See how your trunk stacks up with what I've found in the average car —

(1) Two jacks—only one of which works.

(2) Any number of lug wrenches with maybe one or two the right size for tire changing.

(3a At least two worn out, useless engine parts, one oddly shaped metal bar defying description, six broken chain links.

(4) An old piece of carpet or rug, once used to protect the clothes but now grease-caked and threadbare.

(5) A collection of oil stained rags, hazardous newspapers, magazines and rags.

(6) A broken thermos jug.

(7) A flat spare tire.

(8) A tow-rope hopelessly short and weak.

(9) Miscellaneous tools rattling around without a case.

(10) A pair of gloves, unfit to be worn.

Take a look at your luggage compartment now and be honest.

Frigidaire makes an electric clothes dryer that doesn't need any vents or drains.

To Revamp Liquor Laws of Province

Eastern Alberta Baseball League

EDMONTON — Starting June 18, eight members of the Alberta legislature will begin the ticklish job of revamping the province's liquor laws and making them conform as much as possible to what everyone would like.

June 18th is the date set for public hearings to start in the capital city, according to a recent announcement by Edgar H. Gerhart, Social Credit member for Edmonton and chairman of the special committee set up at this year's session of the legislature.

From a political standpoint, the committee's job is a tough one, because the liquor question is so controversial hardly any two people will agree on how the problem should be attacked. The only point of general agreement is that a problem exists and must be solved.

Throughout the provinces, Albertans are wondering what will be the outcome of the liquor investigation. It is the first major review of the Liquor Control Act in many years. Nothing will be known definitely until the committee presents its report at the next session of the legislature.

However, from announcements to date it appears the committee will be deluged with briefs from organizations which have special axes to grind, and it won't be any small task to sift through the arguments and come up with an answer.

For example, the committee will hear from the Women's Christian Temperance Union, which uses the label temperance but preaches total abstinence. The Alberta Hotel Association, which couldn't be blamed for wanting to protect the monopoly it now enjoys, restaurant operators who may want to get in on a good thing, and police forces, which will want laws that will make it easier to enforce the existing ones.

From this preliminary list, it would appear that submissions to the committee will be somewhat on the prejudiced side.

It also would appear that every view will be represented but the consumer — the average Joe who enjoys the occasional social drink. Mr. Gerhart has announced that briefs will be accepted only from recognized organizations, and not from individuals.

Perhaps it has to be that way, for what individual could speak on behalf of the whole populace. But isn't it unfortunate that there is no organization which can present the unbiased view of the average citizen?

Observers can do nothing but speculate about what the committee will do in recommending. However, it seems likely that if any major changes are made they will be to relax the existing restrictions against drinking. The only other alternatives are to leave the laws as they are or introduce prohibition, and most people are convinced prohibition won't work.

FOR YEAR, BARS IN B.C. AND MANITOBA

Recent investigations in British Columbia and Manitoba have led to sweeping changes in liquor laws, permitting establishment of cocktail bars and other outlets.

Of course, there is no guarantee that this will happen in Alberta. The situation here is different in some respects. For example, the Premier's religious activities oblige him to sit astride the fence. He feels personally that liquor and society no good whatever, and many of his supporters, who admire him for his religious convictions, feel the same way.

On the other hand, the Premier does not pick a group of bootleggers to make up the liquor committee. The only strict teetotaller is J. Percy Page, Conservative MLA for Edmonton. Incidentally, Mr. Page is one of the most vigorous campaigners for liquor law reforms, on the ground that far too much liquor is being consumed in the province.

Presumably, Premier Manning also realizes a large section of the province's population regards the existing liquor laws as antiquated and outmoded. Many members of the Social Credit party feel this way, and have been pressing for changes.

Along with changes to bring laws up to date, the committee also is expected to look into the question of preventing problem drinking and likely will come up with suggestions for treatment and rehabilitation of alcoholics.

For the record, members of the committee not already named are Social Creditors Chester Sayers, of Camrose, Ira McLaughlin, Grande Prairie; Harry Strom, Cypress; Dance At Bonnie Big dance at Bonnie Doon on Friday May 11th. Admission 50c. Lunch free. Isley orchestra. 43-44

Hon. A. O. Aalberg, minister of education, Liberal Richard E. Hall, of Oshawa, and CCF or Nick W. Diachenko, Willingdon.

Battle of the Cradle

What France lost on the Plains of Abraham on a balmy September morning in 1759, French-Canadian was supposed to win back again through early marriage and big families. The battle of the cradle, it was called and the stakes, of course, the control of Canada — or what was then the joint colonies of Lower and Upper Canada, now Quebec and Ontario.

For years Quebec was steadily and easily only the much heavier immigration into Ontario made it a population race at all. But recently, comparative figures indicate something seems to have changed. For the last three years, reports George Cartwright, Ontario provincial economist, total births in Ontario have exceeded those in Quebec and while the r-al birth rate still favors Quebec this gap is narrowing. Quebec's birth rate, for example, has increased only moderately over the last decade, while Ontario's has soared.

Lloydminster Bull Sale May 28 & 29

The Lloydminster Bull sale, May 28 and 29 has a record entry of 200 animals. This sale has been growing in popularity throughout the years. Most of the better breeders of Canadian and Western Stock-farmers and ranchers-send their entries to this sale.

The sale has always been a real day event. The bulls went judged in the morning and sold after noon. This year due to the large entry the judging will be on Monday May 28th at 2:00 p.m. and the sale will begin at 9:30 a.m. on Tuesday, May 29th.

The bulls offered at this sale are subject to a strict veterinary inspection, have passed a rigid rolling tuberculin and are tested for Bangs and T.B. You can buy with confidence at this event. Ranchmen, farmers and breeders attend Lloydminster year after year to purchase bulls.

The sale will be ruled by two well known livestock auctioneers, Jack Maghark, Vermilion and Arvie Rudee, Olds, Alberta. The luncheon will be placed by Charles Yule Calgary.

Veteran Of Two World Wars, W. G. Slee Dies At Grand Forks

MANNVILLE—One of the famous World War I "Old Contemptibles," Walter George Slee died quietly in his sleep Sunday morning, April 1. He would have been 68 years old on April 20th.

Mr. Slee saw service in France prior to November, 1914, thus being classified with the famous group of soldiers in the "Old Contemptible" outfits. He also served with the Canadian army in the second World War.

He was made a prisoner of war on Oct. 31, 1914, and remained one until the end of hostilities.

Born in Bovey, near Cardiff, South Wales in 1888 he came to Canada in April, 1910, farming south of Mannville for several years and then working as janitor at the Mannville hospital. During his term at the hospital, the garden and grounds of the hospital as his own yard in town showed him to be a master gardener. Mr. Slee was an active member of the Loyal Orange Lodge, and the local Legion. In 1946 he moved to Grand Forks for health reasons.

Funeral services were held here Wednesday afternoon from Holy Trinity church, Rev. D. L. Greene officiating. Burial took place in the Evergreen cemetery. Manly's funeral home was in charge of arrangements.

Members of the Canadian Legion, of which Mr. Slee was a member, acted as pall-bearers, and a Legion graveside ceremony was held. Pall bearers were A. H. Esarby, John Onions, F. M. Plant, E. S. Reynolds, A. R. Sangster and R. E. Scott.

Surviving Mr. Slee are his wife, Ethel, in Grand Forks, two sons, Harold in Montreal and Trevor in Flagsone, B.C.; two daughters, Mrs. Gerald Mortimer (Enid) of Newgate, B.C., and Mrs J. B. McLean (Margaret) of Montreal. One sister, Mrs E. Legg, three brothers, all in Barry, South Wales, and 11 grandchildren also survive.

Mr Slee was an enthusiastic gardener and his flower beds and garden were a showpiece of Columbia He was also a keen chess player

WILDMERE WINKS

The community along with the writer extend heartfelt sympathy to Mrs David McCauley and family of Lloydminster on the passing of a loving husband and father on Tuesday of last week. Mrs. McCauley (nee Lillie Samuelson) grew up in the Ashmundale district and all sympathize with her in this hour of sorrow.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Van den Dolder who celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary on Saturday and to Mr and Mrs. Young for their 25th not long ago. Both couples live in Vermilion and we wish them many more years of happy wedded life.

A big crowd and good prices prevailed at the W. Lamport sale last Wednesday in Hindville. Mr and Mrs Lamport have now moved into the Geo. Whyte house which they have purchased in Vermilion. May they both enjoy retirement from hard work.

Several Vermilionites attended the graduation of the Royal Alex hospital 1956 class of nurses held at the McDougall United church on Friday evening last when 65 nurses graduated. If one has never witnessed a graduation ceremony it is something you should see. It is an answer to all one's prayers and hopes. The girls look lovely all in white with their bouquets of red roses. We are very proud of them all. Our niece, Peggy Graham won the Elmer Roper award for bedside nursing so we were doubly proud of her. When one sees those girls graduate it makes you think of what a wonderful profession they have taken up. It's a long course, three years, but you have something worth while when you are finished. A banquet was held at the Macdonald on Thursday evening when parents attended along with the girls. Some lovely corsages were worn by the mothers, gifts of the girls. The writer has hers home all pressed. After the graduating ceremony on Friday night a reception was held at the nurses' residence of the Royal Alex hospital. We are sure Miss Ida Johnson, the superintendent of nurses, must feel very proud seeing the girls graduate. She has trained many nurses since she has been superintendent at the hospital. Many trained before that are still doing good work throughout our province and elsewhere.

Of the graduates, Doreen Stone is at Stettler, Marion Filkie at the Camsell in Edmonton, Margaret Graham at Lac la Biche Health Unit. We do not know where Lillian Woywitka also of Vermilion, is employed. Good luck girls. Thanks again for all your kindness Peggy, Geraldine, Eleanor and Erna. It will never be forgotten.

We were sorry to see in the last Standard where a former Vermilion business man and a great worker for the Old Timers, in the person of Mr Chas. Robinson had passed away. 'Charlie' as he was known to so many was a real old timer of the Vermilion district and saw our country develop through good times and bad. One by one our pioneers are being called home to their well-earned rest. We extend to Mrs. Robinson and family our deepest sympathy in their hour of sorrow.

Service was held at the church on Sunday evening when forty-seven gathered to hear Mr. Smith. The ladies and some men came to help at a bee last Tuesday and cleaned up the church. It was spic and span for service on Sunday. Church will be held at 7:30 each Sunday so plan to attend folks, the Sundays soon slip by.

Mrs. Gibson and Mrs. Cruthers had a birthday supper at Cruthers on Sunday when 23 sat down. Mrs. Gibson had her birthday on the first and Mrs Cruthers on the 7th so they combine to make it a jolly occasion. May you both enjoy many more happy birthdays ladies.

The W. W. I. are sponsoring another shipment of old woollens to Fairfields. Mrs. Roy Dibben is the shipper. Please have your woollens in to her before July 18th and everyone is welcome to ship with us. Please bring money with your shipment.

Preparations Underway For Greatest Fair Yet

Vermilion Fair To Be Gala Event; Re-union Days – July 26, 27, 28

Vermilion's annual summer fair will be a gala event when the gates open on July 26, 27 and 28 and all former Vermilion people are extended a most cordial invitation to come back to Vermilion and enjoy the pleasure of greeting many others who lived here in days gone by. Already several people, now residing in British Columbia, have signified their intention of paying a visit to Vermilion in late July and all may be assured of a very genuine welcome.

Plans are well advanced for further beautifying the fair grounds and new permanent judging rings are to be erected in order to avoid the use of unsightly snow fence; a tree plantation along the entire north side of the spacious grounds is coming along well and every effort is being made to maintain the fine exhibition plant. Plans call for the setting up of picnic grounds in the north-west section of the area so that patrons coming from a distance may enjoy outdoor meals during the fair.

It is anticipated that special attention will be paid to a Provincial Shorthorn show, application for which has been made to the Shorthorn Association. If this plan carries through as expected there will be some eighty of the finest Shorthorn cattle in Alberta on display. Vermilion is also taking the lead in staging, for the first time outside the cities, a "Cutting Horse" demonstration series which is expected to draw wide interest. The Provincial Association is co-operating, and cattlemen from all over the west will be in attendance to see this unusual and interesting show which will be staged in front of the grandstand in specially prepared rings.

More than 125 young farm boys and girls will attend the annual Summer Camp at the Provincial School of Agriculture. Applications for the camp are now being received and all who are interested are urged to place their applications at once as applications are accepted in the order received and each year a number of young people are disappointed in not being able to attend by reason of late applications. A preference will be given to those who have not previously attended and in no case can an application be accepted from those who have attended twice before.

Jimmie Sullivan, prominent Canadian midway operator is to be on hand with the best midway ever and the Chas. Zemaier Attractions office of Chicago, Ill., will provide the de luxe grandstand attractions. The program this year will hold much in the way of thrills and altogether Vermilion's 51st annual exhibition will provide something of interest for all.

The School Fair, which has developed to a remarkable degree in recent years, through the co-operation of teachers of the several School Divisions in this section of the province, promises to continue to draw wide interest and a cordial invitation is given to all teachers and pupils to show school and other work. Entries for school work may be turned in to the secretary's office at the end of June and arrangements will be made to place and judge the exhibits. Attention of all school pupils is drawn to the substantial special prizes given by prominent Vermilion business firms. A copy of the prize list will be mailed to anyone interested on request.

Despite rising costs of all phases of operation the Board has decided to maintain advance tickets at 5 for $1. These tickets are good for both gate and grandstand and [illegible] cost entertainment for all fair patrons. Vermilion is the only fair in Canada known to be using advance tickets on such a reasonable basis and directors believe that family groups should be admitted at the most reasonable cost possible, so when making plans for your summer entertainment, make sure to include a visit to Vermilion's big fair on July 26, 27 and 28.

Monday, May 21 Dominion Holiday

Next Monday, May 21st, has been declared a Dominion-wide statutory holiday. It is known as Victoria Day and takes the place of the former May 24th holiday, being celebrated on the Monday previous to the 24th. Stores, schools, offices and most business places will be closed in Vermilion that day. Thursday, May 24th is not a holiday.

Taylor and Cooper Elected Officials Of School Board

At the regular meeting of the Vermilion School Board, Don Taylor was unanimously moved to the chair, with Ashley Cooper being appointed secretary.

Mr Taylor thus commences his 20th year as a member of the school board, and for the past 13 years has been chairman. Mr. Cooper commences his 13th year as member of the local board. The body is completed by trustees C N Brennan, Ernest Schurman and Obert Gunderson.

The election of board officials was held over from the March monthly meeting due to discussions at that time of teacher requirements for the September term with school superintendent S. D. Simonson.

OFFICIALS ANNOUNCE PLANS FOR '56 FAIR

E. M. STEWART President of the Vermilion Agricultural Society

B C HECKBERT, Secy-Manager Vermilion Agricultural Society

Many Business Matters Discussed by B. of T.

Sec.-Manager Of Retail Association Is Guest Speaker At Luncheon

Mr. Jack Robinson, secretary-manager of the Alberta Retail Association, was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Board of Trade last Wednesday. Mr. Robinson was introduced by Mr. Ron Williams.

The speaker expressed surprise at the large attendance at what he understood was a regular weekly meeting. This in itself was quite unusual among Boards of Trade. The attendance spoke well for the interest and co-operation of the business men of the town. Every town needs an active board of trade but the Board needs co-operation to make it fully effective. Mr. Robinson then addressed his remarks more particularly to the retailers present, giving them many ideas on what the buying public expects of merchants, and how these expectations can be fully met. He touched on both interior and exterior appearance of stores, displays and their availability to the customer, neat appearing, courteous and helpful clerks; competitive prices; good value for their money. Customers expect all of these and many more. Happy business men mean a happy town and a happy place to live. When people think of shopping make them think of Vermilion.

Mr Robinson was thanked by Mr. A. M. West and Mr. Boake.

CLEAN UP CAMPAIGN

Warren Rosequist reported that the date set for the pick-up day in the clean-up campaign was Wednesday, May 23. The town council was arranging for trucks and the whole project would be publicized in the Standard next week.

PUBLIC BANQUET

E. A. Locke stated that a public banquet would be held on Monday evening, May 28, and that the Hon A. J Hooke, noted as an entertaining speaker, would be the guest of the Board. Tickets are now on sale at $1.50 and everyone is invited to attend.

Salk Vaccine For School Beginners

No child may receive the vaccine unless a consent is signed by the parent. For this reason it is necessary that at least one parent accompany the child.

Two C.G.I.T. Members Graduate

JOYCE ARMSTRONG KAYE SIMONSON

A highlight in the lives of two young ladies, Joyce Armstrong, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Norman H Armstrong, and Kaye Simonson, daughter of Mr and Mrs. S. D. Simonson, was their graduation from Canadian Girls in Training which took place in the United church Sunday May 6th, at 7 30 p.m. It was a beautiful and inspiring service.

The C.G.I.T. entered from the back of the church singing "We Would See Jesus, Lo, His Star is Shining," and took their places in the choir loft.

Ruth Beatty, the departmental president, conducted the service. Margaret Wilson led in prayer, and Margaret Goodwin was the organist.

Florence Rooks gave a review of the Christian Leadership course which she had attended at Alberta College during Easter week.

Donna Cooper wished the graduates every success in the future. She spoke of the contribution that Joyce and Kaye had made to the group and to the church.

Mrs E M Stewart, the departmental superintendent, conducting the graduation exercises presented each girl with a diploma and a beautiful red rose, accompanied by fitting remarks.

Joyce and Kaye responded by answering the question "What does C.G.I.T. mean to me?", each concluding with a fitting poem.

Margaret Wilson, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Clarence Wilson, while not old enough to graduate, had filled all the other requirements. As Margaret will not be with the group another year, Mrs. Stewart presented her with a rose also.

Following the graduation service the girls served cookies and coffee in the church hall to the congregation.

Citizens Are Urged To Co-operate In Town-Wide Clean Up Wednesday

Preparations are well underway for a town-wide clean-up with pick up day set for Wednesday, May 23. On this day a fleet of trucks will converge on every part of town and cart away the garbage. Garbage meanwhile should be piled at the rear of each person's property in easy access from the lane so that no time may be lost by the pick-up men on their rounds.

Each and every householder and business proprietor is expected to clean every bit of debris up around their premises and have it piled for the pick-up on May 23. Clean up is more important than ever this year as the Battle of the Rats has begun. In order to remain rat free the Town of Vermilion must offer them no harborage or points to hole up and no garbage for food.

The clean-up is organized by the civic committee of the Board of Trade headed by Warren Rosequist and carried out in co-operation with the town council.

Const. Dennis Norton Leaves For Jasper

Constable Dennis Norton of the R.C.M.P. was the honored guest last Thursday evening at a party held at the Legion hall. Some sixty friends gathered to wish him the very best as he leaves Vermilion to accept his new posting at Jasper.

Local talent provided entertainment and everyone enjoyed themselves immensely. The highlight of the evening came when the O.C. was called upon to decorate Const. Norton with three golden medals to signify his three years commendable service. A lovely Gladstone bag and a brief case were presented to him to express Vermilion's gratitude in having had Dennis here. Everyone joins in wishing him every success at his new posting.

News Editor Attending Newsman Civil Defence Conference At Arnprior, Ont.

Ashley H. Cooper, editor of the Vermilion Standard left for the Canadian Civil Defence College at Arnprior, Ontario, by TCA Saturday evening where he will attend a special Orientation short course in Civil Defence for the representatives of the Press, [illegible]. The course will be held from May 14 to May 17.

The course is designed to ensure that the press has ample opportunity to examine and discuss Civil Defence. Under the press conference plan, newsmen from coast to coast are brought to Arnprior and given an opportunity to study and discuss with top-flight civil and military defence officers the problems that face Canada's Civil Defence planners today. After a short lecture series designed to "fill in" candidates on Civil Defence background, newsmen are given unlimited opportunity to question and probe into all aspects of Civil Defence. The first meeting of this type was held in October 1955, when seventy newsmen, radio and television news reporters, weekly newspapermen and magazine editors attended a three day discussion at the federal college.

MOST overworked of pious phrases in political lexicon is phrase which says this or that or the other contemplated course of action is, or is not, "in the public interest."

Canadians are reminded in Budget Speech that tax reductions at present time are contrary to the public interest. In next breath finance minister seeks to convey impression that extra outlay of $117 million for civil servants and members of armed forces is in public interest.

Purchase of four paintings at cost not far short of one million dollars for National Gallery is deemed to be in public interest. So is heavy subsidization by taxpayers of CBC.

List of occasions on which phrase is invoked, directly or by plain implication, is inexhaustible. Nor is it exclusive prerogative of any political party.

Constant resort to this hackneyed phrase in political circles suggests that politicians really believe that average Canadian is incapable of knowing what is or is not in the public interest.

Such attitude is gross insult to public's intelligence. Given the facts, average citizen is just as capable of deciding issues on their merits as honorable members of House of Commons.

The Standard does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by correspondents.

Clandonald, Alberta

Editor, Vermilion Standard.

Dear Sir:

Having completed my Red Cross Appeal in Clandonald and forwarded the proceeds $65.20 to the provincial division I would like to thank all those who contributed to this very worthy cause.

I am also pleased to pass on a very hearty invitation to Red Cross members to visit the Calgary Hospital for Crippled Children.

Sincerely yours,
R. E. Stanley,

OTTAWA FOLLY

It's a strange and confusing age we live in, and recent events in Ottawa make the doings of the Hollywood stars seem restrained and normal. The prima donnas of Ottawa heave money around so freely they make even Cecil B. DeMille's press agents look like pikers.

A recent example is the Trans-Canada Pipeline deal, in which the Minister of Trade and Commerce has elected to star. The "chosen instrument" of the government of Canada is dominated by Tennessee Gas Transmission Company, and has a record of broken promises as long as both my arms. It has let down Mr Howe himself and all the people of Canada. It ought to be tossed of the set and a new cast of players selected; but apparently Ottawa — once engaged in an act of folly — will never, never retract.

Unless the people demand it!

Unfortunately for the Ottawa prima donnas it is now pretty generally known that a new cast of players is readily available. Those in the known claim that the Frank McMahon interests, which built the successful West Coast Transmission line, offered to build the pipeline from Alberta, through Winnipeg, over top of the lakes to Montreal, without any government financing or guarantee of any description. It is rumored that Mr McMahon was willing to post a half-million dollar bond that he'd complete the whole line by 1958; that he'd build the line as far as Winnipeg by this winter.

But the prima donnas hate to admit they've been let down by their "chosen intrument." Now, on top of all the other inducements they've offered to Trans-Canada, they propose to lend it $80,000,000 of public money to get started.

This sort of activity has generated a good deal of heat and dismay even among Liberals. A Manitoba MLA, Jack St. John, has asked Ottawa for an explanation. Liberal newspapers, too, are beginning to ask mighty sharp questions. Manitoba is convinced it could have natural gas flowing through Winnipeg by next winter without a cent of public money expended, and without further dilly-dallying with the Tennessee people, in whom they've lost all confidence.

William Lobay, Alberta supervisor of pest control, states that damage done by the warble fly to Alberta livestock during the past year cost farmers over $3 million. According to packers, infestation was unusually high this year and great quantities of choice meat cuts were ruined.

GROUP PICTURE W.A. TAKEN

On Wednesday evening the Wildmere United Church W.A. met for their first meeting at Preston Central school with ten members present. The president, Mrs. [illegible] took the devotional period. Mrs. Roy Dibben will lead the devotional for the June meeting. It is planned that someone will attend the conference at Lloydminster on May 30, if possible. Mr. Smith, our student minister, came and took a group picture during the evening. The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction, and a nice lunch was served.

The roar of tractors can be heard early and late these days as the farmers till the ground and seed the grain. Several are through with their wheat seeding already. No sign of the trees coming in leaf yet, but the grass is beginning to turn green. The ice went out of our lake on May 11th this year.

MR. PLANT VISITS DISTRICT

On Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. A. Holte had open house as Mr. Plant, our student minister for two summers, stopped off for a day on his way to Fort Assiniboine, Alberta, where he will spend the summer. It was nice seeing him again and about 45 called during the afternoon and evening, coming from Auburndale, Battleview, Wildmere and Basswood. Everyone wished him the very best in his new field where he has seven charges. He left on Friday via Wainwright for Edmonton.

SHOW AT PRESTON SCHOOL

The teacher and pupils put on a picture show at Preston Central on Friday evening and it was well attended. The picture "Ivory Hunters" was a good show and was enjoyed by everyone. It is hoped they can have another show in the not too distant future.

SERVICE WELL ATTENDED

Sunday evening saw our little church well filled when 32 attended. We were pleased to see Mrs. Dibben Sr and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dibben and family, all of town, out to the service. They had spent the afternoon visiting relatives in Basswood. Mr. Smith spoke on the "Stranger of Galilee", telling of the life of Jesus from the time He was 12 years old. Come out to church and hear Mr. Smith folks.

Mrs. J. Wilson went to Edmonton Friday evening to spend a few days with her mother, Mrs. Findlay. Mrs. Wilson nearly always spends Mother's day with her mother. She returned Sunday evening.

It was nice to have a short chat with Mrs. Moore on Saturday. It had been six weeks since they were in Vermilion. Hope to see you oftener now.

Mr and Mrs. J. Bauman and family of Preston Central school spent the week end with Mr Bauman's parents at Elk Point.

Thanks, Mrs. L. Mayhew, for the papers you sent me telling of our niece's graduation. It was greatly appreciated.

"GREEN ACRES"

HORSES ARE SCARCE

I can count on the fingers of one hand the number of colts I saw last year. Horses are in demand and prices range from $50.00 to $250.00 each. All these prices have to be raised profitably on the cheaper lands. It might be a smart idea to raise a few horses again.

MASTER FARM FAMILY

Again this year I am asking for entries in the Master Farm Family Programme. It is a very great honor for a farm family to win this award and a great credit to the district. All that is needed is for someone in the local community to nominate a family which they think has a chance to win. Let me know if you have any family in mind.

AT CHECK'S ON THE FARM

It sure hurts something awful to get your hand wound up in a power take off. Tractors are being turned over every week now. Let's all be more careful and let's make our district an accident free community.

STOP THOSE GULLIES

It is later than you think. Those gullies, and who hasn't got them, are getting deeper every year. Now is the time to seed them down to brome grass before they get any deep it is a job for a bull dozer. Get a circular from this office on gulley control.

SWEET CLOVER FOR FEED

Don't forget to seed down some sweet clover this year. Any one raising cattle or sheep ought to have 20 or more acres of sweet clover hay to put up every year. No one growing sweet clover needs to worry about a feed shortage. The seed is cheaper, only $1.50 per acre. It is available from merchants and seed plants in every town.

PESTICIDES ARE POISONOUS

Nearly all chemicals used for control of insects and plant diseases are very poisonous. But we have to use them if we are going to survive in this modern world. Read the directions carefully and be very careful. Hide the chemicals away from your children, your wife and other animals.

St. Saviour's Club Hold Ladies' Night

A supper at the Brunswick hotel followed by a most enjoyable evening in the parish hall brought to a close the 1955-56 season of the Anglican Men's club. The meeting took the form of a Ladies' Night, and the program which followed the business of the meeting was in the hands of Jack Knoode and Tom Watts. During the business session it was announced that there was a shortfall of $25 between the club being formed in Lloydminster this fall and that members from St. Saviour's would probably be invited to assist in the formation of the new club. An innovation was the suggestion that a golf tournament be arranged for members and their wives. Garden Park agreed to look into the possibilities and a good number of members promised to support this effort. A new member, Mr. S. C. Purdret, who has recently taken up residence in the town, was welcomed by President Jack Knoode.

During the social part of the evening, a number of bands of Harrowers were played during which ladies were handicapped by having to play while wearing oversize gardening gloves. A similar but severe handicap was added, when they were also forbidden to talk during the play!

The evening was rounded off in joyably with a short session of dancing to records.

Mannville Couple Feted On 25th Anniversary

A surprise party was held by relatives on Sunday, May 13th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Swain on the occasion of their twenty-fifth anniversary.

The table was laid with white linen cloth, two bouquets of spring flowers and two anniversary cakes. A very delicious lunch was served, after which Mrs. Don Legg, on behalf of the group, presented the happy couple with a purse of silver dollars. Mr. and Mrs. Swain thanked everyone for the party and their gifts.

Cards and gifts were also received from many friends. Phone calls came from Mr. C. Swain Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ben Arnold of B. C., Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Bailt of Edmonton who were unable to attend. Others not able to be present were Mr. and Mrs. Sid Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Angus Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Lon Donaldson and Mrs. George Wilson.

Those present were Mr and Mrs. Don Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Arnold, Mr and Mrs. E. Wilkinson and family, Mrs. A. J. Wilkinson, Mr and Mrs. M. Johnson and family, Mr. and Mrs. P. Hawley and family, Mr and Mrs. Maurice Smith and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. Swain and family, Mr. and Mrs. D. Legg.

Over 300 Attend Islay Amateur Program

(Held over from last week)

In spite of weather and roads that were not favorable for travel, the 12th annual Islay Amateur Hour was most successful. The program, sponsored by the Islay Community Association, took place on Friday, May 4th, in the Islay hall. There were over 300 persons present, some of whom had come from many miles away.

Mr. Inman Sr. acted as M. C. for the first half of the program, and entertained the audience with his lively little tales between numbers. There were 20 contestants, who presented a varied and interesting program.

Mrs. Jim Smith, Mr. Jack Brown and Mr. Jack Bauman, all of Vermilion, were the judges.

It was a surprise to the participants to learn that Mr. Logan had recorded the program on tape, and several availed themselves of the opportunity to go over to the school and find out how they sounded.

The contestants were judged on six points: Suitability of the number, quality of performance; showmanship and stage department, emotional state, finish and audience reaction. In announcing the prize winners the judging committee remarked on the difficulty of their decisions because of the excellence of the renditions. The following were the successful contestants

Junior vocal: 1. Jeanne Axley of Islay. 2 Jean and Betty Hannon, Islay. 3. Marlene Bauer, Vermilion.

Senior vocal: 1. Mr. and Mrs. Vern Funnell, Vermilion: 2. Violet Atkinson and Francis Duschene: 3. Jimmie Mervigan, Islay.

Health Unit Notes

SCHOOL HEALTH PROGRAM

During the past seven months the staff of the Health Unit has been visiting the schools carrying out the routine annual inspection of pupils. The policy has been for the Medical Officer to examine all children in Grades I and V and any children referred by the nurses, teachers, or parents; the nurses examined all children who were found to have a defect at a previous examination. The pupils mentioned above had a complete physical examination and vision test. All pupils in Grades I and IX were tuberculin patch tested. A positive result to this test does not mean that the child has tuberculosis but only that he or she has been exposed to tuberculosis at some time. Any pupil who gave a positive result had a chest X-ray, free of charge. Family contacts of positive reactors were also patch tested and had a chest X-ray, if the result was positive.

Whenever children are found to have defects at the examination, the parents are notified by letter and are advised to take the child to the family doctor, dentist or optician, whichever is appropriate. In some urgent cases or where the letter to the parents has been ignored, the nurses make a visit to the child's home. There is still far too high a proportion of parents who make no effort to have these defects remedied. There are in many cases difficulties such as long distances to travel and delay in getting appointments, but if a real effort is made these can be overcome.

In order to get the most from school, a child must be in the best possible state of health. It is not possible for children to do their best when they have a mouthful of rotten teeth, enlarged tonsils and adenoids causing catarrhal deafness, or defective vision.

The two types of defects most commonly found are defective teeth and vision—both can be easily corrected. Only too often are children found in school with a vision of 20-40 or 20-80 and are not wearing glasses; anything written on the blackboard must appear as an indistinct blur to these children. Much of the general ill health found in late childhood and in teenagers can be attributed to carious teeth.

During 1955, the Health Unit staff examined 3,715 school children and the number of children with different types of defects are as follows:

Defective Vision	712
Eye Disease	7
Defective Teeth	730
Defective Hearing	19
Ear Disease	26
Enlarged Tonsils	273
Enlarged Glands	66
Malnutrition, Anaemia	11
Faulty Posture	33
Skin Diseases	76
Nervous Disorders	12

From these figures, it can be seen that 1,985 children, which 55% of all children examined, had some defects. This is an appallingly high figure but luckily, only a very few of these defects cannot be completely corrected.

Once again we would emphasize the point that to give your children the best possible chance at school, make sure their health is good.

BABIES TAKE PICTURES?

Maybe they don't really, but with today's camera equipment a bud can take pictures. There are cameras ranging from those which need nothing more than the pressing of a button, to the complicated pieces of specialized equipment used by commercial photographers.

Even commercial photographers make use of the simpler type of cameras. All of us cannot afford to own six or seven cameras, but we can afford to own one.

There is no pleasure like the pleasure of remembering the pleasant moments of our life. Photography helps us to capture those moments, to remember, to share them with our family and friends, to bring far away loved ones closer. With modern toy cameras there is no reason why anyone should not enjoy the thrill of picture-taking.

Your druggist knows cameras. He can help you to select the one which will best suit your needs in the price range you wish to pay. He knows the film for that camera. And when you bring him your roll he will have it developed for you. Let your druggist help you to enjoy a new world through the eye of your camera.

Salvation Army A Friend In Need To Wayward Youths

Although they vow they are "going straight" there are some lads from prison cells about whom the Salvation Army worker is sometimes a bit dubious.

But once in a while a young man comes to the Welfare Office, following release, with a clean-cut expression and eyes that convey earnestness and upright intention. Such was a strapping big chap who had a long talk with the Director of Welfare.

When the Major evidenced some surprise that such a man should have been involved in trouble, X told him how it had occurred. Quite innocently he had been driving a car in which he and some other lads had been out for a lark, but it turned out that the other fellows had used him to further their plans for a hold-up much to his consternation.

He, of course, was held as an accomplice and served part of his sentence before being paroled for good behaviour. He told the major he had accepted Christ as his Saviour and intended to be a better man than ever before.

He was given material aid until such time as he would be paid by the company for which he was working.

Farewell Party Held For Miss G. Nelson

MANNVILLE. — A farewell party was held for Miss G. Nelson in the Mannville Alliance Tabernacle on May 3rd. Bible games were played and choruses sung, after which a lunch was served. Miss Nelson was presented with a gift from the Sunday School and a purse of money from the church congregation.

Miss Nelson will soon be on her way to India where she will be teaching school.

Serving Agricultural Alberta

The Provincial School of Agriculture and Home Economics located at Vermilion, like those at Olds and Fairview, is devoted to the Agricultural interests of the community.

The basic work of the school is presentation of vocational courses in farming and homemaking for older boys and girls from rural homes. The well-equipped classrooms, shops and laboratories, the staff of instructors with specialized training in their various fields as well as the school farm and the modern student residences provide exceptional opportunities for the education of farm young people.

In addition to the regular courses for older boys and girls the school is the centre for a wide variety of community activities. Various organizations employ facilities of the school for meetings, conventions, picnics and field days. A program of Short Courses in mid-summer brings several hundreds of 4-H Club members and other farm young people to the school.

The popular Farm Women's week and the Alumni Reunion attract a good attendance from widely scattered points throughout Central Alberta.

With springtime in the air and the growing season underway there is always considerable interest in gardening. The spacious grounds at the school provide practical demonstrations of planning and planting and the use that can be made of lawns, flowers, trees and shrubs to protect and beautify home and farmstead surroundings. Casual visitors, those driving through the grounds, and those seeking horticultural information reflect a wide interest in this part of the school's work.

The school farm is operated primarily to illustrate recommended farming practices. It is neither a model farm nor an experimental farm but serves as a teaching laboratory for the animal husbandry classes in the regular winter courses. Crop rotation, soil management and tillage methods, as well as the care and feeding of various farm animals, are all kept closely in line with the latest recommendations of agricultural authorities. Information and demonstrations relating to these practices are always of keen interest to the farming public.

Cash Advances on Stored Grain Possible This Fall

EDMONTON. — Chances are bright that a generally acceptable plan of cash advances on farm stored grain can be worked out by this fall, feels A. W. Platt, President of the Farmers' Union of Alberta.

This optimistic view was expressed by Mr. Platt on his return from a meeting of western farm organizations, held in Saskatoon on May 1 under the auspices of the Western Conference of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

"I am quite hopeful that we will be able to come up with a plan which will meet with the approval of farmers of Western Canada and at the same time, one the federal government will be prepared to institute", declared the FUA president.

Some four different schemes were developed at the meeting as practical methods for solving the present farm cash shortage. Because additional information had to be secured on a number of points brought out during discussion it was not possible to settle definitely on any of these schemes, Mr. Platt stated. As a result, a four member inner committee was named to investigate the various proposals advanced. They will later submit a report to the central committee setting forth the most feasible scheme which could be presented to the government in Ottawa.

Mr. Platt was chosen to represent the three western farm unions on this committee. Others include J. D. Wilton, a Manitoba farmer representing the Federation of Agriculture; J. E. Brownlee or alternate, U.G.G.; Charles Gibbings, Kindersley, Sask., will speak for the Wheat Pools.

The committee hopes to have a draft plan ready for submission to farm organization representatives within the next six weeks.

New Fish & Game Branch At Cold Lake

An organization meeting of the new branch of the Alberta Fish and Game Association at the R. C. A. F. Station, Cold Lake, was held recently.

D. E. Forsland, Superintendent of Game, Edmonton, gave a very interesting talk on conservation. George Ayre, Northern Representative of the Alberta Fish and Game Association gave a short talk on the parent organization.

Election of officers was held, with the following executive chosen: F.L. Many, President; S.L. Fisher, Vice-president; F.S. O'Neil, Secretary-treasurer; and as Committee Chairmen: F.S. Jenkins, Tame Birds; F.L. Bradley, Angling; F.S. Huyck, Big Game; Cpl. McQuarrie, Birds and Animals; J. Chalmers, Public Relations; F.S. Beaver-Jones, Entertainment.

After the election three very fine films were shown, while between films 17 door prizes were given to the holders of lucky program numbers.

All are welcome to join in the meetings and the mammoth Fish Derby, date to be announced later.

Four cargoes of wheat bound for Russia were loaded out of Vancouver last week and two more boats are expected early this month.

Salvation Army Cares For Homeless

A 73-year-old man who slept in hallways and furnace rooms of apartment buildings because he had no one to care for him was released by police when a vagrancy charge was withdrawn.

The man had spent a week in police cells and when questioned said he did not mind because he had a place to sleep, everyone treated him well and the meals were good.

Police were called to the apartment by a woman who said she found a man sleeping in the furnace room of her apartment. She said the man ran away and entered another building. There, police found him, curled up on the floor near the warm furnace.

The man told police he has no relatives and has been living on his old age pension. He said that for some time he has been sleeping in various buildings. Police checked their files and noted the man had been found on numerous occasions in lanes and sleeping in strange places.

The Magistrate questioned the man and learned that the Salvation Army will care for him.

Funeral Services Held For Wayne Bruce Linton, Former Islay Man

(Streetsville Ontario, Review)

A large number of friends and neighbours paid final tribute to a devoted friend, when funeral service was held Monday afternoon in Trinity Anglican church, for Wayne Bryce Linton, who passed away Friday at the Queen Elizabeth hospital Toronto.

The late Mr. Linton was born at Humboldt, Saskatchewan, in 1922 the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander W. Linton. During the second World War he served as a Flying Officer with the R. C. A. Sales Tax Possibility As Municipal Aid

EDMONTON. — There is a strong possibility that Albertans will be paying a sales tax on all purchases within a year or so.

Mind you, nothing definite has been decided yet, and it isn't likely that anything definite will be announced for some time. But indications point persistently toward the introduction of a sales tax.

Why? Because the provincial government is in the process of developing a "new deal" in municipal financing, aimed at giving municipal councils enough revenue to make them self-supporting and eliminating the present unwieldy program of government grants.

More information leaked out last week on what the official line of thought is. The source was Mayor J. M. Stone of Jasper place, a town on Edmonton's western outskirts. As an official of the Union of Alberta Municipalities, Mayor Stone has been sitting in on financial talks between high government officials and municipal representatives.

Addressing a public meeting in his town, he said the government is considering measures which will reduce property taxes, along with the introduction of a sales tax to make up the loss in revenue.

We immediately got in touch with Provincial Treasurer E. W. Hinman and asked if this was so.

Mr. Hinman's reply was something like this: The government has no set policy on the matter, and is not recommending the introduction of a sales tax. The government wants to persuade municipalities to agree to some form of taxation which will relieve part of the burden now carried by property owners.

Mr. Hinman's statement did not differ greatly from public statements he has made previously. On the surface, it means only that the government wants to change the existing financial setup.

But reading between the lines, some observers believe the government doesn't want to take all the responsibility for introducing any new form of taxation. If a sales tax is introduced, the government wants to be able to say the municipalities asked for it.

Put in a different way, perhaps the government doesn't want to implement any major changes until it consults with the elected representatives of the people and obtains public opinion.

Since the recent session of the legislature, government officials have been saying they believe property owners bear too much of the tax burden. There probably isn't a property owner in the province who won't agree.

So the idea is to introduce reforms which will make "everybody" not just property owners — pay for municipal services, schools and utilities. The government appears to be leaning toward a sales tax as the device to accomplish this.

On the surface it sounds fair enough. It will involve everyone. But Alberta property owners will want to know first what they stand to gain. How much will property taxes be reduced? Will it mean a real saving to the property owner, or will a sales tax mean he has to pay more than ever? These questions likely will be answered before anything is done.

The province also has not given up the idea, introduced a year ago, of taking industries off municipal tax rolls and establishing a provincial industrial tax. One effect of such action would be to eliminate the competition between communities, which have been known to offer tax concessions to attract industry.

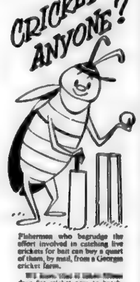
No one knows yet exactly what will happen. Meetings between the province and the municipalities are continuing. Municipal officials have been asked to inform the public that drastic changes will be made.

Some observers see the whole procedure as insurance against the day when revenue from oil development won't be so buoyant. The heavy profits from mineral rights have made possible the program of municipal aid. When profits slacken off the money will have to come from somewhere else and the municipalities will have to become accustomed to the idea of paying for everything they get.

The government hopes to wash its hands of the grant program by the next session of the legislature. Presumably revenue collected from any new source will be distributed among the municipalities on the basis of need.

Albertans will be eagerly awaiting the results of the "new deal".

CRICKET ANYONE?



Fishermen who begrudge the effort involved in catching live crickets for bait can buy a quart of them, by mail, from a Georgia cricket farm.

... days for cricket eggs to hatch, eight weeks for the insects to grow to bait size. We note, too, that the brooders where they bask about in 85° temperature, lapping up chicken mash, are made of aluminum. But we confess we're not too surprised. It simply means that this busy ... in the busy housing industry — this time providing clean, warm, pleasant ... crickets. You see aluminum everywhere these days!

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

Really effortless touring depends on good driving habits becoming so ingrained that they are as automatic as breathing.

But before your driving habits are formed, try to eliminate these common everyday faults which experts say are among the most frequent causes of accidents. Here they are:—

(1) Failure to reduce speed on streets lined with parked cars.

(2) Entering an intersection the instant the light turns green, without looking.

(3) Depending on the driver ahead to signal what he intends to do.

(4) "Tailing" the car ahead too closely.

(5) Relying on just the rear-view mirror when making a turn.

(6) Turning up the bright lights to "get even" with an approaching driver who has his headlights on full.

To be a skilled motorist, concentrate on a mental list of driving do's and don'ts—until they actually become "second nature".

Princess Anne W. I.

The regular meeting of the Princess Anne W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. R. Strome with ten members present and one visitor, Mrs. G. Thronson.

The roll call was "My Favorite Farming Interest". A letter and pamphlet were read re objectionable comic books and other reading for children and teen-agers. A discussion followed and it was agreed that although many of the horror and crime comics had been taken off the market, a keen watch should be kept on what our children buy and read.

We were reminded by a letter and other literature that this is Mental Health Week and how great the need is for further help in this field. A donation was made to the A.C.W.W. travel fund.

A bake sale was arranged for June 9th to be held in Peggy's Beauty shop building.

The topic was a paper on Agriculture by Mrs. Armstrong which gave us some very useful and timely garden hints. This was read by Mrs. McKay as Mrs. Armstrong was unable to attend the meeting.

Five First Aid questions were asked on this month's chapter of study and satisfactorily answered.

The social was a quiz contest "Animal, Vegetable or Mineral" given by Mrs. Richardson and won by Mrs. Scarfe.

The meeting closed with the repeating of the Mizpah after which a tasty lunch was served by Mrs. McIntyre and Mrs. G. Mead.

Next meeting is at the home of Mrs. F. West.

Like so many discerning motorists, you will discover unequalled motoring pleasure in the handling ease and surge-ahead power that a Chrysler provides. Merely touch a button, step on the gas, and you're off. And this superlative motorcar demonstrates the engineering superiority for which Chrysler has long been famous. Chrysler, for instance, has increased its stop-power with new centre-plane brakes, to keep pace with its V-8 "go".

Although there are many such features that distinguish a Chrysler, its worth cannot be determined by performance alone. The better measure, we think you'll agree, is the rich satisfaction you get when you own a Chrysler.

Visit your dealer soon. You'll be pleased to discover how little it costs to get so much more in a Chrysler.

Municipal Cleaning Plants Result in Raising Quality of Seed.

Good seed in your drill box this year will serve two purposes. The quality of your crop will be higher and the provincial average for quality seed will be higher. A seed survey is being done again this year with samples being taken from drill boxes from the Fairview district in the north to the Taber district in the south.

According to Robert L. Pharis, Alberta's Supervisor of Crop Improvement, seed surveys give a fairly reliable picture of the type of seed being sown in Alberta. While past surveys have not shown the quality of seed we would like, says Mr. Pharis, there has been a steady improvement.

The major improvement in seed quality has occurred in the many areas served by a municipal seed cleaning plant, Mr. Pharis reports. The greater amount of quality seed sown in these areas raised the provincial average of No. 1 seed samples in 1955 to 38%. Sixty six per cent of the seed sampled that had been cleaned at municipal seed cleaning plants graded No. 1 seed.

Pleasant Valley News

(Held over from last week)

Spring, beautiful spring, the birds are singing and the sun is getting warmer day by day.

It was a lovely day on Saturday, the day on which Mr. and Mrs. Van den Dolder celebrated their golden wedding. They both looked happy and young. Mrs. Van den Dolder wore a powder blue dress with a yellow corsage. There were about 62 callers during the afternoon and evening. Shirley Fortune was in charge of the guest book. Mrs. Gordon Parker, Mrs. Ford and Mrs. Albert Van den Dolder were in charge of the lovely lunch that was served. A lovely three-tiered cake centred the table. There were some lovely flowers and gifts. May we wish you both many more happy years together. The family lived in our Pleasant Valley district for many years. It was nice seeing Mr. Bowser, and Lila.

All the country ladies were able to get to town and were looking well and radiant after the long winter. It's just like a dream isn't it? Heard someone say, "Hi there, you look like a plucked chicken"—who was it? Then again was heard, Hi, you wintered well, your cooking certainly agreed with you". Everyone was smiling and looked so happy.

Mr. and Mrs. Shaw spent a few days with Doreen and Gordon. The Parker family visited at Mrs. Jim Gould's home on Sunday.

The Reid's were supper guests at Christie's.

Lloyd and Betty were at the writer's home also.

J. Hawker Heads Farm Schools

The appointment of J. E. Hawker as superintendent of provincial schools of agriculture and home economics was announced Tuesday by Hon. L. C. Halmrast, minister of agriculture.

Mr. Hawker, who has been principal of the Fairview School of Agriculture, will take over the duties of the former superintendent, R. M. Putnam, now deputy minister of agriculture, and will assume his new position shortly, Mr. Halmrast said.

After attending school and receiving teacher training in Edmonton, Mr. Hawker received his bachelor of arts degree in 1939 and a B.Sc. degree in agriculture in 1941 at the University of Alberta.

He taught at the Drumheller High school until 1942, when he became instructor in field crops at the Olds School of Agriculture. In 1945 the School of Agriculture at Vermilion was re-opened and Mr. Hawker was transferred there as instructor in horticulture, a position he held until 1951, when he was appointed principal of the Fairview school.

Wildwood East

(Held over from last week)

Wildwood F.U.A. have chosen to have a picnic on Farmers' Day June 8th.

Congratulations go to the Hearty's on the arrival of a son May 4th.

Mr. Swayne is the new teacher succeeding Mrs. Bootsman.

Mr. Neville Philis of Toronto is student minister on the Wildwood-Ganton Mission field this summer. He is batching in the teacherage with Mr. Swayne.

Glad to report Mrs. D. Drysdale and Mrs. E. Shattuck home again after a sojourn in hospital.

Mr. J. G. McKay is spending the summer with his daughter Mrs. Alfred Jack who is substitute teaching at Earlie.

Mrs. J. D. Stone was hostess to the W.W.W.'s on Friday of last week. The ladies tied a quilt and Mrs. D. Jack volunteered to complete the edge. Mrs. Ernest Jack brought the box of work from the Red Cross containing many yards of flannelette and some wool to be made into children's garments.

The results of the Red Cross drive are as follows: Kitscoty $91; Earlie $25; Wildwood $68.

Mrs. R. P. Sheldon is visiting with her mother Mrs. Watt in Vermilion.

A speedy recovery is wished Mr. Norman Bowen who is hospitalized with a sore foot.

New Vegetable For The Home Gardener

Results of tests with vegetables at the Experimental Farm, Canada Department of Agriculture, Lacombe, indicate that many of the newer varieties possess superior qualities over the older standard varieties. Some of these may be worth considering in planning this year's gardening activities.

In sweet corn, Altagold and Earligold have given good results with each averaging about 90 days from the date of germination to the time they are ready for use. Dorinny, Seneca 60 and Spancross are a few days later but are dependable in most seasons.

Contender is a very high yielding green bush bean which has been earlier than such varieties as Topcrop, Tendergreen, or Stringless Green Pod. Top Notch Golden Wax is a good quality, high yielding yellow podded variety. Cherokee has given fair results, being somewhat superior in yield to Pencil Pod Black Wax. All of these varieties are suitable for freezing.

Gold Spike carrot is ideal for bunching purposes as it produces long slender roots. However, it does not size up as quickly as other varieties.

One of the newer varieties of cabbage is Canadian Acre which produces small, round, solid heads very well suited for early use.

An excellent variety of spinach that resists bolting 5 to 10 days longer than Long Standing Bloomsdale is America. Many prefer Swiss Chard as it has the advantage of being usable over a long season. Lucullus is a good variety.

Among the cucumbers, Marketer has been a dependable slicing variety. Mandarin is earlier by about seven days but is a low yielder. Mincu and Early Russian are good pickling types.

The newer hybrid onions like Autumn Spice are worth considering, as in recent tests, this variety has matured in the field from seed, and has been 12 days earlier than Yellow Globe Danvers.

More Life Insurance

There's no let-up in the quickening pace at which Mr. and Mrs. Average Canadian are buying life insurance reports The Financial Post. Continuing a lengthy trend of year-to-year gains, March life insurance sales topped $325 millions for a 14% increase over sales a year earlier.

In dollar terms the biggest increase is in ordinary life sales. These rose 14% to reach $274 millions during the month. Largest percentage jump from the year before took place in group insurance. Sales rose almost 29% above those of March 1955 and amounted to $40.6 millions. Industrial life sales dropped 15% during the month from 1955's $13.4 millions to $11 millions this year.

NEWS from LANDONVILLE

(Held over from last week)

The pupils of the Senior room of the Louise Lake school made a trip to Edmonton last Saturday. Mr. Colin West and Mr. Wynnychuk supplied the transportation. It was a long day but the children had a wonderful time. They visited the zoo, airport, University campus, the Parliament buildings, Hudson's Bay store and the bus depot. During the evening the pupils were the guests of Mr. Roy Liongar, managing director of the Sportsmen's show which was held in the Edmonton Gardens. The lectures by Provincial Conservation officials were very helpful to the Science students. The show was appreciated by all.

Mr. Bob Butz who has been visiting the district since the new year has returned to Calgary.

Mrs. Osinchuk attended the Reading Clinic which was held in Vermilion on Tuesday.

Mr. Dick Dorey and his wife motored to Edmonton to take in the Sportsmen's show.

On Sunday many friends and neighbors were down to bid the Benemillers farewell. The family left for Calgary on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Nettleton motored to Lindberg to visit Mrs. Nettleton's parents.

Mr. Marcus Tobra has purchased a home in Vermilion and hopes to move in this fall. Right now he is playing nursemaid to a number of sheep which don't seem to want to stay behind wire.

C. D.'s Big Cigar

I like the story about Hon. C. D. Howe and his Deputy Minister of Trade and Commerce, Mitchell Sharp, writes Napier Moore in The Financial Post.

The minister gets to his office early. Mr. Sharp has a daily appointment with him at 9.15. Almost invariably Mr. Howe gives him an after-breakfast cigar.

One morning the cigar was not of the conventional size. It was an unusually large cigar, a luxurious-looking, super-duper cigar. Sharp was most impressed.

"I suppose," said Mr. Howe, "that you would like to know why you are getting this cigar. I'll tell you. Today I draw my old age pension."

Milk Consumption Less

Milk, at the moment, is fighting a losing battle. The Canadian per capita consumption of fluid milk and cream in 1954 was less than a pint daily. In the meantime, sales of coffee, tea, beer, alcoholic beverages and especially soft drinks are increasing.

Dairy officials point out that price-wise, all foods have risen 124½ in the past 16 years while fluid milk has risen only 91½. It is pointed out that breweries and soft drink companies have enormous budgets for advertising and so do a better selling job.

A dairyman speaking in Montreal recently feels the cure is simply a greater selling effort on the part of the entire dairy industry.

Since it went into production in June 1950 General Motors Diesel Limited, has built locomotives for 17 Canadian customers as well as for six foreign countries.

Alberta's Natural Gas Industry : DISTRIBUTION

The network of Natural Gas pipelines criss-crossing a city or town a few feet below ground is called the "Distribution System". These lines provide gas with "local transportation" from the point at which the transmission system ends. Like the high-pressure transmission lines which bring gas from the field, these medium and low-pressure distribution mains are welded steel pipe, carefully engineered and treated against corrosion. Spreading out to every part of the community, they are your direct link with natural gas service!
With GAS you get service —we plan it that way!

Civil Defence and the New Weapons

Seventh in a series of 11 articles

The evolution of weapons with greater and greater powers of devastation has made civil defence as vital to the small community as it is to the large city. Basically, the danger threatened by war is the same as ever: destruction, death and injury. But, says F. F. Worthington, the federal civil defence co-ordinator:

"While the over-all effects of a mass saturation raid such as took place in the summer of 1943 on Hamburgh was tremendous, atomic bomb is capable of creating the same degree of destruction from one bomber and one bomb in a matter of a few minutes. In consequence, our danger is very much greater."

So civil defence today is different in many ways from that which was used during the Second World War. It has had to change as the threats of new weapons changed.

The single atomic bomb that fell on Hiroshima in August 1945, destroyed 62,000 of 90,000 buildings and damaged 6,000 more beyond repair. As a result of the bomb 80,000 of the city's 250,000 population died. The first H-bomb tested destroyed everything within three miles, severely damaged everything within seven miles and lightly damaged as far as 10 miles. More powerful bombs have since been tested.

It became apparent, says the federal co-ordinator that civil defence planning had to be revised. Emphasis was shifted from a policy of "duck and cover" to one of "evacuation" where time permits. That's where the smaller communities come in. They must be prepared to offer assistance to stricken cities.

But what really brought the small community into the changing civil defence picture was the aftermath of atomic bombs: nuclear radiation. When the fireball of an atomic blast touches the ground, it pulverizes everything, brick, steel, stone, earth in its path.

These highly radioactive particles are sucked into the air as high as 80,000 feet. Air currents catch them up and carry them until they slowly drift to the ground as "fall-out". This fall-out may cover an area 130 or more miles long and 40 miles wide, depending on air currents. The danger it presents also varies, depending on the length of time it has drifted in the sky. Animal life touched by fall-out radiation may die or become severely ill.

But this threat is far from hopeless. The radioactivity of fallout decays rapidly and danger has largely disappeared usually within 48 hours. A community could escape the danger if it were prepared. First it must have means of learning when and where the fallout may appear. Then it must be prepared to take adequate shelter, quickly, for at least 48 hours. A community would then need to know when it was safe to come out.

It was because of these new dangers to even the small out-of-the-way community that civil defence planning has been extended to include the towns and villages and farms as well.

Is the situation hopeless? Civil defence says "no."

Self protection measures become even more important since many more people are likely to be affected. Community organization is more essential than ever to take care of larger numbers of casualties and evacuees and cope with a greater amount of destruction than heretofore had been anticipated.

National Park Visitors Cautioned On Pets

Canadians travelling with pet dogs or cats are again warned they must have an anti-rabies vaccination certificate for each of their pets before bringing them into any of Canada's Western National Parks. This requirement is a continuation of one of the rabies control measures instituted in 1953 following a serious outbreak of the disease in Canada.

The control measure is provided for in the National Parks Game Regulations and applies to the following National Parks: Mount Revelstoke, Glacier, Kootenay and Yoho in B.C.; Banff, Jasper, Waterton Lakes and Elk Island in Alberta; Prince Albert in Saskatchewan and Riding Mountain in Manitoba.

National Parks officials explained that the continued control measure is considered necessary to protect the wildlife in these federal game sanctuaries. The certificate accompanying each pet must show that the cat or dog has been vaccinated against rabies within the twelve months immediately preceding the date of entering the Park.

Dog and cat owners are also reminded that they must obtain a license for their pet on entering a National Park. A license costs $1 and is good for 30 days in any National Park in Canada.

LADIES' AID ACTIVE

The regular meeting of the Paradise Valley Ladies' Aid of the United Church was held at the home of Mrs. David Clark with nineteen members and one visitor present. The April meeting was cancelled due to road conditions. It was reported that over $30.00 was realized from the Home Bake Sale held in March. The Aid wishes to thank those who helped in any way to make the venture a success. The annual strawberry tea will be held in the church hall on Thursday, June 14. All members please bring a cake that afternoon and be on hand early to help in any way possible. It was decided to houseclean the church, the church hall and basement on Monday, May 7th. In this regard a goodly number of members turned out to make a great improvement in the appearance of these rooms. The June meeting will be held on Tuesday, June 5, in the church hall. Edgerton and Rosedale clubs will be invited to the meeting to hear Mrs. Karl Karlsson of Paradise Valley speak on the United Nations. Members please bring lunch. The meeting was brought to a close when Mrs. Clark assisted by Mrs. W. A. Gunn served a delicious lunch.

MISS REDMOND FETED

On Tuesday evening a large number of pupils, friends and neighbors gathered in the auditorium in tribute to Miss Eva Redmond, who has left our Paradise Valley teaching staff, after five years of patient, faithful service. The social evening comprised of games for big and little, capably handled by the Grade 12 girls, and M. C.'d by Mrs. Emily Walsh. Velma Henry and Charlie Bleakley deserve special mention for being good sports. Mr. David Clark, on behalf of the teaching staff presented Eva with a lovely upholstered, rocker-type occasional chair. He paid tribute to her as a dearly beloved teacher, and as an asset to the teaching profession, having led convention discussions, and made continuous contributions to the work of the staff, school and A. T. A. On behalf of the parents and friends, Mrs. Joyce Brassington presented a purse to Eva, with the best of all wishes for happiness in her new home.

Just a word about the weather. It has been very nice until Saturday morning when we had a return to winter. We hope it is of short duration.

Quite a few farmers are busy on the land and outside of potholes the ground is quite dry.

No 40-Hour Week For Housewives

According to survey conducted by Ladies' Home Journal, the 40-hour week is just a joke so far as average U.S. housewife is concerned. Survey showes that while husbands employed in industry enjoy more leisure than ever before, average housewife puts in work week not far short of 98 hours. Extra free time union husbands have on their hands doesn't make them anxious to assist with housework. Survey reveals that somewhat less than half of working husbands are willing to give occasional hand with household chores. Eighteen per cent won't do tap of work to help their wives.

Labor's drive for shorter work, it seems, provides union members with more leisure for loafing while wives work as hard as ever.

Keep Victoria Week End Accident Free

For thousands of Alberta motorists, the first major highway safety tests of the summer season will be the long "Twenty-fourth of May" week-end from Friday evening, May 18 to Tuesday morning, May 22.

In view of this critical holiday period, the Alberta Safety Council has issued an appeal to all motorists to drive carefully and safely and help to minimize traffic fatalities and injuries.

Just a momentary lapse or taking too great a chance can turn a happy holiday trip into a terrible tragedy with all its heartaches and sorrow, says the Safety Council.

Last year, 69 persons were killed in motor accidents across Canada on the May 24 holiday week-end. At least two of these fatalities were in Alberta.

In most parts of the country this has been a long slow spring. As a result, many motorists are looking forward with impatience to their first highway outing. After a long winter layoff when they were confined mostly to city driving, drivers are inclined to be careless and a little over-exuberant as they start on the holiday they have long awaited. They should make certain it is not marred by highway accidents.

Enthused by the prospect of speeding along the highways leading to vacation spots, drivers are likely to forget the safety lessons they learned last summer. They should remember that most accidents are not caused by mechanical defects in their cars but by the men and women behind the wheel.

Lives will be saved if motorists observe these basic rules:

1. Observe all speed limits in town or country and slow down more than is required by law when roads are slippery or crowded.
2. Keep in mind the importance of fatigue as an accident factor and don't try to pile up too great a mileage in one day.
3. To combat fatigue and remain alert, stop at a roadside restaurant every two hours or so to stretch your muscles and drink a cup of strong coffee or some other helpful stimulant. Remember alcohol is not a stimulant but a depressant.
4. Avoid cocktails or other alcoholic beverages before or during a drive.
5. Be careful of the other fellow. Obey all traffic rules.
6. Be considerate and indulgent toward other drivers.
7. Take time to relax and "Take It Easy".

Observance of all these rules will go a long way to achieve the first accident free week-end of the current season.

Ever neglect to close the windows or raise the convertible top on your car and have a sudden shower soak your upholstery? A new device developed by Packard Electric Div. of GM Corporation, and now being readied for production, will solve this problem. A raindrop falling on an externally-mounted grid actuates the mechanism which automatically closes the windows and on the convertibles, raises the top in the driver's absence.

BUFFALO COULEE ACTIVITIES

(Held over from last week)

Summer appears to have arrived at last and everyone is busy, but social activities still go on.

The Grey Cup film which was to have been shown on April 30 failed to arrive but Tony Karpet of Vermilion very kindly came out and showed his colored slides of the North. These were thoroughly enjoyed by the crowd present and we do appreciate his coming out on such short notice. During the evening the members and coaches of the Little League baseball team held a meeting. Since a number of the boys are now over the age limit for Little League it was decided to form both a Little and Pony league. Henning Haverslew remains coach of the Little League, and Geo. Spak is coach of the Pony League.

Wednesday of last week the boys enjoyed a bean supper and showing of films in the Elks hall as guests of the Little League of Vermilion. Henning Haverslew and Ken Kennedy each took a carload of boys in. All report a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Everett and Elaine attended the graduation exercises of the General Hospital on Thursday, May 3, when their daughter Rita graduated. She will complete her training the end of August.

Doreen Stone, now on the staff of the Stettler hospital, was a graduate of the Royal Alex hospital at their graduation ceremonies last week end. A parent-daughter banquet was held at the Macdonald hotel on Thursday evening and the graduation exercises at McDougal United church on Friday. Needless to say, parents and friends are very thrilled with this impressive ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Barlow and family motored to the city on Saturday to attend the wedding of Miss Betty Beresford who spent some of her early years in Vermilion.

A good crowd was in attendance at the square dance last Friday, and a good time was enjoyed by all. Since spring work and square dancing do not go to well together, the next dance will not be held until June 13th.

The last Home and School meeting of the current season was held on Wednesday, May 2nd. The students of the senior room put on a skit depicting mothers discussing teen-age problems. This was well done and thoroughly enjoyed. It was followed by a lively discussion on this topic.

The C.G.I.T. group is getting well under way with an attendance of nearly twenty at their meeting on Monday night. They hope to have a booth of their own at the annual bazaar in June. Next meeting is on May 21. The Scouts plan to hold their first meeting May 14th.

Services have been conducted for the past two Sundays at Auburndale with the new student minister in charge. Mr. Smith is a good speaker and singer so we are looking forward to a good summer. Choir practices will begin this Wednesday at 7.30 at the church. All young people who can sing are cordially asked to attend.

It is with sincere regret that we learn we are losing some of our long time residents. Mr. Dave Love has rented his farm to Earl Towe and is moving, with his family, to Vermilion. Dave will be working with Mr. Botterff.

Mrs. Rose Harle has accepted a position in the Co-op. store, and will be moving to town with daughter Norma when school closes. Mr. W. Bushko, principal of B. C. school since it was built, has accepted the position of principal of the Separate school in Vegreville for the next term. This is going to leave a very empty corner in our community and in the school, but our best wishes go with them all.

Best wishes from all his friends go to Mr. Wm. Macnab who recently underwent an operation in the University hospital, Edmonton, and is now in the Vermilion hospital. Can't keep a good man down, so we hope to see you out and around again soon.

Rear seat radio speakers are becoming increasingly popular.

Rev., Mrs. MacPherson Attend Convention At Saskatoon

MANNVILLE.—Recent visitors to Saskatoon were Rev. C. and Mrs. MacPherson, who attended Convocation of Emmanuel College held at the University of Saskatchewan. Fourteen men graduated from the College this year, and will go out to serve the Anglican church in various parts of Western Canada and the Arctic. Along with these fourteen men, six other ordained clergymen were awarded degrees in Theology. Mr. MacPherson was awarded the degree of Divinity Testamur.

TWO-DAY SESSION AT SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE

Industrial Development Board Holds Meeting in Vermilion

The Industrial Development Board which acts in an advisory capacity to the Provincial Department of Economic Affairs held its first meeting for 1956 at Vermilion on Monday and Tuesday of this week.

Invited by the Board of Trade to hold its meeting in Vermilion, the open sessions were attended by local representatives as well as by chief officers of the Department of Economic Affairs.

The sessions opened on Monday morning under the Chairmanship of Mr. Ralph E. Moore, Deputy Minister of the Department of Economic Affairs. Welcoming addresses were given on behalf of the town by Mr. Keith Chalmers, acting for Mayor Hill, and by Mr. J. R. Boake, President of the Vermilion Board of Trade. Mr. Moore described the function of the Industrial Development Board and of his Department to provide information and guidance to any persons, communities, companies, or organizations interested in the industrial development of Alberta. He expressed keen interest on behalf of his own Department and of the Development Board in learning details of the possibilities for industrial growth in this whole eastern area of Alberta.

The balance of the sessions through the first day was devoted principally to reports by various members of the Board on industrial developments currently taking place in various parts of the province and in methods employed to encourage and attract industry and commerce to Alberta. A part of Tuesday's session was made available for the particular information of representatives from Vermilion who were invited to discuss their own interests in industrial development possibilities for the Vermilion area. This period brought out several interesting suggestions and possibilities for immediate local attention.

During their visit to Vermilion members of the Board toured the town, inspected the Provincial Park, the Canadian Utilities Plant and generally acquainted themselves with the features the town has to offer as a site for industrial expansion. After being entertained at dinner in the evening by the Board of Trade, those attending the sessions, as well as a number of local citizens who learned of the opportunity on short notice, enjoyed the first public showing of the beautiful color motion picture film record of Alberta's Golden Jubilee.

Members of the Industrial Development Board and officials who attended the meeting included: M. M. Cunningham, Red Deer; Stan Lamb, Lethbridge; Blythe Davidson, Drumheller; Norman Rault, Edmonton; Ed. McComb, Medicine Hat; Len Shaw, Ponoka; John Gregory, Al Maunders, C. N. R.; and Ed Bryant, R. Martland, Gordon Morris as well as Mr. Ralph R. Moore, all of the Department of Economic Affairs.

Sudden Death Of C. E. Cunningham

The people of Vermilion and district, particularly Buffalo Coulee, where he was so well and favorably known, were shocked and saddened by the sudden death of Clifford Edward Cunningham on Wednesday evening May 23. He was stricken with a heart attack as he was doing chores, collapsing in the farm yard.

Mr. Cunningham and family came to the Buffalo Coulee district three and one half years ago from Vegreville. They purchased the former Kowalchuk farm, and have proved themselves the best of neighbors ever since settling in the district.

The deceased was born at Glenella, Man., on Feb. 20, 1902. The family came to Vegreville many years ago where they farmed. Surviving members of the family are the sorrowing widow and four sons, Bruce, Allan, Clifford and Rex, all at home. There are three brothers, William in Edmonton, Bert at Beaverlodge, Lorne at Vegreville, and one sister Mrs. John Ziegler at Vegreville.

Funeral services will be held at the Vegreville United church on Saturday May 26 at 1:30 p.m. with interment in the Mount Auburn cemetery, Auburndale, at 5:00 p.m. The Rev. G. B. Mather of Vegreville will officiate.

Moyers are in charge of the arrangements.

Lee Coyne To Attend Camp Borden

Sgt. Lee Coyne has been selected as one of the ten Alberta Air Cadets to attend a Senior Leaders' Course at Camp Borden, Ont. which will commence on July 2nd and will run for seven weeks. This is the Cadet equivalent to the armed forces Staff Course, and the successful graduates receive a $100 training bonus.

Lee will receive an all-expense paid trip to the east, and while there will have the opportunity to make side trips to Niagara Falls and some nearby points in the U.S.

It is an honor to be chosen for this course, and to be one of only ten cadets in all Alberta to receive the distinction. The boys were selected on the basis of their regular work in the Air Cadets and Lee has made a good record for himself in his four years with the Vermilion Squadron.

Big Business Transaction Completed Saturday

WINNIPEG COMPANY PURCHASES NORTON LUMBER YARDS

One of the largest business transactions in the history of Vermilion was completed last week with the purchase of the R. H. Norton lumber business by the Monarch Lumber Co. Ltd. of Winnipeg. The new company has over 100 yards in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, and the purchase of the Vermilion business signalizes its entry into Alberta, this being their first yard in this province.

The change in business management in the local yard was made last Saturday when Mr. Bob Watt assumed management. Mr. Watt comes from Hamiota, Manitoba. He is a married man and will bring his wife, two sons and one daughter to Vermilion just as soon as living accommodation can be obtained.

The new lumber company has plans for a new office, construction of which will soon start. All the rest of the buildings in connection with the yard have been recently constructed or renovated.

[illegible]

The selling of the Norton Lumber Company marks the changing hands of a business founded by R. H. Norton, present manager, away back in 1916. It was then operated by a company known as the Superior Lumber. In 1924 Mr. Norton acquired the local assets of the company and the business became known as the R. H. Norton Lumber. Mr. Norton continued to manage it and the business thrived, one of the notable features being the gradual covering over of practically the entire yards so that nearly all materials were under cover.

While Mr. Norton has sold the lumber business, he will continue to operate the International Farm Machinery, trucks and tractors agency.

As stated, the banquet is open to everyone interested, with tickets on sale for $1.50 each. Both ladies and gentlemen are invited to attend.

HEARS HOT PIPELINE DEBATE

The News Editor of the Standard spent Thursday evening and Friday in Ottawa last week and during that time attended in the House of Commons as the guest of James Smith M.P. for Battle River-Camrose. Mr. Cooper was particularly fortunate as he heard the Hon. C. D. Howe launch the second reading of the Trans-Canada Pipeline bill. Mr. Howe was followed by John [illegible], Conservative, C.C.F. leader M. J. Coldwell, John Blackmore Social Credit. Hon. Jas. Gardiner then took up the cudgels on behalf of the Liberals. All the speakers were given a rough ride, but persevered through their addresses. Possibly no panel of speakers in the House represented so much ability and knowledge of the subject, and the session to the writer was exceedingly interesting.

At a recent meeting of the ratepayers of the hamlet of Dewberry a motion to circulate a petition favoring the hamlet's incorporation as a village was passed. It is expected that Dewberry will soon have village or town privileges.

New Anglican Church Planned For Mannville

MANNVILLE. Christ Church building, which has served the Anglican congregations of Mannville for over the past fifty years, now moves to the town of Minburn to serve the Anglican congregation of that area. When the church first was built in Mannville it was located on the south side of town and some years later was moved over to its present site. The moving of the present building makes way for the erection of a new Anglican church in Mannville.

At the last Sunday service on May 20th the Sacrament of Holy Baptism was administered to nine children. At 10 a.m. on Wednesday, May 23, the final service in the church will be a celebration of the Holy Communion. In this service all those who have worshipped in the church and have now passed on to higher service in the Mansions of God will be remembered.

The building of the new church will commence immediately. Services for the summer months will be held in the Orange hall, with the first service taking place there on May 27th at 7:30 p.m.

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday June 12th.

CIVIL DEFENCE A "MUST" FOR CANADIANS—

The Editor of the Standard was privileged to attend the [illegible] Conference conducted at the Civil Defence College, Arnprior, near Ottawa, from Sunday to Friday last week. Civil defence is vital to the survival of Canada should war come and the building of an effective Civil Defence organization is the objective of the continual [illegible] being given at the Arnprior college.

For two days newsmen listened to well formulated plans of the parts that various branches of the [illegible] services would play in [illegible] of an attack; the forms the attacks would take; the preparations which have already been made when nuclear warfare comes in order to minimize the devastating effects. The newsmen were then charged with the development of a public education program for the Federal Civil Defence Division, also the planning of an emergency information program which would be used in time of war.

The development of this program, designed for the general acceptance of Civil Defence organization by the public and specifically endeavoring to show that Civil Defence is necessary, positive and a vital segment of the national strength of this country will become apparent within a very short [illegible]. In the meanwhile the Standard recommends that readers study the articles already appearing in this paper each week. The attitude "It can't happen here" must be overcome. A firm foundation for any emergency information program should and must have its basic roots planted in the mind of each individual Canadian citizen.

FEEDING THE HUNGRY SOILS—

If you go to the refrigerator and take out some food and do the same the next day and the next, your "frig" will soon be empty — if you don't replenish it with more food.

It's much the same with soil. Every crop harvested and removed from the land takes with it a large supply of plant food drawn from the soil. Continuous draining of the land year after year without replacing it and soon there'll be little left for plants to feed on. Results — poorer crops, inferior quality and, of course, greatly reduced profits.

FOREST CONSERVATION

'Forest Conservation Week', May 19th to 26th, puts a spotlight on a public cause that challenges public vigilance through seven months of continuous hazard. What the 'Week' asks is that every citizen of the prairie provinces shall take on forest fire prevention as his personal concern whenever he is in contact with wooded areas. In practical terms this means that the camper, angler, hunter, or other traveller in bush country will keep in mind that 85% of all forest conflagrations are due to human carelessness. Two minutes of vigilance is enough to smother a campfire and ten seconds will [illegible] out lighted [illegible]. Neglect of such precautions can set the countryside ablaze and call for gangs of fire-fighters to head off the conflagration at heavy cost to the taxpayer.

Flourishing woodlands mean more than timber crops, permanent industries, and an adequate supply of wood. They minister to our need for out-door recreation; they preserve animal and bird life; they protect and beautify our hillsides and feed our streams; they preserve the inspiring national environment which has contributed so much to Canadian character.

We must stamp out the forest fires which still annually sweep many wooded areas, destroying timber the Nation can ill afford to lose and killing young growth needed to constitute the forests of the future. Forest fires, caused largely by human indifference or carelessness, are the greatest single obstacle to reforestation and effective forest management.

Tips on Touring

When a tire blows out, stay calm! Many drivers become panicky, jam on the brakes, and then completely lose their heads when the car skids and careens over the road. [illegible]

DUST TO DUST

Soil blowing away these days will not come back. It is a good way to fill sloughs and level land, but a most expensive way. Everything should be done to stop the drifting. [illegible] to the wind. The one-way is a good implement to check soil blowing. Take out every second disk and run it fairly deep. Scattering straw in smaller areas is good. At any rate, do something.

CAUSE OF DRIFTING

Your D. A. checked on some of the fields blowing the worst last week. It was the same story everywhere. There was no stubble left in the surface soil. In every case the drifting fields had been harrowed, some of them both last fall and this spring. One field had been plowed last fall and then harrowed, burying all the trash. Another farmer had just finished double discing. All these operations bury the stubble and leave the top soil dry and dusty, ready to blow away.

ONION MAGGOTS

Start using Aldrin or Chlordane as soon as onion sets or seed is put in the ground. Dust or spray the [illegible] for about 6 inches wide every 10 days up to August 1st. The onion maggot is spread around so much now that [illegible] of onions should be treated with a pest control chemical.

LICE ON DELPHINIUMS

Now is the time to spray Delphiniums (Larkspur) with DDT or some chemical to kill the aphids (plant lice) which attack this garden flower. After the leaves are curled it is too late as it is hard to get the spray inside the folded leaves where the insects are multiplying. Give the plants a second dose in a week or so.

BLACK AND BLUE

A lot of livestock are still arriving at packing plants with [illegible] meat must be cut off and [illegible] in the fertilizer tank. Who takes the loss? I think likely one way or another it is charged back to the farmers. So let everyone who handles livestock for market be careful - and no kicks or whacks! Careful loading by truckers and careful driving all help to prevent bruises. Also, use a [illegible] slapper instead of a broom stick.

Civil Defence in a Target City

Eighth of a series of 24 articles

The mechanization of war has made cities, where factories and industrial plants are most densely concentrated, the likeliest targets in a nuclear war. Federal civil defence officials estimate that one H-bomb, with the destructive force of 5,000,000 tons of TNT, would obliterate everything in an area of about 27 square miles.

Golledge-Schumacher Wedding Is Solemnized At Mannville

A beautiful wedding was solemnized in St. Paul's Lutheran church in Mannville on May 11th, at 3:00 p.m. when Margaret Schumacher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Schumacher, Mannville, and Jack Golledge, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Golledge of Grand Centre, were joined in holy matrimony by Rev. John Nielsen.

The church altar and organ were decorated with tulips and orchids, the guest pews were marked with white satin bows for the happy occasion.

The wedding march was played by Florence Schach. Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride wore a strapless floor-length gown with a full deep skirted nylon net flounce, topped with rayon and nylon lace combination, delicately [illegible] with sequins over rayon satin. The gown was completed with a nylon lace bolero with long lily-pointed sleeves. Her fingertip-length veil was gathered in place [illegible] matching tiara. Her only jewelry was a pair of [illegible] earrings. She carried a large bouquet of red roses and lily of the valley.

The bridesmaids were Clara Brohop and Kathleen Thomas who chose gowns of mauve and blue respectively. They were of nylon and lace over taffeta, with nylon lace boleros and matching tiaras.

They carried nosegays of pink and yellow full-blown roses. The groom wore a light gray suit and his attendants, John Steffinski and Arther Schumacher, brother of the bride, wore suits of charcoal grey.

The ushers were Mr. Moses, an uncle of the groom, and Andy Schumacher, brother of the bride. During the signing of the register Miss Betty Proudfoot sang "O Perfect Love".

The reception was held at the Mannville Orange hall where 200 guests gathered to honor the couple. School chums of the bride served the refreshments.

The bridal table was decorated with hanging white and pink streamers and centred with a beautifully iced three-tiered wedding cake. There were tulips and orchid fabric flowers tastefully arrayed.

Rev. Nielsen proposed the toast to the bride.

To receive the guests the bride's mother chose an afternoon frock of aqua blue ribbed jersey, and a corsage of fuschia colored flowers. She wore a white spring hat with matching gloves and shoes. The groom's mother wore a two-piece suit dress, with a navy blue skirt topped with a cream and blue ribbed jacket. Her corsage was of fushia colored flowers. She wore matching shoes and gloves, and a red hat.

After the wedding dance which was held in the evening, the happy couple left on a short honeymoon, for which the bride changed to a grey tailored suit, with white accessories. Her corsage was of red roses. On their return they will make their home in Mannville.

The meeting opened with the singing of "O Canada". The pledge was repeated, led by Lois Stoddart.

The Achievement Day program was the major issue of the evening. The demonstrations were discussed. Some of the girls also displayed their talents in piano solos. 4-H songs were sung with everyone enjoying a few peppy rounds. Taps were sung, and the meeting adjourned. Mrs. Dobson served a delicious lunch. The meeting closed with a vote of thanks moved by Grace Stoddart to Mrs. Dobson and Sharon for the nice lunch and the use of their house. The next meeting will be held on Thursday, May 31.

NOTICE!

To Residents of the Municipal District of VERMILION RIVER No. 71

The program to exterminate the Norway Rat in the Municipality is now being intensified. This coincides with the movement of rats from winter to summer quarters and they are easier to destroy before they come out into the open. This is the time when we must be prepared to deal with them.

There are approved poisons and methods of dealing with these pests and supplies are available to you—without cost. These supplies consist of: FOOD and WATER — liberally treated with WARFARIN ! YOUR job is to place this food and water in a place where they can get it — and to KEEP THE SUPPLY ALWAYS IN FRONT OF THEM — while denying them any choice in the matter by removing other sources of food.

Four Pest Control Officers are in the field now with the intention of checking every farm in the Municipality, beginning in Range 1 and working West. They will tell you what to do and assist you in every way, SHORT OF DOING THE JOB FOR YOU. Your job is to co-operate. Let's get on with the job — for your sake!

OBITUARY

DAVID McCAULEY

MANNVILLE.—Mannville people were shocked and saddened Tuesday May 1st, to hear of the sudden passing of David McCauley, president and managing director of Universal Industries. Mr McCauley had a host of friends in the town and district and his place in the business life of the community of Lloydminster will be hard to fill.

Born in Ballyclare Ireland in the year 1908, David McCauley came to Canada in 1924 and settled in Mannville where he operated a blacksmith shop. Later he spent several years on the staff of the Vermilion School of Agriculture where he was an instructor in Blacksmithing. In 1939 he was married to Lillian Samuelson of Vermilion and in the fall of that year joined the R.C.A.F. serving with the force for approximately two years. In 1942 he moved to North Vancouver where he worked in the shipyards. Following the war years, he returned to Mannville to his own business, and then went to Lloydminster some eight years ago to Universal Industries. At the time of his death he was the president of Universal Industries.

He is survived by his wife and five children, seven brothers and four sisters.

The pallbearers were Bert Williams, Jim Bennett, Harvey Dustow, Clare Ross, William Blackford, Cliff Hoskins.

The funeral service was held at Lloydminster from Grace United church with Rev Mr R. Smith officiating and interment at Mannville cemetery with Masonic rites at the graveside by Hope Lodge No. 38 A.F. & A.M. The Grace United Church choir was in attendance with Mrs J. Hemstock at the organ and sang the anthem, "Hark, Hark, My Soul". Hymns sung at the service were "All the Way My Saviour Lead Me", and "Lead On, O King Eternal".

NEWS from ISLAY

Mrs. Jim Gould spent several days in Edmonton and while there attended a Christian Science Convention.

Mr and Mrs. Ken Shaw of Edmonton spent the long week end here and in Vermilion visiting relatives.

Mr and Mrs Jim Forsythe motored down from Edmonton and with them Mrs. Ernie Moore for the week end.

From the city came Mr and Mrs. Frank Stone and granddaughter and Mr. and Mrs. Porterfield.

Mr and Mrs. Clarence Robertson and children and Mrs. Tom Torrance were in Edmonton for a visit.

Mr and Mrs. Ed Dahlin of Ribstone were in town Tuesday to see Mr and Mrs. Dave Buchanan who are in hospital.

In the current year Canadians will pay about $4,720 million in federal taxes, an increase of over 100% over 1950.

Re-Union Days Will Feature Fair

Plans are underway for the re-union of former Vermilion district people now residing in various parts of the province, in B.C. and elsewhere and special invitation letters are now available at the office of the Secretary-Manager and will be gladly sent out by the Fair Board office if members of the public will let us have names of any friends they would like to see come back to Vermilion in July. Already a considerable number of former residents at the Coast have indicated their intention of coming back home for July 26, 27 and 28.

In deference to the influx of visitors, Vermilion Fair is planning on a gala event for the three days with the generous co-operation of the Old Timers Association, the Board of Trade and the Council of the Town of Vermilion. The fine showing carried out in 1955 will be repeated this year and all who know of people who have left Vermilion are urged to co-operate and let us have the names and addresses so that a cordial invitation may go out at once, thus enabling those planning a vacation to include Vermilion's Re-union Days.

SHORTHORN SHOW AT FAIR

The Alberta Shorthorn Society has just notified Vermilion Fair that the Provincial Shorthorn show will be held in conjunction with Vermilion's 51st fair. Additional accommodation is planned to adequately house the expected large number of fine Shorthorns from all over Alberta and Saskatchewan. Prize lists have been augmented by the Shorthorn Association, so that $1600 will be offered in awards; top specimens of this well known breed will thus be on view for Vermilion district residents and their friends from distant places.

CUTTING HORSE DEMONSTRATIONS

Plans for the annual fair call for an entirely new departure for any fair outside of Edmonton and Calgary. "Cutting Horse Demonstrations" by members of the Canadian Cutting Horse Association from the major cities. These demonstrations will doubtless appeal to horse lovers from a wide area and will be staged in specially built corrals in front of the grandstand.

FARM GIRLS AND BOYS CAMP

Already applications are being received from girls and boys from the ages of 13 to 18 who will attend the annual Summer Camp at the Vermilion School of Agriculture. Each year numerous applications have to be rejected due to lack of accommodation and all young people interested are urged to send their applications in as early as possible.

PRIZE LISTS AVAILABLE SOON

The Vermilion Standard is just completing the attractive prize lists for 1956 and these will soon be ready for distribution. It is especially requested that the ladies of the district interest themselves in the fair and exhibit the results of their handiwork. A number of valuable special prizes are being offered in addition to the regular list and should prove attractive to a large number. A fine showing was available last year and we invite ladies as well as boys and girls of school age to exhibit. The annual school fair has become a most popular avenue of interesting the young people and it is hoped that teachers and others interested in the boys and girls will assist by extending assistance to the junior exhibitors wherever possible.

EXCELLENT ENTERTAINMENT

Entertainment features of the Fair are not by any means forgotten and exhibition patrons are assured of worthwhile programs. The Board has decided that in spite of increased costs of operation in every branch of the Fair to retain the unusually low admission prices, making it possible to purchase 5 advance tickets for a single dollar. This actually means that gate admission is only 20 cents, while the splendid grandstand show and other attractions cost but 60 cents for an adult. In comparing these prices with other fairs it is found that Vermilion Fair offers the lowest attendance cost per family of any fair in the Dominion; there is no desire whatever on the part of the Board to make money, other than sufficient to maintain the fine exhibition plant which has been built up over a period of years and with this in mind the directors are pleased to advise that the former low cost entertainment and educational features will be available again in 1956.

It is hoped that all having addresses to which they would like to have letters sent will let us have them at the first opportunity.

THE STAGETTES

Well, the Convention fever that attacked us last week is now over and I think all the girls can say what a wonderful time was had by all. Members who went to Ponoka were Kay, Sophie, Jean, Dorrie, Lena and Nan. The girls visited the Mental hospital on Saturday afternoon and at night had a progressive supper which included Hawaiian and Chinese food in the proper setting. Sunday we had our business meeting and at night the various clubs performed with songs and sketches. We were lucky enough also to get out to Sylvan Lake on the first day of the big season, and also to be favored on our week end trip by a kindly weather man.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank those who came to our Cotton Ball. We had hoped to see more people attend but it was, nevertheless, an enjoyable dance.

At this time, near the close of our club year, may we thank all of those who helped us in our endeavors.

Next meeting girls, is May 30th at the same time, same place.

Young Man with a Plan

One of these days, Fred's going to take over the farm. Meanwhile, he's planning, studying and working hard . . . learning right on the job.

Already he's learned a lot about modern farm management, and how a chartered bank can play its part in making farm living more comfortable, more profitable. He has found, for example, how useful the bank can be as a place to build up savings, to obtain credit, to seek financial advice and market information. He knows that the bank manager's door is open to everyone.

When you see a good-looking, well-run farm, chances are the farmer uses the services the chartered banks have built up for all Canadians.

WILDMERE WINKS

On Tuesday evening May 15 the Home and School held their May meeting at the school. Owing to the busy time, not so many were in attendance. During the evening it was decided to ask the Principal Mr Bell of the Vermilion High school to give a talk at our June meeting, secretary to write him. After the business, Mrs. Watt, the Junior room teacher at [illegible] Central, gave a very interesting outline on beginners learning to read. It was too bad more parents couldn't have heard her. A lunch served by Mrs. Cruthers, Mrs. Gilbert Harrison and Mrs. B. Brooks was enjoyed. Next meeting is to be on June 19th at the school.

Everyone was very pleased to hear that David Hughes of Basswood was the lucky winner of the fridge which was given away by the Vermilion Co-op store. Mr. and Mrs. Hughes did not own one of these wonderful food savers.

Early Sunday morning L. H. Fadden of Wildmere left with his cousin R. Reid of Lloydminster by car for Sherbrooke, Que., where Mr. Reid's mother is very ill and Lindy has not seen his mother since he came west 29 years ago. They will take turns driving and in this way hoped to make a quick trip.

Not so many attended church on Sunday due to the busy time and late season. There were 24 present. Mr. Smith gave a good sermon and sang a solo, which was enjoyed by all. He is starting Sunday school and will continue through the summer.

Mrs. F. Gibson of Basswood and her mother Mrs. W. Ford, attended church at Tolland Sunday morning and afterwards visited at the McGrath and Chris Thomson homes in Tolland.

We are all so pleased to hear that Marie Ganton is doing so well after being run over by a tractor, and hope she will make a complete recovery.

Mr. Tom Wilson of Edmonton spent the long week end visiting his sister Mrs. A. Holte and brother John of Wildmere. On Sunday Mrs. Holte and Baillie, Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson and Tom visited another sister Mrs. Alex Morrison and family of Bowtell. Tom returned to Edmonton Monday evening.

We were pleased to see Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Elward and Mrs. Woodruff in town on Saturday. Good weather brings everyone out.

Seeding has been going ahead as fast as possible and early sown grain is showing green already. It is getting plenty dry enough too with all these high winds we have been having. Not only the farmers, but all the fire-fighters in the forest areas would like to see a good rain.

Mr. and Mrs. Rendell and Geo. Haines visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. Laboucane and family of Triangle on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Isley and family of Wetaskiwin were Vermilion visitors over the long week end.

In a recent letter from Mrs. T. Cairns of New Westminster and formerly of Wildmere she said that she looks for the "Winks" first thing when she gets the Standard.

Why Canadians Should Know Canada Better

Most Canadians don't know Canada ...

They cannot know it well because most of them have never seen much of it.

Until recently more than one-quarter of all adult Canadians had never been in any other province beyond their own.

Yet Canadians are the world's greatest travellers: they spend more money per head on foreign travel than any other people—much more than Americans, for instance.

If all our footloose Canadians would include parts of Canada in their travels more often, they would in the process become a powerful influence toward national unity and prosperity.

The annual inflow of 28,000,000 American visits to Canada proves by its very size that Canada has plenty to offer travellers and vacationists. In its infinite variety of regions and seasons Canada has just about everything tourists could want—but they wouldn't come if they didn't know about it.

We see to it of course that potential visitors do know something about it. Our governments, national and provincial, and the big transportation companies and other interests, spend substantial sums on tourist advertising.

But most of this promotional effort is aimed at the U. S. A. Outsiders are being made aware of the pleasures and virtues of visiting Canada, but Canadians themselves are not.

That's why Canada needs a concerted drive to make our own citizens as well as our visitors more aware of Canada's attractions. Let's HELP Candians KNOW CANADA BETTER.

Mr. Cairns is not very well and is confined to his home most of the time.

Former Vermilion Man Wed in Innisfail

George Washington, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Washington of Vermilion, was united in marriage with Miss Shirley Ann Eaton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Eaton of Innisfail, at a double ring ceremony in the Innisfail United church recently.

Tulips and daffodils decorated the church for the wedding at which Rev. H. B. Ricker officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a rose-beige suit with beige accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Miss Patricia Winters, Edmonton, attended the bride and Mr. Robert Watt, Red Deer, was best man. Miss Betty Proudfoot, Mannville, played the wedding music.

A wedding reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. J. Patton proposed the toast to the bride.

Mrs. F. Sherwood of Lethbridge spent a week visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Milo Fleming and family. She also called and reminisced with Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Ackerman who were childhood friends in Lethbridge.

On his way home from the newsmen's conference at Arnprior sponsored by the Canadian Civil Defence, Ashley H. Cooper spent last Saturday and Sunday in Windsor on a very enjoyable but all too short visit with his brother-in-law and sister Mr. and Mrs. Al Hebert and the three children. They have a nice home in a lovely and friendly part of the city and are all very well. The two and a half hour wait between planes in Toronto was pleasantly passed with an uncle Mr. Ernest Cooper who visited in Vermilion a little over a year ago, and his daughter Mrs. Gladys Knowles. While in Ottawa considerable time was spent with James A. Smith, M.P., and the House of Commons was watched in action during the time the debate on the Trans-Canada pipeline was at its peak.

LOCAL NEWS

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Mix announce the engagement of their daughter, Marjorie Helen, to Mr. John Alton Curtis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Curtis of Dewberry, Alberta. The wedding will take place June 12, at 2.30 p.m. at the Christian and Missionary Alliance Tabernacle.

Mrs. James A Smith returned home Tuesday from Ottawa where she spent some ten days visiting her husband who is attending the House of Commons session. On Wednesday evening of last week they were guests at the annual ball given by the Governor-General of Canada in Rideau Hall. This proved to be a most friendly and enjoyable event. One week end was spent in Montreal visiting Art Macumber, Mrs. Macumber and family. Art, a former teacher in Vermilion, is teaching shop. He was very interested in all the news of old friends and sends greetings to all acquaintances here.

Raymond Armstrong who has completed his first year at the Provincial Institute of Technology in Calgary, is home for a week and will then report to the CBC Television station in Vancouver where he will work for the summer. His duties at the TV station commence June 4th.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Robson for the holiday were their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Hunter Robson and two children; their daughter Jean; Mrs. J. R. Robson's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. Hunter, all of Calgary; Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Jones (Lesley Robson), of Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Harle and the two children Doug and Karen left Wednesday for New Westminster. They intend to reside at the coast and for the present will stay with Bob's dad Mr. O. Harle. The young family are making the move after living their entire lives to date in Vermilion and district, and a host of friends are sorry to see them go but wish them luck and good fortune in their new location.

E. Schurman has been appointed to the executive of the Vermilion School Division Trustees Assoc. He attended an executive meeting at Kitscoty recently where arrangements were made for the annual meeting of the organization which will be held in Kitscoty on Saturday, June 23.

Two young men of the Fidelity district north-west of Vermilion, Paul Yarmuch and John Dahoy, returned home during the past week from Youbou, B.C., where they have spent the winter and early spring months working for B.C. Forests Ltd. The return trip was made by car.

The boating season was ushered in on Sunday when the first boat of the current season was noticed plying the waves of Vermilion Park lake. Think of her still as the same, and say
She is not dead, she is just away!

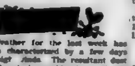
Medical Examination For C.N.R. Employees

Dr F A Minshull was recently in Vermilion to conduct the periodical medical examination of all Canadian National employees including train crews engine and yard servicemen, agents, operators, despatchers, section and B & B foremen. This examination is carried out in Vermilion every second year.



Weather for the last week has been characterized by a few days of high winds. The resultant dust in the air in combination with the smoke from bush fires west of Edmonton has obscured the sun, giving a dull light most of the time in spite of the warm days. On May 17 one of the windier days, there was a north-west wind at 24 miles per hour with gusts up to 34. Victoria Day was unpleasantly windy with a 26 m.p.h. north-west wind gusting to 35.

Awards Presented At Home & School

MANNVILLE. — Mannville and District Home and School Association met on Thursday last with a very small attendance due to the busy season. The teachers were out in full force and the first part of the meeting was taken up in room visits.

The general meeting started at nine o'clock. After the regular business, presentations were made to students who had won prizes for essays—Lorraine Trynchuk for her essay on farming in India and Rita Herman for an essay sent to Swift Canadian.

On behalf of Minburn-Mannville Sub Local, Mr Cott presented Harold Keuschnig with a lovely brief case engraved with his initials. Presentations are made to the student receiving the Governor General's medal in Grade nine. Due to bad roads, etc. it was unable to make the presentation earlier.

Mr Cott introduced three new teachers, Misses Lili Ann Allen and Irene McDonald and Mr Stewart Little.

Mr Ned Nugent, formerly locomotive foreman of the local C.N. yards, and now of Winnipeg, was a recent visitor to Vermilion taking delivery of a new Plymouth car, and to help Mrs Nugent move their household effects to their new home in Winnipeg.

The Standard regrets that the name of the heroine of the play, Mrs. Peggy Cook, was omitted from the write-up following the presentation of the mystery-comedy "The Jade Necklace". The omission was just one of those things which do occur and which cannot be explained. It was certainly no reflection on Peggy's performance as she enacted the leading part with a naturalness and ability which left nothing to be desired.

REV. FATHER C. LANDRIGAN

Rev. Father Landrigan To Observe 25th Anniversary of Ordination

Rev Father C Landrigan, beloved priest of the Parish of the Holy Name of Jesus since 1950, will observe the 25th anniversary of his Ordination on Wednesday next, May 30th. In keeping with the occasion a special mass will be sung in the morning, with dinners served at noon and that evening.

Rev Father Landrigan was born in Canada's island province of Prince Edward Island. He took courses there in the fields of Philosophy and The Humanities at St. Dunstan's University, Charlottetown, P. E. I., graduating in 1926.

He next studied Theology at St. Joseph's Seminary, Edmonton, and St Augustine's Seminary, Toronto. This was followed by Ordination to the Holy Priesthood. Father Landrigan was appointed pastor at Edson in 1931, and to Vermilion in 1950.

In Vermilion his work among the people has been particularly blessed as the progress in the parish has been very marked. In order to meet the needs of a growing parish, the beautiful and commodious new Holy Name Church was built and completed two years ago.

On Wednesday, May 30th the anniversary will be suitably recognized by a special mass at 10 30 o'clock in the morning at which the Bishop and clergy of the diocese, about 60 in all, will attend.

During the noon hour Father Landrigan will be the guest of honor at a dinner given by the Bishop and Clergy. At 6 o'clock in the evening the anniversary will be further marked by a dinner served in the church hall which will be attended by the parishioners, along with a few special guests.

Sanctity of Church Is Violated

The people of the congregation of the little country church at King Edward are very much concerned over the use of the church for parties, evidences of drinking and smoking have been apparent with consequent disarrangement of the chairs and furniture. It is pointed out that a church is no place for partying and the thought occurs that the perpetrators were in the right place but for the wrong purpose. It is requested that such an act be not repeated. There is also the danger of fire in such cases as the little church is old and tinder dry. The folks concerned say "Please do not use our church for such purposes".

Mrs. Hildreth On Trip To England

Mrs Albert Hildreth left Wainwright on May 14, on a trip to England, proceeding via C.N.R. to Montreal. She will spend one night in that city before embarking on the Cunard liner "Ivernia" which is a new vessel of the 22,000 ton class and a sister ship to the "Saxonia." The two ships are noted for the elaborate and up-to-date fittings designed especially for the comfort of passengers crossing the Atlantic.

Mrs. Hildreth will board ship at Montreal in time for breakfast on May 18th. Disembarking at Liverpool, she will be met by her sister who will drive her by car to her home in York, where she will stay for a while. Mr. Hildreth also has a brother residing in York whom she will visit before meeting the other members of her husband's family. Incidentally, Mr. Hildreth has five brothers and five sisters living in Yorkshire.

Another place Mrs. Hildreth will visit is Diamond Farm where Mr. Hildreth spent his boyhood days. This pretty little farm has been in the hands of Hildreths over a long period and is at present operated by brother Bob who also runs a taxi business. Diamond Farm is situated at Nunnington, York.

Although Mrs. Hildreth does not plan on returning to Vermilion until September, she will have to keep moving to visit all the places, relatives and friends that she hopes to see. Some of the places expected to be visited are Malton, Pickering, Scarboro, Bridlington, Duffield, Dinnington, Thurcroft, Rotherham, Doncaster, Sheffield and Barnsley.

Brother and Sister Graduate From The School of Agriculture & Home Economics

Members of the graduating class at the Vermilion School of Agriculture this year included Edith and Allister McDonald whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert A. McDonald of Darwell, Alberta. Allister enrolled in the two-year course in Agriculture in the fall of 1954. When he returned for the second year of his course last fall he was accompanied by his sister Edith, who entered the "Two-in-One" Course in Home Economics.

Both brother and sister enjoyed a most successful term, participating in numerous extra-curricular activities and at the end of the School year each was awarded a diploma of graduation with Honours.

Two additional brother and sister combinations attended the School this past winter. Joyce and Alan Featherstone of Langford Park were First Year Students in Home Economics and Agriculture respectively. Faye and Arthur Lange of Colinton were in the "Two-in-One" Home Economics and in the first year of the two year course in Agriculture respectively.

The president declared the meeting adjourned and the hostess served a lovely lunch.

Musical Recital At At Mannville Enjoyed

MANNVILLE. There was a good attendance at the first Music Recital held by Miss Donna McCauley in the school auditorium on Saturday evening last. Pupils from Mannville, Vermilion, Claysmore and Minburn took part in the program, several of the students entertained the audience by singing or dancing. It would be impossible to comment on all the entries but there was some excellent talent shown by these young people and Miss McCauley is to be commended for undertaking to teach such a large class. When Mrs. Elliott left at the first of the year, Donna took over a large number of her former pupils and has done wonderfully well with them.

Allan Manz as Master of Ceremonies for the evening introduced each pupil in turn. Among those taking part in the recital were: Linda Willes, Heather Morrison, Carol Rostron, Doris Johnstone, Jo-Ann Leitch, Donna Majeau, Connie Keating, Karen Hubbard, Deana Rudd, Gail Mercer, Jill Holter, Bryan Scoggins, Martie Park, Betty McLaughlin, Donald Ross, Janet Clark, Ruth Hughes, Audrey Tomyn, Judy Gerhart, Brian Hasinoff, Vivien Lynch, Allan Manz, Rose Semenuik, Lynn Kreller, Mary Ann Noonan, Dawn Kreller, Arlene McLaughlin, Diane Whitson, Betty Stewart, Frankie McCauley, Lorraine Stewart, Gordon McLaughlin, Janis and Sharon Weaver, Helen Pheasey, Marilyn North, Kenny Mercer, Merna Whitson, Elizabeth Haines, Mavis McCauley, Betty Willes, Ellen McLaughlin, Sharon Pollachuk, June Weaver, Elaine Rae, Allan Doherty, Gloria Weaver, Jackie Hasinoff, Clara Brokop, Edith Gadke, June [illegible].

Little Mavis McCauley sang and [illegible]. Frankie McCauley, Bryan Scoggins, Linda Willes and Sharon Pollachuk also entertained with solos. A tap dance by Donna Majeau and the Highland Fling by Mary Ann Noonan added a bit of variety to the program. The violin solo by Lorraine Young, accompanied by Mrs. Young, was exceptionally well played for such a young violinist. Allan Doherty, accompanied by Edith Gadke, led a sing song in which the audience joined. And a chorus by a group of the young people completed the evening's entertainment.

On behalf of the pupils, Allan Doherty presented Miss McCauley with a travelling clock.

NEWS from LANDONVILLE

Believe it or not, we have just got some of our roads opened during this past week. Others are still blocked because the snow is too deep.

A whist party was held at the Louise Lake school on Friday night. It seems that the Osinchuks hit it lucky. Mr. Osinchuk took the men's prize and Mrs. Osinchuk came first in the ladies' group.

Mrs. Nettleton and Mrs Pollachuk came down and cleaned the teacherage on Monday afternoon. The nurse is to visit the school on Tuesday and until these two ladies volunteered, it looked like the teachers were going to have to wash floors themselves. Mr. Denis Waltz had hauled all the junk out on Saturday.

Mr. Phil Smith, the bus driver, spent a few days in the Elk Point hospital. He is back on the job this week.

Mrs. George Butz is now in Elk Point, where she is resting up. The girls are looking after George and the house.

Some of the farmers in the district are out on the land. Most of them are still waiting for things to dry up a little. A few have tried to do some work only to sink into the soft ground.

ATTENTION, CATTLE OWNERS

Of the Municipal District of Minburn, No. 72

Re TUBERCULOSIS TESTING

Dominion Government Veterinarians are now in the District to conduct T.B. testing to finish the Minburn area.

This notice does not concern the people already tested, but will give them some information.

All animals must be T.B. tested regardless of age, or whether selling on market.

Facilities to control animals in form of a squeeze or a chute is a must.

Those people who have cattle at pasture when the Veterinarian notifies them for testing must have facilities on the pasture to test their cattle as no one will be passed by if men are brought in to complete this test.

Compensation is paid on all reactor animals; these animals must be removed directly to packing plant for slaughter under the supervision of a Veterinary Inspector.

Any person bringing in cattle from another area for feeding or pasturing purposes must have these animals T.B. tested before bringing them on the premises. There is a penalty if a person is caught not complying with this regulation.

Once a herd is tested this test lasts until the area is re-tested. This even includes calves that are born from year to year. The date of re-testing of the area is determined by dividing the total number of reactors into the total number of cattle tested. If the percentage works out to 1 in 1,000, the re-test will start in approximately five years time.

Any person who has been missed and know that farmers around are T.B. tested, should contact C. J. Gamble, Field Supervisor, or Dr. E. J. Young, Health of Animals Division, Vermilion, Alberta. Many of these people are known, but a few might have been missed.

This is a compulsory test and all owners MUST BE DONE. The Municipality has been petitioned by two-thirds of the ratepayers and it has requested the Dominion Government to conduct this test.

This test is totally free of charge, but the owners are requested to give all assistance necessary in the test.

(Signed)
DR. E. J. YOUNG,
Vermilion, Alberta.

U.G.G. Offers Farm School Bursaries

Three bursaries will be provided by United Grain Growers Ltd., again this year to assist young Alberta farm people to attend the Schools of Agriculture and Home Economics. The bursaries will be [illegible] as follows — one at Fairview, one at Vermilion and one at Olds.

The bursaries will be available to any young person living on a farm, who is 17 years of age or older, and must be used for the school term which will commence some time next October. A committee appointed by the Provincial Department of Agriculture will be established to evaluate the candidates and to recommend to United Grain Growers Ltd. to whom the bursaries should be awarded. In recommending the awards the committee will consider the following factors: academic achievement, interest in junior and community activities, leadership ability and need for assistance. Primarily the bursaries are intended to help those who could not otherwise attend a school of agriculture, but through their participation in community activities have proven themselves worthy of assistance.

Application forms are available through the office of District Agriculturists, District Home Economists and Fieldmen of the U.G.G., or may be obtained upon writing to the offices of United Grain Growers Ltd., at Calgary. Applications will be considered until August 15th.

EARLY ATTENTION TO WEEDS

Weeds, even when quite young, compete with the growing crop for plant food, moisture, and light. Early treatment of weeds with chemicals is, therefore, recommended if maximum yields are to be obtained. Farmers who are in doubt as to when best to spray their crops should consult their nearest Agricultural Representative or Experimental Farm.

OUR LETTER FROM EDMONTON

Pipeline Construction Of Vital Importance To Alberta

EDMONTON — Alberta's Social Credit government and its officials are remaining quietly aloof while the political hollering and wailing goes on in Ottawa about the Trans-Canada natural gas pipeline deal.

So long as it brings gas export closer to reality, Premier Manning and his colleagues couldn't care less that their political enemies, the Liberals in power at Ottawa, have stirred up a pot of trouble by agreeing to lend $72,000,000 to a pipeline firm controlled and owned by American interests.

The attitude here in the provincial capital is that Ottawa is under an obligation to make markets available for Alberta gas, and if it necessitates a large loan to private interests then let it be done as soon as possible.

Premier Manning is convinced that Alberta would be exporting and selling natural gas long before this were it not for the federal government's policy on the matter. Ottawa insists on an all-Canadian route for the gas pipeline and also requires that eastern Canada markets be satisfied before any gas is sold in the United States.

The contention is that if a pipeline could be built into the U. S. first, Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. would have no trouble raising enough money to start building. As it is, the long stretch of line through northern Ontario is considered by financial experts to be uneconomical and potential investors are shying away.

At any rate indications are that with the big federal loan construction can start this year on the first leg of the pipeline, from Alberta to Winnipeg. Trans-Canada will put up $8,000,000 to supplement the federal loan.

Premier Manning, who is also Alberta's minister of mines and minerals, says this province has everything to gain and nothing to lose. He sees a general shot in the arm for the province's economy when gas begins to move east.

The Premier points out that Alberta's reserves of gas total around 13 trillion cubic feet which he says is more than enough for Canadian and U.S. markets. As it is, the gas can't be sold at present. New wells are capped and sealed as soon as drilling is completed and that millions of dollars in investment capital are tied up.

Presumably, when export of gas begins there will be renewed activity in the field of exploration for new gas discoveries. In addition, industries will develop to extract by-products from the gas before it leaves the province. Other industries will process them.

On top of this, of course, the government stands to gain from royalties on all gas sold.

So all the yelling in Ottawa about the government selling out to American interests is regarded here as so much political propaganda. Premier Manning expressed the view that the federal government is amply protected. The provision is that unless the loan is [illegible] paid in nine months, Ottawa [illegible] over the pipeline.

NEW FINANCIAL DEAL FOR MUNICIPALITIES

Provincial and municipal officials met here last week for further discussions about the "new financial deal" for municipalities. Nothing was decided, but some interesting statistics were produced.

For one thing, a 1% sales tax would permit a reduction of ten mills in Alberta property taxes, on the basis of retail sales volume and property assessment last year.

The meeting also discussed the possibility of taxing farm buildings as well as land. Figures studied indicated that in most municipal districts assessments would increase and permit a reduction of as much as 40% in the mill rate.

[illegible] STUDIES THE LIQUOR LAWS

The legislature's special committee investigating the liquor laws last week clarified its position regarding submissions from private individuals. Chairman E. H. Gerhart of Edmonton said the committee will accept briefs from private submissions from every person who makes representation.

He emphasized that the committee wants to receive word from anyone and everyone [illegible] interested in the liquor question. If private individuals submit arguments with points the committee feels warrant further consideration, the individuals may be called upon to give testimony.

NEWS OF THE DISTRICT

Highway Construction Starts Near The Village of Dewberry

Ideal weather is helping farmers greatly here to rush the late spring seeding. By the end of the month of May seeding should be 75% completed.

HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION STARTS

The Progressive Road Construction Co. has started their contract of 14 miles of road construction extending Highway 45 from Dewberry to Marwayne. They have their camp now set up on the John Whiteside farm north of Hazeldine.

North American road builders are finishing up their last year's contract from Dewberry west and a nice highway is now taking shape.

SURVEY FOR NEW SCHOOL

Also in the vicinity are the surveyors for the new school grounds and other local municipal projects. All this tends to make the local hamlet a busy place.

Already the fishermen are at it. We noticed several boats going by last Sunday. Some Dewberry fishermen will be going to Pearce Lake this week-end to try their luck at the trout.

Two new babies in our district, both girls, one born to Mr. and Mrs. J. Honey, and one to Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Ewen. Our congratulations to the parents.

Allan Davies is home after an appendix operation. He was stricken very suddenly and a rush trip to Islay was made.

The largest pure bred stock sale to ever take place in Dewberry will be held on May 25, at the farm of the owner, Mr. Frank Bowman. This year he has 29 bulls and 6 heifers for sale.

The graduation dance for the Dewberry high school will be held this Friday night.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES CONVENE

Don't forget the annual School Trustees Convention, open to all ratepayers, at Kitscoty, Saturday, June 23 at 10 a.m. Come and hear why it costs over 11 mills for transportation of school children in Vermilion River schools. Also several well informed speakers will be heard, including the Alberta Home and School Association president.

TRACK MEET, MAY 26

The Dewberry district school track meet is to be held this Saturday, May 26. Always a good day to see the children in action.

Farmers in this district think they will not be able to hold their annual picnic on the 8th of June due to the late spring. It is hoped to arrange some similar event later in the summer.

Foreign-made goods sold in Canada in 1955 had an average value of about $1,200 per family.

There are now 871,000 horses on Canadian farms, about two-thirds the number at the time of the 1951 census. In 1921 the number of horses on farms was [illegible].

NEWS from ALLANDALE

(Crowded out last week)

We did enjoy some lovely warm days around 70, but the weekend was very cool. Seeding is a week earlier than last year, some commencing on the 10th.

Mr and Mrs. Rufus Omness and daughters, Janice and Irene, from New Serepta were visiting relatives in the district on Sunday, April 29. Their two grand daughters, Karen and Betty Hobbis from town, accompanied them.

We did enjoy some lovely warm days with the temperature around 70, but the week end was very cool. Seeding is a week earlier than last year, some commencing on the 10th.

Mr and Mrs. Rufus Omness and daughters Janice and Irene from New Serepta were visiting relatives in the district on Sunday April 29. Their two granddaughters Karen and Betty Hobbis from town accompanied them.

May 9th Mrs. Rufus Omness was attending the Home and School convention at the University. While in the city she was staying at the home of her niece Della. Mrs. Walsh.

Jimmy Walsh is working on the work train from Edmonton to Waterways for the summer months.

Recently Mrs. Louis Baldock received the sad news of her little niece's death from throat cancer. Her brother George Jacklin, and family live at Hamilton, Ont., and his daughter Susan was just six years old. "Budded on earth, to bloom in heaven".

MRS R. MEAD LEAVES ON SAD MISSION

Our thoughts were with Mrs. Rock Mead who left Wainwright on April 29th for the east as her sister-in-law was seriously ill. News came later that she passed away the next day but Mrs. Mead would be with her brother and family to comfort them in their sorrow.

Mr and Mrs. Tommy Greaves and family Brenda and Brian from the city spent the week end of May 5th at her parents' home, the Baldock's. Uncle Wilmer and Aunt Mamie Hogaboam from Derwent were guests that Sunday.

May 11 a number of young folks attended the dance at Rye school. Mr and Mrs. Idelore Nelson and son Leslie visited Mr. and Mrs. Roe that evening. It was good to hear that they were back from the city if only for a short time.

Glen Baldock left last week for Banff. He is working for Gerhart Bros. trucking gravel.

Mr and Mrs. Johnny Nelson and daughter Alva motored to Lloydminster on Sunday May 6th to spend the day with daughter Jean and Art. That week Joan and Art motored to Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Edwards and family from town were visitors last Sunday at the Armstrong home.

The evening of May 10th folks from Allandale attended the "Martin Luther" film in Vermilion. The attendance that evening was grand, even the aisles were filled. The film very clearly speaks for itself, "why we are Protestants".

The Omness sisters, Mrs. Stella Mayers, Mrs. Mabel Lee and Mrs. Nora Ronaghan, were visiting in the district last Sunday and at sister Erna's, the Armstrong home. Aunt Stella drove from the Leighton farm north of Kitscoty.

Albert Armstrong who is working in the city was home last Sunday.

Gordon Mayhew from Bawlf called at the Omness home last week end. Anna and the family are well, also Mother O'Fee who is staying with her daughter Anna at the Mayhew home.

NEWS from ISLAY

(Crowded out last week)

Home and School Association met in the school Monday night. Miss Bailey, a nurse from the Health Clinic centre at Vermilion told us much of the workings of the Unit. It was useful information. Our secretary of the H and S. spends much time and energy sending out notices. 22 were sent to those not having children yet at school, one responded. Are we not interested in the school or health unit? It is a service for the public, we should use it.

Mrs. Jean Axley will ship rags May 28th, get yours in.

The Mothers' Day service in the morning at the United Church Sunday school was well attended, the service was lovely and very well done by the children.

Challenging Message At Marwayne

MARWAYNE. A packed tabernacle last Wednesday night was thrilled and challenged by the messages in song from the Easton Bible Institute choir under the direction of Rev A D Marshall. The solos, trios and quartette numbers were also a real blessing. Rev Marshall climaxed the evening with a challenging message on "The Jericho Road". Bringing out the truth that the miracle that gave blind Bartimeus his sight could be experienced by all spiritually receiving their sight as they come to Jesus Christ asking for forgiveness of their sins. A good attendance was experienced in Sunday school and services last Sunday. An invitation is extended to all next Sunday morning at 10:30 for Sunday school; 11:30 worship service when the pastor will bring the second in a series of messages on the "Church". AT 7:00 p.m. please note the time, the "Martin Luther" film will be shown. This film is an eye opener, revealing the cost of Protestantism. Come early and bring a friend.

Wheat Pool Bursaries For Alberta Farm Boys and Girls

Every year the Alberta Wheat Pool offers Alberta farm boys and girls a number of valuable bursaries and scholarships.

The most valuable of these are the Alberta Wheat Pool bursaries for Rural Students. Two, each worth $300 a year, are awarded annually, one to a student whose home is in the southern part of the province and one to a student from the north. The $300.00 will be paid to each recipient in each of their undergraduate years up to and including five years, providing a satisfactory scholastic standing is maintained. While application will be considered from students registered in any graduate degree program, preference will be given to students entering the faculty of agriculture. These bursaries, tenable at the University of Alberta, are open to students whose parents are engaged in farming and who derive their major income from that source. The awards will be based on the scholastic record of the candidates in high school and their need for financial assistance.

Six Henry Wise Wood Memorial Bursaries, amounting to $135 each, are awarded by the Alberta Wheat Pool annually to assist farm young people to attend the provincial schools of agriculture. Members and former members of any of Alberta's 4-H clubs are eligible. One boy and one girl registered at each of the province's three agricultural schools will receive one of these awards.

The Alberta Wheat Pool also offers scholarships enabling former garden club members to enroll in home economics at the University of Alberta. Scholarships with a value of $200 each are offered annually to three students entering the first, second and third years of the home economics course.

For further information on any of these scholarships or bursaries, write directly to the head office of the Alberta Wheat Pool in Calgary.

In addition to these scholarships and bursaries the Alberta Wheat Pool each year assists 35 farm boys and girls to attend Farm Young People's Week at the University of Alberta. It also provides assistance to young people selected to attend the Rural Leadership course held each autumn at the Banff School of Fine Arts.

Listen, Ladies!

Did you know that when a Salvation Army officer marries he must marry another Salvation Army officer?

Yes. That's something we learned recently. But there is more to the story than that. The Salvation Army bride takes a rank equal to that of her husband, and she has an unlimited opportunity to work with him.

Salvation Army wives are particularly able in such things as counselling the family which is "up against it," spiritually, financially or emotionally . . . . and in helping the youngsters, for The Salvation Army operates children's homes, character-building activities of many kinds, and summer camps.

In fact, The Salvation Army is one of the largest operators of summer camps for less privileged. In some centres camps are available not only to youngsters but also to mothers and babies.

The Salvation Army does a big job, according to a report just released. It operates, for instance, in 85 countries and colonies speaking 102 languages and dialects. It is composed of hundreds of thousands of soldiers led by more than 32,000 officers and cadets.

A lot of folks getting along in years now can remember The Salvation Army lassies of World War One. The wives of younger men will remember the Red Shield in World War Two. But did you know that nobody was more surprised than the workers themselves at the thanks they received. For Salvation Army officers are continually at work in their battle against hunger and disease.

It's a battle that never ends, for it is the objective of The Salvation Army in its own words "to care for the poor, feed the hungry, clothe the naked, love the unlovable and befriend those who have no friends."

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane

Women's Travel Authority

I am an inveterate collector of travel gadgets. Fortunately I can justify this fever as a necessary service to my readers.

Here are some practical ones that I've discovered. Incidentally, I think some of them might make unusual going-away gifts.

There's a car cushion constructed of springs covered with widely woven plastic strands that allows air to circulate underneath the driver and prevents seat heat.

And there's a braided rubber clothesline about the size of a dog leash belt that stretches to accommodate a complete set of underthings. It requires no clothespins. Just tuck the corners of your laundered garments between the strands and pull. Along with this I've found a collapsible ironing board that fits neatly in a suitcase.

An exuberant youngster could, I think, be enchanted with a toy steering wheel complete with three gears for shifting. It is attached to his own special seat that raises him up to a safe driver's view of the road.

Douglas Harrington Married At St. Andrew's Church, Bow Island

St. Andrews United church at Bow Island was the scene of a pretty wedding when Irene Mary Stedman, daughter of Mrs. Mary Stedman of Bow Island, exchanged marriage vows with Douglas George Harrington, son of Mr. F. G. Harrington of Edmonton. Rev. Douglas Brooker officiated at the double-ring ceremony held on Saturday afternoon, May 5th, at 4:00 o'clock. Mrs. Laverne Faris was organist and soloist.

Escorted down the aisle by her brother-in-law Mr. Edwin Schaufele who gave her in marriage the bride wore a floor-length dress of white lace and net over satin, the lace bolero featuring lily point sleeves and Peter Pan collar with pearl and sequin trim. Her shoulder-length veil was held in place by a dainty cap also trimmed with sequins and pearls. Matching pearl necklace and earrings completed her ensemble and her bouquet was of red roses.

The bridesmaids, Anne McCracken and Kathleen Roth, wore matching mauve cocktail-length dresses of nylon flock dotted and net material. They carried nosegays of white carnations, centred with yellow carnations, and wore matching yellow headpieces.

Mr. Robert Reid of Calgary supported the groom, and ushers were Mr. Jack McCracken and Mr. Tony Roth.

For the wedding the bride's mother chose a two-piece dress of navy and white, with navy accessories. Mrs. H. J. Reid of Big Valley, special guest of the groom, wore a blue two-piece suit with pink and white accessories. Both ladies wore pink carnations en corsage.

A tiered wedding cake centred the bride's table at the reception which was held in the community hall for one hundred guests. Bouquets of spring flowers adorned the tables.

Mr. Clifford Schonert was master of ceremonies. Rev. Brooker proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom ably responded. The best man proposed a toast to the bridesmaids. Rev. Allen Hunt of Coaldale extended congratulations to the couple, and the best man read several congratulatory telegrams. Mr. Cy McAndrews of Lethbridge gave the groom a few pointers on conduct.

Later in the evening the party danced to the music of the Burdett orchestra. For the honeymoon trip to Spokane, Seattle and Vancouver, the bride wore a tailored blue suit with pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Harrington will make their home in Bow Island.

Out of town guests for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Jim MacDonald and children, Muriel and Keith; Mr. and Mrs. Dan MacDonald and Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Reid, all of Calgary; Mrs. H. J. Reid of Big Valley, Alta.; Mrs. W. A. Rogan, Vermilion; Mr. and Mrs. W. Rogan, Mr. and Mrs. A. Hofland and daughter Anne from Medicine Hat; Mr. and Mrs. W. Gillis and Mr. and Mrs. C. McAndrews of Lethbridge. Other friends came from the neighboring towns of Winnifred and Whitla.

Canada, with less than 1% of the world's population, ranks sixth in the world as a producer of manufactured goods. Manufacturing provides about one dollar out of three of Canada's national income.

Disabilities That Temporarily Disqualify

Worry is something else that disables a driver. Fatal accidents have been the result of a driver who worries. Worries, like alcohol or carbon monoxide, take away a driver's alertness, command of his thinking ability, thereby leaving his car to wander without proper guidance. Home trouble, serious illness, personal fears, are some of the things that reduce a driver's efficiency and make him accident prone. It has been suggested that a lot of "crack-ups" of criminals who attempt an automobile get-away are caused not only by high speeds, but the desperate condition of the driver's mind. Worry and fast driving do not mix.

There is a story told about a man and wife having budget troubles in the home. Apparently his wife suggested her need of a new fur [illegible] fast table. Each time the subject was brought up he would flatly refuse. One morning the wife threatened to leave him if she did not get her request. He did not anticipate that his refusals to buy would lead to these drastic terms. It worried him. Driving to work that morning he went through a red light which resulted in a collision. When asked by the Traffic Officer why he didn't stop for the red light he replied, I didn't see the red light. There was a fur coat over it. Worry can so affect a driver that he may become as a drunken driver.

This has completed the "disabilities that temporarily disqualify." Alcoholic intoxication, fatigue, carbon monoxide poison and worry, each will affect a driver in a similar manner causing accidents, fatal crippling and damage to property.

Driving a car these days especially demands the maximum of attention and alertness. Highway traffic demands the best of your driving ability both physically and mentally.

The proper procedure, then, when you realize that you are affected by any of these, is to let someone else more qualified do your driving.

The most important lesson to learn about trees and the forest, and therefore the first lesson, should be to be very careful in handling fire near trees or forests. A burned tree or forest is of no use to man or to wild animals. It is just a waste. A burned forest is a loss to everybody. Therefore only fools set forest fires.

Health Unit Notes

WELL BABY CLINICS

The Minburn-Vermilion Health Unit hold [illegible] at monthly intervals in 19 places in the Unit area and at weekly intervals in Wainwright and Vermilion. The purpose of these clinics is:

1. To weigh babies and give advice on infant feeding and general care. Babies are weighed at each attendance and the weight is recorded on a card which is kept by the mother and also on the Infant Health card which is retained by the Unit. In this way it can be easily seen whether or not a baby is gaining weight at a satisfactory rate. If necessary, children are referred to their family doctor.

2. To immunize and vaccinate babies at as early an age as possible. It is advisable to start immunizing a child against diptheria, whooping cough, and tetanus at 4 months as these diseases, particularly whooping cough, are most dangerous during the first year of life. It is not generally appreciated that whooping cough is high on the list of causes of death in infants under one year old. During recent years there have been few cases of diptheria and this is due to the extensive immunization program that has been carried out. If immunity is not kept at a high level in the majority of children, there is always the possibility of diptheria breaking out in epidemic proportions. The danger of contracting tetanus through an open wound is always higher in rural areas.

The course of inoculations consists of three injections at monthly intervals and a fourth injection after four months. Booster shots are given one year after this and then at yearly intervals until the child starts school. The injections are practically painless and most children have little or no reaction after them.

If vaccination against smallpox is done early in infancy there is very much less reaction than in later life. Also if an adult has to be vaccinated there is less reaction if he or she has been done when a child. The best time for smallpox vaccination is just before the course for diptheria, whooping cough and tetanus or after the first three injections.

Every inoculation and vaccination is marked on the card kept by the parents. This means that if people move to a different district the local health authority there can see at a glance what inoculations have been done and can give booster shots when they are due. This information is also kept on the Infant Health card; when the child [illegible] to school, all information regarding immunization is transferred to the School Health card and booster shots are given where necessary.

Rotarians Plant Trees At Vermilion Park

In keeping with their interests in community service and for the sake of adding variety to their regular scheme of weekly meetings the Vermilion Rotary club met at the provincial park on May 18th where each member planted a tree.

Undergrowth and windfalls have been cleaned out of the native grove on the hillside just north of Wolf Point. The remaining poplar and other native trees continue to provide considerable shelter and a rather attractive setting for picnicking. However in order to improve the variety and quality of the tree growth the Rotarians planted spruce, pine larch, elm, ash and north-west poplar that are now an attractive addition to the area.

Mr Baranyk of the School of Agriculture staff staked out the planting scheme in advance, then each [illegible] location and had to dig the hole for his tree to the prescribed dimensions before dinner was served. When all had met this requirement the party convened at the picnic shelter where a mess of weiners and beans formed the main dish of a hearty lunch engineered by Newcombe Bentley assisted by Chauncey MacKay, Nick Kowalchuk, Cliff McCormick and Jack Kneale.

After the meal, Newcombe Bentley explained the secrets of successful tree planting with emphasis on generous digging, big feet and lots of water. Then each member proceeded to plant his tree. Some thirty members of the Club as well as several visitors including Mayor Hill made quick work of a rather extensive planting project that should grow into an attractive [illegible] area within a short time.

The trees for this project were contributed by the School of Agriculture which has assisted in the development of numerous facilities at the park notably the construction of bath houses and picnic tables.

THE OPEN END OF A PIPELINE—

The Trans - Canada pipeline is proving to be the most contentious bill ever to be introduced into the House of Commons. Many and varied are the opinions expressed with those opposed to the bill doing all they can to delay any action. Alberta members in the House are highly desirous of seeing a pipeline for the transport of natural gas from this province to the rich market built in the shortest time and are bending their vocal efforts to that objective.

An open end of a pipeline is what is urgently needed in Alberta and the sooner it becomes a reality the more the province will benefit, and the sooner the people east of this province will benefit from the great convenience of natural gas.

There has been considerable wind in the course of the last week but the calm days have been beautiful. A little rain fell on May 24, just six one-hundredths of an inch, and again on May 28 approximately the same amount of moisture. A good rain would be welcomed here any time now. With the exception of a one degree below the freezing point reading on May 28 the Vermilion district has remained frost free so far this growing season.

$1000 To Master Farm Families

Hon. L. C. Halmrast, Minister of Agriculture for Alberta, reports that the Master Farm Family Program is to be continued again this year. This program has been in operation for seven years during which time 32 Farm Families have been declared. The families selected last year were the R. O. Browns of Acme, the Chris Stadder family at Vegreville and F. M. Robinsons at Pincher Creek.

Nominations for the Master Farm Family Award must be signed by at least three neighbors, accepted by the nominee and filed with the District Agriculturist. The family nominated must be the owner-operator or lease-operator of the farm; the head of the family must have spent at least twenty consecutive years in actual operation of a farm in his own right and not in partnership. (In the case of veterans, absence on military service will be accepted in lieu.)

The award will consist of a cash award of one thousand dollars, a plaque and a gate plate to be placed at the entrance to the farmstead. Provision has been made for 5 possible winners each year. The selection begins in the District Agriculturist's territory and then a winner is picked at a district level and finally at a regional level. In each case there is a provincial selection committee appointed by the Minister of Agriculture and composed of a representative of the Department of Agriculture, a representative of the Faculty of Agriculture, University of Alberta, a representative of the Alberta Federation of Agriculture, a representative of farm women and a Home Economist. If the committee feels that no candidate from a region meets with the required standards, no award will be given.

"GREEN ACRES"

BLACK FLIES

The dreaded black flies have appeared in this district. Several herds of cattle south and east of Vermilion have suffered from the bites of these flies. This is the same 'black' fly which caused the loss of quite a few cattle at Prince Albert, Sask. a few years ago. Put infested cattle in the barn or drive into heavy bush. Use DDT or other poisons although poisons and repellants do not seem to be very effective. If cattle that are badly bitten do not die in a couple of days they seem to get immune and last it out. Do something or you may lose your cattle. This is a very small black fly and should not be confused with the larger horn flies or with barn flies.

KILL THE COYOTES

A sheep farmer near Bluffton, Alberta, killed 200 coyotes during the past five years. Most of these were killed with the cyanide gas coyote getter but many of them were poisoned with strychnine. Anyone raising sheep or poultry should protect them from coyotes. Poison for coyote control is supplied free to farmers. Apply to your municipal office.

NEBRASKA TRIALS

I have a few copies of the latest reports on the Nebraska trials and the ratings of the tractors tried out and tested. Anyone applying at this office can get a copy as long as the supply lasts.

EARLY SUMMERFALLOW

Tests have shown summerfallow started early in June yields far more grain the next year than when the first stroke is delayed until a month later. It looks like some farmers who do not start summerfallowing until the end of June or some times later are losing quite a lot of money thereby.

2, 4-D SPRAYING

Most of the spraying with 2, 4-D for weed control in this area is done too late. It is no use waiting until the weeds have sapped out all the moisture before getting out the sprayer. A better job of killing is done when the weeds are in the three or four leaf stage and besides it takes less chemical.

BLACK HEAD IN TURKEYS

Chickens may be infected with black head with little or no loss but this disease is dynamite in the turkey flock. Black head is often passed on from chickens to turkeys so it is the wise poultry man who keeps them separated. Do not run turkeys and chickens in the same yard or poultry house under any circumstances.

Tips on Touring

Women's Travel Authority

Packing for a trip is a calm, simple process that doesn't take you more than an hour IF—and this is a large IF—you plan ahead. A week or so before you set out, make a "be sure to take" list based on your vacation goal and your plans for pleasure. This list serves as a beforehand shopping guide and as a memory jogger when you actually begin to pack.

Experienced travellers resist the temptation to take along everything in sight. Questioned in a survey, 700 women tourists agreed that two pieces of luggage were ample for trips averaging 3,000 miles. The favourite combination is one large wardrobe suitcase and one overnight case or sturdy cardboard box.

Choose crush-resistant clothes which can be used for a variety of occasions. The subject of travel clothes, of course, is tremendous, and I plan to write about it soon but in the meantime I'd like to hear about the kind of styles you have found to be practical.

The idea in packing is to keep everything just as clean and unwrinkled as if it had just come from your closet. It's easy. Put shoes in special bags so they won't get your other clothes dirty. If you don't have shoe bags, try using your husband's old socks.

"Luggage Leaves" which you can make yourself of plastic or nylon are another great help in avoiding wrinkles especially these "new look" days. They serve to separate into layers the various types of garments in your suitcase. The result is an efficient filing system right in your own travel bag. Some people like to leave dresses on hangers and pack them right in the bags as they are sent from the dry cleaner.

Sweaters are useful and easy to pack. You'll find they'll get less wrinkled if they're rolled instead of folded.

Then spillables and breakables among your drugs and cosmetics can cause real damage if they are not put in pliofilm bags or other leakproof containers. Incidentally you'll find it convenient to place toilet articles in a plastic kit to avoid rummaging through your whole suitcase when you're looking for toothpaste, nail polish or powder.

Coats, raincoats and suit jackets stay immaculate if you hang them in the back of the car. Picnic equipment can easily be kept on the rear floor and the glove compartment holds flashlight, whisk broom, facial tissues, road maps and other "in demand" odds and ends.

Don't underestimate the importance of planned packing. I've always found that a little organizing ahead of time lets you start out without that "I'm sure I forgot something" feeling.

4-H CLUB WEEK DATES ANNOUNCED

4-H Club week dates have been announced by C. L. Usher, Supervisor of 4-H clubs for the Alberta Department of Agriculture. There are to be two club weeks at the Olds School of Agriculture, the first from July 23 to 28 and the second from July 30 to August 4. Club week at the Vermilion School has been set for July 16 to 21 and for Fairview from July 9 to 14.

530 boys and girls, all efficiency winners, between the ages of 15 and 21 will attend the club weeks. The annual convention from Montana will attend one of the club weeks but Mr. Usher says that it has not yet been decided which of the Schools it will be. Programs are being lined up for the 1956 Club weeks and will be announced at a later date. However, the programs will be drawn up to give members insight into the life at a School of Agriculture and Home Economics and in this a taste of many agricultural and home-making subjects.

Club weeks follow the plan of dividing into groups, each with their own leaders, in order to work toward the development of leadership. The program is always one of well balanced work, recreation and social activities and Club Week never fails to be a highlight in the Club year.

High School Graduation Banquet Held at Marwayne

MARWAYNE.—The spacious auditorium of the Marwayne Jubilee school was beautifully decorated for the banquet held in honor of the High School Graduands on Friday evening, May 25th.

The Graduands, their parents, the teaching staff of the school, the Mayor, representatives of the local school board, the Home and School representatives, their partners and two of the local clergymen were present.

The Rev. A. Potter gave the Invocation, and a toast to the Queen was proposed. After the banquet, Mayor Curtis, as chairman, gave a few well chosen remarks to the graduands, and then called on Mr. Gardiner, principal, to introduce the students. After telling what each one intended to do in the future, he introduced them in turn: David Miller, Kathy Burke, Leah Culford, Mary Gordie, Lloyd Johnson, Betty Klinkner and Bruce Wilcox.

Best wishes were extended to the young people from the Home and School Association by Joe Hole, president.

David Miller delivered the Valedictory address in a wonderful manner, thanked the teachers for their help and understanding and also the board for providing all the facilities of the new building. Mr. A. Hancock, chairman of the local board, replied.

The Rev. Mr. Johnson gave the main address of the evening, stressing that the graduands are now just stepping out into the school of hard knocks; that they choose their goal with care and that they never lose sight of it.

Mr. Brown of the Div. Board, Mrs. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. McGuffin were unable to attend.

Later a very nice dance was held with all the high school students and their invited guests attending. The music was supplied by Inman's Orchestra from Vermilion.

Vegreville Knights Of Columbus Plan Initiation June 17

An initiation in the Order of the Knights of Columbus in the first, second and third degree will be held in Vegreville on Sunday, June 17. As a result the local Knights will be adding some fifty or more members to their ranks and will thereby qualify for the forming of their own subordinate council. Supreme Council, with headquarters in New Haven Conn. has already been petitioned to grant a charter, the necessary quota of insurance members is very nearly completed and there seems to be nothing that will hinder the institution of a local and new council. Application for membership at the forthcoming initiation includes men from Chipman, Hillard, Mundare, Willingdon, Two Hills, Holden, Innisfree and many more from Vegreville and surroundings. It appears a big day in Knighthood is shaping up for June 17 and all members are urged to attend and invite members of other neighboring councils to join us in initiating and extending a fraternal hand to the newcomers on that day. In as much as the day's activities are restricted, as regards attendance, to the members and candidates only, the ladies are, however, cordially invited to join their respective husbands or boy friends at the banquet which will be held in the St. Martin's parish hall in the evening at 6:30 p.m. The C. W. L. are catering.

DANCE AND SOCIAL

The Knights are tentatively planning a mammoth dance on Tuesday, June 26, at the I. O. O. F. hall in Innisfree. The latter town is picked for the occasion because it seems to be the best central location to accomodate attendance from the towns of Vermilion and Vegreville, and their surrounding communities where the membership of Knighthood extends. This affair will be open to the general public, and besides being planned as a highly entertaining function, it is also hoped it will be a lucrative one, for the purpose of assisting the Knights of Columbus in their efforts to sponsor "Little League Baseball" in Vegreville.

Canada's wool production in 1955 amounted to 2,041,000, some 40,000 pounds off from 1954.

EMBROIDERED FABRICS POPULAR

For many women the big sewing project of the year is making a special spring into summer costume.

The exciting variety of embroidered fabrics, now available at popular prices, and the wide range of small patterned prints are favorable choices among dress materials, according to local sewing centre reports.

Embroidered or printed fabrics are excellent choices for the new unbroken line, say the Singer sewing stylists, because the simplicity of the line makes it possible to centre interest on the design in the material.

Besides being new, the embroidered fabrics require special attention from the home dressmaker. They should be handled much like printed material with a few additional precautions. Here are some tips prepared by experts in local Singer Sewing Centers for getting the best results.

As with printed material, allow a little extra yardage for embroidered fabrics for matching the pattern. Centre the design down the front and back. Watch to see that the design is matched as closely as possible on the long seams. Check this detail carefully when laying out the pattern.

If darts fall on heavily embroidered section of the design, eliminate bulk by snipping darts open and pressing them flat. When pressing use a steam iron and work over a turkish towel to avoid flattening the design. Place fabric on the towel with embroidered side down and press on the wrong side.

A final word. Most of the new embroidered fabrics, though fragile looking, are washable. Sewing is easier than average on the new silhouette since seams are few and finishing is simple.

During 1955 the area planted to commercial vegetables in Canada was 198,630 acres, an increase of 14% over 1954.

the Snapshot Guild

Spring sports, competitive or just-for-fun, are filled with good picture material.

Spring Sports in Snapshots

At this time of year, it is a pleasure just to have an excuse to be out of doors—and when the occasion is an athletic event and you have your camera with you, it all becomes doubly pleasant. You're out of doors, you've something interesting to watch, and in the pictures you take you can enjoy the event anew whenever you wish.

Action and athletics are almost synonymous. This, of course, means that they are ideal picture subject material for the movie camera user and for the still snapshooter whose camera has a lens fast enough to stop the action.

But that doesn't mean that you who are devotees of the simple box camera should leave it at home. By all means, take it with you. You can shoot anything from the high jumper in action to the baseball moundsman in his wind-up.

The only thing to remember is that you have to pick your shooting moments more carefully than the users of the other cameras. There are certain points at which you can get a picture just as good as others, while a shutter opening at another moment might give you a blurred snapshot because it didn't operate fast enough to "stop" the action.

Do your shooting at what is called the peak of the action. At some point in every action—such as that at which a pole vaulter reaches the maximum height—there is virtual stillness. A pause before the downward motion begins is plenty long enough for you to snap a sharp, clear picture.

So, when you go out as a spectator for spring sports, don't leave your box camera at home. The pictures it will take are the ones that cover the highlights.

ITALIANS ARE LIVING BETTER

Italians are enthusiastically accepting the North American way of life and particularly the use of labor-saving household appliances, the Commercial Counsellor in Rome writes in "Foreign Trade". Instalment buying, once largely confined to radios, has now spread to television sets, refrigerators, washing machines, vacuum cleaners, electric kitchen equipment, automobiles and motorcycles. Prewar only a very small proportion of the people could afford these "necessary luxuries." This new influence is largely the result of a very great increase in salaries. Today the average Italian's real income is more than 25% higher than in 1938.

One of the most striking improvements in the Italian living standard has been in basic diet. Consumption of low-calorie cereal foods has steadily declined and people are eating more and more sugar, milk and fresh fruit. Taking 1934-38 equals 100, the per capita consumption in 1954-55 of sugar was 225.6, of fresh milk 145, and of fresh fruit 261.5. Though it is still low in protein, this is a more varied and better balanced diet than the Italian was used to in the past.

Another sign of better times throughout Italy is the increase in travelling. Before the war only a very small portion of the population went away from home for the weekend but now the roads are clogged with travellers. More than two million of the smaller-type motorcycles and scooters are on the Italian roads today, compared with 127 thousand in 1938. The number of private cars has more than doubled—780 thousand compared with 345 thousand in 1938.

TRUTH PERSISTS

Some years ago the Weekly Newspaper Editors placed a brief before a parliamentary inquiry into broadcasting. It was a "hot" brief, a very straightforward brief.

Its recommendations did not seem to carry the day, however, and presumably the editors were discouraged or at least disappointed that their warnings were apparently ignored.

But there is something about the printed truth. It lives!

The other day, in Winnipeg, an MLA, a liberal, told the Royal Commission on Broadcasting that it was the editors' brief that started him studying the subject, and that he had reached the conclusion that the present system needs reform. He re-filed the newspaper brief.

Perhaps the Royal Commission will also ignore it when they write their recommendations. If so, I will wager dollars to doughnuts it will come up again, no matter how often it is sat on. Converts are made.

Many people are very fond of CBC because the CBC does some wonderful work. I often listen to CBC and often approve very highly the programs they present. But I fear their enormous political power. I was delighted to see that a Liberal MLA had the courage to say that he, too, feared this power. That politicians feared it, and that some of the newspapermen who write about political affairs feared it.

When politicians can exert day to day control over a means of communication, an atmosphere of fear is almost certain to exist.

The CBC should not need the vast power it now has. This political influence could be removed. Mr. Dunton claims that this relationship with the private stations is on a sort of one-big-happy-family basis. Then why does he need power to force them into this relationship?

Traffic Safety Lane

– By –

MR. J. W. McKAY, Director of Safety Education, Department of Highways.

THE BICYCLE

Before going into further discussions on the automobile, I would like to mention something about the bicycle.

We must remember that the bicycle has the same rights on the highway as the automobile. Because of this fact, it must be remembered that along with the privileges, there are also definite obligations and rules to obey. Too much emphasis cannot be placed upon careful, considerate riding and observance of safety rules covering bicycling. Lack of consideration for fellow riders, pedestrians or motorists brings condemnation upon all bicyclists.

Statistics say that three-fourths of all bicyclists involved in accidents were violating traffic laws. Nearly half of the deaths due to bicycle accidents occur among children five to fourteen years of age. These statistics prove that safety in bicycling should be stressed and taught first in the home. Restriction of riding priviledges for youngsters who repeatedly disobey safety rules is one of the most effective means parents have of controlling the behaviour of young cyclists. Parents should have a clear understanding with their children that infractions of traffic laws and dangerous riding practices will mean that the bicycle will go into storage for a week or so. Persistent and continued parental training of children to be courteous and safety minded at all times will pay large dividends when their children become automobile drivers. It is found that approximately one-fourth of the bicycles involved in accidents were found to be defective.

"Train a child in the way which he should go; when he is young, and when he is old he will not depart from it."

Going away back in the centuries we find mankind not satisfied with just walking. Man had an urge to move about much faster. The outcome of such an urge was the invention of the two-wheeled vehicle known today as the bicycle.

The forerunner of the bicycle was the PEDOMOTOR, a two-wheeled vehicle propelled by using the feet as a little child on a kiddie car, the rider straddled the affair and with a walking motion pushed himself along at a faster rate than walking.

The first pedomotor was made and used by Baron von Drais, a forester in Baden, Germany, in 1816. So valuable did he find it in covering his forest paths that the 'Draisine' or "Celeripede" as he called it, became the foundation for later improvements.

MacMillan added levers in 1840. Another Scot, Dalzell, added the safety draisine which could travel 10 to 13 M.P.H. The word 'safety' as applied to this vehicle over ninety-nine years ago, leads us to believe that even the forerunner was recognized as a traffic hazard. In fact MacMillan was fined for "furious driving" in Scotland.

Macaux in 1855 added cranks and front wheel pedals. Ten years later Lallement built the famous high-wheel "boneshaker," the machine that put cycling in the SPORTS classification.

From 1870 to 1899, many improvements were made and the bicycle joyrider was here to stay.

In the U.S.A. they estimate twelve million bicyclists today or about one bicycle to every three motor vehicles. With twelve million bicyclists sharing the road and the privileges with thirty-six million automobiles, bicycles travelling at ten m.p.h., the car at 50 m.p.h.; with so little courtesy and safety practised, it is any wonder we have accidents. The bicycle cannot push the automobile off the road. Therefore, the more safety and courtesy practised by the cyclist as well as the pedestrian and the motor vehicle driver, the fewer people will be killed.

An Allergy That Afflicts Almost Everyone

Every year, countless picnickers, fishermen, and hunters return from enjoyable outings only to discover that they have fallen victim to ivy, oak, or sumac poisoning. The itchy rash and blisters that follow exposure to the noxious plants are enough to make even the most ardent nature-lover wish he had stayed home.

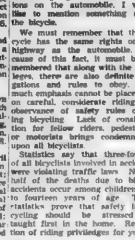
Perhaps "poisoning" is a somewhat misleading term to use in connection with the wild plants since the rash they produce is actually an allergic reaction brought about by a person's sensitivity to urushiol, an oil that the plants contain.

In order for sensitivity to develop in a person, there must be prior contact with the plants. Newborn infants—and even adults who have never previously been exposed to the growths — generally do not develop symptoms after a single contact.

Few persons think of this affliction as an allergy because so many of us are susceptible. Poison ivy allergy, for instance, develops in four out of five persons. The fifth is immune and can handle the plant without suffering any harmful effects.

Learning to recognize and avoid contact with the harmful growths is, of course, the most effective means of prevention. Both poison ivy and poison oak are innocuous-looking vine-like plants with characteristic three-leaf clusters. Poison sumac can be distinguished from non-poisonous sumac because its shrubs bear white berries instead of red ones.

Persons unfortunate enough to have exposed their skin to any of the plants formerly could do little to prevent onset of the rash except scrub themselves with strong soap and water. This remedy had to be used immediately to be at all effective.



Medical researchers at Syracuse University have now found that poison ivy rash can be completely prevented if a preparation called Zirnox is applied either before contact with the plants, or within eight hours after exposure to them. The scientists also report that the preparation is effective for treatment as well as the prevention of ivy, oak and sumac poisoning. Insect bites and mild sunburn and skin irritation are similarly relieved with the drug.

Zirnox is a combination of two potent chemical agents, the antihistamine, phenyltoloxamine, and zirconium. The agents act by neutralizing urushiol and by soothing skin irritation.

Assembly of Jehovah Witnesses Held At Vegreville

The assembly of Jehovah's witnesses held at Vegreville over the week end was climaxed by a public address "Consulting God on World Affairs" by C. E. Hepworth, Toronto, representative of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society.

Mr. Hepworth spoke to a large audience in the Capitol Theatre. He claimed that "Satan, the god of this world, is primarily responsible for world conditions".

"World authorities are aware a marked change has taken place since 1914", Mr. Hepworth said. "Nations can never return to pre-war days. Thirty-nine prophecies have their fulfilment in our day, a sure indication that we are living in the last days of this system of things."

He also said "Studying world events without a spiritual eye, was like trying to study the universe without a high-powered telescope, or microscopic life without a microscope. The means of a sharper discernment for a spiritual-minded man is God's Word, the Bible. With its help the spiritual man can evaluate world happenings.

"More than 2,000 years ago the Bible peered down into our day and marked 1914 as the beginning of the end of this system of things. Jesus' disciples wrote further of this eventful generation stating that it would be marked by an increased crop of ridiculers, also a flourishing harvest of ultra-rich, and a moral breakdown". He quoted Luke 21 7:28, James 5:1-6, and Timothy 3:1-5 as "irrefutable evidence" for the fulfilment of these prophecies since 1914.

"Now is the time for rejoicing, for the Kingdom which Christians have prayed is here." He said to "look beyond with telescopic view to a time when sickness, sorrow and death will be eliminated, and no power will be able to stop promised blessings through his Kingdom under Christ."

The theme of the Assembly was full-time ministers, and the stepping up of the door-to-door ministry with the use of the Bible to increase knowledge of what world conditions mean, and to point the people to God's New World of Righteousness.

At the baptismal service Saturday afternoon, seven ministers dedicated their lives to the "preaching of the good news".

Volunteer service operated a cafeteria and snack bar which adequately supplied the needs of the conventioners.

D. Hosie, Toronto, who serves as circuit servant to this area, spoke on the need of home Bible studies, and on behalf of Jehovah's witnesses publicly thanked the citizens of Vegreville for the hospitality and kindness shown to the visiting delegates.

N. N. Bentley Guest Speaker At Elk Point Graduation Banquet

On Friday afternoon May 25th Elk Point honored the graduands of Grades XII and IX at ceremonies held in the high school.

These were followed by a banquet held in the Legion hall at which the principal of the High school, Mr H G Beatty was the toastmaster. After a lovely dinner catered to by the United Church W.A. Mr Beatty proposed a toast to the Queen. Walter Wyrhopen offered a toast to the Grade IX class, which was replied to by Joan [illegible]. Dr Miller spoke on behalf of the school board officials in answer to a toast by Lillian Bartole, and the teachers were honored by Dean Fenton with Miss M. Loftus replying.

The nineteen members of the graduating class in Grade XII were toasted by Donald [illegible] and Evelyn Saldan represented the graduands in answering.

The graduation address was given by N. N. Bentley, Principal of the School of Agriculture at Vermilion, during which he extended greetings from the V.S.A. to the graduands. He invited those interested to acquaint themselves with the opportunities for further training which were offered by the School of Agriculture and Home Economics. Mr Bentley told the graduands that graduation or "Commencement" marked their entrance to a new degree of responsibility and self-determination, the success of which would depend in a very direct way on the kind and quality of their preparation for entance to the adult [illegible].

The chairman thanked Mr Bentley for his address and Myrna Valentine extended the thanks of the gathering to the catering committee for the lovely banquet, in answer to which Mrs. Clarence Boos Jr spoke for the ladies' group.

MARWAYNE. — The marriage of Miss Myrtle Caroline Kinsella, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Wm. Kinsella, to Mr. David Harvey Lowrie, son of Mr and Mrs. Jas. Lowrie, also of Marwayne, took place in the Marwayne United church on May 19th at 3:30 p.m. Rev. R. R. Smith, assisted by Rev. McGuffin, read the marriage vows before an altar banked with fern and red and white carnations.

A white, tiered, lace, strapless ballerina-length gown with fitted jacket was chosen by the bride who was given in marriage by her father. A coronet encrusted with pearls and sequins held her finger-tip-length veil and she carried a white Bible with streamers of sweetheart roses.

Miss Marion Kinsella, a sister of the bide was bridesmaid and wore red lace over taffeta with white net bolero and bandeau of baby carnations. Her bouquet was of red and white carnations.

Little Miss Joanne Ward was flower girl and Master William Ward was ringbearer, both cousins of the bride.

Murray Lowrie attended the groom as best man. Ushering the guests were Lloyd and Jerry Hines. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Hazel Johnston and Mrs. Audrey McDonald sang "The Wedding Prayer" during the signing of the register.

The reception took place at 5:00 o'clock in the Elks hall, Rev. Mr McGuffin proposing the toast to the bride. A dance was held in the Elks hall in the evening.

Rotarians Hear Talk On Migratory Birds

Rotarians at their luncheon meeting on Friday last heard a very interesting talk by Bob Harris who is in charge of a wild life survey in this district. Mr. Harris is in the Federal Government Service Dept of Northern Affairs. His work is chiefly [illegible] with migratory birds and at the [illegible] time a census is being taken of the migratory ducks in this area. As this is one of the study areas a great deal of other research is carried on as well, and Mr. Harris gave his very interested audience an idea of what is done and how it is carried out. For instance, [illegible] ducks were banded along highway 41 in 1955.

The speaker was introduced by Cliff McCormick and following his talk was thanked by George [illegible].

Of interest to hunters Mr Harris stated that the preliminary survey indicates that ducks are here in [illegible] numbers so that a successful [illegible] season is in prospect this fall. He also remarked that a film is now being taken of the different species of ducks around Vermilion and that the movie will be shown here when completed. So far 14 different kinds of ducks have been identified in this study district.

Kitscoty Girls In Musical Festival

KITSCOTY. — When Eleanor Christoffersen, Patricia Hobart of Lloydminster, Beverlie Jack, and Janet Kent of Marwayne pupils of Mrs Elsie Batty travelled to Edmonton to take part in the Musical Festival this year they found much keener competition as, being a provincial festival, there were entrants from Calgary, Lethbridge and Cochrane among other places, some classes having as many as twenty two entries. However, these girls gave very creditable performances winning three seconds and four thirds out of their fifteen entries. We are delighted to report that Janet Kent was awarded the Adelaide Montgomery Memorial scholarship of $50 provided by the Alberta Women's Institute for a girl 16 years and under not residing in Edmonton, Calgary, Medicine Hat or Lethbridge.

Values of cheques cashed in Canadian clearing centres in January, 1956, totalled $[illegible], an increase of [illegible]% over the same date a year previous.

Mannville High School Honors Nineteen Graduates

MANNVILLE. — The graduation exercises for the grade 12 class of 1956 were held in the beautifully decorated school gymnasium on May 18th. There were nineteen graduands, fourteen girls and five boys.

The exercises opened with the singing of "O Canada" and Invocation by Rev. Holter. Mr. Doherty introduced the graduands as follows: Eunice Bury, Shirley McDonald, Betty Proudfoot, Florence [illegible], Eunice Yaceyko, Rita Bierman, [illegible], June Wyard-Scott, Sandra Leitch, Betty Militz, Kathleen Thomas, Trudy Keushnig, Gwenne Thompson, Frances Tod, Billy Thompson, Orest Homeniuk, Gordon Roberts, Ken Korol and Howard Schreyer.

Awards were presented to the students of grades ten and eleven, three in each grade with the highest marks: and an award to the student showing the greatest increase in marks during the course of the year. These went, in grade 11, to Doreen Gerhart, Connie Gerhart, Mary Grach and Dennis Militz, and in grade 10 to Dixie Schreyer, Harold Keuschnig, Bruce Anderson and Roy North. Donna Ackerman received a gold pen from the Remington Co. for typing proficiency.

Miss Ruth Gamble sang "My Best to You" and "It's Just a Little Street".

Mr. Doherty addressed a few words to the parents of high school students, centering on the question "Why do you send your son or your daughter to High School?" He suggested that as well as knowing that high school graduates command better choices of occupations and better incomes, we seek from those who have gone through high school people who have learned to discipline themselves: better mannered people, much more poise: better grooming: better choice of English words, better informed people with inquiring minds. To this he added a few words of advice to the graduands.

Mrs. Rea presented the rings to the members of the class. This was followed by two solos by Miss Betty Proudfoot, "If Winter Comes" and "Ah' Sweet Mystery of Life."

Eunice Bury was class historian and Howard Schreyer valedictorian.

Miss Clara Brokop presented a piano solo.

The guest speaker for the evening was Mr. Bruce, Director of Correspondence Branch of the Department of Education. During the course of his brief remarks, he reminded the graduating class that they owed a great deal to their parents and to the community, and suggested that the only way in which this debt could be repaid was by offering their services to others, "for what shall it profit a man if he gains the world and loses his own soul?" Giving is much more than getting and education makes young people more equipped to serve their fellow-men.

Mr Doherty thanked the grade 10 and 11 students for their part in decorating and lunch planning and members of the Home and School for serving.

The High School chorus under the direction of Mr R. Stuart rendered "Somewhere Over the Rainbow" as the theme number of the evening as the decorating committee had chosen rainbows and a wishing well as the centre attraction for their decorating scheme. A Good Luck message was read from Miss Nelson and with the singing of "God Save the Queen" the first part of the evening came to a close. A dance followed, for which the music was supplied by Shaynes of Vegreville.

BLOOD PRESSURE — It Goes Up and Down

Beat . . . rest! Beat . . . rest! This is your heart at work. It is like a pump, distributing blood to all parts of the body, by means of which nourishment is carried to the tissues and waste products are removed. This rhythm also marks the rise and fall of the blood pressure in your arteries.

Blood pressure rises and drops from hour to hour depending on whether you are active or resting, for example, or whether you are emotionally upset because of excitement, anger, fear, anxiety or emotionally calm. You will have blood pressure as long as life lasts, rising and falling with the alternate beat and rest of the heart and with what you are doing, thinking and feeling.

High blood pressure or hypertension, means that the blood pressure remains more or less constantly at a high level. Low blood pressure means that the pressure stays below normal most of the time.

High blood pressure is most common in middle age or old age. In some persons it seems to be inherited. In other persons it is associated with kidney disease, glandular disturbances, overeating, or living at high tension. It is often found in those who are overweight. In many cases its cause is quite unknown. Persons with thyroid deficiency or who are run-down and underweight may have low blood pressure.

A person may live for many years unharmed by high blood pressure. Much depends on the quality of the material in the heart and arteries — just as the durability of a commercial product depends upon the quality of the material of which it is made. If the heart and arteries are of sturdy make and the blood pressure is not constantly too high, a person can often stand up to the strain for a long period of time.

However, persistent high blood pressure makes the heart work harder to keep the blood circulating at a normal rate. Under this strain the heart muscle enlarges and this is the beginning of hypertensive heart disease. Hardening of the arteries (arteriosclerosis) develops to some extent in everyone as he grows older, but high blood pressure may speed up the process.

In arteriosclerosis, the arteries may be narrowed so that less blood can flow through them. Or an artery may rupture or break allowing blood to escape and form a clot in the tissues where the break occurs. Or a clot of blood may form in the artery itself and block circulation. The organs most likely to be damaged in arteriosclerosis are the brain (cerebral hemorrhage or stroke), the heart (coronary heart disease), and the kidneys (nephritis).

It is possible to have high blood pressure for a long time without any noticeable signs of symptoms. But a person may be troubled by headaches, dizziness, giddiness, or shortness of breath symptoms, also, of other conditions. Frequently high blood pressure is discovered in the course of a routine physical examination.

Nearly everyone has had blood pressure measured at one time or another. The pressure in the large artery of upper arm is measured, first when the heart beats and then at the pause between beats. Both of these pressures and the relationship between them are taken into account.

If after examination your physician tells you that you have high blood pressure, don't worry about what might happen. Occasionally, high blood pressure clears up without treatment but usually it has come to stay. It is just as well to face this fact and find out how to live with this condition. With good medical care and sensible living habits the chances are you will live comfortably, happily, and usefully even to old age doing just about what other people do in moderation.

1. Go into low gear — less rush, less 'drive', less tension in work, play and everything you do.

2. Avoid chronic fatigue. Most persons need at least eight hours of sleep at night. A short rest, perhaps before your evening meal, is a good 'relaxative'.

3. Keep your weight normal. Avoid overeating. It is better to eat several light meals than fewer heavy ones.

4. Try to cultivate calmness. Nerves on edge, worry, flying off the handle only tend to make the blood pressure shoot up.

5. Keep in close touch with your physician and follow his advice.

Paradise Valley Students Hold Graduation Dance and Banquet

Silver-crested streamers shimmered brightly, graced by sweeping boughs of orange blossoms. Tiny silver stars and moons glimmered in the depths of the folds of the maroon curtains. All this contrasted with the white table cloths glittering with matching dinner sets. The head banquet table was decorated with tulips and irises.

Reverend Johnson asked the blessing and everyone enjoyed an elaborately prepared banquet which was catered to by the Grade Elevens. Mr Clark, acting as chairman, offered his congratulations to the graduates who included Emily Swayne, Evelyn Howe, Grace Stoddart, Shirley Wild, Lois Stoddart, Pat Freriche and Marilyn Adams. Mr. Walter, on behalf of the staff, proposed a toast to the graduates and wished them happiness and success in their future endeavours. Mr. Howe, on behalf of the parents, wished the graduates good luck in their final exams and happiness in the future.

Mr Clark introduced Mrs. E. Batty, guest artist, who sang "Farewell" and "Always Do As People Say You Should", the latter of which was gently humorous and full of deep thought. She accompanied herself and sang beautifully. Everyone enjoyed it.

Emily Swayne, as Valedictorian, thanked the parents for their consideration and loyalty, and the teachers for their patience and help.

Mr Davidson spoke on behalf of the local school board and wished the Graduates success.

Mr Simonson mentioned his enjoyment of the banquet and introduced Mr Byrne, who was our guest speaker. Mr. Byrne gave an interesting talk on "This Business of Growing Up".

The banquet came to a close with Mrs. Batty playing "God Save the Queen".

Thanks to the early arrival of the Inman Orchestra of Vermilion our dance commenced at 9:00 P. M. The first dance was in honour of the graduates and throughout the evening a special dance was played for each graduate. The punch bowl was a popular spot and although it wasn't "spiked" the ladies and others thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

ADVERTISING SUBSIDY

When I first said in this column about a year ago, that the CBC was subsidizing big advertisers, sometimes up to 60% of the cost of the programs they "sponsored", the CBC public relations department attacked me. They wrote the editors of papers carrying my column to say how mistaken I was, and they denied my assertions vigorously.

They now sing a different song! Before the Fowler Commission on Broadcasting they have admitted I was right. They do subsidize large advertisers up to 60%. Why did they try to hide this scandalous business from the public?

They knew perfectly well that it would arouse public opinion, and it certainly has.

Mr. Joe Galonsky, fiery secretary of the Manitoba Farmers' Union, told the Royal Commission on Broadcasting in no uncertain terms that the farmers of Manitoba don't want to subsidize these big companies or their products. He asked why in the world Manitoba farmers should subsidize Canada Packers to help them sell margarine in competition with butter?

No one gave him an answer. There is no answer that makes sense. Many a farmer will wonder how the Canadian Federation of Agriculture could support the CBC to the degree it did.

The executive of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture might be wise to clear such things pretty carefully with rank-and-file farmers. Perhaps the officials are out of touch. Perhaps they are so delighted to get time on CBC and co-operation from the CBC that they have become blinded to some of the practices which take place within the Corporation.

The Manitoba Farmers' Union often does things that I am dead against. But on this broadcasting issue I think they took the stand that most farmers, as individuals, would have taken. The CBC has grown to be a colossus! It is costing the taxpayer fabulous amounts of money! It is subsidizing the big advertisers! Surely, it should have its wings clipped!

Civil Defence in a Small Town

The small town will have to come to the rescue of the cities if Canada is ever involved in a nuclear war. In the civil defence plan, the small town would assume the role of relief and rehabilitation.

So no small town or community can consider itself too isolated to be of use in reducing the effects of nuclear attack on the larger and less fortunate communities.

The only effective defence against the H-bomb, with its massive destructive power, is evacuation of likely target areas before the bomb falls. The population of strategic cities, therefore, would have to be absorbed in small towns and villages up to 100 miles away. That brings practically every community in the country a vital role in the over-all plan.

Towns close to cities may be required to provide many types most vital element in evacuation planning, may be required to help carry away the city population. Assistance from closer towns' fire departments would be needed since no city is equipped to battle the fires expected to follow a nuclear attack.

But the big job would be to care for the fleeing refugees. Many would have nothing with them but the clothes they were wearing. The small towns would have to provide them with clothing, food and shelter. Emergency hospitals would have to be set up outside the stricken cities.

The first thing necessary for a small town's civil defence planning is to determine how its present facilities and layout can best be used. How many refugees could it care for? What help could it spare for a target city? Has it any large buildings that could serve as emergency hospitals? How many feeding establishments has it and what capacity could it handle in an emergency?

Then it must have a plan through which its facilities can be put into use. The need of volunteers trained to supplement all of a town's regular services police, fire health and welfare - is obvious considering the increased demands a large influx of refugees would make on them.

No community however small or isolated, can consider itself outside these responsibilities. The vast area that would be affected by just one H-bomb blast refuses to relieve any town of these obligations.

It is estimated for example, that the area contaminated by radioactivity downwind from one exploded bomb might be 200 miles long and 40 miles wide. The size of this area would vary according to the power of the bomb, the height at which it burst, the nature of the ground under the burst and the weather at the time. It is possible to survive this fall-out radiation in proper shelter, for such radiation decays rapidly.

But evacuation is still the most effective defence. In event of a heavy bomb blast leaving a whole city dangerously radioactive, and contaminating large areas outside it, the refugees would have only one safe course to keep going until they got as far away as possible.

"Having regard to the magnitude of the problems before us," F. F. Worthington, Federal Civil Defence Co-ordinator, has said, "it must be obvious to all that our safety depends on nationwide unity of purpose."

"There are no short cuts. The responsibility cannot be placed on the shoulders of any one level of government, nor can it rest entirely on the shoulders of the three levels of government.

"Every organization and all the people have to carry some share of responsibility if we are to survive in the event of nuclear attack."

A high wind was responsible for a disastrous fire which swept the barns, chicken house and pig pens on the farm of Mrs. A. Turner in the Woodvale district. The livestock was saved.

Perfect weather prevailed for the annual 24th of May sports. There were 34 baseball and softball teams in action. There was also a long list of track events.

Joe Hart left Sunday for Los Angeles, Calif., where he will spend two months at college studying Diesel engineering. He was accompanied by his sister, Miss Ruth Hart, who will visit in the sunny state.

Dr Scott and A. L. Macumber spent last week end in Edmonton and Edson.

About 50 artists took part in the Islay amateur program before an audience of over 200 people.

Passenger traffic of urban transit systems in the full year 1955 was lighter by 4% than in the previous year while revenues eased to $130,144,800 from $130,388,000 despite increased fares in some places.

A sharp increase is forecast for this year's construction work, reports The Financial Post. Estimates place the value of '56 construction program at $6,571 millions, up 19% over that done in '55. This is more than double the value of work undertaken in 1950. Bigger construction is expected in all industries except in the construction industry itself.

Canada's farm cash income from sale of farm products and payments on previous year's grain crops amounted in 1955 to $2,252,000,000.

OUR LETTER FROM EDMONTON

Alberta On Way To Record Year For Mineral Rights Revenue

EDMONTON. — When it comes to painless ways of raising in great mountains of money, no one can beat Alberta's Social Credit government!

Without benefit of Social Credit monetary theories, the government last week earned a cool $32,283,854 simply by placing a number of crown-owned oil and gas rights on the auction block and inviting oil companies to bid for leases.

The earnings represented a new record for a single sale, topping by nearly $2,000,000 the previous high record chalked up in 1954. Oil rights in the prolific Pembina field west of Edmonton brought in $18,462,112, while parcels in other proven areas netted $14,211,119 and 25 wildcat tracts earned $609,623.

It was the second major sale of oil and gas leases this year, and it put 1956 well on the way to becoming a record year for mineral right revenue. At the same time it pushed to more than $280,000,000 the amount poured into provincial coffers since the Leduc oil discovery in 1947.

Officials of the provincial government were pleasantly surprised at the results of the sale. They hadn't expected to receive so much. There were feelings in some quarters that interest in Alberta oil lands was shrinking.

But the earnings from the sale dispelled the doubts, at least for the time being. They indicate that the economy of the Alberta oil industry remains very healthy and buoyant.

One official of the mines and minerals department said the eagerness with which companies bid on the 65 parcels of proven land and the wildcat areas probably reflects the [illegible] diminishing oil reserves in the United States, coupled with the steadily growing markets for oil.

Big profits from oil lease sales have become commonplace here in the capital city, but this one brought a reaction from many citizens. They were asking why a province that can sell oil rights for $33,000,000 has to talk about the possibility of imposing a sales tax to increase revenue.

MUNICIPAL FINANCING CORPORATION

The provincial cabinet last week passed an order-in-council setting up a provisional board of directors for the Alberta Municipal Financing Corporation, the body which will take over responsibility for most capital loans to Alberta municipalities.

Named to the board were: Kenneth J. Hawkins, deputy provincial treasurer; J. W. Judge, retired deputy minister of municipal affairs; Dr. E. J. Hanson, professor of political economy at the University of Alberta, and Lorraine Patrick, Calgary businessman and coal mine operator.

A major function of the corporation will be to borrow money on the open market and re-lend it to municipalities. By [illegible] the principle and interest, the corporation expects to obtain a lower interest rate than [illegible] could obtain by acting individually.

According to the government, the [illegible] is necessary because government revenue surpluses are not sufficient to meet municipal demands for low-interest capital loans.

Shares in the corporation will be owned by provincial and municipal government, and a permanent board of directors will be appointed when shares have been allotted.

FIRE SITUATION WORST SINCE 1940

Hot, dry weather this spring has turned the brush and grass tinder dry in many parts of Alberta, and as a result the fire situation is the worst since 1940.

Repeated warning from provincial forestry officials have not stopped the spread of fires, many of them caused by [illegible] burning brush from newly cleared land. Unless everyone takes extreme care, the situation will become more serious.

As it is, the situation is serious enough now. At the week end, the total number of fires this year had risen to 122 and 60 were still burning. Of these, 22 were out of control. The area burned over totalled about 450,000 acres, and the area still burning was approximately 378,000 acres.

To date, the flames have destroyed little merchantable timber. But many fires have burned dangerously close to timber stands, and as long as they continue to burn there is a threat of forest fires which could cause millions of dollars of damage.

ALFALFA ON ALKALINE SOIL

Experiments show that alfalfa does well on slightly alkaline soil with good drainage providing sufficient moisture is available to insure favorable growing conditions. It should be sown as shallowly as possible.

There were 2,071 coal-burning steam locomotives in service on Canadian railways at the beginning of 1955, and 1,087 oil-burning steam locomotives and diesel electric units. Three years earlier the respective totals were 3,358 and 1,129.

CLAYSMORE CLIPPINGS

Mr. F. MacHardy motored to Edmonton on Saturday to spend the week end with his wife and family.

A very nice and very appropriate poem for Mother's Day was read over the Don Clayton Sunday morning program on May 13th written by Mrs. R. D. Lynch of Claysmore. We wish to congratulate Mrs. Lynch on her fine poem and hope this is not her last effort along this line.

Mr. and Mrs. H. McFarlane, Mrs. M. Adamson of Vermilion and Mr. and Mrs. Robt. MacMillan were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Krushinsky Sunday afternoon.

Peter Krushinsky and brother Steve of Vermilion were fishing at Long Lake last week end.

Miss Lillian Woywitka, nurse-in-training at the Royal Alexandra hospital, Edmonton, spent a three week holiday at her home north of Claysmore, returning to the city Saturday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Olstad and family were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. Hawley.

Barry McCauley who is stationed at Vulcan, Alberta, with the Imperial Oil Co., spent the long week end of May 20th with his parents and family, Mr. and Mrs. T. McCauley.

Mr. and Mrs. Stan Gerre of Edmonton motored to Claysmore to visit Mr. and Mrs. Robt. MacMillan for the Victoria Day week end.

We are glad to report that Mr. E. Helansky who has been ill in the Vermilion hospital, is well enough to return home.

Several small friends gathered at the Lynch home Sunday evening to help Bobby celebrate her fifth birthday. They played games and enjoyed the long, pleasant evening hours. A weiner roast ended the party and all wished Bobby many happy returns of the day.

NEWS from ALLANDALE

We've had some very warm days, May 28th being the hottest, 88 above. These warm days really made the country beautiful, the wild flowers and trees are lovely and the Saskatoon bushes are in full bloom.

Some of the gardens are up and the men folk are getting on well with the seeding. A shower on the evening of May [illegible] just enough to settle the dust, perhaps a start for more to come.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. George Hawkins (Lorraine Nelson) of Vancouver, B.C., on the birth of their first child, a daughter, Shelly Donna, on May 9th.

A long letter from Mrs. Moore, the lengthy shut-in winter wasn't too pleasant, at the time of writing on May 11th the only way they could get to Vermilion was by Dewberry-Clandonald and highway 41. Daughter Edna's happy day will be her graduation on May 25, and for her parents too. Our very best wishes for that day and for her chosen career whatever it may be. Son Wilbert is working on a farm near Mannville.

May 13th. Aunt Mamie Hogaboam from Derwent came to holiday with her niece, the Baldocks, while Uncle Wilmer is doing carpenter work south of Vermilion at the Bell farm.

Our [illegible] man, Mr. G. King, had dinner with us recently and during conversation he mentioned his aunt and uncle at the coast had been married 80 years. We had just previously read the account in the Journal. What a wonderful age for this fine old couple. Mr. King worked south during the winter, on New Year's at Calgary he was held up and beaten and had several ribs broken. He was still feeling the effects of it. Mr. and Mrs. King make their home in Edmonton.

Church service on the 20th was well attended and Mr. Welsh as usual had a grand sermon prepared. Service at Allandale every Sunday at 11:30 a.m. and at Clandonald at 10:00 a.m.

It was indeed a great pleasure to meet so many friends in Vermilion on May 19, our first evening in town — Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Moore (their road is fast improving); Mrs. Wallington from Wildmere, and their minister Mr Blaine Smith. Mr. Smith and our minister Mr. Welsh came west together, university pals.

A new ring on 26 line, Mr. Vic McKee, 2617. There have been disturbances on the line, perhaps being caused by recent high winds or tree branches touching the lines.

DRIVE TO LEA PARK

An outing was enjoyed Sunday afternoon May 20 when the Omnesses accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Laird, Margaret and Cathryn to the E. C. Walker's lovely modern home in Greenlawn. Through the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Walker we saw some of the beautiful homes of Greenlawn and Riverton. The large fields — as the saying goes the best land in Alberta — some yet is being cleared and we know the hard work that lies behind it all. Then on to Lea Park where we saw some of the bridge material for the structure there. Much of the beauty of Alberta lies around Lea Park, the winding road, the hills with their green foliage and where the winding Vermilion River empties into the Saskatchewan. This is where Lea Park [illegible] Stampede, a lovely spot truly one of the beauty spots of this area. On our way from Lea Park we saw the heavy road building equipment that is working on highway 45 to Marwayne. A wee bit of car trouble was remedied and on our way again saw the beautiful home of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Walker in a lovely location. All in all a wonderful afternoon. It was grand renewing old acquaintances, meeting the family and enjoying [illegible] hospitality and kindness was appreciated very much.

The name Lea Park was named after Mrs. Walker's parents, Lea. A wonderful honor to you Mr. and Mrs. Lea, and may you enjoy many more years of happiness and good health.

Aunt Stella Mayers was taken to the hospital at Islay on May 18th with a bad case of the flu. Visiting her on the evening of the 21st accompanied by Aunt Erna we found her much improved. Aunt Nora and Rena and Mrs. George Leighton, north of Islay, also called at the hospital. The beds are all taken there and some patients are even in the halls.

A recent letter from the Throndson family at Yellowknife N.W.T. informs us that all are well. Edwin is working at a garage since the Bombadier trips have ceased across the lake. For the first time they have a United Church minister, Chuck Raymonte and hold services in the school auditorium until a church is built.

Greetings to the Mayhew family and mother O'Fee at Bawlf. Thanks so much for the lovely card. We were glad the lost was found. Too bad the boys had to retrack so far.

Pleased to see some of your friends from Bawlf evening of May 26th square dancing at Greenlawn to the calling of Henry Lien. Mr. and Mrs. Lien and family and another family motored to Whitney that day to spend the week end and had some luck too in fishing. Other callers present were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Donnenworth and Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Maxwell. It was a surprise party for the Wood family who are leaving Greenlawn shortly to live in Vermilion. On behalf of their friends they were presented with a lovely coffee table.

Sorry to hear that Leslie Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Idelore Nelson, has the measles.

OLD FRIENDS MEET

Mr. Charles Garrett from Moose Jaw visited his first cousin Mr. Ed wards in the Vermilion hospital May 20th. They hadn't seen each other since 1901, he is 81, ten months older than Mr. Edwards. Father and son came to Frenchman's Butte to visit a son there who is a teacher. The boys and their dad came to Vermilion leaving Charles to visit his cousin and the boys motored on to Edmonton. Mrs. Garrett stayed at Frenchman's Butte. Warren Edwards brought Charles to the McPhee home on Saturday for dinner and he had a look at the farm.

Mrs. Rock Mead was greatly surprised to meet Mr. Dewis Rector, our student minister last summer, on the train when coming home from the east. He has been stationed on a field 150 miles north of Saskatoon. His plans are to visit this field before returning east in the fall.

Closing Thought: You are far richer if a little child has smiled at you and a stray dog has licked your hand, or if you have looked for the best in others and given others the best in you.

Paradise Valley

Miss Ardis Gordon of Chauvin and Miss Brenda Rasmussen of Paradise Valley spent the [illegible] week end with Maureen G[illegible].

A nice shower on Thursday [illegible] settled the dust. The rain was very spotty as some missed it while others received a real good one. It will help. Seeding is pretty well completed in this district. A [illegible] of coarse grain is being planted this year.

Grading on the new [illegible] grounds has stopped for a few days as the grader [illegible] front. When completed the new grounds will be a real sports [illegible] as it covers five acres.

Saturday was the big day for the students of Paradise Valley, McLaughlin, Rivercourse and [illegible] schools as the A.T.A. held [illegible] elimination day to see who [illegible] to Kitscoty on Friday June [illegible] take part in the Vermilion A.T.A. meet. The weatherman was [illegible] behaviour and all enjoyed [illegible].

CEMETERY CLEAN UP

The annual meeting and [illegible] day will be held at the [illegible] cemetery on Wednesday [illegible]. Come with your shovel, rake or what have you to help clean the grounds. This is up to [illegible] who are interested in looking after graves of your loved ones. [illegible] leave it to George [illegible].

When you have finished painting a room a new color don't clean the brush until you have brushed some of the color onto a piece of paper or cardboard. Tuck it in your hand bag as a handy reference when you go shopping for new drapery or upholstery fabrics.

Alberta's Natural Gas Industry: THE REGULATING STATION

As temperatures change, so do the amounts of natural gas required by householders, industrial plants, too use varying quantities of gas during the day. Therefore each community has its own Gas Load Requirements. Measuring and controlling quantities and pressures at all points on the company's 600 miles of pipelines is the job of the Regulating Stations. The instruments of these stations are electrically connected to a Central Control. By watching them the gas dispatcher knows that natural gas is being delivered in the right amount — at the right pressure — for each consumer's needs.

Disabilities That Temporarily Disqualify

CARBON MONOXIDE POISONING

This is a deadly poison coming from the exhaust of that automobile you drive. There is not a more sneaky poison than this. It attacks its victim without any warning. You have read in the newspapers and heard names mentioned over the radio names of victims of this deadly poison. In Alberta, approximately ten persons lost their lives while sitting in a parked automobile with the windows rolled up tight and the motor running.

Driving along the road the driver suddenly heard a crash, felt a bump, put his hand to his head and found moisture. He looked at his hand and saw blood. He looked about him and realized that he was sitting in his car in the middle of a creek. What happened? He was overcome by carbon monoxide gas. He had the windows rolled up tight, no fresh air coming in.

A mother and father were awakened one night by the sound of their own car horn. Their boy was found slumped over the wheel, his head resting on the horn button. He had been reminiscing that eventful evening before going in. Yes, carbon monoxide is a killer. Even amounts too slight to cause headaches or drowsiness can cause poor judgment and slower reactions resulting in unsafe driving.

Here are four simple rules to prevent carbon monoxide poisoning.

(1) Run the engine as little as possible inside a garage, and then only with the doors open.

(2) See that there is plenty of fresh air in your car when driving. Children sleeping on the back seat of poorly ventilated cars have been asphyxiated.

(3) Have a periodical inspection made of the exhaust system, the car floor, the heater system and the fire wall.

(4) Never run the engine to keep warm when the car is standing still especially in a snow bank. The snow around the car may pack off the gas thereby filling the interior with the deadly poison.

If an odor of burned gas is noticeable in your car, open the ventilators and force out the dead gas which contains the odorless carbon monoxide poison.

The first thing to do with a carbon monoxide victim is to give him fresh air. Send for a doctor and in the meantime apply artificial respiration. A victim of this poison can readily be recognized by the dark cherry-red color of the lips and mouth.

Remember that this poison has no odor or taste and gives no warning of its presence.

The average size of Canadian families is 3.8 persons. Newfoundland has the largest families, average 4.3 persons. British Columbia has smallest families, 3.4 persons.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

by
W. G. MALAHER,
Director,
Research Department,
United Grain Growers Limited

THE WEED MENACE

Despite the revolution in control methods which has taken place during the last twelve years, many of us are, perhaps, apt to overlook the serious losses still occasioned by weeds in Western Canada.

A conservative estimate of the toll taken by weeds in 1953, made by a prominent weed official, has placed the total loss of grain crops that year at no less than 225 million dollars or an average loss per farm of something over $1,000.00. Looking at the other side of the picture a later study has revealed the fact that, in 1955, the direct saving which resulted from the use of herbicides was about 35 million dollars or between $4.00 and $5.00 for every dollar expended.

Last year, when the important cash crop received first consideration, 47% of the acreage seeded to that crop having been treated with chemicals as against only about 20% in the case of the coarse grain crops and flax. As might be expected, the estimated percentage saving in the case of wheat, largely seeded on summerfallow, was less than that in the case of oats and barley or flax, the respective figures being wheat, 10% saving, oats and barley 20%, and flax 40%.

Certainly in the case of coarse grains and flax, therefore, a great deal more use could be made of the presently recommended herbicides in the control of weeds. Science has pointed the way. It remains for the producer to take full advantage of the important discoveries in this field.

WILDMERE WINKS

What with gardening and looking after chickens and turkeys etc. we seem to forget some good news items we should include in our notes. Congrats to Dr. and Mrs. Anderson on the birth of Leslie Maxine and Laurie Margaret, twin daughters; to Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Martin of Triangle on the birth of a son, a brother for Lynn.

On Friday afternoon Bill and Adam Smith, Mrs. C Cruthers and Mr and Mrs. Albert Smith and daughter Doreen journeyed to Calgary to visit with their mother, and their sister Mrs. C Morand and Marlene Smith who is training for a nurses aide in that city. Mrs. Smith celebrated a birthday on May 28th but a big turkey supper was enjoyed on Friday evening as her son Norman and his wife had to leave for their home at Bon Accord early Saturday. Mrs. Smith left for her home at Vancouver on Sunday at noon. The rest of the party arrived home Sunday evening reporting a good trip and finding everyone very well. Mrs. Morand, Mrs. Smith and Marlene say 'Hello' to all their friends here.

Mr Smith gave a very interesting sermon on Sunday evening on the best book ever written "The Bible" 30 attended. We were very pleased to have Mr. Webster with us on Sunday.

Laurence Graham, Frank Gibson and Mr W Ford were Sunday visitors at the Wallington home.

Mrs. W T Garnett of Basswood spent a day in the hospital last week with blood poisoning in her thumb caused by a sliver. We are pleased that she is home and it is slowly getting better.

Robert Newman of town is out helping John Wilson for a few days during the busy time.

Our district was deeply shocked when word was received that Mr. F. Cunningham of Buffalo Coulee district has passed suddenly away. We along with the community extend our heartfelt sympathy to his sorrowing wife and boys, and to his brothers and sister on the loss of a loved one.

Mr and Mrs. W Ford who have spent the last five weeks with their daughter Mrs. F Gibson and family of Basswood, returned to their home in Vermilion on Monday.

Several from our corner attended the dance at Buffalo Coulee last Friday evening and report a good time.

Say Paddy, have you fixed that name sign your snow plow knocked down last winter?

Mr B. Smith our student minister and Baillie Holte attended church at Wildwood East on Sunday afternoon.

We wish to extend our deepest sympathy to the Winter family on the loss of their father. Mr. Winter was sick for a long while both at home and in the hospital. He lived for many years in the Battleview district before moving to Vermilion. May God comfort this sorrowing family as the Grim Reaper has called twice in a very short while.

Battling To Save Alberta's Forests From Fire

Battling to save Alberta's forest from fire, crews of fire-fighters and officers of the Alberta Department of Lands and Forests have been struggling for over two weeks to control fires which have broken out in virtually every forested area of the province.

Typical of this fight to save million dollar stands of timber throughout the province are the efforts of 175 men in the Whitecourt area, 116 miles north-west of Edmonton, where fires devastated 325 square miles of forest in the short span of twelve days.

Nerve centre of the fire fighting operation is the forestry headquarters in the town of Whitecourt. W. J. MacGregor, Assistant Forest Superintendent, (upper left) locates the source of a new fire on his map of the area from reports that have been radioed in from ranger lookout stations.

A new pillar of smoke (upper right) is spotted by the Forest Ranger and its direction from the lookout tower is sent by short wave radio to headquarters. From directions given by two more lookout towers, the source of smoke is plotted, and a stand-by crew of four men is then sent to help the ranger put out the blaze.

If the blaze is too large for the stand-by crew, additional men and supplies are rushed out to join in the fight. A main camp is set up and bulldozers slash their way through the dense stands of timber to reach the burning area. Uprooting trees and opening wide fireguards around the fire, the bull[dozers] circle the fire with protective fire lanes.

Many areas, inaccessible by road, have to be served by the 34-foot-long boat (lower right) of the Whitecourt Forestry division. Men and supplies are loaded into the boat and they are carried to the site of the fire.

Working to control the spread of more fires, the crews of men put out all the spot fires that have been started by burning embers that are sometimes carried for miles by winds and updrafts caused by the fiercely burning trees.

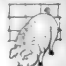
CARELESSNESS BLAMED

The fires, which fire fighters believe to have been most commonly started by human carelessness, will only be stopped by a heavy rain. When the fires are put out crews will have to patrol all the burned areas until next winter. Every spark of fire in trees, roots and burning muskeg must be completely extinguished before the forest will be safe from its greatest enemy — FIRE!

SCIENCE IN YOUR LIFE

Science's Role in Animal Growth

An army, Napoleon declared, "marches on its stomach." And, nutritionists add, so does the butcher, the baker and every one of us. The outlook for keeping humankind marching on comfortably-filled stomachs has become a lot brighter in recent years, thanks chiefly to scientific crop cultivation and new products that speed animal growth.



One of the most recent advances in inducing weight and growth gain in animals illustrates again how the scientist coaxes nature to work for him even when he doesn't fully understand what makes her mechanism tick. Vigofac, a substance tracked down by researchers at the Pfizer Agricultural Research and Development Center in Vigo County, Indiana, produces gains greater than any feed supplements formerly available.

This unidentified growth factor has shown remarkable results when added to feeds already fortified with antibiotics and the traditional growth-promoting preparations. It enables the farmer to bring poultry and animals to market weight faster. Since less time is required, savings in feed are substantial.

Vigofac added to a basal chicken feed ration sends the bird to market a full week ahead of schedule. Used in combination with Terramycin, Vigofac increases weight gain even more.

Hogs reach 165 pounds on a substantial basic ration such as soy[illegible]. Given the same ration plus Terramycin, the animal hits 184. And when the combination is fortified with Vigofac, the same hog's avoirdupois zooms to a robust [illegible]. Farmers report that the Terramycin-Vigofac combination cuts market time by 25 days. Just three pounds of Vigofac per ton of feed formula will often do the job.

So far the agricultural scientist has been unable to pin down exactly how the Vigo factor works. Its anonymity perturbs him and he continues to probe with the hope of uncovering evidence that may lead to even more startling discoveries.

But the farmer looks at it differently. He isn't really concerned whether research can identify the Vigo factor. He sees the results in his barnyard. That's enough for him.

Pleasant Valley

Last week end being the long holiday there were quite a number of folks doing a little visiting here and there. Bill Gillies and family were down from Edmonton visiting relatives here.

Daughter Jean and boys were home while Keith went on a fishing trip — no trout! They report drifting ice on Cold Lake still, and not safe yet.

We noticed that Mrs. Moore of Edmonton had been down to Islay. Has it changed any?

We are sorry Annie and Harry Young are leaving us — best of luck is wished you in your future home wherever it may be.

Mrs. Gillies spent Thursday with us and we heard all about the lovely turkey Isobel, she did not even save me the wishbone — Ah well, Scotch you know.

Sorry to be leaving for home just as you arrived in town on Saturday Mrs. Moore.

Mrs. Giles is away at the coast on a holiday and Doris is doing the chores on the farm.

Chrissie Gould and Laurence were visiting at the Reid home on Sunday.

Congratulations Peggy — was glad to hear you did so well.

The gardens are very dry and a good rain is needed t start things popping.

Last year, through the 15% special tax on radio and television sets and tubes, Canadians paid $23 million to support of the CBC, slightly more than half of CBC expenditures for the year.--Quick Canadian Facts

Industrial employment, payrolls and average weekly salaries and wages at Jan. 1, 1956 were at a new high for the Jan. 1st. date in Canada. Weekly wages, for example, averaged $60.61 against $58.49 the year previous.

Agricultural production in Canada in 1955 was about 28% larger than in 1954, mainly due to the larger prairie grain crop.

FEW BOY SCOUT GUESTS OF CANADA

at the 1955 Jamboree had a chance to see the great dams and smelter that make Canada a world supplier of aluminum.

But some did see a Canadian use of the light metal: outdoor cooking with aluminum foil. Our Canadian troop showed how they used this handy material for doing potatoes, steaks and other foods over the camp fire; how they kept food fresh in summer heat by protecting it with aluminum. If this miniature way work carries the idea back to distant lands, Canada may have to turn out still more aluminum foil—even though last year her output, if laid in a 12-inch strip, would reach 302,000 miles.

Clandonald Resident Dies After Lengthy Illness

Mrs. Mary Gilbert of Clandonald passed away in the Vermilion hospital on April 15th after a lengthy illness. She was 67 years of age.

Mrs. Gilbert was born in England and came to Canada with her husband and daughter in 1929. The family first settled at Clyde, Alberta, later coming to farm in the Clandonald district in 1930, where they lived until five years ago when Mr and Mrs. Gilbert moved to the town of Clandonald.

An active member in church organizations, Mrs. Gilbert belonged to the Altar Society of St Columbus church for many years, and later helped to organize the Catholic Women's League at Clandonald. She was also an active member of the church choir.

Funeral services were held on April 18th at which time a Requiem high mass was conducted by Rev. Father Stewart, assisted by Father Scriven, at St. Columbus Roman Catholic church, Clandonald. Interment took place in the Clandonald Catholic cemetery. The pallbearers were Idelore Nelson, Louis Garnier, James Martin, Ed Pierce, Henry Dyjur and Joseph Philbin.

WOODVALE NOTES

With news copy held over, we do not feel too badly about not writing these notes earlier. We have been, like so many others, busy gardening and we are seeing a few results; not so much in the vegetable garden, but have at present five kinds of flowers blooming, tulips, spirea, Liberian Almond, Creeping Charlie and marsh marigolds in the pond, with Saskatoons around the bush making a nice background and all the fruit trees in the orchard in blossom. Asparagus and rhubarb are plentiful — and to think we had snowdrifts covering them three weeks ago! A few light showers fell Wednesday evening and we could use some more to give the crop a good start.

There was a treeplanting bee on Tuesday, May 22 at the Woodvale school and a big crowd gathered to plant 200 lilacs, mostly around the driveway and two evergreens at the entrance, these we hear, have acquired the nicknames of Tom and Duff!

MARIE GANTON RETURNS HOME

Little Marie Ganton came home this week after recovering from her serious accident. It seems like a miracle that a small body can take so much punishment and come out well and whole in the end. Something to be truly thankful for.

Another little girl, Maureen Sweeney fell off her horse and broke her arm above the elbow. Luckily it was not a bad break and needed only taping. We sincerely hope that will be the last accident for a long long time.

This Sunday, church was held in Watson school and will be every fourth Sunday of the month. The other Sunday services will be in Ganton school, or rather the community centre.

Congratulations to Cecile Gouther who graduated from St. Joseph's General Hospital School of Nursing in Vegreville. Commencement exercises were held Sunday evening in the Capital theatre there.

Mrs T. Preston stayed with her daughter while in Edmonton for a check-up and had to wait in Vermilion for a ride out on her return as the phone was out of order that day. It still seems not to be working quite right.

Mrs. Fay Martin and baby son stayed for a few days with her mother Mrs. M. Watson after leaving the hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bissonette of Edmonton were home too with their young son for the long week end.

Mr and Mrs. Otto Weisenberger took the latter's mother Mrs. W. Proctor, back with them to Trochu after visiting in Vermilion for the week end. Mr. Proctor left the end of the week to bring her home again.

Sandflies are becoming more and more of a nuisance and quite often draw a lot of blood from the farm animals. Milk cows are specially bothered with the small sores the flies leave on their udders.

11th Barley Contest To Be Held in 1956

With the same conditions as last year, the same regional divisions for the two participating provinces of Alberta and Manitoba, and the same scale of prizes, the National Barley Contest started by the brewing and malting industries in 1946 is to be continued in 1956.

Rules and regulations governing the competition have been distributed to elevator agents and agricultural representatives of the two provinces. Partly because last year's competition which in number of contestants and quality of entries proved one of the most successful of the series, and mainly because there appeared no alternative project to more successfully promote production of high standard malting barley, directors of the Institute decided to continue the competition, for the 11th consecutive year.

Manitoba entries are to be made direct to the Barley Improvement Institute, 206 Grain Exchange Building, Winnipeg, on or before July 16. Alberta growers are given the same privilege as last year. Their entries may be made up before or up to the date of shipment.

The entry requirement is the same as in former years, a minimum carload of 1,667 bushels.

Sale of Alberta Grain

The sale of grain brought Alberta farmers $39.8 million in the first three months of this year. This was nearly $8½ million more than in the same period a year ago but $6 million less than in the January-March period of 1954.

Feeders Day at U. of A.

INSPECTING VERMILION SQUADRON AIR CADETS

Inspection Party Much Impressed By Vermilion Air Cadets On Parade

Wing Commander Klassen, Flt.-Lieut. Hamilton and Flt.-Lieut. Holding of 435 Transport Squadron, R.C.A.F., Edmonton, officers who carried out the official inspection of No. 97 Squadron, Vermilion Air Cadets, were deeply impressed by the snappy display given on parade by the Vermilion boys.

The parade was carried out entirely by the boys themselves under the command of Sgt. Albert Roscoe, Acting Commanding Officer, and Sgt. Lee Coyne, acting adjutant. This was a new procedure. The display of precision drill given by the Air Cadets was certainly remarkable and impressive.

Addressing a gathering in the armories following the parade, W. C. Klassen told the cadets, parents and other interested citizens that the display of drill he had just witnessed was the best he had ever seen by any cadet squadron in the province.

PIPE BAND

"A" Company Pipe Band took part in the parade, and piped the Cadets on the ceremonial "March Past." After their dismissal the Band marched to the hospital and played several selections for the patients. This was much enjoyed.

COMMENTS ON PARADE OVER CJCA

W.C. Klassen was heard in a commentary over CJCA on Thursday at noon during which he again complimented the Vermilion Cadets on their display.

Much credit is due to Stan Manyluk, C.O., and Bert Moore, Adjutant of the Vermilion Squadron for the fine showing of the local Cadets.

Two Vermilion Air Cadets Win Flying Scholarships

Following the Air Cadet parade on Monday evening, Wing Commander Klassen announced that two Vermilion Air Cadets, Douglas Hessam and Harvey Anderson, had been awarded flying scholarships, possibly the most coveted award available to the Cadets.

The awards mean that the boys go to Edmonton in July and receive a five weeks course in flying. If successful in completing the course they return home with their private pilot's license and many solo flying hours to their credit.

Doug Hessam is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hessam. Harvey Anderson is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Anderson. Both boys are students at the Vermilion high school, and are ardent, sincere air cadets.

"And", Mrs Berry went on to say "Through the A.C.W.W. they do take such an interest. Their special fields of endeavor have been to acquaint themselves with and to help the work of such agencies as FAO, UNESCO, Emergency Children's Relief and efforts at maintaining world peace, under the U.N.O. It is through the women's organizations connected with ACWW that women from all over the world can become acquainted with each other, and the problems, ways of life, and ideals of the various countries; and so achieve an understanding of one another. With such an understanding, nations would be much less likely to become involved in the horrors of war against one another."

Mrs Berry, who, in the course of her duties as president of the ACWW has had occasion to travel widely, and to come into close contact with the women of many countries, told some of her experiences in various parts of the world.

Mrs. T. H. Howes, provincial president of the AW.I. was chairman for the meeting, which was sponsored by the U.F.W.A. and the W.I. and was attended by ladies from Lloydminster to Edmonton, and from the North Saskatchewan River south to the Wainwright line. Mrs. Berry was introduced to the audience by Mrs. R. Mead, Vermilion District convener for the W.I. who pointed out that it was a signal honor for the women of Vermilion and district to have the opportunity to hear such a noted and talented leader speak to them in person. Mrs. Donald Mathison of Dewberry, 2nd vice-president of the U.F.W.A., in thanking the speaker mentioned that the address just delivered by Mrs Berry was informative and inspirational and convinced the ladies that they should take an even deeper interest in international affairs.

N. N. Bentley, Principal of the V.S.A. welcomed the ladies to the school and said he was pleased to see such a good turn out.

A community sing song led by D. C. Folk, member of the staff of the V. S.A., and accompanied on the piano by Mrs H. Dickson of Innisfree, was enthusiastically enjoyed by the ladies.

Refreshments, supplied by the local women's groups provided an opportunity for a social hour at the close of the afternoon's program.

APPRECIATION

On behalf of the F.W.U.A. and the W. I. the committee in charge of arrangements for Mrs. Alice Berry's visit wish to thank everyone who in any way assisted on that very enjoyable occasion. Special thanks are tendered to the personnel of the V.S.A. staff who assisted us at every turn, and without whom help our task would have been very difficult; and to all those ladies who so generously provided and helped to serve the lunch.

Two guard posts were broken off at the edge where the car left the road.

Badry walked out of the completely wrecked car under his own power but minus one ear, taken completely off. He gained the highway and was taken to hospital by a passing motorist, where he was kept until Wednesday morning. Impressive And Enjoyable Functions Mark Anniversary of Ordination

The above view was taken at the evening banquet which culminated the functions in observance of the silver anniversary of the ordination of Rev. Father C. Landrigan, priest of the Parish of the Holy Name of Jesus since the year 1950.

From left to right those appearing in the photo are the Rev. Father Gorman of Lloydminster, guest speaker of the evening. His Worship Mayor Hill, who extended congratulations and best wishes from the Town of Vermilion, the guest of honor the Rev. Father Landrigan who delighted the large audience by recounting several odd experiences during his years in the work of the church. Dr. R. A. Payment efficient emcee for the evening and who in an impressive manner made a presentation of a purse to Father Landrigan on behalf of the parishioners. Mr. Jas. Ferguson, representing the Knights of Columbus under whose auspices the delightful banquet and entertainment was given and who brought greetings from the Knights. Mrs. Barbara Hill, Mr. Mitchell Taylor representative of the Board of Trade who extended congratulations and best wishes on behalf of that body.

Other head table guests not shown in the picture were Mrs. R. A. Payment, Mrs. Mitchell Taylor, Mrs. John Leser Sr. who spoke on behalf of the Catholic Women's League and Mr. Ashley Cooper.

Delightful musical numbers were rendered by the Kinsmen quartet of Jim Bell, Jim Webb, Jim Ferguson and Bert Herzog and by Rev. Father Strachan of Viking in vocal solos.

The parish dinner was the first event in connection with the silver anniversary of the ordination of Father Landrigan. At 10 a.m. o'clock a special mass was attended by the Bishop and Clergy of the diocese. During the noon hour Father Landrigan was guest of honor at a dinner tendered to him by the Bishop and Clergy and served in the church hall.

Rev. Father Landrigan was born in Prince Edward Island. He took courses there in the fields of philosophy and The Humanities at St. Dunstan's University, Charlottetown, P.E.I., graduating in 1926.

He next studied Theology at St. Joseph's Seminary, Edmonton, and St Augustine's Seminary, Toronto. This was followed by Ordination to the Holy Priesthood. Father Landrigan was appointed pastor at Edson in 1931, and to Vermilion in 1950.

The evening dinner at which the Knights of Columbus were hosts, was for the parishioners and guests from many other parts of the province. During the addresses, many references were made to the marked progress made in the Parish since the arrival of Father Landrigan, and to the esteem and affection felt for him by his parishioners.

Vermilion Re-union Days, July 26-28

The attention of the public is drawn to a feature of the 1956 Fair when Vermilion Re-union Days will be marked and all former Vermilionites are cordially invited to Come Back Home and renew their friendships with those they knew in former days. Already a number of families formerly resident in the Vermilion district and now residing in British Columbia have intimated that they are coming back and they are naturally anxious to see their old friends.

Arrangements are underway to organize a bus special from the Edmonton area and all former residents are cordially invited to come back home and to take part in the re-union.

All who have relatives or friends in distant points are requested to obtain explanatory letters from the office of the Secretary Manager of the Fair, S. C. Heckbert, and mail the letters to their friends.

The co-operation of the general public will be sincerely appreciated.

If the Fair Board office is advised as to names and addresses, they will send out on request the special letters and a fine picture of Vermilion's new park. Let's all get together and make Vermilion Re-union Days ones long to be remembered.

FIRST "MODERN" CENSUS—

Canada has the distinction of taking the first "modern" census. This was the Census of the Colony of New France in 1666 ordered by Louis XIV. It was a systematic "nominal" enumeration of the people, showing age, sex, place of residence, occupation and conjugal condition. Its results are to be seen in a document of 154 pages in the Archives of Paris, of which a transcript is in the Public Archives at Ottawa. It recorded a population of 3,125. This year's national census, 290 years later, will record about 16,000,000 persons.

NOT CIVIC MINDED?

Canadians aren't very interested in the activities of their municipal governments, despite the fact that civic legislators handle budgets totalling more than $850 millions a year. That's the main finding of a survey by the Citizens' Research Institute of Canada on voting turnout in 21 major Canadian cities, and published in The Financial Post.

The survey showed an average 40.5% vote for the chief elective office in the cities ranging from a low of 23.7% in Regina to a high of 81.3% in Ottawa. Of a total of 1.7 million voters, only 784,113 voted in the municipal elections surveyed.

DRINK MORE MILK, MAKE THE FARMERS PROSPEROUS AND BUSINESS WILL PROFIT—

If every person in Canada drank just four more ounces of milk a day there would be no surplus of milk or milk products — young and old would be better nourished, farmers would be more prosperous and business would profit. This is the view of Dairy Farmers of Canada, the national producer organization, in bringing to the attention of the nation that June is dairy month. During the month approximately three and a half million cows will be coming into full milk production.

Utilization of dairy products in Canada is not fully understood by [illegible], it is pointed out by the producer organization. When the cow population is out on fresh June [illegible] milk production soars far beyond the ability of the public to [illegible] milk. Actually, on a yearly [illegible] about 29% of all milk produced is sold as fluid milk and cream. The remainder of the milk in 1955 found its way into the following channels [illegible] butter, 49%; cheese 8%; concentrated milk and ice cream 6%; dairy butter, 3%; used on farms 10%.

Milk and milk products have to be sold in the highly competitive markets of the country, a fact which becomes even more pressing as export markets diminish. Small dairy surpluses, and they are rarely more than 3 or 4 per cent of the total, have to be disposed of in such a manner that farm prices, already seriously depressed are not driven further downward. Dairy Farmers of Canada, in the late 1940's, realized that domestic sales of dairy products would have to be increased. To this end their national advertising program was instituted in 1950, and it is given credit for materially helping to increase or stabilize per capita consumption of dairy foods.

June is the month when dairy farmers across Canada contribute their money for advertising purposes through the device known as the June Advertising Set-aside of a cent-a-pound on each pound of butterfat sold. Dairy Farmers of

HAY AND PASTURE CROPS LOOK GRIM

It is not too late for livestock men to supplement their hay and pasture by planting oats or other grain crops for greenfeed, advises A. M. Wilson, Alberta's Field Crops Commissioner.

Clovers, particularly sweet clover, alsike and red have winter killed from 50 to 90 per cent in many districts. Alfalfa fields have also been damaged. Furthermore the first cutting of hay will be light because of prevailing hot, dry weather. In addition to the current situation the carry over is nil.

Oats or other grains planted for green feed now is the safest insurance against the need for purchasing high priced roughage at a later date. Hay may be the most profitable crop this year. 60-56

Latest Figures From Widow Study

Despite increased postponement of widowhood to the older ages as a result of the declining mortality prior to midlife, last year 115,000 wives were widowed in the United States through the death of a husband less than 55 years of age, according to a report from the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's statisticians, received by the Health League of Canada.

At the time of the last Census there were, in all, 700,000 white widows in the United States who had lost their husbands within the preceding decade, and who were under 50 years old at the time of their loss. Of these, almost one-third had been widowed two to four years, and one-half for five to nine years.

These facts emerge from a study by the statisticians of young widows and their dependents based upon 1950 Census data. Other details set forth in the statisticians' report include the following:

Four-fifths of the widows under 50 years of age had borne children and many of these children were quite young — [illegible] 80,000 were under age five. Nearly three out of every five of the widows still in their early twenties had responsibilities for pre-school children.

The problems of widowhood are many, the report notes, a common one being the readjustment of the household to reduced circumstances after the death of the breadwinner.

About 54% of the widows included in the study were gainfully employed at the time of the Census. For the younger women in the first two years of widowhood, the proportion was appreciably smaller, yet about 44% of them were employed.

It's good advice to follow the seasons when buying fresh fish. In months when a catch is greatest the fish are not only best but cheapest. Peak catches of the following species are obtained in June. ATLANTIC: lobsters, salmon, mackeral and alewives. ONTARIO: lake trout, whitefish and tullibee. PACIFIC: [illegible] and [illegible] salmon.

Canada hope that 1956 will register a record set-aside of over $600,000. This they feel is the sum needed to compete more effectively in the food markets of the country.

The C.G.I.T. held their last meeting of the season on Monday night. This took the form of a weiner roast and campfire at the Auburndale community centre. About 20 girls were present and did full justice to weiners and buns, lemonade and marshmallows. At present there are sixteen members but it is hoped to have quite a few more when meetings are resumed in the fall.

The Students' Union of Buffalo Coulee are holding a weiner roast and outdoor get-together at the Vermilion Park this coming Saturday night.

Alberta Water Safety Week, July 1st to 7th

July 1-7, including the Dominion Day weekend which often sees many drowning fatalities in the province, has been named Alberta Water Safety Week by the Alberta Division, Canadian Red Cross Society and the Alberta Safety Council.

It is hoped that all cities, towns and communities in the province will cooperate in making this week one of paramount importance to their citizens and that through the emphasis of sensible swimming and boating, drownings will be cut to the minumum.

Groundwork is being laid now to have water safety and artificial respiration demonstrations conducted in most areas and it is expected that local citizens, who have completed their Red Cross Instructor's course will cooperate fully.

Persons wishing further information on Alberta Water Safety Week are requested to write A. G. Gilmet, Red Cross House, 9961-106 St., Edmonton.

Health Unit Notes

HOME VISITING

A high proportion of the many problems that the Health Unit encounter can best be dealt with by one of the nurses visiting the child's home. Home visiting has been and will be for many years to come, one of the most important and rewarding branches of Public Health work. The nurse, when visiting a home, can gain the confidence and trust of the parents and child, only when this is done will the more intimate and personal sides of a problem be revealed. Very often the little intimate details which people are unwilling to reveal are the real source of the trouble and therefore until one knows and understands them, no real and permanent help can be given. Home conditions [illegible] always have a pronounced effect on the development and future life of a child and so help and advice given by the nurse to a family when the children are young [illegible] results which [illegible] far into the future. Most [illegible] welcome a visit from the nurse and many come to depend on their help and advice on a wide range of subjects.

The various reasons for which home visits are made can be described as follows:

1 BABY AND PRE-SCHOOL.

Each month the Unit obtains a list of new born babies from every hospital serving the area. If possible each of these families are visited during the next 6 to 8 weeks and if necessary are advised about infant feeding and general care. At this time most of the mothers have stopped attending their family doctor and home visiting provides a continuity of supervision of the baby until he or she is brought to the clinic for immunizations. This is most valuable to mothers with their first child but can also be useful to parents with a larger family. If at any of these visits the child appears to be in need of medical attention, the parents are advised to consult their family doctor.

Pre-school children are usually visited to follow up some defect found previously or to find out why the child has not been brought in for booster shots to maintain immunity against diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus.

2 SCHOOL FOLLOW UP

During the routine examinations of school children, numerous defects are found which need [illegible] attention. To ensure that the parents understand this, the nurse will often visit them. Other defects of a less urgent nature but which [illegible] not been remedied after the parents have been notified by letter are often attended to after the situation has been explained during a home visit. Home conditions which are keeping a child back at school can also often be remedied in this way.

3—INFECTIOUS DISEASES

All cases of scarlet fever, poliomyelitis, measles, German measles and whooping cough should be reported by private physicians, school teachers, or parents to the Health Unit. Unfortunately we only hear of a small proportion of these cases but when they are notified in time a home visit is made. Advice is given about isolation, quarantine and general nursing care. Gamma Globulin, a serum which gives temporary immunity can be given to susceptible family contacts. The Health Unit is the only available source of gamma globulin in this area. These measures go far in preventing the spread of infection.

4—TUBERCULOSIS

The known contracts of all new cases of tubercuosis are visited and tuberculin patch tested and if necessary, referred for a chest X-ray. Family contacts of school children who gave a positive reaction to the tuberculin test are visited and tested. People who have returned home after treatment in a Sanitorium receive regular visits from the nurses. These measures result in the early diagnosis of some unsuspected cases and this means less prolonged treatment is necessary and also that fewer people will be exposed to the danger of infection.

5—CHILD WELFARE AND MENTAL HEALTH

Some unfortunate children have parents who are separated or who neglect the responsibilities of parenthood. The home life of these children can often be improved by a series of home visits by the nurse or the case may be referred to the Welfare authorities for their attention.

Children who are mentally backward, need a lot of help from their parents at home if they are to be kept near the normal standard for their age at school. Most parents would have little idea how to give this help and again a series of home visits by the nurse can be of great assistance.

Census records in all countries indicate a tendency on the part of many persons of mature years to favor certain years—such as 40 or 50— in reporting their ages to census takers. They say they are 40 when still 39 or when they are 41. The result is known among census statisticians as "clustering".

Berean Bible College To Visit Vermilion

The yearly visit of Berean Bible College, Calgary, brings to us this year a motion sound film entitled "That They May Hear." The film is to be shown in the Legion hall on Tuesday, June 12, at 8:30 p.m. The challenging story tells of God's miraculous leading in the life of a young man after his brother was killed in a Japanese concentration camp during the war.

"Berean" is known as home to numerous young people of the Vermilion district who have graduated from there. The college carries on a radio ministry also, and available to those living in this part of Alberta are Sunday morning broadcasts at 7:30 over CFAC, Calgary, and at 8:15 over CFCW, Camrose. The radio audience and all interested friends are invited to attend this service and learn of Berean progress through some of its personnel.

Vermilion Tigers In Hit And Run Mood

Vermilion Tigers were in a hit and run mood on Sunday when they walloped the Elk Point baseballers by a 23 to 1 score. Among the telling blows was a two-bagger by Brent Macnab with bases loaded, a three-bagger by Prylor, and a homer by Macnab with two on.

The Tigers were given good pitching by Ray Jones and Ernie Larkin, with Owens doing the receiving. Fielding was very good featuring two double plays.

For Elk Point Stetsko did the catching with Robinson and Shepley the hurling.

Gary Cruthers, promising young shortstop for Vermilion, his first season in senior baseball, got in front of a hard hit grounder which went through his hands and hit his nose. The nose was badly cut but was not broken.

Vermilion had an abundance of players on hand with all being given a chance to show their wares. The team is showing up as the most promising in years and should be given every bit of support the town can muster.

Irma Wins Softball

Two men's softball games were played at the Vermilion Athletic park on Sunday. In the first game the All Stars defeated a team of Air Cadets and in the second engagement a team from Irma won from the All Stars.

Vermilion Golfers Win At Lloyd.

Vermilion golfers, six in number, brought home a large share of the prizes from the open golf tournament held at Lloydminster on Sunday. The winners were Al Locke, first in the first flight; Glen Gibbons, first in the second flight; Mac Simonsen, third in the third flight; Warren Rosequist, second in the fourth. Bob Rowe and Dr. Russell also competed but were not among the prize winners. The number of entries climbed to 72 for the one-day event.

CRAIG TROPHY PRESENTED

The Craig trophy for the player adjudged the most valuable to his team during the hockey season and won by Bill Williams, was presented to Bill following a dinner arranged for that event recently. Neil McLean, President of the Vermilion Tigers Hockey club was in charge while Albert M. West made the presentation on behalf of Craig Brothers. Special guests present were Gordon Williams, and Bert Williams of Mannville.

Cheese and fish are good companions. For proof of this, try breading fish fillets with a mixture of grated cheese and golden toast crumbs. Two tablespoons of grated cheese combined with ¼ cup of dry crumbs will coat one pound of fillets.

There will be added attractions in the persons of Buddy Heaton, rodeo clown and his trained horse, Sherriff Len McDonald and his Saddle Tramps, and midway attractions by the Gayland shows. The rodeo starts at 1:30 p.m. each day.

DANCE EACH EVENING

A big dance each evening will bring the day's program to a close, and Jim Elliott is secretary of the Dewy Hines is rodeo manager event.

A COINCIDENCE

(Contributed)

In the Parliament Buildings of Canada in Ottawa, there is the Memorial Chamber. Here, embodied in stone is the spirit of the Canadian people. Here, Canadians pay tribute to the service, sacrifice and achievements of their countrymen in the First World War.

The altar, ornamented with the Royal Arms, the Arms of Canada and of the provinces, is the gift of Great Britain. Around the altar is carved an inscription: "My marks I carry with me to be a witness for me that I have fought His battles Who now will be my Rewarder, so He passed over and all the trumpets sounded for Him on the other side."

Enshrined in this altar is the Book of Remembrance in which are recorded the names of 66,651 Canadians who made the supreme sacrifice in the First World War.

The pages of the Book are turned according to a calendar so that each page is exposed on the same day of the same month each year.

On May 18th of each year, the page with the names including Walter Cooper, brother of Mr. S. R. P. Cooper is exposed. On May 18th, 1956, Ashley Cooper of Vermilion made his second visit to the Parliament Buildings. Arrangements had been made for Ashley to turn the page of the Remembrance Book, an honor for any citizen. But it was indeed a high honor for Ashley, with white-gloved hands, to turn the page on that day and present to view his uncle's name. It is a sacred ceremony. A hushed silence falls in the chapel, only the clock in the Peace Tower is heard striking the hour of 11:00 a.m.

Among the witnesses to the ceremony were Mr. Hansell, his secretary, Mrs. J. A. Smith, Mr. Smith's secretary and two officials.

150 Million Bees Arrive By Express

WINNIPEG. — The last of 15,000 crates of bees — containing a total of 150,000,000 bees plus a queen bee in each crate — passed through the Canadian National Express terminal here this week en route to various points in Manitoba and as far west as the Melville and Yorkton areas in Saskatchewan.

Beekeepers import bees from Louisiana and Kentucky each spring and, during the past four weeks, the C.N. express terminal has really been buzzing, a "hive of activity".

Miss Marjorie Mix Honored At Pre-Nuptial Shower

Sixty-five friends from Mannville and Vermilion gathered in the basement of the Alliance chapel Monday night, June 4th to honor Miss Marjorie Mix whose marriage to Mr. John Alton Curtis, will take place on Tuesday, June 12th.

The evening was commenced by the singing of "Showers of Blessing" and then a presentation of a corsage of gladioli to the bride-to-be was made by Miss Margaret McLennan.

After an enjoyable time spent in games and a reading by Mrs. Bob Clark of Mannville, the gifts were brought in, in a miniature truck and opened by Miss Mix and her sister. With a few fitting words the guest of honor conveyed her thanks.

Lunch was served by the ladies of both churches and Mr. McNair brought the evening to a close with fitting words.

This same evening a farewell gift was presented by the guest of honor to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clark from the Mannville Alliance tabernacle prior to their departure to take up residence at the west coast.

Shower For Bride-Elect At Mannville

MANNVILLE. — Miss Barbara Chrysler, a bride-elect of this month, was the recipient of many lovely gifts at a miscellaneous shower in the United Church hall on Monday evening.

A scrap book comprised of the early days of the bride and groom, their first date, wedding day, etc., was made up by those present and presented to the bride-to-be. Then, after a contest and an appropriate song, a trailer was brought in laden with gifts. Miss Chrysler very fittingly thanked her many friends for their thoughtfulness in giving her such a lovely shower.

Mrs. W. Chrysler is now employed at the Red & White store. Miss Artie Whitson who has been there for the past year is a bride-elect of this month.

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of our dear daughter, Mrs. Vera Mae Dunn, who passed away June 7, 1953.

If we could speak to you today,
And be with you in the same old way
To hear your voice and see you smile
Then life to us would be worth while
Our thoughts drift back to days gone past
Life moves on but those memories last
Deep in our hearts that memory is kept
For you we loved and will never forget.
Ever remembered by Mother and Dad, Grandma, Brothers and Sisters.

Anglican Children Attend Cathedral

Sunday morning, June 3rd, about 30 children from the senior classes of the Anglican Sunday School were transported to Edmonton to attend the morning service in All Saints' Cathedral. Ten cars made the trip. This practice has been carried on for the past few years and is much anticipated by the children.

It was especially nice this year, as they heard their own minister, Rev Minchin, who has been appointed Priest in charge of the Cathedral for the month of June.

After the service lunch was enjoyed in the basement and all were taken on a tour of the Cathedral by Mr Minchin. About 700 people were in attendance at the morning service. One thing of interest was the number of bricks just inside the Cathedral entrance, which bear a copper plate with a name inscribed. For some time before the Cathedral was built people wishing to donate to the building could buy a brick for a certain sum of money and have their name inscribed upon it.

Following the tour, most of the children were taken to the zoo for a look around before making the return trip home. Undoubtedly, Vermilion saw some tired children on Sunday night.

The Sunday School children wish to take this opportunity of extending their thanks to all the kind people who donated their cars, and to the ladies of the Cathedral W. A. for the use of kitchen facilities.

BIGGEST EVER

Backing the boom with a flow of goods, industrial production is showing steady year-to-year gains in Canada, reports The Financial Post. Latest figures reveal that the March index stands at 277.2 or an even 10% higher than year earlier levels. Average for the first three months of this year is running 8.6% ahead of last year. If this rate of increase continues—and there's every indication that it will—1956 production will smash all previous records

The airplane is blamed for bringing war to the civilian population of countries. In the past, the cities were considered the only areas in real danger. The hydrogen bomb, however unimaginable the idea may be, has extended this threat even to the most remote farm.

It is this vast, almost unbelievable new danger that has posed the two main problems before Canada's civil defence planners how to save the population of the cities and how to save the rest of the population. The only answer for cities is evacuation. The main solution for rural people is to provide adequate shelter.

The thickness of the walls and roof determine the degree of protection.

A farmer can provide his [illegible] protection by keeping them in the barn. Since the danger [illegible] fall-out might last 48 hours or more, this means that someone must stay in the barn all this time to avoid walking back and forth from the house for feeding and watering.

It is necessary, too, that means of determining the strength of radiation in the fall-out be available. Or that information on its danger be available from radiation detection units in the nearest village or town so that a farm family will know when it is safe to come out again. Civil defence planning before such a disaster comes is the only means of assuring the farmer this will be available.

The farmer's chief danger from an H-bomb attack arises from its radioactive fall-out, the dust of pulverized cities that settles over large areas following the blast. The danger extends not only to the farmer and his family but to his livestock and even his crops as well.

There are ways to guard against this fall-out danger. The first step is to be warned in time that it is coming. This can only be done effectively through a well-organized civil defence setup that takes in every farmer in the district.

It is impossible to predict the size and location of a fall-out area until a bomb is dropped. It is important therefore, to know every protective measure that can be taken before such a disaster takes place. This is one case in which ignorance would be anything but bliss. That is why civil defence has become as important to the farmer as to any other citizen civil defence training can provide the farmer with knowledge that is power to protect himself.

Radioactive fall-out can contaminate animals, crops and unpackaged foods. It can contaminate houses, cars, yards and fields. It can contaminate water supplies so that they should not be used until they are decontaminated.

The only safe thing to do if fall-out occurs is to take shelter. The actual strength of the shelter is not important. The material and the

The farmer may be called on to help his city neighbors, too, so that his place in civil defence is not just to learn how he may help himself but also how to help others less fortunate in disaster.

If large cities are wiped out, his crops and livestock, his milk and eggs and butter would become a vital necessity to the life of the whole country. His supplies would be needed to help feed the refugees from the cities. His house and even outbuildings may be needed to help shelter them. Even his machinery, his tractors, trucks, and even his horses, if he has them, could be urgently useful. But they would be useless if he was caught unprepared and all was contaminated. And dead farmers, themselves, are notoriously useless.

Civil defence in Canada, to achieve maximum results, must extend to every community, no matter how small, F. F. Worthington, Federal Civil Defence Co-ordinator, has said. It is being organized, as a result, on an area basis comprising a number of towns and communities.

And, said the Co-ordinator, "It must also embrace means of preparing and warning farmers in isolated places."

Be a Landscape Artist With Your Camera

This is the time of year when we feel the call of the great outdoors.

For [illegible] the [illegible] of [illegible] us, it's difficult to think about the [illegible] immediately [illegible] about cameras, too. That's [illegible] pictures [illegible] the "[illegible] scene" [illegible] material of universal appeal—a fact borne out by the great number of scenic [illegible] carry off top honors in [illegible] photographic contests.

To achieve the best [illegible] in your scenic snapshooting it might be well to review a few of the basic principles of composition that guide landscape painters.

Simplicity is usually the [illegible] of a good landscape. Select a position that will exclude extraneous [illegible] objects which don't harmonize with the rest of the scene. [illegible] don't let vast panoramic scenes mislead you. More often [illegible] not, the really effective pictures are to be discovered in very small segments of the "wide open spaces."

After selecting a position, study the scene carefully in your viewfinder. Avoid having a horizon line cut squarely across the middle of the scene. Include more sky than land—or if there are people or prominent objects in the foreground, show more land than sky.

When you shoot scenic views, it isn't necessary to look for immense, breathtaking landscapes. A pleasant glade, a tiny brook, a tree beside a curving path will afford material that's easier to organize into an eye-appealing arrangement full of quiet charm and intimacy. Be sure to include objects in the foreground to lend depth to the view. For example, if you're picturing a valley from a hilltop, back away from the very edge of the hill and include a tree, or a person admiring the distant view. If there are several trees, create a vista by "framing" the view between trees with overhanging foliage.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

Since virtually every car in the nation will soon be getting pre-vacation attention, the owner should know if he or she is getting his money's worth.

You don't have to be a graduate mechanic to recognize when your car is being lubricated properly. Here's how you can spot a first-rate attendant:

1. He follows a chart showing correct lubrication for your particular model. As more than 100 points need lubricating, the conscientious mechanic won't trust his memory.

2. He spreads clean protective covers over the cars front fenders and over the seat to avoid grease smears and scratches.

3. He carefully wipe old grease or dirt from each fitting before he applies his grease gun.

4. He leaves all the dashboard fittings, wheel, brake and gear handles spotlessly clean.

If he's the kind of fellow who'll be annoyed at any of your questions, especially because he can't answer them — then take your business elsewhere!

Submarine Has Lifetime Fuel Supply

A little over a hundred years ago there was serious talk of establishing a floating island in Mid-Atlantic as a fueling base for steamers. It would be impossible, our great grandfathers believed, to build a vessel big enough to carry sufficient coal to drive it all the way across the ocean. There's been quite a change in thinking and ocean shipping since those days, says The Financial Post.

Since she took to the water a year and a half ago the world's first atomic-powered submarine, the U. S. S. "Nautilus" has cruised 30,050 miles and she is still running on her original fuel built right in when the ship was built.

Reptilian DOG-TAGS

We are often amazed how aluminum gets around to unusual places. Who would think of looking for aluminum in the stomach of a Zululand crocodile? . . .

It seems when this croc was emptied, no less than 32 aluminum dog licenses were found in its stomach, which suggests that Zulu dogs are mighty careless. But it proves that aluminum is immune even to the formidable digestive juices in this reptile's insides.

Industry capitalizes on this resistant quality of aluminum when industrial fumes and other corrosive conditions present a problem—one of several reasons why this modern metal is in such heavy demand—and why Alcan is again increasing its already large smelting capacity.

OUR LETTER FROM EDMONTON

Findings Of The Royal Commission Are Expected This Week

EDMONTON — Barring unforeseen delays, the long-awaited findings of the Mahaffy Royal Commission should be in the hands of the government this week — possibly by the time this report appears in print.

Last week, members of the commission headed by Calgary lawyer James C. Mahaffy, were working on the final draft of the report which will be based on evidence taken during months of public hearings in Edmonton.

Meanwhile, political circles are humming with speculation over what the commisson will say about its investigation into charges hurled at the Social Credit government during the 1955 session of the legislature and the bitter campaign which preceded the snap election last June.

Most observers are wondering mainly what will happen after the report is made public. Will it create a new political uproar, or will it merely fizzle out and die a natural death?

One guess is as good as another at this point, but don't forget the government pushed through an entirely new Election Act at the recent session of the legislature, and it's not beyond the realm of possibility that another election could be called on the strength of the commission's findings.

This is seen by observers as a possibility if the commission's report is strongly in favor of the government. Social Credit forces could use it as a weapon to recover losses sustained in the vote last year.

Of course, if the report goes against the government, opposition forces might be expected to demand an election. On the other hand, if the report does not lean strongly one way or the other, the whole issue could do a fast fade-out.

Until the findings are made public, all anyone can do is speculate. The report probably will be released by Premier Manning at one of his usual afternoon press conferences, after he and members of his cabinet have had an opportunity to study it thoroughly.

In the meantime, all we can do is wait.

Social Credit is making its most determined bid in years to wrest power away from the CCF party in Saskatchewan. A general election is scheduled for that province on June 20th and the Socreds are planning to contest most or all of the 53 seats in the Saskatchewan legislature.

To aid and abet the Social Credit movement, an invasion force of nine Alberta cabinet ministers will be going on speaking tours in the neighboring province. Orvis Kennedy, ace organizer for the party, already is in Regina.

Early in May, Premier Manning attended a party rally in Saskatchewan and reported that enthusiasm for the SC movement is at an all time high. Rashly or otherwise, he predicted that Social Credit would sweep the province.

If Premier T. C. 'Douglas' CCF party does take a nosedive and Social Credit takes over, the Socreds will have a stronghold in Canada's three western provinces. And then what about the cry of "On to Ottawa"?

BEHIND THE SCENES

The provincial government's new drive to promote better public relations, first reported in this column some months ago, has been on trial for a fair length of time.

To date, at least one reverse effect has been noted. Economic Affairs Minister Russell Patrick has done a good job of selling some ministers on the idea of seeking better public relations. So good, in fact that some of them are insisting on personally releasing all news from their departments.

As a result, government officials who were co-operative in providing information before, are now saying that all news must come from the minister. Which is all very well, except that the official is often more familiar with the subject at hand, and it seems to take longer for the minister to get around to issuing a release through proper channels.

On the other hand, Mr. Patrick's campaign hasn't got through to some ministers at all. We've been trying for more than a month to talk with one particular minister, who is either out of town or too busy to meet the press.

Other than that, the atmosphere is generally a little easier and most ministers are more co-operative.

by BILL AND EILEEN LOVETT

It's been one of the longest and coldest winters on record, but by now most of us are busy cutting grass and weeding flower beds. And if hubby is complaining that once again this spring the garage is littered with rakes and garden tools, here's a neat trick to keep all those tools in place. A four-foot length of wire fencing across several of the studs on your garage wall forms a perfect rack for hanging gaden tools. Get your husband to bend the wires on the lower edge to form hooks. Then tools on them.

To avoid those smoking cigarette butts in your dashboard ash tray, just line the tray with a piece of tinfoil from a cigarette package and half fill wth fine, dry sand.

Worth Remembering . . . When you darn socks, use an 'Eveready' flashlight as your darning egg. Slip the flashlight into the sock so that the head is under the part to be darned. Not only will you have a good working surface, but with the light on, you can see the job perfectly.

You can remove a broken bulb from a socket quickly and easily with a large cork. First, turn current OFF. Then press the end of the cork onto the base of the broken bulb and turn the cork counter-clockwise. That does it!

Here's a tip when you're spring cleaning. After rinsing or washing plastic lamp shades — don't wipe them dry! Rubbing plastic creates static which draws dust particles and makes them stick. Instead, let the lamp shade drip dry. This also applies to plastic curtains, utensils and kitchen chairs.

If you use pencil, ink, or any other marker for plant labels, just put a strip of Scotch tape over the name for permanent legibility.

On 'salad days' this summer never freshen greens for more than fifteen minutes or they will become soggy. It also helps to add a few cubes of ice to the water. Green leaf salads should be dressed at the [illegible] last [illegible] — they will be cooked by the vinegar. Even five minutes too soon makes a big difference. Other vegetable salads should be kept in dressing for at least an hour before serving.

When Bill accuses me of extravagance, I am often tempted to remind him that at least I'm not guilty of paying 10 cents for a cup of coffee — then tipping a quarter because the waitress is pretty. Or paying $3 for minnows in order to catch one ten-inch bass. Or using $5 worth of shotgun shells to get one partridge. Oh well men are men — thank goodness!

Nineteen Students In Graduating Class At Kitscoty High School

KITSCOTY. — Memorable days of high school were climaxed for nineteen Kitscoty graduands on Friday, May 18th, when a banquet and dance was held in their honor.

At the banquet in the Tracy Memorial hall, head table guests included Rev. A. Potter, who gave the invocation; Mr. and Mrs. S. Simonson, Superintendent, Vermilion School Division; Mr. and Mrs. T. Clutterbuck, Divisional trustee; Mr. and Mrs. J. McCorry, local trustee; Mr. and Mrs. A. Jack, dormitory board; Mr. Bert Stokes, Mayor of Kitscoty; Dr. Keith Chalmers, guest speaker.

Following the introductory remarks, by Mr. C. Richardson, principal, Dr. Chalmers, High school inspector for northern Alberta, pointed out that society expects something more from a high school graduate than from those who have not achieved that standing. He dwelt on the debt which these graduates owe to the public who have picked up some of the bills for the cost of their education. Dr. Chalmers also stressed the need for an intelligent electorate in a modern democracy and indicated that these graduates form the nucleus of such a group.

The valedictory address was given by Morven Bootsman.

A musical touch was added to the program by Miss Sheila McCorry who rendered several vocal [illegible]

Class pins were awarded by Miss G. Dunsmore to the following graduands as they were presented to the guests and parents:

Howard Barnsley, Janet Bell, Morven Bootsman, Irene Bulduc, Alice Bush, Margaret Campbell, Jean Cunningham, Helen Drysdale, Peter Dzus, Arthur Harley, Jessie James, Kenneth Kay, Betty Lane, Fay Manley, Mary Ellen McIntyre, Raymond McKenzie, Dale Mitchell, Evelyn Person and Florence Tattersall.

Catering at the banquet were the ladies of the Kitscoty Legion.

A dance in the Town hall, to the music of the Combos, completed the graduation exercises. The graduating girls, dressed in white formals and wearing American Beauty roses en corsage, along with the boys in their suits and buttonhole carnations made a pretty picture against the background of pastel colors. The M.C., Kenneth McLennan, capably managed the program for the evening.

At midnight, the Kitscoty Ladies' Curling club served a delicious lunch. When the end finally arrived the nineteen graduands were called to the center of the hall and the singing of "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows" closed an unforgettable occason for them and their proud parents. Now, they must settle down for the long exams that lie ahead.

Appoint Farm Safety Director; Seek To Curb Accidents

Having appointed W. J. (Bill) Perkins former CBC farm radio commentator as farm safety director, the Alberta Safety Council has taken action to curb the incidence of farm accidents in Alberta.

Last year there were 69 deaths in farm accidents in this province, of which 22 were tractor fatalities. This year several tractor accident deaths already have occurred.

Mr. Perkins, who is singularly well qualified for his new post, was appointed at a recent meeting of the provincial executive of the Alberta Safety Council. Mr. Perkins commenced his new duties on June 1st. His work is on a full time basis and he will co-operate with district agriculturists, farm groups and branches of the Alberta Safety Council. Mr. Perkins also will be engaged in tractor tipping demonstrations, working in co-operation with Prof. B. T. Stephanson, of the U. of A. who is chairman of the farm safety committee of the Alberta Safety Council.

Owing to the heavy volume of requests from all parts of the province, demonstration equipment will be operated at different points by Prof. Stephanson and Mr. Perkins. Even with the service doubled this year, it appears that all requests cannot be filled.

Naming of a farm safety director by the Alberta Safety Council is expected to create new interest in promoting greater safety and bring about a reduction in the tragic number of accidents on farms. It means that a new fight has been launched against the prevalence of these accidents which take so many lives and cause numerous cases of physical injury throughout the year.

Mr. Perkins is enthusiastic over the possibilities of promoting farm safety provided by his new post.

Oil Town Band At Elk Island June 10

Visitors to Elk Island National Park Sunday, June 10th, are advised that oil marks on the lawn leading to the Bandshell, are not from a "new discovery well", nor are the Park's roads being oiled; they come from the shoes of the popular Band from Devon, Alberta's Oil Town, who yearly make a trek to the Bandshell to entertain Park audiences and show off their well soaked footgear.

Conducted by John Maland, the 25 member Devon Band will offer a good variety of selections suited to out of doors listening. Featured in their two hour performance is the Band within a Band, a group of youngsters known as the "Tune Toppers", who depart from the military beat and jazz it up with rock and roll rhythms, providing entertainment for the whole family.

Concert time is 3 p.m.

At sundown, a variety of films from the National Film Board will be shown at the Sandy Beach Movie-shell.

DON'T UNDERESTIMATE THEM

To suppose that no Russian Communist knows anything about manipulating a free parliament is as childish an error to believe, as some did, that Stalin was an ignoramus who directed world-wide operations with nothing but a school globe to guide him. The Communists, declares The Financial Post, knows both the ropes and the tricks.

They are expert in election frauds. They are always against a strong executive—in free countries, that is. They dislike the two-party system. They like proportional voting which gives splinter parties a chance. They are zealous folk and offer highly efficient co-operation within so-called popular fronts. To sum it up, they have a calculated plan for doing what Mr. Krushchev says they can do.

Without hysteria, which always hurts the hysterical side but only amuses the enemy, the non-Communist world should take note and govern itself accordingly.

BEWILDERING

"It beats me," the fellow said. "It completely beats me!" He lowered his newspaper and leaned toward me in the Pullman car, waving the headline under my nose. I read it and he pointed with an angry finger at still another headline.

"The government," the fellow said, "will lend millions of dollars to prop up a broadcasting system, or to help a Texas millionaire get a gas pipe line, or any other darn thing you can think of . . ."

I put down my whodunit. I've been pretty sore about the broadcasting situation myself. "On broadcasting," I said, "the government's gone hogwild. Dancing girls and sexy night-club singers, paid out of the public money . . . !"

He waved that aside. "What burns me is this," he said. "I'm an industrial worker. Acetate . . . Viscose . . . That sort of thing. We're in a bad fix, but does the government give a hoot? Not so you could notice!"

"They've helped the farmers . . ." I started to say, always ready to do a little arguing.

"Oh, yeah," he said. "Ask the farmers! The farmers have had a dribble of the handouts . . . that's all. They've had a dribble and we've had none. We can't even get reform in our crazy custom regulations or tariff setup. You'd think they'd want a lively secondary industry in Canada, making jobs at decent wages, as least as much as . . . what was it you said?"

"Dancing girls and night-club singers," I answered, glad I'd made my point at least.

He nodded, a bitter expression on his face. "Some day," he said, "this country will find that it needs a textile industry and needs it badly. Then I suppose Mr. Howe or some fellow like that will jump in and say I'll make this thing go . . . and he'll take billions out of the public treasury and make a big powerful textile hero out of himself. Given half fair treatment we could keep our present industry healthy. But no . . . millions for dancing girls, but not one cent for clothing!"

"Dancing girls," I said, "don't need much clothing!"

A salesman in a chair across the aisle, leaned over to say, "Did you hear about the dancing girl that . . . ?"

The political end of our conversation was finished.

Delegate Gives Report On Home & School Convention

The 28th Annual Convention of the Alberta Federation of Home and School Associations, was held May 9-11, 1956.

There were nine sessions, all held in Convention Hall, University of Alberta.

Their theme was Education Plus Action Equals Results.

The official opening took place at 3 p.m. Wednesday, May 9. Following was a panel discussion, "Our Think".

The first speaker was Dr. Murray, a teacher of Pharmacy, on "Scope". Dr. Murray stated that in the lower grades, the schools are doing a tremendous job. In the Junior High grades, an excellent job, even though they may have too many frills. But in the High Schools, they are trying to do too much. More attention should be given to reading, writing, arithmetic, history and science. He pointed out that everyone wanted to add "something", but no one wanted to "take anything out" of the curricula.

Dr. Murray said, that students are entering University without being properly qualified. When asked [illegible] when university professors were satisfied with the [illegible] he replied that the professor would probably never be satisfied.

3 "R's"

Miss [illegible] a teacher of Education, speaking on the R's said, that parents are puzzled with the changes in the methods of teaching the 3 R's. So they criticize the schools. She pointed out that it had been traced back to ancient times, how even then, parents complained that the children were not being taught their hieroglyphics properly. Actually the schools are doing a better job of teaching the 3 R's and are teaching them to a greater number of children, along with many other things. We must decide whether we want just the 3 R's taught, or the 3 R's "plus" all the other things.

DISCIPLINE

Mrs. W. J. Harper on discipline, said that children must learn to keep rules and order. To be realistic, and to meet deadlines. Also to accept and do the inevitables. They must also learn to get along, both alone and in groups.

Students have a tendency to do things the easy way, instead of thinking more for themselves. Our adult life provides a great deal of personal freedom, and people cannot always be seeking pleasure. School problems and tasks compare with the difficult tasks of adult life, that must be accomplished by one's own self.

Mrs. Harper stated that while the schools are doing a better job on group and socialized efforts, they are lacking in promoting self discipline in individual efforts, which are the best kind.

CHALLENGE FOR THE MIND

Dr. Mowat, a Calgary High School Inspector, spoke on "Challenge for the Mind". He said that for the high school student there must be a summons to fight a variety of goals to strive for with a great deal of testing and guidance for the students. Statistics prove that there is a challenge and it does sort out the bad students from the good students.

Dr. Mowat told us that most of the students that finish high school have a better than average I.Q. Also, that as children differ greatly, each one should be challenged to the maximum of their ability, so that they may succeed within their understanding.

On the whole, teachers are more capable of providing a challenge today than they were fifteen or 20 years ago. The reason so many students are not finishing high school is that their immediate goals are brighter than the far off goals.

$1,500.00 GRANT

Hon. A. O. Aalborg, Minister of Education, gave a message on Thursday evening. He presented the Alta. Federation of Home and School with a check for $1,500, a grant from the Department of Education.

The minister's message was on teacher supply and requirement, text book rentals and Alberta's library plan.

On teacher supply and requirement, he said that our supply is better than it ever has been. In 1954 there were 6,788 teachers in Alberta's schools. At the moment there are 8,500 teachers. An increase of 1712 teachers, but more are needed each year to offset teachers lost to marriage and to other professions. New pupil enrolment each year increases teacher requirements, so we must encourage more students to stay on and finish high school and go on to the Faculty of Education. Each community should produce enough students to enter into teaching, to offset the need of teachers in their own [illegible]. There are bursaries available to $400 to students entering teaching.

The teacher shortage committee reported that of the teachers lost each year, 8% marry while 92% are lost to other professions. We can expect an increase of some 600 teachers this year some of whom are imported and enlisted from married women.

Out of 800 parents, 60 wanted their sons to be teachers, and there were three times as [illegible] who wanted their daughters to be nurses as there were who wanted their daughters to be teachers.

We are advised to try to keep our teachers contented and make them really welcome and co-operate with them to the fullest extent.

TEXT BOOKS

Hon. Aalborg, on text books, informed us that steps were being taken to halt price increases on school texts. Most text prices have been reduced by 5% while very few show any increase in price. Also a province wide text book rental plan is scheduled to start in the fall of 1956.

RABBI SPEAKS

Rabbi Louis Sacks gave us a very interesting talk on our standards of teaching. First he asked us not to be like the student veterinarian who was asked on an examination paper to tell what Rabies are and what to do about it. His answer was, "Rabies are Jewish priests and there is nothing I can do about it."

Getting back to more serious things, Rabbi Sacks said that man is living in a jungle, emotionally, that is. While we have made tremendous strides in the field of science, we have physical power, without the mental power to correspond. In the search for new frontiers of science, man is stressing too much on things that are far away. We also need to keep closer perspective of our problems, instead of the far off view.

Although we are living in an age of greater wealth than ever granted to man, there is greater anxiety and more confusion than ever before. There is an emptiness inside of man. He has lost the burning philosophy and the personalized faith that gave our forefathers the security and courage to live a full life.

Man, for the most part, is afraid to stand on his own two feet, and think his own thoughts. Man is always adapting, instead of leading. We are too willing to be thermometers, reflecting what others say and do. Instead we should be thermostats, people that will help to change the world to a better place.

The task of the home, the school, and the church is to assist our children to become unique individuals. To be able to do this every child must have a guiding principle.

Rabbi Sacks concluded by saying, "Happiness plays an important part in our lives. For happiness means 'when the personality functions'. This being a by-product of the fulfillment of man."

The Minister of Education informed us, that it will take several years to get the plans for the Regional Library system into full operation.

REGIONAL LIBRARY PLAN

Mr. H. Newson, Supervisor of Libraries, elaborated on this scheme. He stated that Alberta's library system is the worst in Canada. Studies have proved this and so a system of Regional Libraries is being put into effect. There will be centralized regional libraries, with branch libraries situated in all larger communities that will serve the outlying districts. Qualified librarians will be in charge of libraries.

Mr. Newson said that a library system must have high standards, and be [illegible], to be able to do the [illegible] job it has to do.

Workshop No. 4, Community Influences. Rev. [illegible] was in charge.

The activities of a Home and School Association are much greater than we realize. There are endless bounds as to the things that our Organization can accomplish under this heading.

When we first hear about "Community Influences", we wonder just how it ties in with Home and School. Actually it is just a new "heading" for all of the projects we have undertaken to improve upon, through our Home and School Associations. Until now we have thought only in terms of Home and School, now it has branched out to the home, the school, and to the community. From these three we shall work through committees.

The H. and S. Association is like the rings that spread out in a pool when a pebble is tossed into it. Starting with our own children and gradually working out to include all of the children in a community. 'Community Influences' are the things in the community that affect the lives of all the children in the community.

UNIFICATION OF EDUCATIONAL STANDARDS

The Convention ended with a very nice banquet at which Dr. M. E. Lazerte spoke. He said that there must be a unification of educational standards all across Canada. The curricula standards must be more uniform. The educational expenditure must be more uniform with the minimum foundation program set at $200.00 per child. Right now this varies from $85.00 to $280.00 in different parts of Canada. In Alberta, the allotment is $190.00 per child. Our teachers salaries must be enough to keep them content, with extra bonuses for isolated teachers.

The standards required for teachers should be higher and more uniform across Canada.

Dr. Lazerte said that first we must educate all of the parents to all of these things. This is a tremendous job, but it is absolutely necessary if we really want to improve our standards to be the very best.

WILDMERE WINKS

On Wednesday, May 30th Mrs. Gibson very kindly took Mrs. Hale and the writer (Wildmere W. A. members) to Lloydminster to the St. Paul Presbytery W.A. annual meeting held at Grace United church. Our student minister Mr. Smith accompanied the ladies. As we are a new W.A. we learned a lot at that meeting and we wish to thank the Lloydminster ladies for their kind hospitality and the good dinner and lunch they gave us. Mrs. Enger of Irma was presented with a life [illegible] for all her good work [illegible] in the W.A. We could [illegible] lots more of [illegible] went on at the [illegible] but it would make our news [illegible] too [illegible]. Next annual meeting of the St. Paul Presbytery will be held in Vermilion next May.

A well-filled church witnessed the marriage of Lorene Madill and George Thursby on Saturday afternoon at the First United church, Vermilion. The bride was lovely, dressed in white, and her sister Mona was bridesmaid, dressed in pink. The groom's brother was best man. After the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gibson of Basswood where a nice buffet style supper was served on the lawn to about one hundred and sixty people. Rev. MacKay gave the toast to the bride and if all the good advice given is followed they will live a happy life together. After supper everyone wished the young couple much happiness for the years ahead. Later Mr. and Mrs. Thursby left amid a rattle of tin cans tied to the car. Dancing on the lawn and a sing-song and lunch brought the happy evening to a close.

Around 350 ladies gathered at the Vermilion Agricultural college on Saturday afternoon to hear Mrs. Berry, President of the A. C. W. W. of Australia speak. She is touring Canada and it was a great privilege to be able to hear such a distinguished [illegible]. Thanks go out to our convener of the A.W.I. and others for working so hard to have her come to the college in order that we could hear and see her. We are sure everyone enjoyed her talk very much. Mrs. Howes, the President of Alberta W.I., Mrs. R.C. Mead our convener and Mrs. Matheson, President of the F.W.U.A. were on the platform with Mrs. Berry. Mr. Bentley, principal of the Agricultural School welcomed the ladies. The A.W.I. and the F.W.U.A. are the two groups affiliated with A. C. W. W. (Associated Country Women of the World). A sing-song under the direction of Mr. Folk brought the meeting to a close. Afterwards a cup of tea and lunch was served by several of the ladies, and a nice visit enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Morrison and grandson Kenny of Bowtell district visited on Sunday at the John Wilson home in Wildmere.

On Sunday evening 40 gathered at our little church to hear Mr. Smith. His sermon was on "Our Lives". It's a good thing everything is not always perfect, we would not be able to take the good with the bad if it was otherwise and how true that is. His solo, "Beautiful Garden of Prayer" was grand. We were pleased to welcome Mr. and Mrs. J. Bauman and boys. We miss Mr. and Mrs. C. Sweeney and family this summer. Hope to see a good attendance again next Sunday, we are sure you will enjoy the service.

Bill, Adam and Albert Smith went fishing on Sunday afternoon but did not have any luck. Ray Osterberg, Harry Sweeney and Clive Jones fared a little better at Moose Lake the same day.

Mrs. Batke of town spent Sunday with her daughter and family Mrs. W. Westman on the farm in Basswood.

While playing ball on Sunday in Vermilion Gary Cruthers had the misfortune to get hit on the nose with a ball as it bounced out of his glove. Fortunately it was not broken but is very sore.

We understand Preston Central school will be losing both teachers at the close of the term. We are very sorry to see Mr. and Mrs. J. Bauman and Mrs. Watt leave us. What is our loss will, we understand, be Buffalo Coulee's and Kitscoty's gain. These fine teachers have fitted in to activities of the district so well we will surely miss them.

Another Triangle family, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Martin are selling out and moving to Vermilion. Good luck to you folks is wished you by friends and neighbors of Wildmere.

Funniest things seen and heard this week: At the wedding reception when the bride and groom were in the reception line, a little girl ran to her mother and said, "Hurry Mama, they're kissing".; At church on Sunday evening a lady said, "Gosh, I don't know if my hat's on straight or not", and a neighbor said, "It's on backwards!" Nuff sed!

$45 Million For Pipe For T-C Gas Line

TORONTO, May 31—A $45 million order for 30-inch diameter line pipe has been placed by Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Limited with Welland Tube Limited, Welland, Ontario. The mill which will produce this pipe is now under construction and will be ready to commence production early in 1957. The order calls for the delivery of a total of 878 miles of large diameter pipe during 1957 and 1958.

Trans-Canada has now placed orders for all the pipe required to complete the entire project in [illegible]—some 2200 miles between the Alta.-Sask. border and Montreal. The new order along with the pipe ordered recently from Britain will complete the pipe requirements for the section of the all-Canada line from Winnipeg to Toronto, a distance of 1263 miles. Pipe for the Toronto-Montreal section—a $9 million order for [illegible] of 20 and 24-inch diameter pipe—was [illegible] last October, and the 34-inch diameter pipe for the Alberta to Winnipeg section is now coming out of the mills for delivery during the current construction season.

The $45 million order given to the Canadian company is the largest single order which Trans-Canada has placed for line pipe. It exceeds both the $35 to $40 million order for the 34-inch pipe for the Alberta to Winnipeg section and the $32 million order previously placed for some of the 30-inch pipe for the Winnipeg to Toronto section.

CENSUS HAS LONG HISTORY— Census-taking has a long history. Censuses were taken by the Babylonians about 3800 B.C., in China about 3000 B.C. and in Egypt 2200 B.C. In the 15th century — at the time of the Exodus — Moses numbered all males 20 years old and over in Israel "able to go forth to war"; and King David took a census in 1017 B.C. The Athenians and Romans both took censuses, and the Breviary of Charlemagne (A.D. 808) and William the Conqueror's Domesday Book (1086) were medieval censuses.

When applying a breading to fish fillets you can save on the labor of washing up afterwards by substituting wax paper for a shallow dish.

Fish steaks for baking or broiling should be cut at least one inch thick. When thinner they have a tendency to dry out in the oven.

"My Mother's Day"

The following ode to Mothers' Day was written by Mrs. R. D. Lynch of Claymore. It has since received favorable notice and has been heard over the radio.

MY MOTHER'S DAY

'Twas Sunday in the month of May,
The day we know as Mothers' Day.
'Twas morning, just at breakfast time,
The children, who were old enough
To go to school, brought me their gifts,
Hand-wrought and teacher supervised.
The youngest, whose first year at school
Was nearly done, gave me her gift,
The flowers all drawn paintakingly,
And colored well, in bright-hued crayon.
And there inside, she'd formed the words
Of thoughtful love to me for Mothers' Day.
The next, her gift of woodwork
A bookrest, which would hold the book
So I could read the recipe with ease,
Whene'er I wished to bake or cook.
Dear up in bright blue paint, her love
For me was shown in every stroke.
My son — too old to make a gift —
Gave me his flowers — all arranged

World Champion

What makes a world champion—is he really so different from the average man? Scientists throughout the world have studied athletes and generally have found that the champion is not very much different at all.

The athlete, of course, is in peak physical condition. He relies on his circulatory system may be better than yours — but as a rule he is not endowed with an extra-large heart, superior blood, or an additional set of muscles.

"Athlete's heart" is a fallacy, Sir Adolphe Abrahams, honorary medical officer of the British Olympic Athletic Teams, found there was no valid evidence of "athlete's heart" in Olympic contestants and they were certainly not found to visit lost exercise.

Other physicians have determined that the healthy heart can withstand the load placed upon it by the most strenuous of sports. It has the ability to cope to modify certain functions during periods of physical exertion and subsequently returns to normal.

Yet, it's smart to have your participation in sports upon your physical condition. Sports activities should be tailored to the individual and be selected in consultation with your physician.

Finally, if you are sports-minded, go right ahead, you won't have your golf cut by a study in Canadian Universities, it was discovered that participation in golf is a popular sport.

This, counting the pleasure and fun you can get from outdoor exercise, you'll be doing a favor for yourself and your family by playing golf and remember golf is the game for you.

Earl Pollard Rated Top Driver In Successful Car Rendeo

Vermilion's first Car Rendeo held last Friday proved highly successful. A full score of cars and an exceptionally large attendance by the general public as well as the efficient manner in which the contests were run off gave the Rotary Club which sponsored the event every reason for satisfaction.

The competitions were conducted under the direction of Mr. J. W. McKay, Supervisor of Safety Education for the Highway Traffic Board, and were located on the street between the Provincial Building and Geo. Wells garage. Mr. McKay and his assistants provided standard equipment and conducted for the tests which emphasized accuracy and the employment of good driving habits when operating an automobile. The commentary and explanations given by McKay were terse the contests were in progress provided highly instructive and interesting to the onlookers.

Following the afternoon's program the contestants and their sponsors were guests of the Rotary in the Elks Hall, catered to by the Ladies of the Royal Purple. As guest speaker Mr. McKay congratulated those who had participated in the Rendeo and expressed his pleasure with the public interest which it had evidenced. He then went on to describe in a most effective manner the enormous loss of traffic accidents. "Good driving habits will pay good dividends but bad habits will cost you plenty in your their toll," stated Mr. McKay.

Winners of the beautiful trophy donated by the Rotary Club for the highest aggregate score was Earl Pollard, sponsored by the Superior Body Shop. Other winners were: Ronnie Inman sponsored by Craig Bros. and Murray Miller, sponsored by Reg. Ireland. Honours for best score by a lady contestant went to Ray Stewart, sponsored by Rowe & Sons, while high 'teen-age' winner was George Martin, sponsored by the Canadian Legion. These students had excelled in academic standing Students' Union activities and in all phases of student life during the current term, and are to be congratulated on obtaining Gr. XII, and Dale Scott, Gr IX, by Mr Frank Welsh who represented the Elks at the Vermilion High School banquet held on Thursday, June 7 at the Elks hall. These students had excelled in academic standing Students' Union activities and in all phases of student life during the current term, and are to be congratulated on obtaining these awards.

Rhona is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vermilion, and Dale is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Scott of Vermilion

The banquet was under the chairmanship of J. S. Bell, principal of the Vermilion High school and was attended by over 180 people The guests of honor were the graduating class of 1956 who are completing their high school training and who will be separating to follow various vocations at the close of the term The parents of the graduands were in attendance as were the member of the staffs of the Vermilion schools, representatives of the school board and the town council

Their wisdom had been gained through their high school training and their experiences so far but would be increased as they went on from high school. They had shown courage to meet the trials and obstacles met in the course of their school years until now but would have need of courage in the future that they had developed during adolescence and would develop more fully if a value to them in their future contacts with people in broader fields in the world of business in their chosen vocations and told them that they would be sorely missed at the high school.

Speaking for the graduands Grace Kindrachuk thanked Margaret for her kind remarks and good wishes and went on to explain that the graduands owed a debt of gratitude to their parents and teachers. If it hadn't been for the encouragement and financial help received from their parents the students would not have been able to progress as far as those in the higher education and for their teachers they were indebted for the wisdom patience and understanding shown them

GROUNDLESS CHARGES—

As a result of the findings of the Royal Commission to inquire into the power development heralded by the Alberta Government, it may be apparent that the charges made by the leaders of the Liberal party prior to and during the last election were without any foundation in fact, were preposterous, and apparently designed solely to mislead the more gullible of the voters in a vain effort to oust the best government any province ever had. Possibly it is beyond the comprehension of the Liberal leader to see province that a party can refuse to power so long as the Albertan has memory and be likely free from the slightest suspicion of the individual who bases voting their affairs for personal gain of any kind, or of political purchase. No government or individual could have come through with an investigation with a clearer record than Premier Manning and Cabinet ministers, and the Social Credit members of the legislature.

When money doesn't run out on the eligibility of Social Credit members to hold their seats in the legislature the Government prompt by readjust now with the position reversed and opposition members taking on a platform of growth for province, what are the Liberals going to do?

CROPS AT CRITICAL POINT—

Rain is urgently needed throughout most of Alberta during the next week if an average wheat crop is to be produced. High and normal temperatures and lack of rain have brought crop conditions to the critical point.

This can be fully realized when the Vermilion weather station records only a total precipitation of .73 inches, in other words, three-quarters of an inch of moisture since April 1st. This is compared to a normal of 2.66 inches during the same period. In addition to lack of rain little spring has been unseasonably cool, something which crops can well do without.

There is yet time so this country can escape serious loss, but the fact remains that the series of dry years has ended, up to date

WHY WE NEED MORE SCHOOLS

Children under 10 accounted for 20% of Canada's population in 1951 compared to 19% in 1941. Children under five accounting for the greatest part of the increase with a rise to 12.3% from 9.1% Children under five totalled 1,722,109 and in the 5-9 group 1,397,625 in 1951. In the next group, 10-14 years, the proportion fell to 8.1% from 9.6% In the upper age brackets those 65 years old and over rose to 7.7% of the population in 1951 from 6.7% ten years earlier Thus the population under 15 and 65 upwards accounted for 28% of the total population. Data on age collected in the 1956 Census will show what changes have taken place since five years ago.

Alberta's birth rate is exceeding its death rate by about four times. In March of this year 2,321 births were recorded compared to only 384 deaths.

ALBERTA'S HAY WAR CONTINUES

Regional pest control meetings have been held recently at two Alberta points Open and Wednesday. The purpose of the meetings was to review the rat situation and control measures up to the present and to consolidate plans for future operations.

Mr William Lobay, Supervisor of Pest Control for the Alberta Department of Agriculture reported that rats ravaged Alberta in 1955. Work has gone on since that time to make Alberta a rat free area. Professional exterminators were employed in 1955 to drive out the rodents, colonies of harmless mice were located and 665 were found infested by 1956. Mice buildings in the north north of Medicine Hat along the boundary were not treated. It was in 1952 that the poisons were forbidden and proved were introduced to control the plague of great numbers of rats in the world. At this time not it was found that eight species of mammary and felt them pest control officers are on duty all along the border.

In 1952-53 600 colonies were reported, in 1955 there were only 169 rats colonies. While the boundary has been moved back coat during it has "a good part".

Pest control workers feel rats to be eliminated within the next few years and constant vigilance and every crop everyone to co-operate in reporting the suspected rat colonies.

The new highway signs manufactured at the provincial industrial institutions are now being erected to go up in Alberta this summer. Approximately 4,000 signs are scheduled to be manufactured for the Department of Public Affairs. Assistance of the Department of Industry and Development. Signs dealing with the Trans Canada highway will be completed and will be erected first. Those terms of the old West, Fort Macleod, Fort Edmonton, Fort Trail Crossing, Fort Whoop-up will be among the historical signs to be erected.

In the current year ten provincial parks are to be developed in the Canadian family.

NEWS from LANDONVILLE

Many of the people in the community gathered at Mr. Mike Colnichuk's to surprise him on his birthday. Everyone had a grand time playing games and dancing to the music supplied by Mr. Colnichuk's two brothers.

Most of the fishermen in the district have been busy. Mrs. Mike Horace Colnichuk came back from Cold Lake with a 15-pound trout which he is having in his deep freeze for the zoo-pics. No one so far has been able to prove that they have caught a bigger one yet every one seems to have had good fishing. No one has caught a trout like one of Burns Lake. What's the matter with you fishermen?

A bingo and social night was held in the Landon Lake school last Friday night. A large crowd was on hand and everyone had a good time. Some of the bingo winners were Barbara West, Arlen Chevrier, Mike Colnichuk, Yvonne Sisco, Kenneth Livingston, Pete Meinert, Phyllis Lovell, Harvey Sisson, Willie Dumont, Lawrence Wells, Mrs. Lawrence, Dan McKeown, Herbert Linstead and Wayne McGowan.

John Anderson paid a visit to the school on Friday night. He was there to reinspect a school some of the troubles he had had this winter in keeping the roads open and what it was around the campground. He had a question session, but few people showed up.

Mr Phil Smith drove his bus loaded to a movie in Clandonald on Friday night. The movie caught a bad report it. Mr. West, the other bus driver, has been playing Santa Claus to his bus load.

Mrs Colnichuk's room made a trip to Clandonald to play a game of softball with the junior room there. Clandonald won but everyone had a good time.

CERTIFICATE OF MERIT AWARDED

Cecil Coulthard, the idea of cancelling the Social Evening until September is a very well received one as the 1st and 3rd Wednesday events will be continued through the summer. Quite a number of interesting items have occurred since the last report but we are happy to report that Tom Wilson, our Branch Treasurer was presented with a Certificate of Merit for his long and faithful service to the branch. Past-president, Bob Allen, made the presentation, and mentioned that a token of appreciation was long overdue to Tom. On behalf of the Branch, he expressed thanks in a typical Allen fashion.

Tom replied in a pleasing manner.

OLD TIMER PRESENT

At the same meeting we had the honour of the presence of Mr John Selkirk. Mr. Selkirk will be remembered by many in Vermilion, especially those active in Legion affairs in the early days. It is regretted he no is secretary during part of the time between 1936 to 1954. Now a again, thank you! —A.H.

resident of Nanaimo, B.C., he is still a Canadian and a Legionnaire and should be mentioned, too, that Mr. Selkirk has the honour of being, the holder of a Life Membership in the Legion of Merit. there are only four such awards in the whole of Canada. Branch No. 11 appreciates very much the honour of his presence and the interesting talk he gave Thank you, Mr. Selkirk.

TERRIFIC TALENT QUARTET

Just a word, before closing, about the up and coming Vermilion quartet. These boys really going a fine job. We had the pleasure of hearing them sing at our last social evening and everybody very much impressed by their performance Folks, if you are looking for entertainers you'd better make a note, you will not be disappointed in this group. Legion take this opportunity to thank Jim Bell John Webb, Jim Ferguson and Bert Hendrickson for their work. Hope to see and hear you again soon, boys —A.H.

"GREEN ACRES"

DIP BAPS IN CATTLE

During the last few years "dewormers" in cattle has become a big problem in many commercial and purebred herds. Cattle may also be carriers of the dewormer character and may give birth to dwarf calves. It is only when both the bull and the cow are carriers that the calf may be dwarf. When both parents are carriers then there is a 25% chance that the calf is dwarf and a 25% chance that the calf will be neither a dwarf or a carrier.

DEWORMING

Now that weeding is over it is a good time to think about that septic tank you have been going to put in. The work can usually be done by the farmer himself. Get a booklet from the office on "Septic Tank Disposal" It is also a good time to have a load or more of the potato shrubs built by local farmers.

PUTTING UP SILAGE

Each year more and more Alberta farmers are putting up silage. For dairy or beef cattle it is the cheapest way to put up feed for the winter. Everything is done by machinery and is right on the farm. Silage making field days may be held on 2 or 3 farms in the district July 19th. Come out and see how it is done.

ANTS ON PLANTS

Many people tell me every year that ants are killing their trees and garden. It isn't true. Ants do not hurt plants. They are only likely there to milk the plant lice so that they can feed on them. So look for other insects than ants and spray with D. D. T., Malathion or Bluebird 40.

MOWING SHOWS SLOUGHS

A lot of sloughs dry up along in June every year. They can also be needed down to Reed Canary Grass and a heavy crop of hay can be cut every year. Now is the time to work over some of the sloughs and seed them to Reed Canary Grass.

TRASH PLAN

Tis week I'm going over this with the area. First it is noticed in a small patch, soon there are a number of patches and gradually the whole field is blighted. Farmers should use sodium chlorate on these patches. It can be bought through the municipalities of Vermilion River and Minburn at cost. Other districts here are also in every town handling it for the municipal districts.

Former Vermilion Couple Lose Store And Belongings

LAC STE. ANNE — One of the oldest landmarks in the district, the Lac Ste. Anne General Store, was destroyed at the weekend by a fire which raced unchecked through the two-storey structure.

No injuries resulted, but Mr. and Mrs. William Hamm, owners of the store, and their daughter, were forced to flee, leaving most of their possessions in living quarters above the store.

The fire is believed to have started in the upper storey of the building, which, in addition to the store, housed a post office and a telephone office. Reports said Mr. Hamm was able to save post office records.

No firefighting equipment was available in the area, 4½ miles from the Alberta Beach and community residents could do little to retard the fire. Flames were first noticed about 7 p.m. Saturday. Mr. Moore operated the store for the past four or five years.

High School Banquet Honors Graduands

Rhona Hodgson and Hale Scott Win Elks Scholarships

Don Taylor, bringing a message from the local school board of which he had been a member for twenty years, reminisced of the amazing changes and improvements in the educational facilities made available to the young people of Vermilion. But throughout the years the board had been fortunate in obtaining the services of excellent teachers, and thanked the school staff for their good work and their co-operation. Mr. Taylor extended the good wishes of the board to the graduands, expecting that they would achieve success in whatever vocational field they might choose, because of their fine training and background.

Mr. Bell explained the award system in effect at the Vermilion High School, which recognizes achievement in academic, athletic, literary and executive programs of the school. The contributions of Vermilion Lodge were explained in a point system in which awards are given for certain specified levels. He announced the winners of the various awards, asking them to come to the head table where he presented the crests, wings, bars, pins and a ring to those who had earned them. The following were winners:

SUPT. S.D. SIMONSON, GUEST SPEAKER

The superintendent of the Vermilion School Division, S. D. Simonson, was the guest speaker chosen to give the address of the evening to the graduands of 1956. He told them that graduation was not only a time of completion but the commencement of another era, and a time of reflection. Rose all the young people. They could reflect on two periods of their life: their pre-school training in the home and influence of family life, their church contacts and their experiences in the community; and secondly, their formal training when they started school, but had the continuing influences of home, church and community.

Throughout their school years the students found that the search for wisdom and understanding goes on, and finding them makes for happiness. The training of young people is a large investment made in them by their parents and society, and the returns expected on this investment is the assumption of responsibilities in the world about them by those young people as they become more mature and their application of the training they have received.

Mr. Simonson hoped that the training given the students would make them aware of their talents and abilities, so that they would find them in countless ways much to society as their capabilities permitted.

When obstacles and problems are met, the test of the individual is in the manner in which he or she surmounts them. And they will find that service to others gives the true satisfaction and happiness in life that really counts. Tolerance and respect for others will also be a strong aleasy in the complex world about them. The graduands were advised to read a great deal, for pleasure and information, and to enrich their love.

"Parents", Mr. Simonson concluded by saying, "are happy at the success of their children's studies, but also sad and lonely, thinking of the inevitable separation". He wished the graduands success and happiness in their future vocations.

L. E. Metcalfe, a member of the High school teaching staff, thanked Mr. Simonson for his interesting and inspiring address. Best wishes of the staff were extended to the graduands by Miss Hall. He also thanked the Grade XI class and Mrs. K. Ribbleviro their staff advisor, for their efforts in arranging such a successful graduation banquet, and expressed appreciation to the St. Saviour's W.A. for the served by them. He mentioned the attractive decorations planned and made by the Hodgson twins, Joan Shepherd and Eileen Evenson, students.

The banquet was followed by a dance held in the armouries with music supplied by Inman's orchestra.

The decorations carried out the theme of "America the Beautiful" and were most effective in giving the armories a gala appearance. Rada people is a large committee of the graduation committee for the dance.

WILDMERE WINKS

A nice crowd attended the last Gay 90's dance of the season on May 31st at the Legion hall the everyone had a good time. We are sorry to see Mr and Mrs. Harry Young leave our midst as Mr. Young was one of the orchestra. What is our loss will be someone else's gain and we wish them success in their new home and business. We all hope to meet again next fall for more happy dancing

Several from this part took part in the Kinsmen bingo at Wainwright June 6. Cliff Cruthers was the only one to bring home a prize when he won a 5-piece steel cooking ware set.

Some Wildmere and Basaweed folks attended the Farmers' Day picnic at Wildwood East Friday. Ball provided the main entertainment. Tug of war and races were also enjoyed. Dick Dunlop and Don Cooper won the horse shoe pitching contest A good booth was on the grounds It was a grand day and everyone enjoyed themselves visiting A dance in the evening closed the Farmers' Day outing for another year.

Rain is what we are all looking for in our part of the world. The dry situation is really getting serious now and unless rain comes soon there won't be feed for stock for another year as all straw stacks etc. were used up last winter

Albert Smith, Cliff Cruthers and Brent Mc. Dave Hughes and Warren Marfleet were up fishing on Sunday at Moose Lake They caught some nice fish

Don't forget ladies of the W.I. that our conference will be held at the college on Saturday June 16th. Dinner in the Legion hall sponsored by the Allandale group

After five years of construction under the most trying conditions, the Whitecourt-Valleyview Cut-off is now open and ready for tourist travel. This 106-mile wilderness highway reduces the travelling distance to the Peace River district by 178 miles. Tourists should be reminded, however, that the highway is without service stations or garages.

Don't forget to remind the trailer travellers that the over-all length of car and trailer on the highway between Lake Louise and Jasper must not exceed 32 feet. They might also be warned that their stay in Tunnel Mountain Camp will be limited to two weeks due to heavy demands on these quarters.

Bride-Elect Showered At Mannville

MANNVILLE. - A miscellaneous shower was held on Saturday evening in the United church hall for Miss Arlie Whitson, a bride-elect of this month.

Miss Whitson was assisted in opening the many lovely and useful gifts by her mother, Mrs. H. Whitson and her grandmother, Mrs G. Whitson. The gifts were brought in in a nicely decorated trailer and Mrs H. Doherty on behalf of her many friends presented them to Arlie and wished her much happiness. Miss Whitson very appropriately thanked those present as well as those unable to attend, for their kindness.

The combined gross earnings of Canada's two principal railway systems in 1955 totalled $1,187 million, of which they retained $31 million after the payment of all charges. —Quick Canadian Facts

High Winds Cause Much Damage In Vermilion, District

After a lovely day on Sunday, the weather turned rough in the evening, and the wind rose to an unusual velocity, reaching peak gusts of over fifty miles per hour about 9 o'clock. A short comparatively calm period ensued, and then the wind rose again, resulting in a power failure and darkness for Vermilion because of an interruption in the main line supplying the town.

The wind was violent enough to cause considerable damage to some buildings. Part of the roof on the south side of the National Grain elevator annex was blown off, narrowly missing a residence nearby. The large plate glass window to the north of the east entrance of Craig Bros. store was sucked out by the force of the wind and was completely smashed. A part of the roof of the Imperial Block was blown away. On the farmstead of Basil Hawley there used to be a pump house which had withstood the breezes for thirty years. After Sunday evening's wind performance the pump house was no more. It had been abruptly turned into kindling wood by the force of the wind.

About four and one half miles north-east of Vermilion, a chicken coop belonging to Simmonds' was hurled into the air stopping suddenly only when it crashed into a power pole. The coop disintegrated, but, unlike the "one horse shay", there was something left of it — a few bits and pieces of boards flung here and there in complete abandon.

NEWS from ISLAY

Some of the members of the 4-H Garden, Clothing and Grain clubs met at the school on the evening of June 7th. Mr. Fleming of the Alberta Wheat Pool was the guest and showed a film on 4-H clubs of Alberta. Yvonne Hannon thanked Mr Fleming on behalf of the clubs. Shirley McGuigan and Yvonne Hannon served lunch. The Garden club will meet at Yvonne's on June 13th.

BRIDE-ELECT SHOWERED

A very lovely shower in honor of Miss Edith Olds, a bride-elect of this month, was held at the home of Mrs. Bill McLean on Friday evening June 8th. Some sixty were present. Gifts were varied and lovely and were presented with many good wishes. Edith replied suitably and invited friends to call at her home in Vermilion. A very delicious lunch was served by several ladies. It was a very pleasant evening for all.

Sympathy of the community goes to Mrs McEachern, Catherine and Mary on the passing of Mr McEachern, a pioneer of fifty years in the district. This was evident by the large number of friends in attendance at the funeral Monday afternoon.

United Church service will be held at 7:30 p.m. Sunday June 17 and will be attended by the Masons.

W.A. WELL ATTENDED

There was a large attendance at the monthly meeting of the W.A. on Thursday last at Mrs. Dave Martin's. It was the missionary meeting and the devotional was led by Mrs. Violet Schaffer. As part of it she read a letter from Miss Ada Sandell, missionary in Korea. Miss Sandell will be home on furlough this summer. The W.A. will hold the usual strawberry shortcake and ice cream social June 27 in the hall. There will be a ball game that evening.

Mr and Mrs. Dave Martin, Betty and Don and Mr and Mrs. H. G. Young were supper guests at Mr. and Mrs Dave Clark's in Paradise Valley on Sunday.

The fishermen who went to Cold Lake this last week end were fairly fortunate, something like fifty fish, all a good size, one weighing 17 pounds. Northern Pike and 1 Salmon Trout. There were three groups, Ivan Inman, Bill McLean and Bert Gould; Ev and Keith Inman; Walter McCaughan and Ed McFadyen.

National C. C. F. Chairman To Address Convention In City

David Lewis, National Chairman of the C.C.F., will be the guest speaker at a banquet meeting of the Alberta C.C.F. convention in the Masonic Temple, Edmonton, on Friday evening, June 22, at 6:30. Business sessions of the convention are being held in the I.O.O.F. hall, 103 St. Friday, June 22 and Saturday June 23.

Born in Poland, David Lewis came to Canada with his parents in 1921. In Montreal, he accomplished the feat of starting school at 12 years of age, learning English, completing public and high school in six years, and entering McGill university on a scholarship at 18. He won a succession of awards for public speaking at high school and at McGill, was editor of the McGill student monthly, active in the McGill debating union, chairman of the McGill Labor club and secretary of the Montreal Labor party. In 1932 he went to Oxford on a Rhodes Scholarship.

David Lewis has brought to the C.C.F. an intimate knowledge of the democratic Socialist movement in other parts of the world and over the years has kept up an intensive study of both the theoretical and historical aspects of socialism. Mr. Lewis was for years national secretary of the CCF and is now one of Canada's leading Labor lawyers.

Sunday, June 10th was a lovely day in Vermilion until evening. Just before 9:00 p.m. the wind rose and there were gusts with a peak of over 50 miles per hour, causing some damage to buildings, plants and trees. After calming down for a while, the wind again became very strong, and as a result there was power failure for about an hour. Because of the lack of electricity to power the instruments it was impossible for the Beam station to record the velocity of the wind. Only a trace of rain accompanied the big blow on Sunday, with no other moisture for Vermilion and district during the past week.

During Wednesday night there was a touch of frost, the minimum reading, taken three feet above the ground, showed 31 degrees above zero.

Keith Chalmers Tells Rotary Of V. L. A. Work

Keith Chalmers, settlement officer of the Soldier Settlement and the V.L.A., was the guest speaker at a recent meeting of the Rotary Club.

The speaker sketched the territory for which he was responsible, stating that at present he had 210 veterans and families under his jurisdiction. In his opinion the Canadian plan of rehabilitation of veterans was the best in the world. Besides establishing veterans on farms and small holdings, there was always considerable work dealing with the Welfare branch, allowances, pensions, benevolent fund, land appraisals.

The V. L. A. also maintained a supervisory agricultural program designed to help the farmer along the path in which he was most likely to meet success.

In the speaker's opinion too much diversification was not a good thing — a farmer should have one main line with one subsidiary being sufficient.

Mr. Chalmers was introduced to the gathering by Israel Miller and thanked on behalf of the Rotarians by Bill Sutherland.

Radio Station Is Planned for Lloyd.

Plans for the establishment of a community radio broadcasting station to serve and service Eastern Alberta are rapidly taking shape.

A company registered as the Border Broadcasting Company Ltd. with shareholders from Wainwright, Vermilion and Lloydminster has been formed, with A. F. Shortell of Lloydminster as president and T. A. Shandro, formerly manager of radio station CFCW, Camrose, as vice-president and general manager.

The Board consists of nine directors, three each from Wainwright, Vermilion and Lloydminster. Wainwright is represented by Dr. J. D. Wallace, Carl W. Stafford and John Davidson. Vermilion directors are J. R. Boake, J. R. Robson and D. R. Mitchell. Directors from Lloydminster are Jos. A. McLean, Q.C., S M Lavoid and R. A. Robertson.

Company officials stated that plans are well advanced with the preparation of a brief to be submitted to the Board of Governors of the CBC. The brief is to accompany the application for a license to operate a community broadcasting station at Lloydminster.

It is anticipated that the station will serve an area of approximately sixty miles radius with Wainwright and Vermilion well within the primary broadcast area.

The application and brief will be submitted to the CBC Board of Governors within a month, to come up for hearing in September. If the license is granted at that time, company officials hope to be on the air by December 1st.

Anglican Deanery Held At Vermilion

MANNVILLE.—A good representatir of the Afternoon W. A. and Happy Hour W. A. attended the Deanery meeting of the Anglican W. A. held in Vermilion on Tuesday, June 5th. Several from each group attended the morning service, at which Mrs. C. Manz was made a life member of the W. A. The monies donated by the organization or persons conferring a life membership on a long time member is given to the Missionary fund selected by the candidate. Mrs. Manz has been an active member in the Christ Church W. A. for many, many years and as she says, this doesn't mean she can now take it easy—rather, it means one more apron or one more cake or pie when the W. A. is sponsoring a tea or baking sale.

The afternoon was taken up in reports from the various branches with a new one from the Mannville district, Stellaville W.A. Several ladies attended with Mrs. R. Clennett from Frog Lake and it is hoped that by next year there will be a W. A. formed there. Frog Lake Mission is a project of the Vermilion Deanery and the Deanery will be pleased to welcome a W.A. group from there. The collection was donated to Marwayne parish which very recently lost their church by fire.

Standard Completes Fair Prize Lists

The prize lists for Vermilion's 1956 fair have been completed by the Standard's commercial printing department and are now in the hands of Secretary-Manager S. C. Heckbert.

The prize list this year is comprised of 500 copies containing 72 pages with cover and entry forms. The neat and attractive appearance of the book after completion pleased even the critical eyes of the Standard printers. With the completion of the prize list the job department gets back to an even keel and is now able to handle any number of orders in fast time.

Sixteen Graduates Are Honored At Dewberry High School

DEWBERRY. — The graduation exercises for sixteen graduands of the Dewberry High School for 1956 were held in the hall on May 25. When the graduands entered the hall, each one was presented with a corsage. Parents and grandparents of the graduands were honored guests of the evening.

The banquet opened at 6:30 p.m. with the singing of "O Canada" and Invocation by Mrs. Hornigold. This was followed by a toast to the Queen by Mr. Smith. A delicious meal was prepared by ladies from the Home and School and served by the grade eleven class.

Jimmy Jones gave the welcome speech and Mrs. Woollett introduced the graduands who were John Mislak, Una McMullen, Lorne Timanson, Elaine Wilson, Joan Parr, Jack Young, Floyd Sweet, Edward Jones, Jean Hornigold, Lily Krawchuk, Elaine Mathison, Viola Clack, Gerald Holmen, Edna Moore and Beatrice Elliott. A solo was sung by Deirdre Woollett, "The Best to You". Mr. Simonsen presented a toast to the graduands and Edna Moore gave the reply. GARBAGE

Now that an efficient garbage collection system is being provided in Vermilion, it is hoped that residents will co-operate with the Town Council to make it a success. The collection will be once a week in the residential district and at least twice weekly in the business area of the town.

To enable the collection system to be of most value, improved storage facilities for garbage will have to be provided at each residence. Many home owners are using oil drums with a capacity of 45 gallons to hold garbage. These drums have no handles or lids and when filled are too heavy to lift. This means that the contents have to be dumped on the ground and then shovelled into the garbage truck; this wastes a considerable amount of time and usually some of the spilled garbage is left lying on the ground.

Each house owner should supply enough regulation type of garbage containers to hold one week's supply of garbage. Where premises are occupied by more than one family, sufficient cans should be supplied for needs of each family. These regulation type cans have a capacity of not more than 18 gallons, have handles and a water tight, fly-proof lid. The cans should be placed on a wooden stand about 16 inches high to facilitate lifting them and keeping the surrounding area tidy. The lid of the can may be fastened to the stand with a light chain or rope.

All newspapers and magazines should be tied in bundles and placed at the side of the can. In winter months all wet garbage should be wrapped in newspaper before being placed in the garbage can.

When these garbage cans are in general use, there will be no necessity for any burning of garbage and this will greatly reduce a very real fire hazard. The fact that the cans are covered will not only make for neat and tidy back lanes but will also reduce the nuisance from insects and close off a possible feeding ground for rodents. Insects which fly from exposed garbage to food which is for human consumption are responsible for many illnesses. The easiest way to prevent this is to keep garbage covered.

A model of the container and stand will be on display at the health office.

North Hykeham 80-Year-Old Is Off To Canada

Looking forward to a trip to Canada soon to see one of her foster children is Mrs. Alice Amelia Button of 164, Lincoln Road, North Hykeham.

Mrs. Button, who is 84 years old, had six children, and also brought up eight from Dr. Barbados Homes.

She intended to go to Canada last summer but was taken ill, and could not make the journey. The invitation from her foster-daughter there still stands however, and she hopes to make use of it very soon.

She lost her husband about 20 years ago.

"Work hurts nobody", she emphatically declared, and Mrs. Button attributes her long life to hard work and a contented mind, plus plenty of fresh air. Anyone can see her walking around the village an upright figure.

EARNED SIXPENCE A WEEK

The total income of the home when she first married was only 12s and when she started work she only earned 6d per week.

Now she lives on good plain food which, she upholds, keeps the system clean.

A member of the local Women's Bright Hour Mrs. Button has lived at North Hykeham for over 30 years. She still does her own housework but cannot manage the washing. Her grandson also comes around to look after the neat little garden at the back of the house.

Mrs. Button has 11 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

A card was received from Mrs. Munro and Mrs. Proud who were at that time sailing up the St. Lawrence River on their way to England.

Plans were made concerning the booth for the Junior Baseball League tournament which was held in Dewberry on June 9th. The Ladies' Aid would like to thank all who donated towards the booth.

A donation is to be sent to the United Church camp at Lake Whitney. The July meeting will be held at Mrs. E. Walker's.

HAY AND PASTURE CROPS LOOK GRIM

It is not too late for livestock men to supplement their hay and pasture on aftermath and other green crops for grazing, advises A. M. Wilson, Alberta's Field Crops Commissioner.

Clover, particularly sweet clover, alsike and red have winter killed from 50 to 90 per cent in many districts. Alfalfa fields have also been damaged. Furthermore the first cutting of hay will be light because of prevailing hot, dry weather. In addition to the current situation the carry over is nil.

Oats or other grains planned for green feed now is the maiden issue against the need for feeding during high priced roughage at a later date. Hay may be the most profitable crop this year 48-50

Your favorite movie star's smile beams down from an oh-so-high height from an aluminum screen recently developed by outdoor theatres.

The new screen has won the praise of both audiences and owners. Little wonder the latter, like it can squeeze found its receipts increased by 540,000 in one summer after he replaced his conventional screen with the highly reflective, vacuum-coated aluminum job.

And so it goes . . . Still another triumph of product, and modern aid for the versatile aluminum metal. The result everybody gains by production from Canada. Has anything that already appeared for a quarter of the world's primary aluminum.

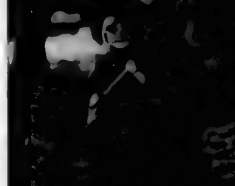
the Snapshot Guild



A picture like this offers a nice change of pace from the more usual sunny day snapshots of children.

Snapshots Can Bloom in Spring Showers

Though posts have hailed spring equally for its "golden sans" and its "silver rain," many picture-takers get their spirits dampened by a sudden spring shower They wrongly feel that they have to put their camerae away until the sun comes out again.

We suggest that you capitalize on the next rainy day and let your camera catch some unusual shots...maybe the youngsters hop scotching from puddle to puddle, a neighbor walking on unwilling pup, or passersby and their ballet of umbrellas reflected in the glistening pavement

To be sure that you keep your camera dry, select a sheltered doorway or a window from which to do your shooting. That way there'll be no raindrops spattering on the lens to blur its vision and spoil your snapshot.

Remember, too, to choose a fairly bright rainy day for your picture taking. This will assure good results even with ordinary snapshot film in a simple camera. If you want to, however, you can have special "rain insurance" by loading your camera with extra fast film—it's practically foolproof for shooting on a rainy day!

The next time it rains don't let a little thing like an April shower dampen your picture-taking plans. Weather or not—your camera is always ready to help you get interesting shots for your album. So don't be a fair-weather friend try shooting in the rain, too!

Letter Of Thanks To Legion Ladies

MANNVILLE. — "Once again we would like to thank you for the very nice clinic which your members arranged for us on May 7th. Approximately 171 registered. Everything ran smooth thanks to all the volunteers who helped make the clinic a success.

We realize full well the great amount of work that must be done prior to and during the blood donor clinic. We look forward to returning to your town once again next year."

This is from a letter received from Mr. Bentley of the Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic. The Legion Ladies Auxiliary to the Legion wish to extend their sincere thanks to the W.I.'s and W.A.'s for lunch supplied, to the nurses who so ably assisted, and to all those who in any way gave of their time to this worthy cause.

Reduce Losses

The loss from death and shrinkage in hogs shipped or trucked during the hot summer months can easily be reduced by a few precautions, advises W.H.T. Mead, Alberta's Livestock Commissioner. Overcrowding is to be avoided—load a little lighter than is normal for cool weather shipping. Allow as much ventilation as possible. Using wet sand as bedding is preferable to spraying cold water on hogs after they become overheated.

Sorting the animals in the cool part of the day and loading without excitement helps to start them comfortably on the journey. During extremely hot weather it is desirable to move them at night if it is at all possible, says Mr. Mead.

Such practices will not only reduce losses but will eliminate some of the extreme discomfort which accompanies overheating.

HARWAYNE

Mr. and Mrs. W. Giles and family and Mr. P. Miller were at Bonnyville, attending the golden wedding Anniversary of Mrs. Giles and Mr. Miller's sister.

The United Church Anniversary Service will be next Sunday at 11 a.m., conducted by Rev. Mr. MacKay of Vermilion. The following Sunday, June 24th, Service will be at 9:45 a.m. with R. S. Inkerman. Mr. McGriffin will preach a Musical Service in Islay on June 17th at 7:30 p.m.

The last meeting for the year of the C. G. I. T. group was a hike and weiner roast at Mrs. Johnson's home. Mr. and Mrs. McGriffin had given the group a series of talks on "Paul's Missionary Journeys" and asked them to write an essay on it. He gave three prizes and the winners were Iona Parker, Gertrude Tupper and Patsy Hancock.

On Saturday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. McGriffin took 10 Cubs to Lea Park, entertaining them with ball games, peanut scrambles and a weiner roast.

Several carloads went to Cold Lake to the Air Show on Saturday. They reported a good show but not as large a crowd as last year. Several people went fishing Sunday at Lake Whitney. Mr. A. Fairbairn has built a new boat and was trying it out.

In hospital are Mrs. W. Giles, Doreen Banks, Mr. A. Kettles, and Mr. K. Griffiths. Mrs. Paul Wack is out of the hospital and is staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Crichton. Mr. Roy Goebel is in hospital with an injury to his foot, the result of an accident when the top rail of the truck came down and the truck rolled in the ditch opposite the gravel pit. He and Howard Beck and Bryan Carleton were in Howard's truck at the time of the accident. They were taken to hospital that evening but Howard and Bryan were released the same evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Clair Brown and family were home over the week-end, her sister, Mrs. C. N. Crich-ton and younger children returning with them to spend a few days in Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Ball of Vermilion were Sunday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Ball.

Of the 109,946 immigrants who entered Canada in 1955, more than 33,000 were women and children.

Pretty Summer Wedding Is Solemnized At Kitscoty Church

Kitscoty United Church was the scene of a pretty spring wedding on Friday, June 1, at 4 p.m. when Mary Alice, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Manson of Kitscoty, and Hilbert, youngest son of Mr and Mrs. William Kuehn of Neilburg, Sask., were united in the bonds of holy matrimony. Rev. J. W. Williams, of Lloydminster, officiated at the double ring ceremony in the church which had been attractively decorated with spring flowers and greenery.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose a white waltz-length dress of lace over taffeta with a full net skirt and lace bolero with lily point [illegible]. Her waist-length net veil was held in place by a headpiece of sequin-trimmed lace to match the gown. She wore a pearl choker and ear-ring set, gift of the groom, and carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and lily of the valley set in net.

Mrs. Glen MacDonald, of Carlyle, Sask., acted as matron of honor for her sister, and wore a strapless ballet-length gown of pale blue nylon net over taffeta with matching bolero. The bridesmaid was Gerta Wenzel of Calgary, cousin of the groom, who chose a strapless ballet-length gown of pink nylon over net. Their rosebud headdresses matched their gowns and wearing nylon mitts they carried colonial bouquets of blue and white and pink and white carnations set in net and fern. The flower girl was Christine Angus who wore yellow nylon over taffeta, with pink net overskirt. The gown was sprinkled with rosebuds which matched her headpiece and she carried a nosegay of multicolored carnations.

The groom was attended by his brother, Edwin Kuehn, of Netherhill Sask., and James Manson, brother of the bride, while the ushers were Neil Manson, brother of the bride, and Elmer Hippe of Blackfoot.

Mrs. H. Batty, of Kitscoty, supplied the wedding music and during the signing of the register accompanied Miss Elizabeth Tyler who sang "A Wedding Prayer".

Following the ceremony a reception was held in Tracy Memorial Hall where the young couple and their parents welcomed the guests. The bride's mother had chosen a light blue corded gabardine dress with navy accessories and wore a corsage of pink roses.

The bride's table was laid with an ecru lace cloth and centred with cake topped by a miniature bride and groom in a net heart-shaped arch. The cake was set in white flanked by white candles in silver candlesticks and bouquets of gladioli.

Following the cutting of the cake Mr. R. Evans proposed the toast to the bride and the groom made a fitting response. Mr. E. Kuehn read several congratulatory telegrams from relatives who were unable to be present. Several young friends of the couple assisted in the serving and Miss Patricia Tyler officiated at the guest book which was signed by about 150 relatives and friends. During the reception, Miss Elizabeth Tyler sang "I'll Walk Beside You".

After entertaining at a dance in the Kitscoty hall the happy couple left on a short honeymoon. For travelling they wore matching blue suits and the bride chose accessories of white and pink and wore a corsage of white carnations. On their return they will make their home at Morinville where the groom is employed.

Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. Kuehn of Netherhill, Sask.; Mr and Mrs. Henry Manson and family of Castor; Mr and Mrs. Fred Wenzel of Medicine Hat; and other relatives and friends from Morinville, Edmonton, Vermilion, Neilburg, Lloydminster, Blackfoot and Marwayne.

The X Factor

The X factor enables one patient to bounce back rapidly to health, while another suffering with the same illness is laid low for weeks or months.

This "indefinable factor of personal resistance" explains away the important and puzzling question why one patient recovers quickly and another does not. So says Dr. W. N. Leak, writing in a recent issue of the British medical journal Practitioner.

Although the wonder drugs have made it possible to knock out infections like pneumonia or strep throat in a few hours, actually it may be several weeks before a patient really feels well again.

Dr. Leak says that long, drawn-out recoveries also suggest that the infectious disease that strikes a patient may be an accessory rather than a primary cause of illness. It appears that something goes wrong inside the body and this may enable the disease-causing bacteria to multiply and become dangerous.

The physician sees the need for some kind of therapy which can simulate and stimulate the patient's internal defense mechanism. This kind of therapy, Dr. Leak says, would fortify the action of antibiotics and speed the process of recovery.

A combination of vitamins with antibiotics, Terramycin-SF and Tetracyn-SF, are the pioneer formulations that meet the requirements for a double-barrelled attack on infectious disease.

Terramycin-SF and Tetracyn-SF arm the patient automatically with the weapons he needs to destroy his infection and provide him simultaneously with the nourishment needed to accelerate his recovery—they bolster the X factor.

Alberta's Natural Gas Industry: COMMUNICATION SYSTEMS

When the weather is BAD — that's when natural gas is needed most — one reason why the gas company has unfailing communication links throughout its system. Regardless of the weather, high frequency short wave radio gives contact between strategically located radio stations and a fleet of modern, radio-equipped service vehicles. Besides this radio network the company makes use of leased teletype and telephone wires. All these methods have one aim — dependable communication — an essential part of natural gas service.

Vote-Catching Liberal Accusations Groundless

Royal Commission Clears Social Credit Government Of All Charges

EDMONTON — The findings of the Macdonald-McHaffy Royal Commission were made public in the capital city last week without causing a political cataclysm.

Through every phase of the investigation, the commissioners find no evidence of [illegible] and on all scores give Alberta's Social Credit administration a clean bill of health.

Premier Manning, who released a single copy of the report, termed it "most gratifying" and said it "fully vindicates" the government's position. In addition, it vindicates the premier personally, from any suggestion of wrongdoing in an exchange of mineral rights between the crown and himself in 1951.

The commission found no evidence that government officials made any personal gain out of any real estate deals investigated, and no indication that treasury branch managers gave preferred treatment to members of the legislature applying for loans.

The [illegible]-page report finds that contracts for highways and public buildings were awarded according to proper procedure, and that the public works department was justified in specifying the use of precast concrete and Ytong blocks in plans for certain buildings.

There was no evidence, the report says, that preference was given to certain building materials because a former member of the cabinet or his relatives have a financial interest in the company producing the materials.

There are some recommendations in the report. The major one arises out of the complicated and sometimes confused evidence regarding the government's procedure for buying land and buildings.

The commission recommends that the whole land-buying policy be reviewed and that a separate government branch be established with trained and competent personnel to handle all real estate transactions. Regarding evidence that the government paid too much for land in some cases, the report says government men who do the appraising know what the property is worth to the government but don't dig in to the actual market value. In actual practice when people suspect the government is interested in a certain piece of land, the asking price automatically increases.

If there is any criticism in the report, it is regarding the practice of commercial firms footing the bill for government officials making trips to inspect the use of certain building products.

There was evidence that Hon. A. J. Hooke then minister of public works, and Arthur Arnold, his deputy made a trip to Sweden at the expense of the company which produces Ytong. The purpose was to examine the use of Ytong in buildings.

Members of the commission felt this was unwise. They think it is a good idea to travel and keep abreast of latest building developments, but believe the government should pay the full cost.

What about the repercussions, if any? Opposition spokesmen who levelled the charges under investigation may not have too much to say. But if they say anything, it might be that the terms of reference hindered the commission by not allowing it to conduct a complete and thorough inquiry.

For one thing, the commission ruled it could not investigate the treasury branch loans to companies in which members of the legislature are shareholders or directors.

Incidentally, Premier Manning said that despite the finding about treasury branch loans to MLA's, he has no intention of lifting the ban placed by legislation in 1955, on members borrowing from the branches. "We knew there was nothing wrong with it", he said, "but why subject members to unfair criticism."

It would seem odd if the government called another election so soon after the one last year, but political circles have been buzzing with speculation that the premier might call for a vote on the strength of the commission's report.

We asked him about it, and his reply was: "No comment". This can't be interpreted as an indication that he is considering an election, but at the same time he did not come out with a flat no. Whatever his plans are, the opposition will be kept guessing.

Another question to arise was whether the favorable report would boost Social Credit's chances in forthcoming general elections in Saskatchewan and New Brunswick. Premier Manning wouldn't hazard a guess on that one. However, one thing seems clear. It won't do Social Credit any harm, while the publicity given to an adverse report could have done a lot to lower the party's prestige.

Severe Reaction To Black Fly Bite.

MANNVILLE — The Black Fly or Simulium as its proper name has been determined, was a menace in this district recently. Traced to the North Saskatchewan River this fly can travel long distances up to 100 miles. It breeds in fast moving streams and is a small hump-backed insect about the third the size of an ordinary housefly. As well as many cattle being heavily affected a great number of people were bitten. Several suffered very severe reactions. The fly gets right into the hair and leaves a red spot where it sucked the blood. A bite is not felt when first inflicted but will become a hard lump and remain sore for days.

It is not believed that this black fly will carry human disease. The best control is the use of DDT and insect repellent.

FAMILY SIZE

Average size of the Canadian family five years ago was 3.7 persons according to the 1951 Census. Newfoundland had the largest average size at 4.4 persons and British Columbia the smallest at 3.3. Estimates for last year indicate a rise in the national average to 3.8.

WOODVALE

For those who do not always read the Standard from cover to cover and who might have missed the notice last week we would like to mention again that the Tolland F.U.A. picnic will be held Friday, July 6th on the Ganton community grounds. Ball games, sports and a dance at night will be the main attractions and meeting friends and neighbors from far and near. The F.U.A. has a refreshment booth and the Red Cross ladies will again serve hot dogs, supper plates, pies, doughnuts and coffee. The first of these rural picnics around here took place on Farmers' day with a big crowd in attendance at Wildwood. The Tolland ball team won two games and payed part of a third.

The Woodvale girls' softball team did not win at the Kitscoty track meet but played a real good game against Dewberry. Sorry Irene that your foot was not healed enough to be in the running.

Several ladies went to hear the talk of Mrs. A. Berry at the V.S.A. on June 2nd and were so enthusiastic that they made the others sorry that they had not gone.

Mrs. Ralph Thomson is home again after an appendix operation the latter part of May.

Joseph Goutier has been home since May 25th and accompanied his parents to the graduation exercises of his sister Cecile in Vegreville recently. Cecile will stay in Vegreville until she gets her nurse's diploma in September.

Arthur Pelletier has followed his brothers to a lumber camp near Prince George, B.C. His wife and children are on the farm near the Goutier family. Art will be back at harvest time and that brings us to the urgent need of rain if there is going to be any harvest time!

Johnny Isley is working for the forest rangers at Waterton Park, getting it ready for the tourist season.

Mrs. Mabel Crooks and two little daughters of Airways accompanied her husband, who went to the Lloydminster bull sale, as far as the Lysons' family home, where Grandma got acquainted with her youngest grandchild Barbara, age four months.

Mrs. Lysons looked after the Sweeney children for a day when Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sweeney took Margaret for a check up to Edmonton. Leo Lysons went along to visit his brother Brooks and family in the city.

The Red Cross Auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. M. Watson on June 6th and ten ladies worked on a quilt while arranging for the coming picnic. A vote of thanks went to Mrs. W. Lamport who gave an extra donation of $5 and two blankets for work done at their auction sale in May. This was on top of the $25 agreed upon — so we have a tidy sum in the treasury again. The blankets and the quilt made that afternoon will go to the W.M.S. in Edmonton for their Indian school. Mr. Philis, the student minister gave a little talk to the ladies, asking them if they would give some help to the local Presbyterian church group. This will be discussed at our next meeting. After this busy afternoon the lunch served by Mrs. Watson was very much enjoyed and appreciated. The next meeting will be held on July 12th, a Thursday, at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Seitz, with her mother Mrs. S. Oldenburg as co-hostess.

The writer and husband will be away for the week end on a little visit to Airways and Sedgewick.

DON'T "MISS THE BOAT" TREAT EARLY WITH 2,4-D AND MCP

Recent studies made by the Division of Plant Science, University of Manitoba show that, in the effective use of 2,4-D and MCP, many farmers are "missing the boat" on two important counts. First, in not realizing the large number of weeds that are present in the average grain crop, and their effect on yield. Secondly, in not realizing the great importance of timing, particularly early application, in the use of 2,4-D and MCP.

Many Weeds Present. Intensive weed surveys have shown that relatively "clean looking" grain fields may contain from [illegible] to [illegible] broad-leaved weed plants per square yard. This is indeed a lot of weeds. Plot studies at the University of Manitoba have revealed that as few as 10 mustard plants per square yard are capable of reducing the yield of flax appreciably. Oat yields were greatly reduced by 25 mustard plants per square yard, while 50 mustard plants markedly affected wheat yields. Obviously, then, the presence of from 200 to 300 weeds per square yard in the average grain field is bound to seriously reduce crop yields. Fortunately, most broad-leaved weeds in small grain crops can be cheaply and effectively controlled by the proper, timely application of 2,4-D and MCP.

Early Spraying Important. In the effective use of 2,4-D and MCP, no single factor is more important than "earliness of application." Plot studies have shown that when oats, badly infested with mustard, were sprayed 19 days after emergence, the yield was 123 bus. per acre. When spraying was delayed until 35 days after emergence, the yield was only 70 bus. per acre; a decrease of 53 bushels. At this later period many of the mustard plants were beginning to bloom. Unfortunately, many farmers spray far too late, after most of the damage has been done. In other words, they have "missed the boat." Don't "miss the boat" in '56. Treat grain crops early for higher yields.

Girls Win Awards For Farm Essays On Gun Safety

The three top provincial awards in the annual farm essay contest, which this year featured farm gun safety were won by three school girls, according to an announcement by the Alberta Safety Council which sponsors the competition.

The winner of the first prize in a province-wide field of 26,000 entries was Mary Coady, grade eight, of Munson in the Drumheller school division. She will receive $50.00.

Second prize and a $25.00 cash award went to Carol Carmichael, who is a grade eight student at Killam.

Winner of the third prize was Jennie Risto, a grade five student at Ponoka, who will receive $25.00 also.

Hon. A. R. Patrick, Minister of Economic Affairs, will present prizes to the winners at a luncheon arranged by the Safety Council at the Macdonald Hotel, Edmonton, at midday Monday, June 11th.

In addition to the cash prizes, the winners receive a one-day all expense trip to Edmonton for themselves and their teachers.

There are other awards under this competition for all sections of the Province. In grades five and six, there is a specially designed lapel pin for the boy or girl writing the best essay in the school division, county or correspondence school.

There are similar awards for pupils in grades seven and eight writing the best essay in the school division, county or correspondence school.

The current one is the fifth annual competition of the kind and has created a great deal of interest. There were entries from 1,408 school rooms in 46 school divisions, located in all parts of the province.

Indicating the interest, entries were received for the first time from Indian industrial schools and correspondence schools.

The final selections were made by three teachers in the correspondence school section of the Provincial Department of Education. The closing date for the competition was April 27. Teachers sent the best selected essays to their school superintendents, who, in turn, made selections and forwarded them to the Alberta Safety Council for submission to the judges for the final awards.

Prior to the opening of the competition, large posters were distributed to the schools giving information on gun safety and the rules of the contest. These stated that eight farm residents had been accidentally killed by guns in Alberta last year, while the estimated total for Canada and the U. S. was 2,300.

The posters said the accidental discharge of guns around the home takes more lives than hunting accidents. Pointers on safe hunting, knowledge of a gun, range, shooting technique, clothing and handling of guns also were given, all with the general purpose of promoting farm safety and creating interest in this essential need among school children.

Of Canada's ten provinces, four: Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba and Saskatchewan—have names of Indian origin. —Quick Canadian Facts

Address By Prov. President, Arnold Platt

F.U.A. District Convention To Be Held In Vermilion July 4th

At a recent board meeting, directors and sub-directors of District No. 7, F.U.A., made plans for the annual district convention to be held at Vermilion on July 4th. The meeting was held at Wainwright, and as well as convention plans, many other matters were discussed on the lengthy agenda. Attention was given to the new land tax assessments which have been announced in many municipalities, and the proposed improvement tax for which assessments are now being made in some M.D.'s. The need for a free Arbitration Board, to be conducted by the Provincial Government before which the farmers might bring grievances caused by the erection of power structures on farm land, was also discussed.

The program as planned for the annual convention will touch on many farm problems. Highlights of the day will be the address by the Provincial President of F.U.A., Arnold Platt, and by Mrs. C. Armstrong, Provincial President of the F.W.U.A. Mr. Platt's speech is scheduled for 4:00 p.m. with Mrs. Armstrong's immediately following. The public is cordially invited to attend any of the session, but particularly these two speeches.

Registration will begin at 9:00 a.m. at the main building of the Vermilion School of Agriculture. The convention will be opened at 10:00 by Mrs. Mildred Redman, District F.U.A. Director. Speeches of welcome by Mr. Bentley, Principal of the School, by the mayor of Vermilion and by a representative of the Vermilion Board of Trade will follow. Election of officers will include F.U.A., F.W.U.A., and Junior Directors. As well, a full slate of sub-directors must be elected as the road and weather conditions made sub-district rallies really impossible during the spring. Resolutions concerning many pertinent matters will come before the convention.

Board recommendations for convention committees are as follow:

Convention Secretaries — Mrs. Magill, P. Ewanchw.

Credentials — J. Magill, R. Wilson, Mrs. Finlay.

Order of Business — Mrs. Redman, W. Parker, J. Magill.

Resolutions — G. Jack, J. Magill, Mrs. Gibson, W. Parker.

Election — C. Drever, M. Chmiller, L. Killoran, T. Gordon.

Ushering — L. Killoran, R. Wilson, C. Drever.

Well Known Farmer, John L. Edwards, Passes Away

A well known farmer of the Allandale district since the year 1918, John Leonard Edwards passed away at the Vermilion municipal hospital on June 17th. He was 79 years of age.

Born at Sunbury, Ontario, near Kingston, Mr. Edwards came West in 1912 and for the next six years lived in Saskatoon. In 1918 he moved to the Allandale district where he purchased a farm and had lived there ever since. After farming very successfully he retired in 1951 but still continued to make the farm his home, living there with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Herb McPhee. Since retiring he has spent two winters back at his boyhood home at Sunbury.

Mr. Edwards was predeceased by his wife in 1948. He leaves to mourn his loss one son Warren of Vermilion, and three daughters, Mrs. Herbert McPhee, Vermilion; Mrs. Arthur Hancock, Marwayne, Mrs. Jerry Kluck, Provost. There are fifteen grandchildren. Two sisters reside at Kingston and Sunbury.

Funeral services were held at the United church, Vermilion, on Thursday, June 21 with interment in the family plot in the Vermilion cemetery. The Rev. C. W. MacKay officiated.

Moyers were in charge of arrangements.

Shot In Abdomen, Lad Is Recovering

Joe McGillis, 16-year-old boy from north of Clandonald, is in the Vermilion hospital recovering from being shot in the lower abdomen by a .22 revolver. The bullet left six holes in the intestine and lodged against the spine. The shot was fired accidentally by a companion as the group sat around talking and playing harmonicas.

Demonstration Of Water Safety At Vermilion Lake

The Vermilion Home and School Association is sponsoring a Water Safety Demonstration at 2:30 p.m. June 30th at the Vermilion Lake. Mr. A. G. Glimet, Director of Water Safety for the Alberta Red Cross, will be in charge. He and his crew will present a very lively demonstration of safety measures for swimming, boating, etc.

This should be of great interest to all, and all districts are invited to attend. We all like swimming or boating, so come and see what to do in case of an accident on the water and how to prevent them.

Mr. Williams will have the refreshment booth open to serve you.

T.B. TESTING NEARS COMPLETION

T.B. testing under the Vermilion sub-district being conducted in the M.D. of Minburn No. 72 is now nearing completion. There have been eleven men of the Health of Animals branch working for the last four weeks. They have in that time tested close to 15,000 head of cattle.

Just as soon as they finish in this area they are moving to the St. Paul M.D., which is also a part of the Vermilion sub-district of the Health of Animals Branch, Dept. of Agriculture.

The work is under the direction of Dr. E. J. Young, Veterinarian in charge of Vermilion sub-district.

Father Of Local Lady Killed In Accident

CAMROSE. — A 70-year-old retired farmer was killed Thursday last to become Camrose's second fatal accident victim in two days and the sixth in seven weeks.

Dead is William Christenson, of Camrose, and formerly a farmer in the Kingman district. He died in St. Mary's hospital less than two hours after being injured in a two-car collision on the Camrose-Kingman road.

The accident occurred about 7 p.m. when a car driven by Warren Marfleet, 20, of Vermilion, was in collision with Christenson's car at an intersection nine miles south of here.

Marfleet, who was heading west towards Hay Lakes where he works with Caron & Calvert, escaped with a shaking up. Both drivers were alone in their cars.

Both vehicles were thrown into the ditch in the crash and received heavy damage.

Hospital authorities say Christensen died of internal injuries, a fractured hip and shock.

Mr. Christenson is survived by his widow, Tilda; five daughters, Mrs. Agnes Simonson, Vermilion; Mrs. Gladys Simonson, Kingman; Mrs. Vinola Johnstone, Edmonton; Mrs. Elsie Lowe, Lacombe, and Mrs. Louella Coykendall, Kingman, and eight sons, Clifford, Wyman, Ilo, William, Lyle, Orlie, Raymond and Elvin.

MONSTER PARADE IN PROSPECT

Annual Fair Plans Are Advancing; Re-union Days Proving Popular

Plans for Vermilion's big 51st exhibition are rapidly drawing to perfection and it will not be many weeks before the gates will swing open for the biggest crowd ever to attend. Former Vermilion citizens, now residing elsewhere, are very cordially invited to include the Reunion Days and Fair in their summer plans and already a good many have signified their intention of being in Vermilion the last week of July. The Old Timers Association are looking forward to utilizing their fine new cabin for the entertainment of guests.

Plans call for the inclusion of a monster parade on the first day of the Fair, July 26th, and all business organizations and district groups are cordially invited to take part. Prizes will be offered for various classes including children with decorated bikes and all who recall the fine parade in the Jubilee year of 1955 will realize the importance of a good parade for Vermilion's major event of the season. The Canadian Army will have an attractive display to include and already the light horse exhibitors have promised their full co-operation, along with the six and four-horse teams that provide such thrills to every real Westerner.

SUMMER CAMP

The Vermilion Fair Boys' and Girls' Summer camp already has a registration of close to 100 and it is regretted that all places for girls have been filled and applications are being rejected. There is still space for boys however and all who desire to attend should send their applications immediately as it is expected registration will be completed shortly.

PLANT IMPROVEMENTS

The Fair board is adding a permanent ring to the grounds this season, thus making it possible for the growing crowds along the fences to properly see the fine exhibits which will be assembled. A total of 100 light horses are expected to prance into the rings during the three exciting days and the holding of the Provincial Shorthorn show (the only regional show in all Alberta this year) will doubtless be an attraction of merit.

New wings are being added to the already impressive entrance to the Vermilion Fair grounds and Athletic park, said to be one of the finest in Canada and a mile-long planting of trees, north and west of the splendid grounds will add much to their beauty from now on.

CUTTING HORSE SHOWS

Vermilion, first in the field outside the cities of Edmonton and Calgary, will stage Cutting Horse shows on all three days, at times to be announced. Some of the outstanding cutting horses of Western Canada will 'strut their stuff' and scores of enquiries are being received from as far away as Saskatoon and Calgary for the times of these colorful and attractive demonstrations. They will be staged in front of the commodious grandstand and will precede or immediately follow regular grandstand shows. During the demonstrations scenery will be lowered so that all may take full advantage of grandstand seating and comfort.

Vermilion's Big Fair is on the way . . . invite your out of town friends to be here for the annual event that has given Vermilion publicity from one end of Canada to the other. The co-operation of all is required to keep Vermilion Fair -- reckoned as the best in the West -- to the forefront. This is a district effort and the whole district is invited to support Vermilion Fair and the 1956 Re-union Days.

Despite the advancing cost of all forms of entertainment, Vermilion Fair will adhere to the sale of advance tickets at 5 for $1, the tickets being good at both gate and grandstand. There is no other fair in Canada that provides this favorable admission rate. Take advantage of the Family Plan de Luxe and see Western Canada's finest entertainment at Vermilion Fair July 26, 27 and 28.

The teams meeting in this game are evenly matched, and an exciting battle for the Dr. King Trophy is in prospect. Come out to the Ball Park next Thursday evening to see some fine baseball, and to give some encouragement to these little fellows- baseball stars of tomorrow.

Social Credit Will Hold Nominating Convention, Viking

Afternoon Service And Evening Banquet

Vermilion Masons Celebrate Golden Anniversary of The Lodge

It is quite a unique and rare occurrence when a lodge celebrates its 50th anniversary in a town which only one year before had observed its own Golden Jubilee. Such is the experience of the Vermilion Masonic Lodge.

On Wednesday, June 6th, a service of thanksgiving was held in the afternon, and a banquet that evening, commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of the institution of the lodge in Vermilion.

Masons of Vermilion Lodge and from Lodges all over this section of Alberta to the number of 204 attended the ceremony. Old timers came from as far as Victoria, B.C. for the memorable event.

The impressive thanksgiving service was conducted by the Rev. K. C. MacLeod, past grand chaplain formerly of Mannville but now living at Athabasca. His address touched on the deepest meaning of Masonry and was incomparably phrased, a talk that will live long in the memories of all who heard it. The service was held in the auditorium of the School of Agriculture, fittingly appointed for the rare occasion.

The lesson was read by the Rev. Edgar J. Bailey of Edmonton. Music for the service was under the direction of Thomas Watts with Oliver Griffiths of Wainwright at the organ.

In attendance were S. Carl Heckbert, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Alberta, and many officers of the Grand Lodge.

During the service tribute to the charter members of the Vermilion Lodge was paid by S. D. Simonson.

200 ATTEND BANQUET

The anniversary banquet, held in the dining room of the School of Agriculture, was served by the ladies of the Queen Esther Chapter, O.E.S. The meal was delicious, and quickly and efficiently served. The beautiful floral decorations were donated by Krause Flowers, local florists.

Mr. S. Carl Heckbert presided at the program which included a number of toasts and replies. E. M. Stewart toasted "Our Visitors" with responses from R. S. Sheppard of Edmonton, and Dr. Fred Miller, who had lived in Vermilion when the Lodge was formed.

"Our Mother Lodge" was proposed by Lawrence Webb, eliciting a reply from John D. McLean of Fort Saskatchewan, sponsors of the Vermilion Lodge at its beginning.

Claude Brennan had some interesting facts in his toast, "Our Charter Members." One of the three remaining, Col. W. C. Craig was present and replied. Two other charter members are J. Wellington Roseborough of Vancouver, and Wm. J. Macnab of Vermilion. Mr. Macnab was unfortunately ill that day and unable to attend.

Ashley H. Cooper proposed the toast to "The Grand Lodge of Alberta" with the reply being made by S. Carl Heckbert, Grand Master.

The guest speaker of the evening was F. P. Galbraith of Red Deer, a past grand master, who was introduced by J. W. G. Morrison. The address, an outstanding one very much in keeping with the occasion, was rapidly listened to by the large audience.

As a variation in the program, two solos were rendered by the Rev. Edgar J. Bailey of Edmonton, while the Vermilion Lodge trio sang a group of songs.

An interesting feature was the presentation of a movie projector to S. Carl Heckbert, who was just completing his term as Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Alberta. The presentation was made by John Brimacombe on behalf of the Vermilion Lodge members, and brought forth a very appreciative and feeling reply.

During the course of the day the Lodge itself was the recipient of some Golden Jubilee gifts in the way of Lodge furnishings. These were from Mr. Heckbert and Acacia Lodge, Edmonton.

The Golden Anniversary observances were exceptionally well planned, interesting and impressive, and the special committee comprised of C. N. Brennan, E. M. Stewart and S. C. Heckbert are to be highly commended for their efforts and accomplishments.

Many people will be interested in the men who were the officers of the first lodge back in 1906. They were: James A. Roseborough, Matthew Brimacombe, W. F. H. Thompson, John G. Arthur, Oren Baker, George Ryan (Dr.), A. Wellington Roseborough, Edward M. Brown, Wm. J. Macnab, Walter Gibson, W. B. Cameron, W. C. Craig, John Wesley Graham.

Beverly Drakes Win Big Prize Money

Second Place To St. Paul

Beverly Drakes eked out a narrow 7 to 6 victory over St. Paul to carry off the heavy portion of the prize money at the two-day ball tourney held here Tuesday and Wednesday. The tournament was held under the combined auspices of the Legion and Elks.

The calibre of baseball played was very good but the attendance was poor, making the new venture anything but a financial success. Good crowds witnessed the Wednesday afternoon and evening games but these were not big enough to overcome the lack of attendance on Tuesday.

On Tuesday Beverly defeated Bonnyville 13-3; Vegreville def. Cold Lake 2-1; St. Paul def. Holden 18-8; Vermilion def. Derwent 7-5.

On Wednesday Beverly Drakes won from Vegreville 5 runs to 4 in 10 innings; St. Paul won from Vermilion 17-1.

The final game saw Beverly take an early lead 6-2. St. Paul however closed the gap at 6 all, only to see the Drakes score one in the 8th which the Northerners couldn't duplicate in the top half of the 9th.

Jackie Parker and Rollie Miles were featured on the St. Paul lineup for two games, but had to return to Edmonton before the final. Both Jackie and Rollie were kept busy signing autographs and posing for photos by great numbers of their admirers.

Umpires were Frank Mead and Brent Macnab Sr.

Lloydminster Band To Play At Park

The Lloydminster Lions Community band will play in the new band shell at the Vermilion park commencing at 3:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon. This is the first of a series of Sunday afternoon concerts planned for the Park by the Vermilion Rotary club.

Lieut. and Mrs. King Farewell Services

Lieut. and Mrs. King, officers in charge of the Salvation Army work here for the past year, are holding farewell services this Sunday. They have been transferred to Pembroke, Ont. some 50 miles north-west of Arnprior.

In the opinion of their many friends here the stay of Lieut. and Mrs. King has been far too short, and general regret is expressed at seeing them leave Vermilion.

Coming to Vermilion as successors to the departing officers are Captain and Mrs. Gordon Holden, from our neighboring province of British Columbia.

FOUR LIFEBUOYS AT SOUTH BEACH, VERMILION LAKE

The Parks Committee of the Provincial Government have sent down four life buoys to the local parks committee. These will be placed at handy spots, one on the boat pier, two on the H pier and one on the diving platform, for use in case of emergency. It is expected that a buoy or two will also be placed at Sandy Beach on the north side as soon as received.

TOP DRIVER IN CAR ROADEO

THE MOST SKILLFUL driver in the recent car roadeo was Earl Pollard of Vermilion shown above with the car which he drove during the various tests. Earl was sponsored by Abe Friesen, manager of the Superior Body Shop. The road tests were conducted by J. W. MacKay of the Highway Traffic Board and the roadeo was sponsored by the Vermilion Rotary club. — Photo by Photocraft.

FIRE ENGINES OUT IN 45 SECONDS—

The Standard has been quite impressed during the dry spell which ended last week with the amazingly fast response by our volunteer fire brigade. There were nine calls during May with little or no damage resulting from each one. Probably more than half of the fires could have caused a lot of damage but for the fact that the brigade was on the scene in a matter of seconds. Remarkable as it may seem on two fire calls only 45 seconds elapsed from the sounding of the siren to the time the big truck was on its way to the fire. It should be remembered that the members of the brigade are volunteers, are no doubt preoccupied with their work and their first knowledge of a fire in most cases is when that old siren wails its warning.

The fire boys do fine work but are quite frequently hampered by motorists who are continually getting in the way when the fire engines are going to fires, and who park their cars on the road near the scene of the fire. Are you guilty of this?

PENALTIES FOR FISH WASTE AT VERMILION PARK —

We are very fortunate to have good year-round fishing at our back door, in the Vermilion River and Park lake. Many people are taking advantage of this sport.

Some thoughtless person apparently thinks it is great sport to catch more fish than they can use and then leave them lying on the shore to spoil. Aside from being unsanitary, there are very severe penalties provided in the Alberta Fishing Regulations for wasting fish. A very close check will be kept in the future and anyone responsible for leaving fish on the shore of the lake or Vermilion River or found wasting fish in any way will be severely dealt with.

The Canadian one-cent piece is not made of copper but of bronze—an alloy of copper, zinc and tin.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bushko Farewelled At Buffalo Coulee

More than 250 people packed the Buffalo Coulee gym last Friday night for the last Home and School meeting, which took the form of a social evening with the two-fold purpose of awarding pins to the students of the Junior High school, and of having a farewell party for Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bushko who are leaving to take up residence in Vegreville after living in Buffalo Coulee for nine years.

After a short business meeting a very enjoyable program consisting of plays, songs and piano selections, was put on by the pupils, with Alf Green acting as chairman. This was interspersed by unsuspecting members of the audience being called to the platform to take part in some very amusing stunts.

Mr. Bushko then took over, and gave a resume of the basis of points on which the Home and School pins were being awarded. These included academic standing, progress, sports participation and out-of-school activities.

The pins were then awarded as follows. Grade X — Gloria Gannon, Grade IX — Shirley Love; Gr VIII — Alma Wilton; Grade VII — Ellen Boker. Pins from the Students' Union for outstanding progress were presented to Shirley Cooper and Gary Green. Pictures were then taken of the award winners.

Following this, Wilson Brooks presided for the second important event of the evening. He expressed the genuine regret that all Buffalo Coulee feels at the departure of "Bill and Jeanette" from our midst. During the nine years that they have been here, since the school was built, Mr. Bushko has proved a very efficient and highly respected school principal. Both Mr. and Mrs. Bushko have been very active and helpful in all community activities and will be sorely missed. After extending best wishes to the couple for success in the future, Mr. Brooks called them up on the platform to receive a lovely coffee table and occasional chair as tokens of esteem from their many friends. Mrs. Bushko received a lovely bouquet presented by Barbara Haverslew. A large snapshot album containing pictures of the schoolchildren and the people of the community was also given to them. Although taken completely by surprise, Mr. Bushko very fittingly conveyed their thanks and invited everyone to be sure to visit them in their new home in Vegreville.

Blaine Smith, student minister of the Auburndale church rendered two solos and led the gathering in a sing-song. The large crowd then did justice to a very fine lunch served by the ladies and senior students of the school.

Mr Bushko is to be succeeded as principal of the B.C. school by Jack Bauman who has been teaching at Preston school.

F. W. U. A. Hold Annual Conference

On June 14th District 7 of the Farm Women's Union of Alberta held the annual conference at the Vermilion School of Agriculture. Twenty members were present from the six locals represented.

The Director of Mental Health Association gave a very interesting talk in the afternoon.

Ladies are to be reminded that for the next year they are to have one representative from each local to meet before the conference to make plans for the same. Next year all ladies are to bring a picnic basket to the F W U A conference.

"GREEN ACRES"

SOWING GREEN FEED

Oats seeded up to July 1st make good pasture or green feed to be cut shortly after heading. Hay and pasture are poor crops so it will pay to have extra feed for this winter. When we remember what happened last winter it might be a good idea to put up twice as much feed as you think you will need.

WORMS IN SWINE

All livestock pests take big tolls of the profits but none take as big a share as worms in pigs. Sodium Fluoride is a sure cure and easy to handle. It is cheap too. Get a circular from this office on treating pigs for worms. It must be fed dry in the chop or there is danger of poisoning the pigs if it is fed in a slop.

WATERING SHELTERBELTS—

I am afraid some of the trees planted last spring died from lack of moisture. The dry spell would likely be too much for them unless some water was poured around them. Grass and weeds must be cleaned out for several years. If anyone needs trees to replace any that died orders can be put in this fall.

CUTTING HAY CROPS

Nearly all the hay crops in this area are left too long before the first cutting. Brome and Crested Wheat should be cut as soon as they break into head and long before they are in bloom. Cut Alfalfa and Sweet Clover as soon as the first blossoms are seen. If cutting is delayed longer there may be a few pounds more hay per acre but the feeding value goes down every day. Besides if hay is not cut early the second crop is too late and is seldom worth the cutting.

NATIONAL BARLEY CONTEST

Once again the Canada Malting Company is offering substantial prizes ([illegible]) for car lots of malting barley. This district is in the area eligible for the contest. We have never won a prize in this competition in this area. Let's do something about it. Information and application forms can be had from this office.

REGISTERED SEED

Anyone planning on getting their registered seed inspected should send in the application forms before the end of June. These forms and full information are available from this office.

BUFFALO COULEE ACTIVITIES

Well the rains came so everybody is happy. A great relief from the wind and dust which have been our constant companions for some time.

The Square Dance club held their last dance of the current season on Wednesday with a slightly smaller crowd, but a good time was enjoyed.

Mrs. R. Woodruff went to Calgary to attend the wedding of her nephew and will remain for a time to visit relatives.

Mrs. Wilson who has been visiting her sister Mrs. E. Cunningham returned to her home at Pittsburgh last week end.

Miss Betty Barlow has been spending the last part of her holidays at the family home. Miss Connie Harle also of University hospital is expected home this week for her holidays.

Best wishes for a speedy recovery go to all who are in hospital - Mr and Mrs. W J. Macnab, Mr W Elward, Mrs. W. Cooper, Miss Grace Radmore, Mr. L. Samuelson, and Mrs. H. Barlow in the University hospital.

The Auburndale W.A. held their annual bazaar on Monday evening. Weatherwise the evening was perfect, a large crowd was in attendance, the booths did a roarin' business and practically everything was sold in the hall. Besides the usual table of sewing aprons children's wear, fancy work, etc., there was a home cooking table, a 'sacrifice' table, a fish pond and a table of novelties and home made candy sold by the C G I T. There was also a program of sports, races for the children and several ball games. In the Little League Vermilion defeated Buffalo Coulee but the B C Pony league got revenge by defeating Vermilion. This is an event to which young and old look forward each year and from every standpoint this year's program proved to be one of our most enjoyable and successful.

Greatest single cause of farm fatalities in Saskatchewan last year was the farm tractor, which figured in 23 out of a total of 86 farm deaths.

The Handicraft Display was judged by Miss Ing[illegible], Home Economics Supervisor [illegible] and Rosemary [illegible] for 1956.

Mrs. Bielesh, District Director, commented [illegible] Mannville Ladies Rest Room and [illegible] project they might well be proud of. [illegible] can be done in small towns. At this time Mrs. Bielesh stated it would be well to get pictures of all Life Members in Alberta Women's Institutes and the history of outstanding work accomplished by them to be put in life membership book being prepared by Mrs. Ford.

Two numbers by Miss Betty Proudfoot "Thanks Be to God" and "Make My Heart Anew" accompanied by Mr Robin Stuart on the organ and a violin solo by Lorraine Younge during the entertainment period were very much enjoyed.

By 4 p.m. there were 71 members and visitors present and a lovely lunch was served by the hostesses.

Birch Creek and Lewood Women's Institutes asked that the Conference be held at Mannville next year and they would be hostesses.

Mrs. E. B. Allen won the Salada Tea contest for a cross stitch lunch cloth.

Revive The Dead

Medical men predict that in a few years trained crews of heart specialists will be rushing out to revive the "dead" in business offices, golf courses, public vehicles and the like, reports The Financial Post. In other words, the businessman who "dies" of a heart attack needn't stay dead. Specialists now can revive actually dead heart cases by oxygen, hand massage of the heart, electric shock.

Did anyone by mistake pick up a tea cloth at the W.I. conference with Mrs. A. Rendall's name on it? If they did would they please mail it to her R.R. 3, care of G. Holmes. It would be greatly appreciated.

We wish Mrs. H. Barlow a speedy recovery from her operation and hope that she will be home again soon.

Ex-Vermilion Teacher Awarded Fellowship

Miss Jean Dey, a former Vermilion teacher, has been selected from all of the teachers in Canada, to receive a Fellowship which entitles her to continue her work in Education at the University in London. Only one such Fellowship is awarded yearly. Miss Dey has been teaching in Edmonton since leaving Vermilion and so outstanding and successful have been her methods that a writer for Maclean's magazine spent a whole week in her classroom seeing just how she achieved the success for which she has become noted. The material he gathered was the subject for a very interesting article in the magazine.

Miss Dey will attend summer school in July and following that will spend some time in Vermilion as the guest of Mrs. Melvin Hill. She leaves Alberta in September for London, England.

Stanley Smith Wins Scholarship

Harold Roebuck of Islay and Stanley Smith of Vermilion were selected to attend Farm Young People's week held at the University of Alberta in Edmonton from June 5th to 14th.

They were among thirty-five farm boys and girls sent to this short course by the Alberta Wheat Pool. Nominations of the young people were made by farm organizations and selection was made mainly on the basis of participation and interest in rural community activities. Both boys attended the Vermilion School of Agriculture last term.

Stanley was awarded a $75 scholarship from the Department of Agriculture as a result of his work at the short course. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Smith and Harold the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Roebuck.

Subscribers are urgently asked to check their subscription dates as shown on their Standard labels.

NEWS from ISLAY

June 27th is the date of the Strawberry Shortcake social and hard ball game, Islay vs. Dewberry. This should be good as they have been coached by the Lloydminster Meridians. The boys all learned that you must have discipline (how they dislike the word!) to be a good ball player — we should like to have seen the process. It appears that more than school demands discipline.

A community picnic will be held on June 29th, the last day of school. The different organizations have combined for the event. Each family is to bring their own picnic basket. There will be a booth on the grounds for ice cream, drinks etc. and there will be sports for all. No admission charge.

Landonville News

Trout have again been planted in Burns Lake, 31,000 of them. Although they are just little fellows, they'll grow and in a year or two fishing in these parts should be wonderful.

The 'Million Dollar Rain' over the week end has left some million dollar smiles. It did add some very much needed moisture to the soil and it more than settled the dust. Th school bus, Joe Marciniw and Frank Anderson all needed a pull on Monday morning. By evening however the roads were dry enough for even Mr. Wynnychuk to travel on.

Mr. LeRoy Waltz and Miss Helen Shrenkowich are to be married early in July. Congratulations as you start on the happy highway and may every mile be a smooth one.

Ted Dorey, one of the school trustees paid a visit to a grade 9 after-school session. We do not know if he learned too much Science, but we are sure he got an idea of what a grade 9 student has to go through before a final exam. Not much fun is it?

Local Girl Weds Vancouver Man

All Saints Cathedral, Edmonton, was the scene of a lovely early morning wedding on June 16th, when Miss Olive Ena Coe of Stellaville exchanged marriage vows with Mr. John L. Kerr of Vancouver before an altar lovely with shasta daisies and tall lighted tapers. Rev. David Jones, Edmonton, officiated.

The bride wore a blue tailored suit with pink accessories and carried a white Bible. Her corsage was of red Talisman roses. Mrs. J. D. Day of Edmonton, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and chose a navy tailored suit with white and navy accessories for the occasion. Her corsage was of pink carnations. J. D. Day attended the groom.

After the ceremony the wedding breakfast was served at the Seven Seas. Then everyone wished the young couple happiness and they left on a two weeks honeymoon in Banff and Jasper.

On their return they will reside in Edmonton where Mr. Kerr is in the employ of McCulloch Co. of Canada.

Silver Wedding Anniversary Held At Clandonald

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Shyshko of Clandonald was the scene of a surprise party on June 16th in the evening when a group of friends gathered to honor them on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary.

During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Shyshko were presented with a very appropriate and lovely gift, accompanied by the good wishes of their children and friends.

BIRTHS

BORN—At the Vermilion Municipal Hospital to [illegible] Mr. and Mrs. [illegible], Vermilion on June [illegible], a daughter, Marilynne Gale.

Lorene Madill Is June Bride

On Saturday, June 2, the First United Church in Vermilion was the scene of a very pretty wedding when Mary Lorene, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Madill, became the bride of William George Thursby, son of Mrs. Helen Thursby of Watrous, Sask. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. W. MacKay.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was attired in an all-over embroidered crystal net gown of ballerina length. The slim fitting bodice of the longer princess lines extended into the skirt and ended in a full bouffant skirt. The top of the bodice terminated in graceful petals of the same material. The bolero had long lily point sleeves and buttoned high. She wore a headcrown with three rows of ruffled net at the back and triangular sequins at the front. The [illegible] of nylon net misted from a crown of pearls and iridescent beads. Her only accessories were a string of pearls and matching earrings, a gift of the groom. The bouquet she carried was of American beauty roses.

The bride was attended by her sister Mona, attired in a pink lace gown of ballerina length. The bodice was of French lace over satin. The top of the bodice was a series of inverted pleats. The skirt was of nylon net over satin and had three rows of French lace extending in circular form from the waist to mid-skirt and back again to the waist at the back. The bolero of French lace had three-quarter sleeves and an open neck line. She wore a headcrown of ruffled lace over net dotted with rhinestones. The crown had three rosettes of nylon straw on each side. She carried a bouquet of white gladioli.

The groom was attended by his brother, Bob Thursby of Saskatoon. The four ushers were the bride's brother, Gaylord, the groom's brother, Gus; Klaas Hechlhausen and Clayton Harrower.

The wedding music was played by Jack Brown and Miss Margaret McLennan sang, "Thou Art Mine Own", during the signing of the register.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gibson, aunt and uncle of the bride. To receive the guests the bride's mother [illegible] a black dress with white [illegible] and a corsage of Sweetheart roses. Mrs. Riley, grandmother of the bride, wore a blue dress with pink accessories and a corsage of Sweetheart roses.

A buffet style lunch was served on the Gibsons' lawn. The one hundred and sixty guests were welcomed by the bridal party and Mrs. George Seuffert, an aunt of the bride.

The [illegible] table was [illegible] by a three [illegible] wedding cake, [illegible] fully trimmed and topped with a [illegible] bowls of Sweetheart roses on either side of the cake. The guests were served by Misses Alice Seuffert, Shirley Johnson, Rhoda and Rhona Hodgson, Georgetta Magistad, [illegible] Shepherd, Mary Gibson, Doreen Martin, Betty Smith and Janet Crothers.

Rev. MacKay proposed the toast to the bride to which the groom ably responded. The groomsman read a congratulatory telegram from the bride's relatives, the Richard family of Stauffwell, Ont.

Before leaving for their honeymoon the bride changed into a navy blue dress with pink accessories [illegible] a corsage of American beauty roses. The young couple left by train, to go to Jasper. After the honeymoon they will be at home in Vermilion.

Out-of-town guests were Miss Fern Loveseed and Clayton Evans of Saskatoon; Freddie Waldner, Grenfeld; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Isherwood of Watrous and Mr. and Mrs. John Bubul of Edson.

When packing a suitcase, don't overlook the space inside shoes. You'll be surprised at the quantity of belts, brushes, and other small items they'll hold. By the way, dirty soles won't soil clothes if each pair of shoes is put into a polythene bag. You can buy them in many sizes but if you want to be thrifty the bags carrots come in are ideal!

More Coffee?
Brazil has been testing portable aluminum irrigation systems to increase the coffee crop. Results are startling, yield per tree in some cases doubled. Even if applied only to half of Brazil's coffee crop, production would be increased by 2,700,000 bags! Our own Canadian farmers have found endless ways to use Canadian aluminum: Piping for orchards, field crops and now ... fall for cooking ... roofing and siding for barns, brooders and silos ... cans and pails for dairy farms.
Canadian output of primary aluminum is being further increased to supply the nations of the world and a thousand other products useful to agriculture, industry, defence and the home.

Graduation Exercises Are Held For Grade Nine At Mannville

MANNVILLE—On the beautifully decorated stage of the School auditorium on Thursday evening, June 7th, the following students, graduands of Grade 9, were introduced by Mr. Doherty—Thelma Arnold, Stella Berezanski, James Croft, Donna Doherty, Agnes Dziki, Lily Fedeshko, Alice French, Chas. Gerhart, Jackie Hasinoff, Marvin Nafziger, Hans Pederson, Elaine Rea, Eunice Sawchuk, Ken Schock, Arleigh Stephenson, Joan Topilko, June Van Dusen, Christopher Way, Patsy Yaceyko.

Rev. C. C. MacPherson read the Invocation.

Mr. Facey, Inspector of Vegreville School Division, expressed his pleasure at being able to attend the Graduation exercises to help push these students into High School.

He had watched the progress of [illegible] of them [illegible] Grade 5. He read excerpts from a book of prose made up of poems and prose written by Junior High and High School students. One story showed how times have changed—these students are going into a land of many opportunities—opportunities waiting for them in various activities. And employers are looking for University or Tech graduates. Towns that have been ghost towns are coming to life again with the new industries—and there is work for trained people in these industries.

Mr. R. Whitson brought congratulations and good wishes to the graduands from the Vegreville School Division. Thus far the students have been forced by law to attend school—but now it is up to themselves. Parents can coax or threaten but they ca not be forced to go. However, Mr. Whitson hoped that everyone of the students present will be among the graduating class from Grade 12. Education will make them better citizens and enable them to have the better things of life. A better education is needed now, more so than in previous years—this is a better country in which to bring up future families. This year is the last of the small graduating classes—next year and for a number of years to come there will be a class of more than forty.

Under the direction of Mr. Rostron, his music class sang two numbers.

Mr. Doherty called upon Mr. Van Dusen, chairman of the local school board, to present the awards that are presented to Junior High students at this time. In grade 9, academic awards were presented to Donna Doherty, Jackie Hasinoff, Eunice Sawchuk and Hans Pederson. To the one showing the greatest improvement in the year, the award went to Charlie Gerhart. In sports the award winners were Joan Topilko and Charlie Gerhart.

In Grade 8, academic awards went to David McLaughlin, Joan Calder and Amos Fedeshko. Gwen Crawford showed the most improvement during the year and sports awards went to Allan Manz and Marion Yasak. Honorable mention in sports were Loretta Swain and Phyllis Gorash.

In Grade 7, Merna Whitson, Eleanor Keuschnig, Gordon McLaughlin were academic award winners while Ken Mercer showed the most improvement. Sports awards went to Allan Doherty and Eleanor Keuschnig.

A special award was presented to Lorraine Trynchuk by Mrs. Morrison for the essay written on Farming in India on which she won the prize for Canada. The essay has gone on to London to be judged with those from other Commonwealth countries.

Thelma Arnold was class valedictorian. She expressed the thanks of herself and fellow students for the help of parents and teachers and the extra push given them when needed through the school years. She thanked the Grades 7 and 8 for their work in getting ready for the graduation exercises.

In his Commencement address, Mr. Morris MacCallum of Minburn said that it was an added pleasure for him to attend these exercises as he also was a graduate of Mannville School. He spoke also of the changing times—and that graduating exercises from Grade 9 have become an institution. Grade nine is the end of teacher imposed discipline and the beginning of self imposed discipline. And young people today need a trained mind. body strength is not enough. Due to the vast use of machinery, they must learn to use the power of the head and learn to use discrimination. With much more spare time, also due to the use of machinery, a high school education opens fields of knowledge, brings mental advancement to these students going out into the world now. But the quality which still makes for success is honest work, promptness, intellectual honesty and the ability to get along with people. Mr. MacCallum wished the students success in the forth coming exams.

Mr. Doherty thanked the conveners of the committees and their helpers, the Jr. High School teachers and the ladies who assisted in making sandwiches. To close the first part of the program, the music class of Mr. R. Stuart sang two numbers, accompanied by Mr. Stuart.

Dancing was enjoyed until 1:30 with a lovely lunch served by the Grades 7 and 8 classes at 11:30. Music was supplied by Messrs. R. Stuart, G. Hughes, Phil May and Miss Connie Gerhart.

Roll Call was "A woman in the news today". The committees reported on their activities.

The comic books came in for further discussion and it was thought it would be nice to have a speaker on the subject for the Conference if that were possible. The members are looking forward to the Conference on June 16, and most of them plan to attend. Mrs. J. Parchewski was elected as delegate.

A very interesting paper was given by Mrs. G. Mead on Dr. Schweitzer of Lamorine, Africa.

The group extends a vote of thanks to Mrs. Robson for the room given them in her Beauty Shop building for the Home Cooking sale, which was quite successful. The meeting closed with "God Save the Queen".

A delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Dolman. The next meeting is at the home of Mrs. O. Strome with Mrs. McIntyre and Mrs. G. Mead serving lunch.

FACTS ABOUT RHEUMATIC FEVER

Many parents worry about rheumatic fever and want to know how they can protect their children from it. Fortunately, the chances of your child getting it are slight; only a few out of every 100 children do. It is a much milder disease than it used to be and less likely to be fatal. It is not communicable. You don't catch it by being around someone who has it.

Rheumatic fever attacks the heart and joints particularly and is the cause of rheumatic heart disease. It is also believed that some people are more susceptible to it than others and that it runs in families. It seems to be more common among families who eat less of the right foods than is needed, or who are exposed to cold, wet and chilling.

It often develops when colds, sore throats and other nose and throat illnesses caused by streptococcal germs are prevalent in the family or the community. Some authorities believe that children who develop it have a special sensitivity to streptococcal germs.

As a rule, rheumatic fever begins at about ages 5 or 6. Some children have only one attack, while others keep on having them. Unlike other childhood diseases, such as measles or chickenpox, it tends to recur. With some children, the attacks come farther and farther apart and finally stop during the teens. Adults too, have rheumatic fever. Most authorities believe that rheumatic fever in adults is a recurrence of the first childhood attack.

THE START

Rheumatic fever usually starts from a few days to about four weeks after a streptococcal cold or sore throat. The early signs are mild. Some of them which appear alone or in combination are: pallor, poor appetite, repeated nosebleeds, failure to gain weight, low fever which hangs on, and complaints of pain in the arms, legs or abdomen.

RECOVERY

Some inflammation of the heart almost always occurs during an attack. Occasionally, a child recovers without any heart injury; sometimes the injury is so slight that he can soon get back to normal living, but at other times the damage is lasting.

The big thing while getting well is to give the heart the best possible chance to make a good recovery, or to escape injury altogether. Bed rest gives this chance. During this rest, the heart is spared unnecessary work. Weeks or even months of rest may be required. Even though the attack is mild and the child seems well, he should be kept in bed while the disease is active and during convalescence, always until the physician says it is safe to get up.

MAKING CONVALESCENCE INTERESTING

It isn't easy for a child to stay in bed when he begins to feel better, as he is likely to after the first few weeks of illness. It isn't easy for his parents either, but a cheerful attitude encourages the child to develop patience and cooperation.

Pleasant surroundings help — a sunny room if possible, some growing plants, a bowl of fish. Being comfortable also matters — a good prop when sitting up in bed and a bedtable on which to work and play.

Occupation for the waking hours should be planned. Reading, radio programs, games, modeling, sketching and making scrapbooks are some pastimes. If a visiting nurse is coming, she may have other ideas for keeping the child happy.

BUILDING UP

Once a child has had rheumatic fever he needs constant protection from streptococcal infections of the nose and throat — the forerunners of another attack. He should be kept away from anyone with a cold or sore throat.

A well-balanced diet, plenty of rest, play and sunshine all help to build up resistance. Warm clothes for protection against cold and wet weather are needed. The child should have regular check-ups by his physician so that prompt treatment can be started if he is run down.

BEING NORMAL

Every child wants to be like other children and do the things that they do. So when he recovers, he should be encouraged to have a good time at home, at school and at play. Of course he will have to go easy on some activities if his heart is seriously impaired, but he may still enjoy many of the same pleasures if his rest and play is planned carefully.

"Trade In Your Old House"

In the United States people can now trade in their old houses on a new house, just like they do with cars. But under Canadian legislation, says The Financial Post, that sort of thing is not possible yet in Canada.

The U. S. trade-in plan works this way.

Mr. Smith, living in an old house, wants to buy a new one in another part of town. He contacts a builder and buys the new house, turning over his old home to the builder as a trade-in down payment.

So far as Mr. Smith is concerned, the deal is over and he moves into his new house. The builder, meanwhile, if he cannot get rid of the house immediately is now able to go to a mortgage lender and get a mortgage loan insured by the Federal Housing Administration.

A few additional cards have now been received by Mr. Walter [illegible] Act now if you want one.

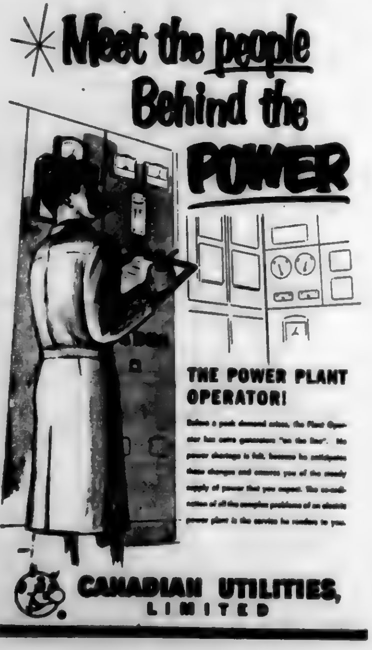
W.M.S. Holds Final Meeting For Season

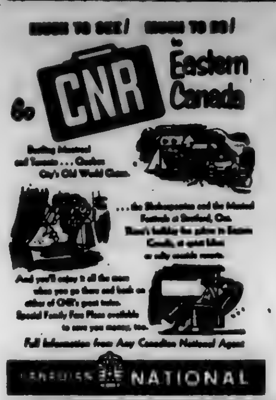
The regular monthly meeting of the W. M. S. of the United Church, Vermilion, was held on Thursday afternoon, June 14, at the home of Mrs. Cliff Hollon. The associated members were in charge of this country meeting.

Mrs. C. Barr opened the meeting by reading a few Bible verses. Mrs. Colpitts led the Devotional service. Mrs. W. L. Robinson read the minutes of the previous meeting, and called the roll which showed 23 members and 8 associated members present.

The committee reports were heard and business was dealt with to conclude the meetings for the season.

An afternoon tea for mothers and their babies who are Baby Band members is planned by the W. M. S., to take place on Thursday afternoon, June 28, at 3:00 p.m. Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. M. Hill and Mrs. H. N. Stevens are the committee in charge, and a cordial invitation is extended to all mothers who have children between the ages of one and five, who already have been enrolled in the Baby Band, or who would like to become members, to come to the tea and take this opportunity of meeting the W. M. S. who sponsor the Baby Band through their Citizenship Secretary, Mrs. W. L. Rosbeck, and through Mrs. F. J. French who is in charge of that activity.





PARADISE VALLEY NEWS

A Bible Camp for children 8-15 years will again be sponsored by the Church of God; Paradise Valley. Camp dates are July 2nd to July 6th; camp fee is $2. The closing program will be July 6th at 8:00 p.m. to which all parents and friends are invited.

Meals and classes for the camp will be on the church grounds; but real camping out in tents will be a thrilling experience for many. Devotional sessions, classes, handwork projects, recreation, singing and even and afternoon siesta are part of the day's schedule.

Prospective campers should write for applications to Harvey D. Johnson, Paradise Valley.

Special services in the church will begin Thursday evening July 5th at 8:00 o'clock. There will be three general services daily, 10:30, 2:30 and 8:00 p.m. on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Rev. and Mrs. Hall from the Alberta Bible Institute of Camrose will be guest speakers. Other visiting ministers will include Rev. H. C. Heffren, Saskatoon and W. G. Ewert of Erwood Sask. Good music and singing will feature all of these services.

In the United Church, on Tuesday evening June 5th, the P. V. W. A. entertained the members of the Edgerton W. A. and Rosedale W. A. Quite a few members and visitors were present too, so in all there was quite a large crowd.

Mrs. J. Gordon, president, opened the meeting with the regular exercises, Mrs. D. Clarke reading the Scripture. Mrs. C. Elliott was the secretary pro tem. Reports of committees were heard and a short business meeting was held, but other business was held over until the July meeting. Mrs. Gordon, in a very fitting speech, presented Mrs D. Davidson with a farewell gift from the W.A. She, with her husband Rev D. Davidson and daughter Ruth will be leaving this charge the end of June for Edmonton.

Mrs. K. Karlsen, who has worked with the United Nations for a number of years, had been invited to speak to the ladies on this very important and world wide topic. In a very pleasing manner she gave a most interesting and instructive talk. After the meeting, several of the ladies expressed regret at the shortness of this 30 minute speech, which showed the keen interest it aroused. Lunch was served in the S. S. room and a social hour followed. The president of each visiting W. A. thanked the president and introduced their members.

The Paradise Valley Garden Club's fourth meeting was held at the home of Sharon and Ruth Walter. The attendance was poor due to June exams. Both leaders were present. We appointed our Secretary to write to the Home Economist for information on our new project, 'Farmstead Planning'. The next meeting will be held at the home of Linda Stepenoff. June gave a vote of thanks to the hostesses for the lovely lunch and the use of their home. Linda moved the meeting be adjourned.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee of Clive, Alberta, are visiting their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. P. Robertson of the Beaver Lumber.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Rattan and family have moved into Mrs. A. Clark's house, which was recently vacated by Mrs. L. Shaw.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fair on the birth of a son, Terrance Arthur, on June 7th.

Last year, only two out of every 100 bush fires in Ontario started as a result of logging operations. Campers and smokers are responsible for more than one-third of all forest fires.

Car Fatalities In Alberta Double During The Month of May

Motor car accidents took 24 lives in Alberta during May, double the total in the same month last year, according to a summary compiled by the Alberta Safety Council.

For the five-month period since the first of the year, there were 86 motor accident fatalities in the province, compared with 77 a year ago.

Officials of the Safety Council are hopeful of a reduction in the death toll for June. While the traffic volume is heavy as holiday and vacation travel mounts, it is believed that the launching of safety programs this month will serve to make drivers more safety conscious and check law violations. In June of last year there were 15 deaths in car accidents.

Since the new year opened, there have been 1,382 persons injured in motor car accidents, compared with 1,344 in the comparable period of 1955. In the same period, the number of accidents increased from 6,434 to 6,970.

The May report discloses that of the month's fatalities, 20 were reported by the R. C. M. P. at rural points. In addition, there were three in Jasper Place and one in Calgary. Edmonton had none.

Persons injured in car accidents during May numbered 391, an increase of 130 over May of last year. The R. C. M. P. reported 256 at rural points, which led the province and nearly doubled the total of 134 in the previous May. Edmonton went from 67 to 74, while Calgary's list of injured dropped from 47 to 41. Lethbridge had eight, Medicine Hat one, Jasper Place seven, and other towns reporting, four.

During May, there were 1,197 motor car accidents in various parts of the province, while the same month of last year had a total of 908. Again, rural points were at the top, having a total of 512 reported by the R. C. M. P., while in the comparable period of last year, there were 252 reported.

Edmonton was the next at the top with 412 accidents, showing an increase over the 339 in May, 1955, while Calgary on the other hand dropped from 217 to 190.

In Medicine Hat, there were 15 accidents, a drop of nine, while Lethbridge also backed safety measures by reporting a drop from 27 to 20 accidents. In Jasper Place, there were 10, an increase of three, while other towns reporting rose from 17 to 28.

As the school term ends in June, and thousands of youngsters will be playing on or across traffic routes during July and August, the Alberta Safety Council is appealing to motorists to "Take it Easy."

MALES VERSUS FEMALES

Males outnumbered females in Canada's population in 1951 by 7,088,873 to 6,920,556 or slightly more than 102 to 100, Quebec being the only province with more females than males. The male excess was in the rural population, females outnumbering males in the urban population by 1,089 to 983. Windsor alone of the ten largest cities had more males than females, and only six others of the 34 cities over 30,000. These are all in Ontario—Fort William, Oshawa, Port Arthur, Sarnia, Sault Ste. Marie and Sudbury.

Clothes take the journey better and other heavy articles should be at the bottom of the case so their weight won't crush other clothing. Lingerie and sweaters can be tucked into corners. Suits and dresses travel smoothly if folded flat just under the lid.

A polythene soap dish is an excellent travelling case for jewellery. It is a heavy size, weighs almost nothing and the soft plastic cannot harm fine jewellery.

OUR LETTER FROM EDMONTON

Alberta's Forest Fire Situation To Have Repercussions?

EDMONTON — Alberta's worst forest fire situation in years is all over for the time being, but the repercussions are still to come.

It's a safe bet that some questions will be asked during next year's session of the legislature, and it won't be surprising if there is some criticism from opposition members along with the questioning.

For the record, the fires burned out of control for about a month in northwestern Alberta, covering thousands of acres, destroying millions of board feet of mature timber and running up a firefighting bill of more than a million dollars for Alberta taxpayers.

More than a thousand men were fighting the fires at their height. States of emergency were declared in the Edson and Whitecourt areas, and the army was called in to lend a hand. But despite all this, it took heavy rains to finally bring the fires under control.

The question is: Could the situation have ben avoided if the Alberta government had been prepared for widespread fire outbreaks?

To give credit where credit is due, the government has been expanding its fire detection, prevention and suppression machinery. New lookout towers are being built, new roads are being pushed through the forest areas and the staff is being enlarged. But there are indications that the lands and forests department was not prepared for the unusually dry spring which turned the forests into a gigantic tinderbox.

For one thing, many of the fires broke out in remote areas far from any roads. As a result, it took a long time for firefighting crews to reach the flames. By the time they arrived, the fires had spread out of control over large areas.

Forestry experts generally agree that if a fire is detected immediately and suppressive action is taken promptly, a relatively small crew can keep the flames from spreading.

This was proven in the Whitecourt area, 100 miles northwest of Edmonton where by sheer accident a forestry man in a borrowed helicopter spotted a new fire outbreak in an area of valuable timber. Four men were airlifted to the scene with axes, shovels and hand pumps, and confined the blaze to less than half an acre.

Had the firefighters arrived a day or so later, the blaze probably would have spread over a much larger area. The helicopter had been borrowed from an oil company using it for exploration in the area. At the time it was ferrying a ranger to a distant lookout tower to repair a radio.

It is known for a fact that forestry experts employed by the department of lands and forests favor wider use of aircraft as a means of getting crews to fire scenes as soon as possible, and it appears their views were proven by the Whitecourt incident.

Actually, the government did charter a few aircraft during the fire emergency, but they were used mostly for reconnaissance work.

For several years now the Rocky Mountain section of the Canadian Institute of Forestry has been telling the government it should pay more attention to forest protection. Incidentally, most government forestry men belong to the CIF and support its views.

Officials of the CIF drew up a review of the Alberta forest fire situation a year or two ago and came up with some startling statistics for the years 1940 to 49.

During those years Alberta had fewer fires than most other provinces but the area burned over in Alberta was seven or eight times larger than that in other provinces.

Why? The CIF says it is because Alberta doesn't spend enough money on forest protection, and as a result fires are allowed to spread out of control before effective action can be taken. For example the cost of firefighting in Alberta during the 1940-49 period averaged 15 cents per acre burned, compared with an average of 86 cents for seven other provinces.

Space doesn't permit a full review of the CIF report, but it says in part: "The small amount of money spent on forest administration means that relatively little preparation can be made to meet the menace of fire. There is a lack of firefighting equipment, trained supervisors, transportation, roads, and means for speedy detection."

As an example of the comparative figures quoted, the number of fires in Ontario during 1940-49 was 1,323, compared with 274 for Alberta. But the total area burned in Ontario was 241,035 acres, and in Alberta it was 568,356 acres. The average size of fires in Ontario was 182 acres, in Alberta it was 2,074 acres.

Even though Alberta has begun expanding its fire fighting facilities, forest fires so far this year have burned over nearly 500,000 acres, and the mature timber destroyed will take 150 to 200 years to re-establish itself through natural growth.

So don't be surprised if the government is asked in the legislature whether its expansion program is big enough and is being done fast enough. On the face of it, there is ample evidence for opposition members to claim the government still is not doing enough.

The Whitecourt area, one of the hardest hit, is represented in the house by a Liberal member, John Mills, who can be expected to bring up the subject. If he does ask questions, they will be directed to lands and forests minister Norman A. Willmore, who represents Edson riding, one of the other bad fire areas.

Other bad fires were in the Grande Prairie area, represented by Social Crediter Ira McLaughlin. Mr. McLaughlin may say nothing in the house, but it won't be surprising if he expresses an opinion or two in caucus.

Forest conservation is a subject important enough that it could receive more attention in the house. The forests represent millions of dollars in revenue for the province.

So far, the surface has barely been scratched, but with a pulp and paper industry developing the forests can be expected to grow in importance. And timber is an industry which can produce forever under proper management. When the province sells oil and gas, they are gone forever, but with strict control on tree cutting and a good reforestation program the forests will never disappear.

WILL LAST FOR YEARS

The Canadian people's humble expectations, their willingness to suffer any speech and their lack of memory make it easy for the professional speaker, says Bruce Hutchison in The Financial Post. An inexperienced amateur may spend weeks preparing a speech, days rehearsing it and more days recovering from it.

The professional needs only one speech which he delivers over and over again from one end of Canada to the other, knowing it will always appear new and will be differently reported in every newspaper. He thus acquires an assured reputation for original thought.

HAY AND PASTURE CROPS LOOK GRIM

It is not too late for livestock men to supplement their hay and pasture by planting oats or other grain crops for greenfeed, advises A. M. Wilson, Alberta's Field Crops Commissioner.

Clovers, particularly sweet clover, alsike and red have winter killed from 50 to 90 per cent in many districts. Alfalfa fields have also been damaged. Furthermore the first cutting of hay will be light because of prevailing hot dry weather. In addition to the current situation the carry over is nil.

Oats or other grains planted for green feed now is the safest insurance against the need for purchasing high priced roughage at a later date. Hay may be the most profitable crop this year. (8-5)

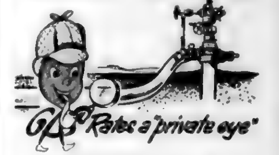
Alberta's Natural Gas Industry: UNDERGROUND INSPECTION



Though hidden out of sight, natural gas pipelines are never out of mind! Underground inspection insures that possible leaks will be detected and repaired. The valves that constantly regulate the service to your home is checked with an electronic gas leak indicator. In paved commercial areas inspection plugs are located every few feet and regularly checked. Continual inspection of the many control valves is yet another precaution taken to ensure that the natural gas system is operating perfectly — giving both safety and unfailing service.
With GAS you get service — we plan it that way!
